Each volume of this series is a reminder of the key role played by the late William Bell Clark, initial editor. Drawing upon his deep knowledge of the Navy in the American Revolution, his initial selections and arrangements of materials compiled over a devoted lifetime provided a framework on which subsequent efforts have continued to build.

FOREWORD

Two centuries have passed since our nation was forged in the crucible of a long and hard conflict against overwhelming odds. The Bicentennial has stimulated renewed, and widespread, interest in the meaning and ideals of the American Revolution from which inspiration for the present and future can be drawn. Scholars and writers are reexamining and reevaluating all facets of the struggle which had such a profound impact on the course of modern history throughout the world.

The stirring and familiar words which close the Declaration of Independence -- "we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor" proclaimed a united resolve to gain national freedom and liberty. But, in the months immediately following the Declaration, only the most optimistic could foresee that far distant day when independence declared would be independence won.

General Washington's memorable victory at Trenton was a ray of light in an otherwise grim military situation confronting his army. This was indeed a critical period for the patriotic cause; one of many others to follow. Yet, as we read these documents, we cannot but be impressed by the bold determination of American seamen as they engaged the world's most powerful naval force. With characteristic courage and perseverance, American sailors took their ships to sea in ever increasing numbers to raid enemy shipping and to bring back war materiel and other supplies so desperately needed if the flame of resistance was to be kept alive.

What is offered here in Volume VII, as in previously published volumes in this continuing series, is not interpretive history, but rather the words, thoughts and actions of those who shaped naval affairs and those who fought the Revolutionary War on the seas. Certainly there is no better way to arrive at an understanding of this grand epoch than through the eyes of the participants.

The crucial influence of naval and maritime operations on the outcome of the American Revolution has generally been overlooked in written history. Through this documentary publication, the Department of the Navy is correcting the deficiency. I extend congratulations, and the Navy's highest words of praise, "Well Done."

INTRODUCTION

This, the seventh volume of the series, encompasses the closing months of 1776 and the first two of 1777. The Continental Army had been forced out of the New York area and was retreating through New Jersey. Henceforth New York and its harbor would be the main British base for naval operations off the coast and for the projection of military power by sea to other areas and up inland waters. The British could now take fuller advantage of the elements of mobility and surprise made possible by their naval superiority.

Being late fall and winter, the weather along the American coast was severe. Nevertheless, British warships kept blockading stations with marked vigilance off Delaware and Chesapeake Bays and important ports. Although many colonial merchantmen escaped through their net, others were taken into New York or Halifax as prizes of the enemy cruisers.

Late in November 1776 intelligence was received of embarkation of troops on British transports and shortly thereafter over 100 ships and some 7,000 men departed from New York, their destination unknown. Concerned over the possibility of Philadelphia being attacked from two sides, by the troops pursuing Washington from New York and by forces transported up the Delaware River, the Continental Congress moved to Baltimore. Washington's stunning victory at Trenton then eased the immediate British threat to Philadelphia.

The actual objective of the British amphibious force proved to be elsewhere. The expedition, meeting little resistance, occupied Newport on Rhode Island. They now had another base for their Navy and could prevent the flow of supplies in and out of Narragansett Bay. One of the consequences was the bottling up of the Continental Navy ships under Commodore Hopkins as his fleet retired up the Providence River.

Some Continental Navy vessels were, however, still operating at sea. John Paul Jones commanding the ship Alfred, in company with the sloop Providence, captured Mellish, a large supply vessel carrying thousands of uniforms for the British Army in Canada. This timely prize cargo would instead warm Continental troops.

In the West Indies, Andrew Doria, Captain Isaiah Robinson, exchanged gun salutes with the Dutch fort on the island of St. Eustatius. This foreign recognition accorded the American Grand Union flag sparked strong diplomatic protests from Britain.

The scarcity of cannon and the difficulties of obtaining crews had been delaying the fitting out of additional Continental Navy ships. However, one powerful frigate, Randolph, finally put to sea under the command of Captain Nicholas Biddle.

By the end of 1776 American privateers were taking an increasingly heavy toll in their attacks on British commerce in the Western Atlantic and West Indies. Additional privateer commissions were being issued by the states and by the Congress. Use of French and Spanish ports by American ships, a cause of deepening concern in official London, facilitated privateer operations in the Eastern Atlantic. The mounting count of captures made by "rebel pirates" moved the Admiralty to order expanded convoy protection and patrol duty.

Benjamin Franklin, distinguished scholar and diplomat, arrived in France to join Silas Deane as an American Commissioner. Franklin made his ocean passage in the Continental brig Reprisal, Captain Lambert Wickes. Reprisal would remain to cruise in European waters, and Lambert Wickes was destined to become a scourge to British shipping.

Through these and other naval and quasi-naval activities and actions on both sides of the Atlantic, sea power was exercising its pervasive influence on the Revolutionary War.

Documents selected for publication in Volume 7 include those from several depositories not previously represented in the series. This fact highlights the continuing and expanding support accorded the Naval Documents of the American Revolution project through the years. Without such cooperation, coming from widely scattered areas and for which our gratitude is unlimited, this undertaking could not move forward. Unpublished Crown copyright material in the Public Record Office, London, is reproduced by permission of Her Majesty's Stationery Office.

Among other publication assignments and responsibilities, preparation of Naval Documents volumes is centered in the Historical Research Branch of the Naval History Division. The editor's knowledgeable, experienced and dedicated colleagues in this Branch made indispensable contributions to manuscript and illustration collection efforts and to the finished product—Mr. Robert L. Scheina and his successor Miss Mary F. Loughlin, Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Scheffenacker, Mr. Robert I. Campbell, Mr. E. Gordon Bowen-Hassell, Lieutenant (junior grade) David C. Russell relieved by Ensign Dorothy Apple, Mrs. Paulette Smith succeeded by Miss Joye Leonhart, Yeoman Third Class Mary K. Gagnon, and on Naval Reserve duty during the summer Master Chief Petty Officer George K. McCuiston. In the Naval History Division's Curator Branch, Mrs. Agnes Hoover gave her efficient and cheerful help with illustrations.

Maps and charts in this volume, as in those previously published, were collected by the Navy Department Librarian, Mr. W. Bart Greenwood, aided by Miss Mary Pickens of the Library staff. Under the guidance of Mr. Greenwood, the Naval History Division has compiled and published an American Revolution Atlas of contemporary 18th century maps and charts which complement the Naval Documents series.

Manuscript research and other invaluable assistance by two outstanding authorities in the field came from abroad—Commander W. E. May, R.N. (Ret) in London and Madame Ulane Bonnel in Paris. Foreign document review and excellent translations were provided by Commander Canio Di Cairano, USNR (Ret).

Lastly, but most certainly not least, the constant encouragement and sound advice offered by the distinguished members of the Secretary of the Navy's Advisory Committee on Naval History were, as always, welcome and deeply appreciated. A void has been left by the death of Marion V. Brewington, talented author, historian, museum director and long a valued member of the Advisory Committee. His deep knowledge of maritime affairs and wise counsel are missed.

SUMMARY

During the final two months of 1776, privateers were successfully cruising, State Navy activity was much in evidence and some of the Continental naval vessels were at sea. John Paul Jones in the Alfred accompanied by the sloop Providence, Captain Hoysteed Hacker, took a rich prize. She was the Mellish with a cargo of thousands of uniforms including "every article complete for a Soldier from the hat, to the shoes." In the West Indies Andrew Doria exchanged gun salutes with the fort at the Dutch island of St. Eustatius. This recognition accorded the rebel flag generated a flurry of British protests. Returning to the northward, Andrew Doria engaged and captured H.M. sloop Racehorse. The Continental brig Lexington was taken by H.M.S. Pearl off the Delaware capes.

A sizeable convoy of British transports weighed anchor from New York and set course for England. Since the destination and "design of the Enemy" were unknown to the Americas, shock waves moved along the coast in anticipation of where the next blow might fall. Conversely, anxiety ran high in Nova Scotia where invasion from New England was expected.

Early in December a British Army-Navy expedition sailed from New York and easily took Newport, Rhode Island, and command of surrounding waters. Upon the approach of this formidable enemy force, the Continental ships in the area under Commodore Hopkins fled up the Providence River.

Washington's army was forced out of New York and retreated southward through New Jersey with the British in pursuit. Fear that Philadelphia would soon be occupied prompted Congress to remove to Baltimore. Robert Morris, writing to Silas Deane near the close of 1776, but before Washington struck back at Trenton, could with reason note that the "unfortunate turn of American Affairs, leaves no room for joy in the mind of any true friend of our country."

New-London, November 1.

Since our last, a French Vessel from Cape Francois, arrived here with Molasses, the Captain informs that three Jamaica Privateers are out cruizing for northward Vessels, that he was brought too by one of them, but upon his telling them that he was bound to Miquelon, they acquitted him: He also informed that three Privateers are fitting out from Hispaniola, by Gentlemen from this Continent, who carried over Continental Commissions for that Purpose.

[New York] Friday, November 1st [1776].

Gaine, the Printer of the New York Gazette, escaped from Newark this Morning, and arrived in Town. From him I derived the following information . . . that Dr. [Benjamin] Franklin sailed on Sunday last from Philadelphia for France, on the Pretence of soliciting the Interposition of the French Court & its assistance; that several Privateers of a small Size were fitting out, and that those already dispatched had taken many Prizes . . .

I also met with Col. [Edmund] Fanning in Town, who informed me, that the Rebels still came over from N. London in Connecticut to Long Island, & carried off Cattle, Provisions & Forage; that a Mr. Floyd, late one of the Congress,² had also come over with a Party of 400 men, and done much mischief; & that the Number of Sheep alone, taken away, exceeded 17,000.

Number 11.

Sir

Eagle off New York

November the 1st 1776.

The several British and foreign Transports named in the List enclosed being ready to return to Europe, I have thought it necessary to appoint the Active and Fowey to attend them.

Captain [William] Williams, who has resumed the Command of the Active, is directed on his Arrival off of the Western Islands, to permit the British Transports to quit the Convoy at that time if they see fit, and proceed separately according to their several Destinations. But it is recommended to him to continue his Care of the foreign Transports; Lest by their wilful Separation they may take Occasion to delay their Arrival at their Ports of Discharge. Wherefore the Agents Lieutenants Hill and Harris, who have been very diligent in their Stations, and the different Superintendents appointed to regulate the Navigation of the foreign Transports, return in them.

Captain Williams is directed to conduct them to Plymouth. He is to suffer the Fowey to part Company when advanced the Length of the Western Islands as aforesaid, to land with greater Expedition the Packets Captain [George] Montagu is charged to forward by Express with a Duplicate of this Dispatch, immediately on his Arrival at Portsmouth: In case the attendance of that Frigate for regulating the Motions of the Convoy, is then no longer requisite. Upon his Arrival at Plymouth, he is to acquaint You therewith by Express. And proceeding to get the Ship ready for the Dock with all possible Dispatch, he is to wait at that port to receive their Lordships more particular Commands for his future Conduct.

I have not made any Reduction of the Complement of these Ships by the discharge of their Marines, according to the Tenor of their Lordships General Instructions to Vice Admiral [Samuel] Graves: Deeming it inexpedient to diminish their Force, under the Circumstances of their present Appointments.

The Provisions for the Army in advance, being less in Quantity than is desirable to have deposited here; the two Transports, the Pigot and British King, late in the East India Service, are directed by the General's desire to be sent to Ireland; To take in a Supply of Provisions for the Troops, at Cork. But from the present deficiency of Men in those Ships, I apprehend they will need the protection of Convoy on their return to this Port.

The Active, Scorpion and Falcon arrived here the 19th past, with the Officers, Company and Stores remaining in the Cruizer at the time it was judged expedient to destroy the Sloop, as expressed in the Representations from the Captains [Anthony] Hunt and [Francis] Parry enclosed.

On the 26th past the Sphinx put into this Port, under the Circumstances stated in the Letter from Captain [James] Reid likewise transmitted herewith.

Captain Williams having been superseded by their Lordships Appointment of Captain [James] Wallace to command the Experiment, I have directed the Removals in the Instances of Captain Williams and Captain Hunt to their proper Ships; and Captain Reid into the Rose, until their Lordships pleasure is signified upon the Appointments made by Sir Peter Parker, which have been reported in my Letter of the 3d of September.

The Active having been many Hours onshore in Charles Town Harbour, I thought it fit to send the Ship to England for Inspection in a Dock. The same Accident having also happened to the Sphinx, I apprehend it will be equally necessary to order that Ship likewise to Europe, at a future Opportunity.

CONTINENTAL MARINE COMMITTEE TO CAPTAIN ELISHA WARNER ¹

Sir [Philadelphia] November. 1. 1776. —
You are to proceed with the Continental Sloop Fly now under your command for the Coast of Shrewsberry in New Jersey and take such stations along the Jersey shore as will enable you to see every vessel that goes in or out of Sandy hook. We immagine there must be Transports, Store Ships and provision vessels daily arriving or expected to arrive at that place for supplying our enemies with provisions and other Stores, and the design of your present Cruize is to intercept as many of those Vessels and supplies as you possibly can

You have got or may get a good coasting Pilot so that you may run close in shore or into Toms River or any other River, Inlet or Harbour in the Jerseys whenever you are chased or endangered by Vessels of a superior force, therefore you will keep an especial good look out for all vessels inward or outward bound and whenever you discover any give chase, make prize of as many as possible, and as fast as you take 'em send them for this port, unless you hear men of war take station at our Capes, and in that case send them into Toms River, Egg Harbour or any other safe place, and fast as your people arrive here we will send them or others over land to Tom's River or Shrewsbury from whence you can take them on board again, therefore you must keep this station and pursue this business as long as possible unless we send you other orders.

You must be careful not to let any british frigate get between you and the land, and then there's no danger for they cannot pursue you in shore, and they have no boats or Tenders that can take you, besides the Country people will assist in driving them off shore if they should attempt to follow you in. The Schooner Wasp commanded by Lieutenant [John] Baldwin goes round on the same Service – you must act in Concert, Consult the best Stations and best method of Cruizing, and be sure to pursue your Object the taking of provision Vessels, Store Ships and Transports with the utmost vigor and vigilance, and altho we recommend your taking good care of your Vessel and people, yet we should deem it more praiseworthy in an officer to loose his vessel in a bold enterprize, than to loose a good Prize by too timid a Conduct. As fast as you make prisoners you may send them in the Jerseys, and deliver them to the Continental Officers to be sent here or confined in New Jersey, but if Seamen send them here unless they enter. Use your officers and men well, and do the same by your prisoners let us hear from you as often as necessary. Wishing you success We are sir [&c.]

Philadelphia, November 1. 1776

One of the frigates Biddle's will have 14 Guns onboard on monday and will be ready in every thing, men excepted, in a fortnight, the additional encouragement to Seamen in the continental Service by which they are put on a footing with Privaters & have the whole property of armed Vessels which belong'd to his British Majesty will soon make up that deficiency. The Effingham [John] Barry Ship & the repulse a Galley were launched yesterday She is I think the finest vessell of the whole. The Guns cast here turn out very ill, they split; full one-half of them.

Privatering is attended with amazing success in New England not a day passes without a fresh acquisition, they took a Vessell not long ago with 1600 pieces of woollen on board,² the Soldiers may bless God for that. Also an armed Vessell of 16 Guns & the Privateer which took the latter was left in pursuit of a three decker with Sugars mounting 20 Guns & by a private letter we are informed that this last was taken and on her way into Newbury port.³

The Portsmouth, Newbury and Providence frigates are out. We shall soon hear of some mischief they have done – at least I hope so.⁴

2. Of this incident, Marine Lieutenant John Trevett wrote:

I went on board the Sloop Providence, Capt Histed Hacker, and I soon found we were to sail under the command of John Paul Jones, Esq. We sailed in a short time, and stopped at Tarpolin cove, where we found a small privateer belonging to Providence, commanded, I think, by Capt. Rhodes [sic Field]. Com. Jones sent for me on board of his Ship, late in the day, and gave me orders to arm and man our barge on board the Sloop, and he would have his barge manned and armed, and send along side our Sloop, and then we were to go along side, and while I was examining the Ships Articles I was to give the barges crews orders to press all we could, I did so and we pressed 25 men out of 35, and carried them out on a cruise on board the Ship Alfred, Com. Do declare and depose that on the first day of November 1776. – about 4 o'Clock P.M. We lying at Anchor with sd Schooner in Tarpaulin-Cove, a Boat from the continental Ship Alfred commanded by Jno Paul Jones came on Board sd Schooner – Jno Rathbone [John Peck Rathbun] an Officer of sd Ship having the Command of Sd Boat told Capt Field he had orders to bring sd Schooner under sd Ships Stern – Accordingly the sd Rathbone immediately with his Men weigh'd Anchor and carried her along side the Sloop Providence, & set a Guard over the same for the Night ensuing robbing sd Schooner of her Boat till the next Day – A little before sun-rise next Day, 2 Boats, one belonging to the Alfred, the other to the Sloop Providence with armed Men came on Board sd Schooner with the sd Jno Rathbone and Edmund Arrowsmith who was Capt of Marines on board the Alfred. Another Officer belonging on Board sd Ship, & one Philip Brown first Lieutenant of the Sloop Providence, Who said they had Orders from Capt Jones to come and examine whether any of his Men were on Board – Capt Field offer'd them to take what Men they could challenge – they said they had further Orders to take all the men on Board – That by Force and Violence they took out of sd Schooner 24 of their best Sea-Men at different times in different Boats, and carried them on Board the sd Ship and Sloop – That the People who came in sd Boats cutt away sd Schooners Main-Sheet and carried it off – likewise Stove in the Bulk-Head forward – in the last Boat which came on Board were a Number of Indians armed, who were ordered by sd Rathbone (who told them he was come for another Load) to go into the Hold and prick about with their Cutlashes to discover any concealed Men, which they did – Rathbone abus'd the first Lieut of sd Schooner by heaving him on the Deck, and many other Acts of high insult were committed by Rathbone's Orders – Directly after, the sd Men were put on Board the Alfred, the said Ship and Sloop came to sail – That by means of the aforesd proceedings of the sd Jno Paul Jones the sd Schooner was detain'd 24 Hours –

I do further declare that Capt Field said, that he would put into the first Port where he could get a Main Mast & proceed on his Cruize – And that by means of his men's being taken out he proceeded to Providence – Justin Jacobs

COMMODORE ESEK HOPKINS TO THE CONTINENTAL MARINE COMMITTEE ¹

Providence November 2nd 1776

I left Newport the 26th October last – The Alfred & Hamden were then under Sail going out, but on the 28th I receiv'd a Letter from Captn Jones, a Copy of which you have inclosed – I set off directly to Newport, and found the Hamden so much damaged, that she must be hove out – I put Captn Hacker with all his hands onboard the Sloop Providence, and they both Sail'd yesterday with their former Orders – I went from there to Kings County to the General Assembly, and applied for an Embargo untill the Continental Fleet was mann'd; but fail'd in getting it by two Votes, owing to a Number of the Members being deeply Concerned in Privateering – I am at a loss how we Shall get the Ships Mann'd, as I think near one third of the Men which have been Shipp'd and receiv'd their Month's pay, have been one way or another carried away in the Privateers – I wish I had your Orders giving me leave, whenever I found any man onboard the Privateers, not only to take him out, but all the rest of the Men – That might make them more Cautious of taking the Men out of the Service of the States –

I thought I had some Influence in the State I have lived so long in, but find now that private Interest bears more Sway than I wish it did – Shall go down to Newport in a day or two and do all in my power to get the New Ships, the Columbus and Hamden every way Ready for the Sea – though I think it may not be best to let any single one go for fear you might have some particular Service for a Number together –

A three deck Ship Prize of the Cabots arrived yesterday in the River.²

I could wish your Commissions would come for the Officers of the New Ships, or that you would give me Orders to Commission them, as they seem to be uneasy at not having them – I am with great Respect Gentlemen [&c.]

[Crown Point]

November 2. We embarked in our battows & long boats for Canada, & proceeded about 17 miles, where our small fleet were obliged to put into a creek, the wind blowing very fresh, though fair for us, but causing a deep swell which was not so safe for the battows; as to the long boats there was but little danger. Our soldiers called this place Destruction-Bay, and not unaptly, as there we saw the great execution the enemy suffered from the fire of our fleet, in the engagement on the 11th and 13th October. Some of their dead were then floating on the brink of the water, just as the surf threw them, these were ordered to be directly buried. During the night it blew fresh, & was attended with a fall of snow, which was the first we had experienced.

Novr the 2d 1776

By the Generals desire, about 150 Artillery & Baggage Horses, are to be at Whitestone this Evening. Your directions will therefore be necessary for transporting them across the Sound.

An application has been made to me for some countenance to be given to a Sloop which is to be employed for taking off some friends to Government from the Connecticut shore, under the direction of Govr [Montfort] Browne. I have given a note in consequence, to be delivered to Capt [Roger] Curtis by the Master of the Sloop, another to the Pilot Hoyt, for the Senegal to protect him on that Service.

A Representation was made to me yesterday that the Enemy have intended for some time to land with a number of Men, to do some piratical injury on Long Island they are said to have collected several Boats &c for this purpose at Newhaven I [have] given a letter thereupon to be delivered by the Persons who bring the Intelligence, to Capt [George] Talbot; supposing they will find him off Huntington Bay.

He is therein desired to stretch Eastward of Newhaven at times, that by his appearance in those parts of the Sound the Enemy may be deterred from attempting to molest the Coasting trade, between Long Island & New York. It is in the same letter signified that the Senegal should keep off Huntington Bay or to the Westward of the Nigers Station. . . .

The committee to whom Governor [William] Livingston's letter was referred, brought in a report, which was read:

The committee, to whom Governor Livingston's letter concerning some sailors in New Jersey was referred, beg leave to report, that they have taken into their consideration the unparalleled inhumanity and alarming tendency of a late act of parliament for obliging sailors taken on board American vessels to fight against their brethren and country; therefore,

Resolved, That the Sailors lately taken on board the Sloops Phoenix, the Sally, and the Mary, except such of them as belong to the United States, be immediately put on board some of the armed vessels of the United States, and compelled to fight against the Enemies of this country, and by thus executing the great and necessary law of retaliation, our Enemies may be induced to put a stop to a practice so dishonourable to human nature, and first taught the world by the british nation.

Resolved, that this resolution be extended to all Sailors hereafter taken on board british vessels.

That Robert Colefax, Richard Williams and Peleg Mansfield, natives of America be permitted to return to their families in New England.

Ordered, To lie on the table.

. . . Inclosed you will be pleased to find an invoice and bill of lading for the goods we now ship you by the Molly Captain [Thomas] Conway amounting to £3944.19.10 this currency . . . ²

We have put as much salt on board as the Captain judged it prudent to take, and all the woolens we were able to procure of any kind. We should esteem ourselves very happy to supply you with a sufficiency of these useful articles, but as vessels and seamen are both scarce, apprehend we cannot furnish you with near the quantity required of the first and the latter is really not to be had at any rate just now, tho' we expect there will be some out soon.

The most convenient way of getting dry goods would be, we think, to give Capt Conway leave to cruize a week [or] two to windward of the Island when he comes out again. By the time he gets back, if dispatched quickly, there will be fine pickings among the outward bound West Indianmen.

CAPTAIN CHARLES DOUGLAS, R.N., TO CAPTAIN RICHARD PEARSON,
H. M. S. *Garland*¹

By Charles Douglas Esqr Captain of His Majesty's Ship Isis, and Senior Officer in the River St Lawrence

His Excellency General Carleton, Governor of this Province, & Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Army employed therein, and on the Frontiers thereof; having by his Letter to me of the 21st Ultimo, dated at Crown point; set forth, That the proximity of the Rebels to Lake Champlain (notwithstanding the late defeat of their Fleet) renders it absolutely necessary, that some Ships of War, do Winter in this River to the End that as many of the Men and Officers thereunto belonging as can be spared therefrom, may be employed on the said Lake, as early as possible — You are hereby required and directed to get His Majesty's Ship which you Command, brought into such State as may be proper for laying her up in the Cul au Sac of Quebec for the Winter without loss of time.

And Whereas His Majesty's Ships and Vessels, as per annexed List, are also directed to winter in this Province, You are to take them under your Command, And to employ them, their Crews, or any part of their Crews, Cannon, Amunition, Stores &c or any part thereof, in such manner, as according to your Judgment, And in Co-operation with General Carleton, and the Land forces under his Command, shall be most conducive towards promoting the good of His Majesty's Service, either on this River, or upon the Lake aforesaid — Until the Right Honorable the Lord Viscount Howe Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Ships in North America (under whose Command you are to consider yourself) or other your Superior Officer, shall have been pleased otherwise to direct.

And Whereas divers hired Transports do yet remain in this Province — particularly at Sorel; It is hereby strongly recommended, that you do your utmost to get them out of this River before the Winter sets in. The Directions of the Admiralty to me are that they repair to Spithead.

So soon as the Navigation opens in the Spring ensuing, you are to send an Account to our Commander in Chief at Halifax, of the State & Condition of His Majtys Ships and Vessels under your Command; And of His Excellency General Carletons, and your own joint Views of Service for the Ensuing Summer.

And Whereas His Majesty's Sloop the Beaver is shortly expected here; You are not to detain her, providing She arrives before the 20th of this Month; Nor any other of His Majesty's Ships arriving previous to that period, but to suffer them to depart to follow their former Orders, Unless the Weather should be such, as to render very dangerous the departure of any such at so late a Season of the Year; In which last supposed Case, You are to be very careful, in assigning a proper Place for every such Ship or Vessel to Winter in, as also for such hired Transports as cannot get away.

Whereas moreover several Victualling Ships are now in the River St Lawrence tho' they be not in the Navy departmt, It is nevertheless recommended to you, to be aiding and assisting with Men (and your good Council if acceptable) towards getting the same delivered of their Provisions in such due Season (if that be now possible) as that they may yet be able to leave the River St Lawrence, before the Winter be confirmedly set in.

For the due performance of all the foregoing, as also for your acting in all things, for the Public weal in zealous Co-operation with His Excellency aforesaid, or others, having Command in His Majesty's Land Forces under him. This shall be your Order.

Given under my Hand, on board the Isis off Quebec, Novemr 3d 1776.

Providence November 3rd 1776 –

I receiv'd yours of the 10th October this day; and am extremely unhappy in not receiving it in time, as Captn Jones in the Alfred, and Hacker in the Providence Sail'd two days ago well Mann'd – and the Ships now here are the two New Ships, the Columbus, and Hamden, – The Hamden must be repaired before She can Sail, and the Ships are not more than half Mann'd – however I am glad to receive your Orders for an Expedition to the Southward that I may have it in my power to Convince the Gentlemen in every State that I have nothing at heart but the Common Cause – without any partiality to any particular State – this you may rely on that I will attempt to put your Orders in Execution if I am obliged to do it with a Single Ship, although Shall do all in my Power to get all the Force here with me that possibly can be Mann'd – If I can't get the whole Mann'd next week, Shall take the Men out of some to Mann the others & leave them with a few Officers to take Care of them untill they receive your further Orders – I am with great Respect Gent. MAJOR GENERAL PHILIP SCHUYLER TO THE NEW YORK CONVENTION ¹

[Extract] Albany, Novr 3d, 1776.

I wish the Convention would order the Depth & Breadth of Hudson's River to be carefully taken at such place as they conceive would be most proper effectually to obstruct the Navigation – Ver plank's Point or Jan Kanten Hook may be proper places, perhaps the latter the most eligible of any – I propose taking the earliest Opportunity that is afforded me to prepare every thing for it – At present I cannot, as I have neither Troops Nor Carpenters – the latter being all employed in constructing Barracks.

RICHARD HENRY LEE TO THOMAS JEFFERSON¹

Philadelphia 3d Novr 1776

. . . By every account from Lake Champlain whe [we] had reason to think ourselves in no danger on that water for this Campaign. Nor did Gen. Arnold seem to apprehend any until he was defeated by an enemy four times as strong as himself. This officer, fiery, hot, and impetuous, but without discretion, never thought of informing himself how the enemy went on, and he had no idea of retiring, when he saw them coming, tho so much superior to his force. Since his defeat our people evacuated Crown point, and joined their whole strength at Ticonderoga. We do not hear the enemy have thought proper to visit them there, and the Season must now stop operations on the Lake. on the borders of the Sound it has been a war of skirmishes, in which I think we have gained 5 or 6. Never was a Ship more mauled than a Frigate that lately attempted Fort Washington, she had 26 eighteen pounders thro her and most of the guns double shotted. . . .

Among the various difficulties that press our Country, I know of none greater than the want of Ships and Seamen – Perhaps a good basis for remedying the latter might be an alteration of the Act of Assembly for binding out Orphan & poor Children, and direct that, for some time at least, the whole of such children should be bound to the Sea. Without safe Ports to build ships in, and give protection to foreign Vessels, our trade must long languish. Would it not [be] proper therefore, to make Portsmouth and Norfolk immediately as strong as Cannon can render them, by adding to the guns already there as many from York as will answer the purpo[se] Gen. [Adam] Stephen tells me that the works he laid out at Portsmouth will put (if properly gunned) that place in a state of security from any Sea force that can come against it. The Cannon are of no use at York, experience proving incontestibly, that Ships will pass any fort or Battery with ease, when favored by wind and tide. The quantity of seasoned timber said to be in the neighborhood of Norfolk would furnish a number of fine Vessels, whether for fighting or for commerce. I think the large Sea gallies that carry such a number of men for war and for the navigation part of the Vessel, are well contrived for the defence of our bay and for raising seamen quickly. I sent our Navy board a draught of the large gallies building here by order of Congress. It seems to me, that for the different purposes of battery and Ships our Country could well employ a thousand Cannon. How very important it is that the Cannon foundery on James river should be pushed on with all possible vigor and attention. . . . Let us have Cannon, Small Arms, gunpowder, and industry; we shall be secure – But it is in vain to have good systems of Government, and good laws, if we are exposed to the ravage of the Sword, without means of resisting – This winter will be an age to us if rightly employed. Let us get strong in Vessels, Troops, and proper fortification in proper places. Let us import plenty of military stores, soldiers cloathing, and Sail cloth for tents, shipping &c[?] – I do not think our armed Vessels can be so well employed in any other business as in [?] two or three trips to the French & Dutch Islands for these necessaries, carrying Tobo & fine flour to purchase them. . . .

The remainder of this body of the Enemy dividing themselves into three Divisions, two of which went to stop the Communication from Cumberland to Halifax, the other up the river Cocan [Cocagne] and Merimiche [Memramcook] to collect Indians and others

Portsmouth 4 Novr 1776 -

The Letter from the Honle Marine Commee of the 9th Ultimo I received last week with the order on the Committee at Providence for the Cannon . . .

Immediately on my Receiving the order for Guns I dispatched Cap. [George] Wentworth for Providence with a Letter to Messrs Clarke & Nightingale who are of the [Providence] Committee & were for my haveing the Guns to forward as Soon as possible but as I had heard they had got the Guns on board "took care to make this Proviso" if the Guns could be had without injuring the Service this gives me pleasure as I find it Coincides with the Opinion of the Honle Committee as mentioned in their Letter which I've received Since by Cap Falconer, The answer I received was, that the Ships were Compleated & delivered to the Honle Stephen Hopkins Esqre who tho't the Guns could not be delivered without Injury to the Service; am very glad they have given such dispatch for the last six weeks to those Ships as to have them ready for Sea, Tho' I humbly conceive it has been of no small Assistance to the Dispatch by haveing most part of the Continental Fleet there this Season - Cap. [Nathaniel] Falconer has examined our Ship [Raleigh] & who is a Gentleman well acquainted with Maritime Matters to whom I beg leave to refer the Honle Committee as to her forwardness I should be very happy if the Guns could be forwarded, from Connëcticut Philadelphia or out of the Alfred or Columbus if they are not to go to Sea soon as I am verry fearful we shall not have a hand left on board unless the Guns are forwarded soon & a prospect of the Ship's going to Sea, there-being the Greatest Demand for Officers & Seamen to Man the Privateers; hardly week passes but more or less leave the Ship, tho' we keep the best look out possible to prevent them & some severely punished (who have been taken as Examples []) at least five Hundred Men have gone from this Town since last May who would have gone in the Ship if wanted had the Guns been ready -

Boston Gazette, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1776

Boston, November 4.

The beginning of last week arriv'd at Dartmouth, a vessel from St. Eustatia, in 17 Days, with 6 & 9 pound cannon, duck, &c. &c. The master of which says, that the governor told him that by the time he sailed War would be declar'd in France against England.

We have certain Advice, That a Vessel in the Service of the United States, arrived at a safe Port last Week from Nantz, in France, with 3000 Stands of Arms, 300 Barrels of Powder, 100 Boxes of Tin, &c. &c.

Last Evening returned here from one Month's Cruis[s]e, Capt. [John Foster] Williams in a Sloop belonging to this State; in which Time he took the Ship Julius Caesar, of about 400 Tons Burthen, Capt. Azariah Uz[a]ld, mounting 10 Carriage Guns, besides Swivels, and had 25 Men. She was bound from London for Halifax, laden with some Woolens, Linens, Provisions &c, the Amount of her Cargo is said to be about 11,000 Sterl. and may be hourly expected as she was [left but 2] or 3 Days ago. — Also a Schooner, Atkins, Master, bound from Annapolis [Royal] for the West Indies, laden chiefly with Fish, which is also soon expected.

We hear from the Eastward, that on Friday the 20th of September last, a number of persons belonging to the private armed schooner Hannah and Molly, Agreeen Crabtree master, went into the port of Liverpool, in Nova-Scotia government, and crossed by land 'till they came within call of a large ship of 500 tons, mounting 4 carriage guns, 4 cohorns, and 4 swivels, the leader of the party hailed the ship and desired them to send the boat on shore; accordingly the mate came with the boat: The privateers-men got into her, went on board the ship and took her — They brought the guns to bear upon a brig loaded for England, and ordered the master of the brig to come along side the ship, with the brig —

They then striped the ship of every thing valuable, and put the effects on board the brig, and let the ship go on shore, and came off with the brig. The same crew also, at the same time took two schooners and a sloop; the schooner and sloop have arrived, but the brig had not arrived in port the 6th of October, so that we fear she is retaken. The Captain of the privateer was so careful as to put all the guns and cannon, with a quantity of powder on board his own privateer, so that they have arrived safe. The schooner and sloop had nails, fish and a number of valuable articles on board.

Wanted Immediately
A Surgeon for the Sloop Rover.

Any one meaning to make his Fortune in a short Time, may have an opportunity by applying to Capt. Abijah Boden, at Marblehead, or to any [illegible] of the Owners of said Sloop in Salem. Salem, Nov. 2, 1776.

Deserted from the Brigantine Independence, Simeon Samson, Commander, in the Service of this State; the following Persons viz.

Joseph Freeman, Herman Myrick, John Pasara, a Portuguese; of Eastham – Nathan Figuras, an Indian; of Sandwich – Seth Autnett of Hingham – James Boldige, Stotenhams; passes by the name of John Goodwill – Jonathan Elmer, Hingham, – John Thompson, Great-Britain – William Heapout – Nathan Bryant, Plymouth – Hezekiah Repley, Hingham.

Whoever will apprehend the said Deserters, or any or either of them, shall receive for each that shall be apprehended and delivered on board said Brigantine, or committed to Plymouth Goal, the Sum of Forty eight Shillings, from the said Simeon Samson, or James Warren.

Newport Novr 4th 1776 –

The General Assembly of this State have ordered that the House at present made use of as an Hospital be immediately cleared. I have at present under my care upwards of twenty Sick men [be]longing to the Fleet. I know not what to do with them without some further order. I should think it would be best to take up some suitable building to lodge them in, and furnish it with such utensils as should be tho't necessary and take care of them all together. The present expence would be less than to lodge them at private houses and many inconveniencies be avoided, Whatever furniture is provided now will be ready for any that may have the like occasion hereafter. However, I submit the whole affair to your superior judgement but beg your Order in the present case.

I should be proud to be employed by you in taking care of any of your Fleet that may at any time or place be so unhappy as to require the assistance of a Surgeon or Physician. I am sr with due respect [&c.]

Reports from above that Mr. Carlton has retired back to the North End of the Lake, and from below that the Provincials have gained Advantages last Monday & Tuesday in several Skirmishes near White plains. . . . When [David] Waterbury was enlarged after the Action on the Lake Carlton told him Burgoyne was sick at Montreal – Perhaps this Event and the Season were the Cause of his being recalled & 'tis not improbable but that a Part of the Northern Army may leave Canada for a more active winter on the Sea Coasts of the Southern Provinces. There is an Expedition agt East Florida, from which [Charles] Lee was ordered to N York which may have contributed to this Diversion of the British Forces. The St. Lawrence is not ordinarily navigable after the middle of Novr. by which Time there is also Ice in Lake Champlain and Snow in Canada. If Provisions are short in that Country & the Clothing intercepted Burgoyne must leave it & it is very doubtful whether the late Discharge of the Prisoners was not owing to Scarcity, the Design of drawing off their Regular Troops & a Dread of the Fidelity of the French & the Influence of the Prisoners in the Course of the Winter.

Frigates, who had advanced somewhat higher towards the Rebel Quarters, They fired near a hundred Shot; but providentially did no other Damage than breaking one Man's Leg by a Splinter on board the Repulse. The Frigates, having answered the Purpose of their Motion, which seems to have been to draw the Attention of the Rebels from some Manoeuvres of the Land Forces, returned to their former Stations. These Manoeuvres were, the marching of a Detachment of the King's Army stationed on [New] York Island towards the Rebel Lines, while the main Army on the Westchester Side made an Impression upon the Enemy, and took Possession of an advantageous Post with very little Loss.²

10 O'Clock

The appointment you propose to make of the small Cruizers does not appear to be capable of more correctness for the present purpose. As the Rose will be in your Neighborhood when you move Westward, the Carysford may remain off of Hungerford for a protection to the small Cruizers, for a few days longer. But I believe I shall soon have occasion to employ Capt [Robert] Fanshaw in another manner. His Instructions for that purpose must be forwarded to him through the Sound; So that he must be watchful to keep in with the Land at times or anchor in the Bay occasionally, that he may not miss the Vessel that will be sent with his Orders.

I imagine it may be managed to furnish the Fuel Vessels with a regular Convoy, to conduct them Westward at stated times, when the small Cruizers can be set at liberty from their attendance on the Army.

When the state of things admit of moving the Victuallers &c. to Morrisina, or the station of the Brune, I do not see that you need be longer withdrawn from us. You will therefore then be pleased to leave the direction in the hands of Capt [James] Ferguson and return to us here. The Kingsfisher may remain with the Brune for the present. She will be in the way for further service that may offer.

The Bearer of your Letter mentions a Report of an Incursion of the Rebels to Long Island on the side of Hungerford. The mention of Cannon being brought over, renders the Story still less credible that I should otherwise have thought it, the stations of the Niger & Senegal considered. But if it is true, the Armed Vessels should be employed in concurrence with the Carysford or the other Frigates on that part of the coast, to destroy the Vessels in which the Enemy have ventured over to the Long Island shore. I am Dr Sir [&c.]

To the general Foresight of the total Loss of Trade & her becoming by the Means of Hudson's River & her scanty Sea Coast, the Theatre of this unnatural War, is in a great Measure to be imputed the Backwardness of Multitudes in adopting the common Principles of the Continent—There were other Reasons for their dreading a Civil War, which I have often mentioned elsewhere, and among the Rest that of losing their Estates by the Claims of the New England Colonies was not the least.

GOVERNOR MONTFORT BROWNE TO LORD GEORGE GERMAIN ¹

My Lord

New York November the 5th 1776

The begining of this year I did myself the honor of congratulating your Lordship upon your promotion to the American department, which Event I may truly say, has given universal Joy & satisfaction to all the friends of Government on this great Continent, since that period, I have experienced the most complicated scenes of distress that can be well imagined, which with the Circumstances attending the refusal of the Kings powder & stores to General [Thomas] Gages order, and the consequences attending the dismembering the Forts at New Providence, I will as briefly as possible endeavor to explain; – I must therefore request your Lordships patience and forbearance.

In the Month of July 1775, during my absence from my Government (on Account of my health), there arrived at New Providence His Majesty's ship of war, the Falcon commanded by Captn Lindzie [John Linzee], with Two Transports to carry away the stores, Gunpowder, and Ordinance in his Majesty's Forts of said Islands, accompanied with a Letter from his Excellency Genl. Gage, signifying that certain intelligence had been received by him, of the intention of the Rebels in North America to seize & carry away all the Kings Powder & Stores; That in consequence John Brown Esqr. President of His Majesty's Council & then Commander in Chief of the said Islands, by & with the advice of His Majesty's Council, & on a petition & representation of the Inhabitants (that they would defend the said Stores against the Rebels) did absolutely refuse to deliver the same to Captain Lindzie, as by Copy of their petition & the minutes of council, already transmitted to your Lordship will more fully appear; – That on the 3d of March following an Armed force consisting of Two Ships of 30 Guns each, Two Brigs of 16, & a Schooner of 12 Guns, besides Two Large Armed Sloops, their Compliment in all, upwards of One Thousand men infested the Island of Providence, & a formal demand was imediately made (by a certain rebel by name Hopkins, stiling himself Admiral and Commander in Chief of the Fleets of the United Colonys) in behalf of the Continental Congress of all the Kings powder & Stores; That upon the appearance of the said Fleet off the Harbour, I did without delay summon His Majesty's Council as also the Militia & all the inhabitants to assemble & defend the said Garrisons, according to their resolution & petition to the president as already mentioned; But finding the Majority of the Council rather Backward in their assistance, I did select and Join the principal inhabitants to the Council, in order to take the General Sence of the whole; And that upon proposing to them whether they would assist me to defend his Majesty's Fortresses & Stores, there appeared 14 against defending the same, to 10 for defending them; Considering then the eminent danger the powder was in, & finding that it was the visible opinion of the whole Community, that sending away the whole of it might enrage a disappointed enemy, & induce them to burn the Town, & commit other depredations, I imediately determined to charter a vessel in order to Ship it, which was accomplished without a moments delay by Wm. Chambers a native of England, to whom great merit is due, as at my request he instantly Cast overboard a cargo of Lumber with which he was ready to sail to Jamaica, & was the only man in the Government that would have ventured at the risque of his Life and ship to carry it away, & he sailed at 2 O Clock in the morning of the 4th of March, notwithstanding the Rebel Fleet was off the harbour, and delivered the whole (162 Large Barrels) to His Excellency Governor Tonyn at St. Augustine; – That a little after Day break the Rebels had taken possession and had made me a close prisoner at Fort Nassau, and put two Lieutts and Thirty two men to guard me in a place without food, water, bed, table, or chair, from whence I was soon after removed to the Government house for the better convenience of their officers & Men, who used at discretion all my wines & other Liquors as they did every thing else they had Occasion for; – That on the 10th day of March the Rebel Admiral sent a Number of His Sea Officers to conduct me on board his Ship, with orders to allow me but One Quarter of an hour to prepare myself for a voyage, but to what part of the world they did not themselves know; – this indulgence, I refused, adding, that I would receive no Compliments from a sett of Rebels, who by breaking thro' a proclamation issued by their admiral upon his Landing, had forfeited every degree of Honor, faith, & Confidence, upon which I was seized, Collard, & Draged away like a felon to the Gallows in the presence of a Dear wife and an aged Aunt both near relations to the Earl of Dartmouth who were treated with such abuse, & such Language as certainly could not be equalled at Billingsgate, & tho' I was several days Wind bound in the harbour & within an hundred yards of the Government house, I was not permitted once to see my family; — O' tempore, O'mores; — as soon as Hopkins came on board I demanded the reason of my Confinement, & the Crime for which I was to be carried away, to which he answered, "for presuming to fire upon his Troops from Fort Montagu," but the principal & original motive was, for daring to send away the powder; — On the 21st we sailed accompanied by my Secy. Mr. Babbidge & Mr. Irving, the first imprisoned for being an Officer on half pay, & the latter for being a Mandamus Councillor in So. Carolina, & in our passage to New London we fell in with his Majesty's Ship the Glasgow of 20 Guns who fought the whole rebel fleet for upwards of one hour & three Quarters; as I was eye witness to every thing that passed do think it a Common Justice to declare Capt'n [Tyringham] Howe a brave & gallant officer, he killed & wounded above thirty of the rebels, among the former were Two Lieutts. & a master, among the Latter, the Rebel admiral's Son, & some Others; every wounded man died, I suppose on Acct. of the unskilfullness of their Surgeons, and the want of Cloaths & Other necessarys at their Hospital, Capt'n. Howe was very near sending the Alfred (the admiral's Ship) to the bottom, we received seven nine pounders between Wind and Water, & for three Days they could scarce gain upon the water She made, the fire at one time was so hot, that the rebels left their Guns; what a pitty it was Capt'n. [James] Wallace could not get out with the Glasgow; in such case the whole rebel fleet would have fallen into our hands; — the greatest mortification I had during the action was to see a fine spirited young man (an acting Lieutt. belonging to the Bolton bomb Brig, which the rebels took the Day before) Killed by my side in the Cockpit by a nine pounder, Hopkins was so disabled in this action that he was obliged to put into New London to refit from whence I was sent to Norwich, Lebanon, Windham & Hartford in Connecticut, & Lastly to Middletown where I did not experience the same hard usage I did at first, & at which place I remain'd till I was a few days ago exchanged, for that rebel, who calls himself Lord Sterling; I am much indebted to General Howe (with whom I had the honor to serve last war,) for this unexpected as well as distinguished mark of His favor and attention which I shall never forget; —

Before I conclude this long Letter for which I entreat your Lordships forgiveness, I beg leave to mention that the behaviour of the greater number of the Inhabitants of Bahama Islands both before & since the Rebels invested them, as also from the resolution of the Continental Congress forbidding any of their Privateers to make Captures of; or molest any of the trading vessels of that Colony, gives me the strongest reason to believe that the Rebels were invited by some of the principal inhabitants, and I beg Leave to add that I have been upon my arrival here credibly informed that the Rebel Privateers made use of the Island of [New] Providence as a harbour, & that Some of them had very Lately actually chased the same Captain Chambers whom I have already mentioned to have carry'd the powder to St. Augustine, he is just now arrived here & has given me this information, I likewise understand, that these Rebels are aided & assisted by James Gould speaker of the assembly (who mutiny'd in Fort Nassau on the night of the 3d of March last & took Eighty of my militia from me at one time) Alexr Frazer a well known rebel, Thos Duncoun, Jer. Newton, John Kemp the Younger, Jno. Bedon – Adderly & others, as also Countenanced & encouraged by some of the members of His Majesty's Council, & officers of the Crown & Customs.

From the present wretched situation therefore of the Bahama Islands, I flatter myself that your Lordship will agree with me in Opinion that it would be highly imprudent for me to return to my Government during its present abandoned state, in which his Lordship the Admiral, as well as his good brother the General agree with me in Opinion; adding that it is for the present intirely out of their power to reinstate me; – I most heartily congratulate your Lordship on the success of His Majesty's Troops, and with expectation of receiving your commands by the first Opportunity to this place, I beg leave to Subscribe myself – My Lord

Your Lordships [&c.]

Montfort: Browne

P.S. It is necessary, in my own Vindication, to acquaint your Lordship, that the removal of the detachment of the 14th regiment by Genl Gage, & the two Sloops of War by Adml. Graves occasioned my falling an easy Prey to the rebels, for I had not even a sick man left behind.

VICE ADMIRAL RICHARD LORD HOWE TO COMMODORE WILLIAM HOTHAM¹

Eagle Off New York Novr the 5, 1776

The Generals intention being to take his next supply of Provisions from Morisania with which he will have communication next Thursday, I think it necessary for you to move the Ships &c. with the Supplies, by the first opportunity to the Brune's Station. Capt [James] Ferguson thinks the best station for the ships will be just to the Westward of the Brothers. He will take with him two Pilots if they can be found in time to return with him from hence to his Ship, and will be ready to assist in placing the Ships as they arrive.

The desertion of Capt [Robert] Fanshaws Men is a very unfortunate Circumstance: particularly if it is attended with that of his Boat also. Not knowing how we shall be able to replace one or the other, except by some Landsmen which came out in these last Ships, and no way fitt to be used for present Service.

The mistake in my Letter has been as you have supposed. Not from hurry of business I must confess, but really from the repeated interruptions I met with from people coming upon one trifling matter or another, all the morning: So that I could only write three lines in the letter together. And I fear you found it writ without any connection, & scarce intelligible.

Unless from information you have since heard concerning the reported Landing about Huntington, the Carysfort may remain in her present station until I see what can be done about Men for her. If she will, on the contrary, be useful by appearing on that more eastern part of the coast, from such Intelligence received, she may move Eastward for the interim, and return to her present station again in about 5 days or a Week as circumstances suit. I am Dr Sr [&c.]

He has once wrote and he now earnestly wishes that Proof may be sent to Genl Washington of his having had a regular Discharge from the Irish Artilery and consequently that he is not a Deserter as is sometimes thrown in his Teeth.

I have been his Fellow Prisoner for Months at Halifax where has has fared hardly but greatly better than when under the Controul of Capt [James] Montague who seemed to aim at his Life.

I will be more particular by another Oppy if I catch one in my Hurry Please to inform the Friends of his Corporal Jer: Low of Fredericksburg that Low is with Capt Procter in Health. He served to a Sadler in Philada & enlisted there.

At a Council held in the Council Chamber at Pensacola the 5th day of November 1776 –

His Excellency the Governor then acquainted the board that He had received also a Message from Lt Coll [William] Stiell by Captn Johnstone of the Royal Artillery importing that He thought it would be Expedient to have the Several Guns & timber which Still remain at Rose Island – Tartar Point, and the Red Clifts brought up to Pensacola for the Use of the fort, Upon which He had made application by Letter to Captain Thomas Davey of the Diligence sloop of War for his Boats & Men to assist in this Service and had recd the following Letter in answer thereto –

1st November 1776 –

Sir

Agreeable to your Excellency's request I will Order Lieutenant Cobb with His Majesty's Sloop under His Command to proceed to Rose Island to give Every assistance in his power to bring up here Such Cannon and other Stores as may be wanted for His Majesty's Service – I will also Send an Officer and a Party of Men from the Diligence that the Service may be Carried on with the Greatest Dispatch

I must beg leave to Observe to Your Excellency that it is the Custom in the Naval Service to pay Such Men as are Employed on extra Duty a Shilling a Day and the Officers a Crown I have the honor to be &c

(Signed) Thomas Davey

His Excellency Peter Chester Esquire &c –

Whereupon His Excellency desired the advice of the Board upon the propriety of paying the Officers and Men from the Navy to be Employed on this duty the Sums mentioned in Captn Davey's Letter which he Supposed might be the Custom in time of Peace but did not appear So proper at this Critical Juncture. The Board gave it as their Opinion that it was very necessary that the Guns and Timber should be brought up to Pensacola with all the dispatch possible And that Captain Davey's assisting Hands Should be paid the Rates mentioned in his Said Letter as it appeared to be the Customary Wages allowed on Such Extra Duty – And recommended that the Same Should be paid by His Excellency –

“EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM WILLIAM MILLER, MASTER OF THE SHIP
Caesar, DATED KINGSTON, IN JAMAICA, NOV. 5 [1776], TO ROBERT GORDON, ESQ. AT BRISTOL”¹

We arrived here yesterday, after a passage of 25 days, from Newfoundland. On the 12th of October, in lat. 30.43. long. 59. at one p.m. fell in with an American privateer of ten carriage guns, who fired a shot at us, but shewed no colours, and immediately afterwards she fired a second shot; we hoisted our colours, and gave him a shot from one of our stern chase, having hoisted two of our guns on the quarter-deck for that purpose, at the same time making all the sail we could, the privateer coming up but slowly, and keeping a constant firing with her two bow guns, which we returned as fast as possible. We thought she intended to board us; upon which we got all our guns over to the lee side, and gave them all at once, which made her heave about to repair her rigging for a few minutes, and then gave chase again, but night coming on we altered our course, and saw her no more. Inclosed you have Invoice and Bill of Loading for one Hundred and Sixty half Barrels Gun powder Quantity Lbs 5300 on the Proper accot and risque of the State of Maryland – Our Mr Harrison is dispatching Capt [Thomas] Conway from Martinique with a verry Valuable Cargoe. I hope she has Sailed or about Sailing at this time. We have just made a large Purchase here of Some Woolens, Musketts, and Gun flints which we shall ship in the first of the Councils Vessells that may arrive here. We cautioned you and the Council some time past agt sending your Vessells to this Island, thinking it the most dangerous and difficult to get into, which we are since sorry for, as it has proved less here than to any other Island and for the future Advise you to send all your Vessells here for su[ndr]y reasons Vizt This is allways the best Markett for our Produce, particularly Tobacco which is now rising fast, all our Purchases are Made here and Freight paid from this to Martini[que] for all the goods shipped from there and most of the Cargoes is sent from Martini[que] here to be sold and verry high Freight paid on them, that on the whole this is the best place by farr and grows less difficult to Transact here, as the Dutch have discover'd that their Laws when put in force must ruin their Merchants – I am on the best terms with his Excellency the Governour and have his word and Promise relative to some Particulars that gives me great Satisfaction and puts much in our Powers – I was not so happy some time agoe and every bad Consequence to apprehend on our new Governours taking the Command, but we are as well fixed with him now as we were with the former – We are very largely Indebted here on accot of the State many sums now due and many lately Contracted that will of course be due shortly We are doing all in our power to serve our Country and hope they will not let our Credit suffer – We are Gentlemen [&c.]

November 6. After a variety of weather, we made Point-au-faire. We had a strong gale of wind crossing over Cumberland-Bay, where we could not keep the shore without going six times the distance at least, & this short cut, if I can call it so, was near endangering many of our battows; near that we saw the wreck of the Royal-Savage, and had the rest of their fleet behaved as well as she did we should not have been so easily masters of the Lake. We found an Artillery man of ours who fell the 13th. him we buried.

SIR GEORGE COLLIER TO LIEUTENANT MICHAEL HYNDMAN, H. M. SLOOP

(A Copy)

His Majestys Lieut Governor and the Council of this Province have represented to me, that Intelligence has been received by them of a Rebel Army being now Assembling in New England, for the purpose of invading the Province of Nova Scotia, and that Magazines are now forming for that End.

You are therefore, hereby required and Directed to proceed immediately to Sea, with His Majesty's Sloop under your Command, taking with you the Diligent Armed Brig (whose Commander has directions to obey your Orders,) and make the best of your way to the several Rivers Kenebeck, Penobscot and Pasquaquody using your utmost care to procure Intelligence whether any Preparations are making for the above mentioned purpose, or any other respecting His Majesty's Service.

And in case of receiving any authentic Information which may appear necessary for the Governor, or myself to be acquainted with, You are to lose no Time to communicate it, by either proceeding yourself, or sending the Diligent Brig into Annapolis [Royal] and Dispatching an Express immediately from thence to this Place.

You are in that case, afterwards to take every Measure to impede and obstruct such Preparations, by destroying their Magazines, Boats, &c. employing the Diligent Brig for the same Purpose, and exerting your utmost Attention to distress the Rebels, and afford every Protection to His Majesty's faithful Subjects.

But if you shall be convinced that the Report of such intended Invasion is groundless and without Foundation, you are nevertheless after visiting the before mentioned Rivers to proceed to Annapolis, and send an Express to the Governor, or myself, of the Intelligence you have procured, and then Cruize between Annapolis and Mount Desart till the 10th of December after which you are to return to this Port for further Orders.

You are at liberty if no Preparations are making by the Rebels in those Parts against this Province, to employ the Diligent in the manner that may appear to you most for the Advantage of the Kings Service, either by leaving Her at Annapolis, or by sending Her round to this Port as Convoy to such Vessels as may be bound to it; for doing which this shall be your Order.

JOHN LANGDON TO WILLIAM WHIPPLE¹

Dear Sir

Portsmo Novemr 6. – 1776 –

My being out of Town for sometime past must be the excuse for my not writing you ere this, your kind favour from Springfield I have received. It would have been of little Service if you had gone by the way of Providence, as the Guns cannot be had from there Cap. [Nathaniel] Falconer went from hence two Days since for Providence by him you'll be informed of all Matters from that Place – I've no prospect of Guns unless from Connecticut or Philadelphia; I understand that the Guns at Hartford, are ready for the Ship at Middletown which is not ready to receive them now if them were immediately ordered for me & another sett cast for her there, or sent from Philadelphia it would do pray mention this matter to the Honle Committee if they should order it would be best to send off immediately to Hartford and order the Guns to be halled to Boston and delivered to the Agent Cap. [John] Bradford for me from whence I may have them by Water the Guns for the Ship are those 26 Twelve Pounders, 6 sixes or fours twenty swivels. – For Mercy sake let something be done immediately or our Ship will never go to Sea, I do not expect to have one Man left in few days In short them want to be excused, as they have great offers every Day in the Privateering way there is scarce now one single man out of employ fit for Midship-man Privateers every Day calling for Men – Pray let me have also an order to Enter Seaman from the Continental Troops, here, as they can be filled up out of the Country (that is if the Guns are ordered) I've received no Orders from the Honorable Secret Committee Relative to the Goods by [Thomas] Palmer please mention this least my Letters should have miscarried, which I wrote them –

I've now the pleasure to Inform you that the McClary Privateer Cap. [Robert] Parker got home few days since and has brought in here one fine River built Ship with five Hundred & odd Hogsheads Jamaica Rum Designed for Quebec for the Army there, there is one Hogshead Sterling old Stuff for Burgoine & one for Carlton this prize is worth at least 20,000 Lawful Money, also a Brigantine with about two Hundd Hogsheads Sugar and a Ship loaded with Mahogany these three prizes with the two small Schooners sent in before makes verry successful Cruise. –

I have begun to Load the Ship I bought have had the Carpenters to work ever since put in new hooks new Steps some new Ceiling new Top's some new Yards her Cargo will consi[s]t of about Twenty Thousand feet of Mahogany about thirty Masts & Bowsprits from 18 to 26 Inches compleatly hewed about Two Thousand Inches spars, about Thirty Thousand Oak Plank Plank measure as much pine about Thirty Thousand Staves white oak & red &c pray let me know if the Honle Committee see fit to take her by Charter or any other way they think best & what Goods they choose purchasd pray let me know this by return of Post as she will be ready to go in about three weeks pray be good enough to see that my Letters to the Honle Committee, are laid before them least the Hurry of Business should omit them, I've reason to believe that some of my Letters to the Honle Committee have miscarrd; as their Letter to me refers to mine to Mr [Josiah] Bartlett & does not mention mine to the Board which I wrote at the same time pray try to forward all these Matters by return of Post –

I went to Cambridge to the appeal of Lears [Tobias Lear's] case but the Court is adjourned to February & his property & Yettons [Hopley Yeaton's] laying Spoiling I wish if it can be done you'll get the sense of the House about that matter whether if we should loose it at Cambridge we may not apply to Congress for redress for it is an unheard of piece of Robbery not even to allow them their Adventures tho' they are americans and proved Friends to the Cause of America as any on the Continent. I hope the Congress will order the Cause before them or the Men will be totally Ruined² all are well of our Friends – God bless you – With Friendship I am [&c.]

Portsm Novr 6th 1776

The letter from the Honbl Committee of the 17th Ult by Cap [John] Roche, I Recd this day, and immediately Ordered one of my Master builders out of the Yard, with a Gang of Hands into the woods to Cut and procure Timber for the Vessell, which I am order'd to build,² – I should been very glad to have had the order little sooner, as it would have saved much Trouble and expence the Season being so far advanced. the hauling so bad, and the days so short. however shall pay my greatest Attention in giving every Dispatch in my power; I've a very Compleat Ship almost ready to Launch of the very Same Dementions which this must be of. (belongg to Private Concern,) the molds of which and many other matters will exactly do for this, which will save much time, and some expence – I observe the Honbl Committee, Intend her for a Brig but they will pardon me for Differing in Opinion, the Riging her a ship will be Attended with little or no more expence, [() and by far the best.) of which Cap. Roche when he came to Consider the Matter was fully Convinced, – This vessell will T[o]nage upwards of three hundred Tuns and if Rigged a Brigt her Mainmast main Topmast and Boom would be very Unwealdy and by no means answer for these seas; tho' it might Possibly do to the Southward in fine weather or, in Rivers. If the Honbl Committee should think proper to order her rigged a Ship they will please to Signify it in their next. – Cap. Roche will immediately set off to the furnices in Massachusetts, to Procure guns ball, and other Stores in which I fear shall have some Trouble; as every thing of that kind are extreamly Scarce, and of a most Extravigant price – all sorts of Rig[ging] Costs from £6 to 7£ pounds L my P Ct in short there is no price to any Stores for vessells – I shall make it my Study to do the business on the most frugal plan Possible

I Observe the Honbl Committee order the payment of this out of the [prize] money in my hands, which I shall make use of when Recd. the State of the Prizes at a Rough calculation are as follows, in Mr [Joshua] Wentworth's hands for Ship Susanna which sold only for Three hundred and fifty pounds being very old and rotten, her Cargo porter and Sour grout, mostly spoiled – for Ship Nelly Frigate and Cargo of Mahogany which sold Low; on these are many Charges and high Portledge bills, so that not much is to be expected from them, when the Accts are made up: the Brig Elizabeth with dry goods Nothing, the Continent have given up their part to the Claimants. In my hands the Ship Royal Exchange, and Cargo which perhaps may Sell for Ten or Eleven thousand pounds L my the shot good for but little the Sale will be on Tuesday the 12th Instant – the Honbl Committee will please to Consider that I have Considerable sums to pay for the Raleigh, yet unpaid a Considerable Q[uan]tity of Provision to pack for her, as also for the ship which I am now to build the men to pay off that are on board, every three months keeping back one month's pay – least Desertion – many expences every day accrui[n]g. –

From this state of Matters the Honbl Committee will form some Judgement of the Expenditure of the Monies Recd My last Draught on the Honbl Committee in favor of Colonal [William] Whipple, shall most Certainly want for use of the Frigate – I beg leave to Observe to the Honbl Committee, that in the Month of December, and Janry is the time for Cuting and hawling of Timber, therefore if any thing is to be done further in the buildg way, of any large ships & it will be Necessary for Orders immedeately that the Materials may be got in the proper Season and be ready in the month of February when fine weather and long days are Coming on, to do the work in; this would Save great expence, to the Continent, and the timber much better. It is full one half the Trouble and Labour in geting the Timber and Materials in the yard – I am with the Greatest Respect [&c.]

Your favo'r of the 18th Ult P Capt [John] Roche, is now before me, to which I answer – It has given me much pleasure to Correspond with you on Publick Affairs, as I was always Certain, of all matters being Carried into execution (that fell within your Department,) with Effect. It now gives me great Satisfaction to have a Correspondence with you, or the House of Willing, Morris & Co[m]p[an]y on private business; – I think my self under Obligation to you for the good opinion you are pleased to Entertain of me and the Liberty you have given me of Speculating for so large a Sum of money. Depend on't I shall take hold of every Opertunity, (that may Turn up in this place) of Serveg you and the House of Cunningham Nesbit and Compy, in the Purchase of Prize goods,² – Nothing would make me happier than to have it in my power, to be Concern'd for one third as youv'e been kind enough to Mention; but when I tell you, that two thirds of My little fortune is now in the hands of Messrs Lane & Compy of London, and that which I have here, vested in parts of Private vessells of war, and Merchantmen, will easily see that I should be wrong to Attempt it, not that I've the least doubt but much might be Made, in this way (Common Accidents excepted) by men of large Capital You may Depend on't that whether I am Concern'd or not, (if you ch[oo]se to make Purchases) it shall be done on the best terms, and every Caution taken in my Power: and whatever Allowance you may think for doing the business, will give me full Satisfaction.

. . . the Oak plank you mention will not Suit the Westindia Market, by no means so well as pine I think the Ships may be had, tho the Rigg and Sails which perhaps some may want in part, will be extravagantly high, the men I beleive may be had tho high wages, — some of the Prize ships have been Sold very low, but they have been very old and wanted much Repairg those have been Sold at £500 to £7 or £800 — The ship which Ive mentiond with Jamaica Rum is Very good river built. Thorough repair last voyage which Cost £1500 Stg only the repairs upwards of two hundred Tons, the Ship with Mahogany old, one hundred and Sixty Tons, good ship, Carolina built. . . .

ROBERT HANSON HARRISON TO GOVERNOR JONATHAN TRUMBULL,¹

White Plains Novemr 6th 1776

Sir By a letter from Majr General Greene who is stationed on the Jersey side of the North River his Excellency is informed, that six officers belonging to Privateers who had been taken by the Enemy and made their escape report that Seventy Sail of Transports and Ships have fallen down to Red Hook, having on board about three thousand Troops, and that their destination, as given out, is to Rhode Island. His Excellency supposing there is such an embarkation does not apprehend that the expedition will be to the Eastward; he inclines to think that it will be to the Southward, and that some thing may be attempted there by way of a Winter's Campaign. However, he has thought proper to transmit the intelligence to you and Governor Cooke, that you may be on your guard, and have such precautions taken as may appear most likely to counteract their design in case they should attempt a descent . . .

DIARY OF FREDERICK MACKENZIE¹

[Long Island] 6th Novr The Pearl, Frigate, and two Navy Victuallers got under way about 3 o'Clock yesterday afternoon from their anchorage near Jones's house on The North River, and notwithstanding a very heavy fire from the Rebel Forts and Batteries on both sides, they got up as far as the mouth of Spikendevil Creek near Kingsbridge, without having received any apparent damage. They came to an anchor there, as the tide was spent. They are going with provisions for the three ships of War stationed higher up.

Four deserters came in this morning. They say but one shot struck the Pearl.

It is thought probable that the transports which are now ready in the harbour may be employed in conveying a considerable part of the Army up the North River towards Albany, in order to forward the operations of the Army under Genl Carleton, and assist in dispersing the Rebels opposed to him before the winter sets in. This does not appear impracticable. There is no danger of any Ice in the River till January, and it is navigable for transports and large vessels within 30 miles of Albany. The very appearance of an Army coming upon their backs, would probably oblige the Rebels to retire. Most persons however are of opinion that the fleet is destined for the Southward. Admiral Sir Peter Parker is to Command. The Carcase Bomb is ordered to go with it.

Many officers are still of opinion that the Expedition is intended against Rhode Island, as being the Best harbour for the Ships of War.

Copy

Perseus at Sea the 6 of November 1776.

My Lord, I am honored with your Lordships Letter bearing date the 21st of October, accompanied with a representation from Mr Alexander Brown, late Master of the Dinah Victualling Brig ² which Sailed from Spithead, under Convoy of the Perseus, and desiring my observations relative to his assertions.

In consequence, I need only refer your Lordship to my Journal for a full vindication of my conduct with regard to the Dinah, and the Convoy in general put under my protection. Or if your Lordship is of opinion that from the concise manner of keeping a Journal, the circumstances might appear more clearly from my Log-Book, where the observations are noted hourly, I will have the honor of transmitting a Copy: and it may perhaps convince your Lordship that had the Masters been as attentive to my Signals, as I was to the protection of their Vessels, the King's Service would have suffered less.

I will now beg your Lordships permission to enter into a few Circumstances which I flatter myself will remain unanswerable.

First; with regard to Mr Brown's observations on his Vessel, I do perfectly agree with him, and will venture to add she was unfit for any purpose except that of burning. Secondly – "he mentions, I kept company with the Fleet until the 16th of August:" from the time of my leaving St Helens to the time I joined the Lark which was the 12th of August, I placed the Ship on the Dinah's Lee-beam, distance a Cable's length; and my orders to the Officers were most positive to keep that position during the Night; this circumstance will lessen Mr Brown's merit in keeping company with the Fleet. Your Lordship will see the reason of my requesting Captain [Richard] Smith to take charge of the Convoy by the Letter I enclose.³ It is also plain that the Dinah and Burstwick were never seen after eight o'clock in the Evening of the 13th of August; and that on the 14th, the Weather was foggy 'till Noon, at which time there were only 18 Ships in Company, which I with much difficulty collected; on the 15th I made the Signal to speak with the Lark evidently to concert measures for the protection of the Convoy; and on the 16th (which is the day mentioned by Mr Brown for his having parted Company) it is beyond a doubt that I chased different Ships of the Convoy the whole day, fired a great many Shot at the offenders, rebuked the Masters &c. and with difficulty once more collected them. On the 18th I parted from the Lark and the Snow under her Convoy, consequently 17 remained under charge of the Perseus, not one of which was lost before our being driven on the Banks of Newfoundland, where we were dispersed by Gales of Wind and thick fogs.

I beg leave to conclude this tedious narrative by observing that it will ever be impossible for a single Ship to govern a Convoy, except where the Owners and Masters interests are concerned, which has not been the present case; and to assure your Lordship, that no one could have undertaken that Service with more zeal, and as far as my capacity permitted, I used every means for the preservation of the Fleet. I have the honor to be My Lord [&c.]

"A LETTER FROM QUEBEC, DATED NOV. 7, 1776" ¹

Last week arrived here the Adamant, from London, with General Carleton's Lady and sister, and other female passengers on board; passing the Island of Bicquet, in the River St. Lawrence, with a fair wind, and no Pilot to be got, by twelve o'clock at night, on Sunday fortnight, she, and another ship following her, got on a rock on the east end of Reed Island, by being deceived in the course by a large chart of that river: the Adamant, being a strong ship, beat over the rock, with the loss of both her anchors; but the other ship in company, loaded with wine and brandy, went all to pieces in an hour's time; the people were saved by the Adamant, who went back to Bicquet, and lay till a Pilot came from Quebec.

The General's Lady landed, and would not trust herself any further on the water, but took land-carriage for 70 or 80 miles over a bad road to Quebec.

JOURNAL OF LIEUTENANT COLONEL JOSEPH GOREHAM¹

[Fort Cumberland]

Thursday the 7th [November] Captain Baron prevailed on me to let the Command Boat go off at day light this Morning with Letters for the General, intrusting the Packett with a Corpl of the Regiment, well acquainted with the road to Halifax about 7 OClock in the Morning the thick Fog & Haize clear'd away, I discovered several Boats full of Men coming along Shore from Westcock, & the Merchant Schooner under way, just a head of them, Ordered to beat to Arms; detached Capt Grant & 50 Men to cover the Provision Sloop, which lay at the mouth of the Cumberland Creek; hauled one of the Cannon on the Parapet, there being no Embrasure cut, fired about twenty Shot, which fell rather short of the Enemy's boats & the Schooner, which they had now possession of. Capt Grant returned, & confirmed our Suspicion that they had also taken the Provision Sloop, which they soon got under Sail, and out of reach of his Musquetry – this provision Sloop had a Serjeant & twelve Men on board at Night, as Guard, & had orders occasionally to help to unload, when the Tide at those times served –

Capt Barron the acting Engineer, the Revd Mr Eggleston, with a Corporal & six Men of the Command Boat, also some of the Working party, which had got on board this Morning were taken, as the Sloop was undoubtedly surprized, & got possession of by the Enemy during the Night Season. I Ordered a Nine pounder drawn down to the Dyke to fire on the Vessel, & the Boats, the Enemy then stood for the River Leplaneke, & run in that Creek – brought the Gun up again to the Fort, there being little or no Water in the Fort Well, got 13 Hoghds filled for extra Use & purchased a number of Cattle, to serve the Garrison, there being no Pork got from the Sloop, & only about 4 Months flour, & pease, the Rebels taking every thing also sent in the Sloop – but few Friends of Government, or Militia came in; one of the Regiment deserted to them last Evening & by the Intelligence from some of the Inhabitants, who have been with them, they say most of the Inhabitants of Westcock; Amherst & Joly Cour [Jolicoeur] &c, have joined the Rebels, who are between 4 or 5 hundred; two hundred took the provision Sloop, that they expect a number more from St John's & Machias &c, with Frigates & Cannon. – Sent off Lt Sharman, & Mr Sheller, & Farrell from Halifax & Cornwallis in a Birch Canoe for Windsor, but it turning out Leaky they came back

[Boston, November 7, 1776] ²

The Petition of Josiah Godfrey Chief Pilot of the Sloop of War Republick Commanded by Capt Williams fitted out by this State.

Humbly Sheweth

That your petitioner engaged in the Service of this State expecting as much Wages as is given to Pilots in the Continental Service, but thinking himself in danger of being deprived of that reward for his Service that he can obtain from others, and which others in his Capacity enjoy, begs leave to State facts to your Honors, not doubting but he shall have all that Justice done him, that the justness of his Cause deserves. Your petitioner engaged with Capt Williams upon his Encouragement to give him as much as those of his Station in the Continental Service, this was Strengthened by Colo [Jerathmeel] Bowers engaging to lay a petition before your Honors, in behalf of your petitioner that Capt Williams engagement might be fulfilled to him, but this by accident was not done; And your petitioner having had Several offers more Advantageous has kept this upon the above encouragement, Now your petitioner is left to the said Alternative either to go much under what others freely offer him, or quit the Service of this State dishonourably and the worthy Officers with whom he is now happily Connected. Your humble petitioner makes choice of the former, and leaves the Event to your Honors, praying your Honors to make good his Encouragements from Capt Williams which induced him to Engage in the Service, and to allow him as much as those in the Continental Service which is Six pounds P Month.

And as in duty bound shall ever pray

BRIGADIER GENERAL SAMUEL HOLDEN PARSONS TO TIMOTHY GREEN¹

Mr. Green,
Sir,

As the unfortunate Attempt upon Montrossors Island may very unjustly injure the Character of some very worthy Officers, I beg you to insert the Result of the Court of Inquiry, so far as regards the Conduct of Capt. James Eldredge

At a Court of Inquiry, on the Conduct of the Captains commanding the Boats ordered to land on Montrossors Island, the 23d of September last:

Brigadier-General Parsons, President,
Col [Samuel] Brewer	{ Members, }	Col. [Levi] Pawling
Col [Jonathan] Ward,		Col. [William] Malcolm

Capt. James Eldredge came before this Court of Examination, and sundry Witnesses were examined, who testify as follows, viz. twelve Evidences were examined who all agreed that Capt. Eldredge exerted himself in a spirited soldierlike Manner to persuade and oblige the Men to pull the Boat to the Shore to support the Boat which landed, but another Officer (who has since been cashiered for his base Conduct at that Time) urged and persuaded the Men not to go on, and the Contrariety of Orders between the two was the Reason the Boat could not be got on Shore, the Evidence is very lengthy, but the above is nearly the Substance. — The Court being cleared — proceeded to a Consideration of the Case, and are unanimously of Opinion that Capt. Eldredge faithfully did his Duty as a good Officer and that there is no Foundation for impeaching his Conduct Samuel H. Parsons, President.

I am informed many Things unfavourable to Capt. James Eldredge's Character as an Officer have been currently reported in Stonington, and the Vicinity where he lives, whereby he has much suffered, I think myself bound in Duty, to certify that Capt. Eldredge, since he entered the Service has always been a faithful good Officer, and no Man has sustained a better Character as an Officer, and he has in no Instance to my Knowledge in the least Degree forfeited that Character.

Dear Sir

White Plains Nov 7th 1776

His Excellency Just now received Intelligence that three of the Enemy's Ships passed the Chivaux de frise Yesterday or the day before. When he considers this event with the present disposition of the Enemy who have advanced towards the North River, he apprehends that they have some thing in view that we are not apprized of. — he wishes you to post parties of observation at every place on the Jersey side of the North River where they can land to watch their motions, and upon the least appearance of their collecting Boats or making any disposition to embark that you will give him the earliest notice I am Dr Genl [&c.]

7th November 1776.

My dear Lord — The army having at last extended their flank to the North River has relieved us from a tedious and disagreeable confinement, as well as from a state of extreme anxiety, not having been able to procure the least certain intelligence of what was going on ever since we came up the river.

I have just been ashore to stretch my legs and to pick up news, by which means I have learnt that your Lordship is still among us, which gives me hopes of seeing you again before you take your departure. Hyde Parker is well, and desires his best compliments; he had great merit in coming up by the chevaux-de-frise, as the pilot proved to be totally ignorant of the place where the opening was supposed to be, at the moment when it was necessary to look out for it. As soon as he found this he determined at once to steer the same way that he came down, which was close to the eastern shore, where we found a broad channel of twelve fathom water.

The shot that did the ships the most damage was from the Jersey shore. The guns from those batteries were so well served that very few missed striking some part of the ship; and by its falling very little wind (perhaps occasioned by the firing), we were upwards of an hour in passing. Eight men were killed in the three ships, four of which unfortunately came to my share who could least spare them, as indeed is generally the case. Among them was poor Leake, my first lieutenant.

I have the pleasure to tell you that we have taken two of their galleys. When they found they could not escape us, they ran them on shore, and left them so precipitately that no man would stay long enough to set them on fire.

Since that time we have had so little to do, and so little to amuse ourselves with, that if it had not been for a little vingt-et-un now and then, I scarce know what would have become of us before this time. I hope and trust the case is so far different with your Lordship and our other friends of the fleet below (who cost us every day a bottle of wine extraordinary in drinking your health) that we expect to find the town of New York, at our return, quite enlivened by your influence. Ommaney is well and sends his best respects; do me the favour to remember me to Sir Peter, the Commadore, Banks, &c., and to believe that I am with the most affectionate attachment and regard etc.,

A. S. Hamond

P.S. — We know nothing as yet of what the army intends doing, but I have taken it into my head it will go farther north this year. General Cleaveland set off this morning with the heavy artillery against Fort Washington.²

AMBROSE SERLE TO LORD DARTMOUTH ¹

[Extract]

. . . Dr Franklin is now sailed for France, either to solicit Assistance, or (what is more probable) to secure his own Retreat. All Accounts agree, that the People in general are tired of their new Governors & their Proceedings, and that Parties are forming who begin to speak plainly against them.

We have had Information of Genl Carleton's Success upon Lake Champlain through the Rebels, for we have as yet no other Communication. Your Lordship will see by one of the inclosed Newspapers (which are published here under my own Inspection) what that Success amounts to; and we have not yet quitted all Hope of seeing that Army at New York before Winter, or of hearing at least that it is quartered about Albany ready for an early Junction in the Spring.

We have heard of the Capture of many of our trading Vessels; and some of our Ships are gone and others are preparing to get out, in order to prevent further Depredations of the Rebels by Sea. Many Ships can now be spared from the Service here, which could not have been spared before; for their Complements of Seamen have been of most essential Service in conveying the Troops backward and forward over the large Inlets of Water, which abound near New York, and which it was necessary to pass and repass to come at the Enemy. The Rebels themselves are astonished at the Alacrity and Dispatch, with which they have been hunted, and at their being driven from Places which they judged almost inaccessible, and where, for that Reason, they had prepared Barracks and the necessary Arrangements for Winter-Quarters. Their Army is in a wretched Plight indeed: Most of them have no other Covering than a Rifleman's Frock of Canvas over their shirt, and are diseased and covered with Vermin to a loathsome Degree.

. . . I should be glad to know what is the Office of Commissioners of the Navy,² and that you would point it out particularly; unless you can refer Me to some Author who particularly describes. The Conduct of the Affairs of a Navy as well as those of an Army We are yet to learn. We are still unacquainted with the systematical Management of them, although We have made considerable Progress in the latter. It is the Duty of every Friend to his Country to throw his Knowledge into the common Stock. I know you are well skilled in Commerce and I believe you are acquainted with the System of the British Navy, and I am sure of your Disposition to do every Service to the Cause of Liberty in your Power.

Pennsylvania Evening Post, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1776

Philadelphia, Nov. 7.

We are informed by authentic intelligence, that an American sloop of war of twelve guns and seventy men sailed from the Delaware the 21st of August.¹

She cruised between the latitudes of 39° and 33° N. and went to the eastward as far as the longitude of 50° west – having taken three prizes, a whaler, and two West-Indiamen – and having had a very narrow escape from an English frigate after a six hours chase, part of the time within pistol shot.² – on the 14th Sept. she bent her course for Nova-Scotia, and on the 20th had another action with an English frigate, and in the course of an eight hours chase, ridiculed the enemy, and answered his broadside with only a single musquet.³ The next day she went into Canso, and took three English schooners with a Scotch Tory's flag, although the Savage and [George] Dawson's brig⁴ were within a few leagues distance. The day following she took five sail of Jerseymen in Narrow Hook, and four more in Peter de Great. It is remarkable that though their men were ten to one, they were so panic-struck that they not only gave up their ships, but even assisted to rig and carry them out of their harbour. The sloop then proceeded to the westward – took another whaler on St. George's Bank, and on the 7th Oct. arrived safe at Rhode-Island; having manned and sent in eight prizes, viz. six brigantines, one ship and one sloop – and sunk, burnt and destroyed eight more, viz. six schooners, one ship and one brigantine; and finished her cruise in six weeks and five days.

It is my intentions, that besides the Vessels which have already been employed, those taken from the Rebels should be fitted out in the most formidable and usefull manner of which they are capable, and that a new ship be put upon

I have acquainted Captain [Thomas] Pringle and Mr Shanks of those matters, and the latter has been desired to draw up a state of the arrangement necessary to make for the carrying the design best into execution, and of the workmen and materials which will be required for the Compleating it, which, when he has done, I shall give such orders upon, as the Consideration of his proposals may make necessary. MASSACHUSETTS COUNCIL ORDERS RESPECTING EXCHANGE OF NAVAL PRISONERS ¹

State of the massachusetts Bay.

Council Chamber [Watertown] Novr the 8: 1776

Whereas two Vessells have lately Arrived from Hallifax by Ord'r of Sr George Collier Commandr of the RainBow Man of War; Under the care of Capt Thos Stone as Flaggs of Truce, (with one Hundred & Seventy four of our men that have been taken by the Enemy in Ord'r to Exchange for a like Number of their Men & undr like Circumstances that have been taken by Vessells belonging to the United States of America) with Directions to negotiate the affair with Mr Nathl Tracey of Newbury Port whose right to Negotiate with Ld Howe for the exchange of Prisoners was confined by this Board to the persons captivated on board the Brigantine Yankee Hero a private armed Vessel of this State, and whereas but five persons so captivated have been sent into this State in the said Flaggs of Truce And it was therefore altogether irregular that the negotiation for the exchange of any other prisoners than those belonging to the said Yankee Hero shou'd be managed or conducted by the said Tracey, Yet as it is apprehended that Sir George Collier may have mistaken the extent of the powers committed to the said Tracey, and as most of the prisoners bro't into this State by the said Flaggs have dispersed and gone to their several homes and considering the great hardships and Distresses our Men have undergone during their late Captivity it is thought proper for this time, to deliver up to the said Stone, an equal number of persons who are now Captives in this State (having respect to the Rank & Condition of the persons sent up for exchange) as have been return'd in the said Flaggs – And that for the future no exchange shou'd or ought to be made for any prisoners unless the Officers by whose direction our subjects shall be sent hither shall give order to negotiate for the same directly with the Government of this State

Therefore Resolved that Benja Greenleaf, Richd Derby & Benja Austin Esqrs be a Committee to Collect one Hundred and Sixty nine Persons that have been taken by our Vessells Under the like Situation & Circumstances as near as may be with those Brought by Capt Thos Stone & Negotiate the affair of the Exchange with Sd Stone and that Mr Nathl Tracey of Newbery Port be Impowerd & Directed to Convey four officers & one Private from any of the Prisoners at or near Northampton (John King & Robert Arnold Excepted) & negotiate the Exchange for the four officers & one Private lately of the Privateer Yankee Hero, now in his the Sd Stones Possession –

Mr [John] Earle the Master of the Alfred has applied for leave to come to Philadelphia to see his Family, and as he has done his Duty since in the Service as a good Officer have given him leave to come to you, and take your further directions – Captn [Isaac] Field in the Eagle has made a Complaint to me against Captn [John Paul] Jones for taking out some of his hands – I have enquired so far as to find that Captn Jones met the Privateer a coming in from a Cruise – and on sending onboard found two Men belonging to the Fleet, and two More belonging to the Rhode Island Brigade, all four of whom he took out, and I believe some more – which can't be well accounted for any otherway than Captn Jones knew that the Privateers made a constant practice of carrying away the Men belonging to the Fleet, thought it would put some Stop to that practice, and not be any damage to the Owners as she was coming in from a Cruise – I can't but believe that Captn Jones did as he thought best for the good of the Publick – and I must Confess I shall be glad if it meets your approbation –

I hear that the Cabot has been in at Cape Ann, and expect her in to New London in a few days – if so Shall try to get her fit to join in the Expedition – I am Gentlemen with great Respect [&c.]

Connecticut Gazette, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1776

New London, November 8.

Last Friday arrived at Cape-Ann the Continental Brig Cabot, Capt. Elisha Hinman: – by Letters received in Town from said Brig, we learn that he has taken, during her cruize, four Ships and a Brig, all richly laden with Rum, Sugar, Cotton, Coffee, &c. from Jamaica.

Yesterday arrived in Town, via Long-Island, Mr. Elias Thomas, who was taken by the Galatea of 20 Guns, Capt. Gurden [Thomas Jordan], about the first of September, in the Britannia, Whaleman, belonging to Nantucket, and carried to New York, where he was put on board the Chatham. – He made his Escape from the Enemy last Wednesday se'nnight, and says it was currently reported on board the Fleet that the ministerial Army lost 3000 Men, in the different Actions of Sunday and Monday se'nnight, chiefly Hessians, that 78 wounded Officers were brought into New-York – That in the attack upon Fort Washington the Phenix was torn almost to Pieces and two Frigates greatly damaged – That General Clinton, who commanded the ministerial Troops at South-Carolina, lately died in New York of the Wounds he received in the attack on the Fort at Sullivan's-Island – That 100 sail of Transports were shortly to sail to England under convoy of the Bristol, Rose and Swan – that the noted capt. [James] Wallace is promoted to the command of the Experiment, of 50 guns.¹

Four of the Enemy's Ships are now cruising near Block-Island, viz. Lark, 32 guns, [Richard] Smith; Cerberus, 28, Symonds [John Symons]; Merlin, 18, and another ship of 28 Guns. Last Thursday the above Ships lay in East-Bay at Block-Island.

Since our last a Number of Troops from Rhode-Island, from the East-End of Long-Island and from Connecticut, embarked at New-Haven, and landed at Shetocket, on Long-Island with a View of bringing off some Tories and the Effects of a Gentleman friendly to the American cause; being interrupted by some Tories who fired upon them, they killed 10, and have brought off 23, two of the latter were deserters from our Army. A sergeant in our Party was killed in the contest.

About the same Time, one Samuel Glover, a notorious Offender, was taken at Mastick, on said Island, and is committed to Goal in this Town.

1. Of these reports circulating in the British fleet, only two were correct – the proposed sailing of transports for England, and the promotion of Captain James Wallace.

GEORGE WASHINGTON TO MAJOR GENERAL NATHANAEL GREENE¹

Sir:

Head Quarters [White Plains] November 8, 1776.

The late passage of the 3 Vessels up the North River (which we have just received advice of) is so plain a Proof of the Inefficacy of all the Obstructions we have thrown into it, and I cannot but think, it will fully Justify a Change in the disposition which has been made. If we cannot prevent Vessels passing up, and the Enemy are possessed of the surrounding Country, what valuable purpose can it answer to attempt to hold a Post from which the expected Benefit cannot be had; I am therefore inclined to think it will not be prudent to hazard the men and Stores at Mount Washington, but as you are on the Spot, leave it to you to give such Orders as to evacuating Mount Washington as you Judge best and so far revoking the Order given Colo. Magaw to defend it to the last.

The best accounts obtained from the Enemy, assure us of a considerable Movement among their Boats last Evening, and so far as can be collected from the various Sources of Intelligence, they must design a Penetration into Jersey and fall down upon your Post. You will therefore immediately have all the Stores &c. removed, which you do not deem necessary for your defence, and as the Enemy have drawn great Relief from the Forage and Provisions they have found in the Country, and which our Tenderness spared, you will do well to prevent their receiving any fresh Supplies there, by destroying it, if the Inhabitants will not drive off their Stock and remove the Hay Grain &c. in time. Experience has shewn, that a contrary Conduct is not of the least advantage to the poor Inhabitants, from whom all their Effects of every kind are taken, without distinction and without the least Satisfaction.

Troops are filing off from hence, as fast as our Circumstances and Situation will admit, in order to be transported over the River with all Expedition, I am etc.

P. S. I need not Suggest to you the Necessity of giving Genl. Mercer early Information of all Circumstances, in Order that he may move up to your Relief with what Troops he has.

VIRGINIA NAVY BOARD TO RICHARD HENRY LEE ¹

Sir

Williamsburg Nov. 8th 1776

We have had the pleasure to receive your acceptable favours of 22d Ultimo and am much obligd by your attention to the Marine department here as well as for your attention of giving us intelligence from time to time of any material occurrences that may happen & shall always be ready to give you or the Marine Committee of Congress any information respecting the business of our Board that you may think necessary to require of us. your observations respecting the appointment of a Superintendant of the Dockyards &c. exactly coincide with the sentiments of our Board and the Gent you mention is the one the Board had determin'd to choose before your letter came to hand and will immediately be employed in that Capacity. the having a strong Fortification at Portsmouth we think wou'd be extreemly necessary for the protection of our little Navy, but under the present difficulties of our Country when neither Men or cannon can be procured we have little hope of establishing any other Fortifications than such as may serve to protect our Vessels when heaving down, repairing &c against a small naval force of the Enemy. the Vessels now on the Stocks are at places most convenient to Timber &c. and inaccessible to the Enemy except by Land or in Boats where the River is very narrow. We thank you for the draught of the Galley you were pleas'd to send us, and your order on us for the Cost of it will meet with due honour, the Gallies we had order'd were so nearly agreeable to that draught that they needed very little alteration to make them extreemly conformable to it. We are happy to hear that our Troops behave so well, and that our affairs in New York wear so favourable an aspect, may they continue to do so, we are now making out and shall in a few Days lay before the Assembly a State of our Navy which we will as soon as convenient transmit you a Copy of. I am by order of the Naval Board [&c.]

Among the Rest of the Rum there's 2 hhds of spirrit Directed for Burgoine & Carlton – By Letters taken in Said Ship, it appears there is a great Scarcity of provisions at Jamaica as One Gentlemen writes his friend That he was then (in July) Selling flour at 18 dollars P barrl & Indian Corn at 2 dollars P bushel – There is also a Mahogany Ship (which the McClary Took) Arrivd Which will Turn out in Value about 2500 £. DIARY OF FREDERICK MACKENZIE ¹

It is not supposed we are going to Rhode Island, as the passage there at this season is rather dangerous and tedious, occasioned by the prevalence of the North-erly winds, particularly off the end of Long Island, which makes it difficult to beat up so far. The transports and Frigates indeed, might go through Hellgate and the Sound, but none of the two decked ships can go that way, nor the Grand Duke of Russia transport of 672 Tons, and as they must go by Sandy hook and the back of Long Island, and the fleet wd by this means be separated. In the opinion of many the chief expedition is intended for the Delaware, and the other up The North River to attack Fort Constitution, or to proceed farther up to hasten the retreat of the Army opposed to General Carleton.

Sir St Pierre Martinique Novr 10th 177[6]
 Above you will find Copy of my last Respects Since which have not had the Honor of receiving any of your esteemed favors – The Gentn at Bordeaux to whom I transmitted some of my Letters for you has acknowledged the Receipt of them & informs me that he had carefully forwarded them –

This I expect will be delivered to you by Mr Wm Hodge of Philadelphia, who is entrusted with Some important Dispatches by the Committee of Secret Correspondence; And as I have no doubt of your being fully informed of every interesting Peice of Intelligence thro the Medium of their Dispatches, I almost think it needless to expatiate at large upon them –

The Result of the Conference between the Committee of Delegates & Lord & Genl Howe, you will find published in the Gazettes by order of Congress – The Evacuation of New York by Genl Washington may perhaps at first raise the Spirits of our Enemies & make a deeper Impression upon the Minds of our Friends, than this prudent Maneuvre of our Generals merits. It Saved the Destruction of an elegant & once opulent City, which the Ships under Command of Lord Howe might at any Time have laid in Ashes. Our Army is now strongly entrenched on New York Island & at Kingsbridge & bid Defiance to the Enemy; Genl Howe finds himself identically in the Same Situation, that he was in at Boston, having the Command of the Sea, but at Land Surrounded by our Troops –

There is to be established betwixt this Island & the Continent a Number of fast Sailing well appointed Vessels, which are intended for the Purpose of Commerce, as well as to convey Dispatches to & from this Place; I therefore expect henceforward to have a regular & punctual Supply of News, all which I Shall duly & carefully transmit to you; The Honble the Committee desired that when I Should write to you, I would earnestly recommend your contriving some Way of sending me the English, Irish & French News Papers, political Publications, &c in order that they may be furnished therewith – I think they may be sent under cover to the General ² with his Dispatches or by any other conveyance that you may think preferable – I have the Honor to be with great Regard & Esteem [&c.]

JOHN BRADFORD TO THE CONTINENTAL MARINE COMMITTEE ¹

Boston 11th Novr 1776

I have the honour of receiving your favour under the 18th of Octor furnishing me with a resolve of Congress to order a just distribution of all prizes taken by the Cruisers fitted out by order of General Washington on the Continental Account – to which I beg leave to reply, the prizes taken prior to the three scotch transports ² were under the direction of other Agents, who by a former order from Congress I have repeatedly call'd on to exhibit their Accounts for a Settlement, which at present remains to be done, tho' Mr [William] Watson assures me in a fortnight he will be ready to come to a Settlement, But I despair of doing any thing with Bartlet & Glover ³ – the latter bawls out of the unreasonableness of calling on him, when he is in advance for the Continent. I shall give a very close attention to settle the Accounts of all the prizes that's fallen into my hands, to pay the men their proportions and to forward to your board all the documents ordered and when I know what Ballance remains shall dispose of it agreeable to your orders –

Two days since two prize Briggs arrived the one taken by the Hancock & Franklin from [torn] for the mediranean with 426 Teirces of Salmon & 420 quintals of dry fish ⁴ – the other brought in by the Lee from Halifax for Jama with lumber ⁵ I sometime since acquainted the honble Board with the conduct of Capt: [Daniel] Waters in the Lee relative to his refusing to joyn Capt [William] Burk[e] in attacking two vessells off Marblehead who was a good deal shatter'd by them while he [Waters] remain'd a shore & was only a spectator for want of his Assistance we lost them both – they were Scotch transports – the cruise before last he was near a month in the Eastern parts after he sail'd hence, the last Cruise I fitted him for a two months Cruise and he return'd before one month expired, I cant discharge my duty without acquainting the Board with such proceedings, and to inform you that the service realy suffers for want of some regulation which I hope you in your wisdom will soon make, the Schooner Lynch remains on pay haul'd up – hope I shall receive orders what to do with her – ⁶ I have the Honour to be with all due Respects [&c.]

since) who, he says he can prove, has frequently secreted Rebels, & was their Guide the Night he was made Prisoner. He tells me the Rebels kill'd 5. or 6. & brought off about 18 or 19 Prisoners with about 50. Firelocks —

Peeks kill, November 11, 1776.

I left white Plains about 11 O'Clock yesterday. all peace then. The Enemy appeared to be preparing for their expedition to Jersey, according to every information. What their designs are, or whether their present conduct is not a feint I cannot determine. The Maryland and Virginia Troops under Lord Stirling have crossed the River as have part of those from the Jersey, the remainder are now embarking.

The Troops judged necessary to Secure the Several posts thro' the Highlands, have also got up. I am going to examine the Passes and direct such Works as may appear necessary, after which and making the best disposition I can, of things in this Quarter, I intend to proceed to Jersey, which I expect to do to Morrow.

I congratulate you and Congress on the News from Tyconderoga and that Genl Carlton and his Army have been Obligated to return to Canada, without attempting anything. I have &ca.

CONTINENTAL MARINE COMMITTEE TO CAPTAIN ELISHA WARNER, CONTINENTAL SCHOONER Fly ¹

Sir [Philadelphia] November 11th 1776

We have received intelligence that our enemies at New York are about to embarque 15000 Men on board their Transports, but where they are bound remains to be found out. The Station assigned you makes it probable that we may best discover their destination by your means for it will be impossible this fleet of Transports can get out of Sandy hook without your seeing them; and we particularly direct you to take such station as will prevent a probability of their passing you unseen the wasp must act in conjunction with you, and for that purpose you will concert with Lieutenant [John] Baldwin what is best to be done and give him orders accordingly, when you discover this fleet watch their motions and the moment they get out to Sea and shape their course send your boat on Shore with a Letter to be dispatched by express informing us what course they steer – how many sail they consist of if you can ascertain their numbers and how many Ships of war attend them. We expect this Letter will be sent off to you by Mr James Searle who is at Shrewsbury and he will either receive your letters and send them off to us by express or get some proper person to do it. If this fleet steer to the Southward either the fly or wasp which ever sails fastest must precede the fleet – keeping in shore and ahead of them, and if you find they are bound into the Capes of Delaware, run into some of the Inlets on the Jersey Shore, and send one of your officers or some proper person to us instantly with an Account thereof.

The dullest sailer of the Fly or Wasp must follow after this fleet and watch their motions and whenever you make discovery of their destination so as to know it with certainty put in for the Land and send us the information by Express.

Thus you must watch this fleet one before and the other after them until you can inform us where they are bound. Should they go for Chesapeake Bay, put into some of the Inlets on the Coast and give advice to the Council of Safety of Virginia and Maryland by express. If they go for North Carolina South Carolina or Georgia observe the same conduct, and if they go to the Northward do the like. In short we think you may by a Spirited execution of these Orders prevent them from coming by Surprize on any part of this Continent, and be assured you cannot recommend yourself more effectually to our freindship. If you could find an opportunity of attacking and taking one of the fleet on their coming out it might be the means of giving us ample intelligence, in such case send all the papers and prisoners here expeditiously. — We are sir [&c.]

sailed from thence 1st Current & have met with contrary winds and Stormy Weather for some time past – I have not however met with any material Disaster – I took the Brigantine Active last night from Liverpool for Hallifax with an Assorted Cargo on private Account – and this morning I fell in with and took the Ship Mellish of 350 Tons from London for Quebeck with a Cargo consisting entirely of Cl[o]thing – this Prize is I believe the most Valuable ship that hath been taken by the American Arms – She made some defence but it was triffling. – the Active by the best Account I can learn was worth Six Thousand pounds Sterling when She left England. – I found Sixty men Women and Children on board the Mellish – Several of whom are persons of distinction. – I have taken them all on board here and shall now endeavour all I possibly can to effect the principal part of my duty and relieve our illtreated Fellow Citizens at Cape Briton – the loss of the Mellish will distress the Enemy more than can be easily imagined. – as the Clothing on board of her is the last intended to be sent out for Canada this season and all that hath preceeded it is already Taken – the situation of Burgoyne's Army must soon become insupportable – I will not loose Sight of a prize of such Importance but will sink her rather than suffer her to fall again into their hands: – I send the Active into port and she conveys this. – there are among the prisoners forty Seamen and Soldiers with their officers. – I am with much esteem and respect Gentlemen [&c.]

COLONEL JOSHUA PORTER TO ROBERT TREAT PAINE¹

Sir

Salisbury Novr 12th 1776

Your Favour from Philadelphia of Octr 7th is before me, for delaying, so long, to answer it, I must appologize, having been extreemly hurried in Business –

There is no convenient way of enlarging This Furnace so as to cast Thirty two ladders, unless She is rebuilt, to do which I judge will never be expedient, while smaller Cannon continue in Demand as at present –

I can give little or no Encouragement as to Guns for the Frigates in the States of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, as all the Guns that have been cast here, of the Sizes mentioned in yrs, are already disposed of and all that are to be made for some time to come, are pre-engaged.

The Produce of the Furnace has been hitherto disposed of by Vote of the Governor & Council of Safety for this State, and all Applications for Cannon &c must be to Him, for an Order for the delivery of Them here –

As Our Metal is esteem'd superior to any in America, I immagin Twenty four ladders might be cast at this Furnace another Blast, if the Hearth was laid larger than it now is – as we can at present run Iron enough for Eighteen ladders in a heavier Mold than is necessary, (as I think,) for Metal of such extraordinary Tufness as Our Salisbury Ore affords. I propose casting a Gun for a trial, in a Mold constructed according to Mullers Directions, which will be lighter, by about 1/5 – if it bears the proof, it will encourage us to think that Twenty four ladders may be cast here. For proof we charge with 2/3 the Weight of the Shot, in powder, and 2 Balls. I am Sir [&c.]

GEORGE WASHINGTON TO MAJOR GENERAL WILLIAM HEATH ¹[Extract]
Sir:Head Quarters, at Peeks Kill,
November 12, 1776.

The uncertainty with respect to the designs of the Enemy renders any disposition of our Army at this time a little unsettled; but for the present, your division, with such Troops as are now at Forts Constitution, Montgomery and Independence are to be under your Command and remain in this Quarter for the security of the above Posts and the Passes through the Highlands from this place, and the one on the West side of Hudson's River. Colo. [Thomas] Tash's Regiment is meant to be Included in this Command.

Unnecessary it is for me to say any thing to evince the Importance of securing the Land and Water Communication through these Passes or to prove the Indispensable necessity of using every exertion in your power to have such Works erected for the defence of them as your own Judgment, assisted by that of your Brigadiers and the Engineer may shew the expediency of.

Sir

Fort Lee Novem 12th 1776

Your favor of the 4th & 5th of this instant came duly to hand – you may depend upon my transmitting to Congress every piece of intelligence that comes to hand that is worthy their notice

By one Justice Mercereau a Gentleman that fled from Statten Island I am inform'd that there are 10,000 Troops embark'd for South Carolina to be Commanded by Lord Dunmore – this intelligence he obtained by a Gentleman Yesterday from the City of New York a man of Credit & Truth – Mercereau is a very good friend to the cause and a sensible man, and he says from several ways this Account is confirm'd – Perhaps the numbers are not so great as reported –² Mercereau further informs that a large fleet are at the watering place on Long, or Statten Island, all ready to sail for England – it is reported the fleet consists of 100 Sail – By Several Accounts from different People from the City it appears our Prisoners are in a very suffering situation – Humanity requires that something should be done for them – they have only half allowance of bread & Water but this I suppose is exaggerated.

The Enemy at Dobbs ferry where they have lain for several days past decamped this morning at Nine oClock and took the Road towards Kings Bridge –

They made an appearance at the ferry as if they intended to cross the River – I believe they are disappointed in their expectations and at a loss what measures to pursue

We have had several Skirmishes with the Hessians on York Island within a few days, kild and wounded between thirty and forty privates and one Officer – Day before yesterday our People had an Interview with the Hessians – they acknowledged they were greatly impos'd upon by their Prince, and Promis'd to desert that night but none came over –

A considerable part of the Troops on the other side are coming over into the Jerseys and his Excellency General Washington with them – I expect General Howe will attempt to possess himself of Mount Washington – but very much doubt whether he'll succeed in the Attempt – Our Troops are much fatigued with the Amazing duty – but are generally in good Spirits. The Hessians say they are on half Allowance. The light Horse are said to be perishing for want of Proven-der. I have the Honour to be [&c.]

Wednesday morning [November 13, 1776]

Dear Sir

12 oClock

About 10 oClock this morning appear'd round the Point of Sandy Hook a number of Vessells outward bound, they are still coming out in great numbers, as I unfortunately have no Glass, I cannot as yet distinguish their motions, I shall detain the Express however one hour longer, that I may endeavour to form some Judgement of their number & Course.

One oClock – I do not think it prudent to detain the bearer any longer, the Ships come out but slowly, at present about 100 Sail appear round the Hook & appear to be standing to the Southward. Wind at N West I observe one or two that appear to be very large. Do me the favour to send word to Mrs Searle that I set out for Phila this afternoon & shall be there on Friday at Noon. As this Committee is charged with the management of the Commerce carried on for the Continental Service, We think it our duty to represent to your Board the Necessity there is for an Armed Vessell of some kind to be stationed at Cape May for the protection of the Trade to & from this Port, at present there is none of the Continental armed Vessells fit or ready for this Service, being all employed on other important pursuits, besides it has been judged the proper object of every State on this Continent to protect their own Ports to the utmost of their Power – We understand You have a large Galley intended to Cruize in the Bay.² If this Vessell is ordered down to Cape May immediately she may render Important Service to the private Trade of this port as well as to the Continental interest, and if any thing in the power of this or the Marine Committee is wanted to compleat your Galley depend on a ready Concurrence with Your desires. To Hoysteed Hacker Esqr Commander of Sloop Providence –

We the Subscribers take this Method to Acquaint You of the present Situation of our Vessel & Crew. Since the Afternoon of our Chacing the Brig which we made Prize of, We have Leak'd in such a manner as to oblige Us to keep one Pump constantly going, owing to our being Obligated to carry Sail hard, & the Wind blowing very fresh, which strain'd her very much – The last Night being obliged to lay too by Reason We could not carry Sail as She kept both Pumps constantly going; Should we meet with a severe Gale of Wind it is our Opinions both pumps would not keep her free unless We scudded. – We have a quarter part of our hands Sick and the Prizes we have taken will still reduce our Number, as they are of great Value – Shoud You think proper to continue us farther to the Northward we are ready & willing to do every thing in our Power for the good of the Expedition, but we are of Opinion it will too much Endanger the Vessel –

SIR GEORGE COLLIER TO CAPTAIN GEORGE DAWSON, H. M. SLOOP Hope ¹

As there is the greatest Reason to imagine that a Body of His Majesty's Rebel Subjects have taken Arms with a Design to invest Fort Cumberland and ravage the adjacent Country, you are hereby required and Directed to proceed immediately to Sea with His Majesty's Sloop under your Command in search of His Majesty's Sloops Albany and Diligent; (a Copy of whose Orders you will receive herewith) ² to whom you will give Directions to proceed immediately to Fort Cumberland and destroy if possible the Rebel Armament now employed against that Place.

You are to direct Lieutenant [Michael] Hyndman; (the Commander of the Albany) that if He finds the Fort actually invested, He is to endeavor throwing as large a Body of Seamen and Officers into it as He can spare from the two Sloops, and to use every Endeavor in His Power to distress and harrass the Enemy, and assist the Kings Troops in those Parts.

He is to be attentive to the Bason of Minas, and Windsor, and if He finds He can spare the Diligent, He is to Dispatch Her for the purpose of keeping that Channel clear of the Pirate Boats which have lately infested it.

You are to acquaint Lieutenant Hyndman, that He will probably meet with the Vulture Sloop in the Bay of Fundy, to whose Captain He will communicate these Directions, and apply to Him for further Orders.

And as the earliest Communication of the State things are in is of the utmost Consequence, it is my desire that Expresses are sent to the Governor or myself, as often as opportunity serves, and any thing of Moment Occurs.

After sending away the Albany and Diligent, if you find His Majesty's Service does not require your further Stay in the Bay of Fundy, you are to proceed and put your former Cruizing Orders in Execution.

the Harbour of Halifax the 14th of November 1776.

JOHN LANGDON TO THE SECRET COMMITTEE OF THE CONTINENTAL

Sr

Portsmo Novr 14th 1776

Your favo'r on behalf of the Honbl Secret Committee of the 25th Ult. I Recd two days since by Colonl Bartlet [Bartlett], incloseg the Resolves of the Honbl Congress Respectg the [Marquis of] Kildare's Cargo ² on Rec[ei]pt of which, I immediately Set the Sailmakers at work on the Tents, and the Tailors on the few wollings which were suitable for Soldiers under waistcoats; and gave orders to the Waggon master to have Ten Teams in readiness to set out Next thursday at which time they will Certainly set off weather permittg – The season being so far Advanced, the roads begin[nin]g to be bad, it was with some deficulty that we procure'd Teams, this will be Attended with very great expence, near the value of the goods. each Team carries one Ton, paid by the day, and all expenc[es], I shall send very good pushing man, to Command them, who will make all Dispatch possible – The Flints orderd for general Washington, shall send to Boston to the Agent, who will forward them, by some Waggon which goes from that State, which will save some expence, as it would not be full Loadd for a Team from hence – I thank the Honb: Committee, for any "Attention" they are pleased to pay to any hints that I may give Relative to publick business shall be very happy to meet their Approbation –

The Ship Betsey Frigate which I bo't on my own Acct. is Almost loaded, with Masts, Spars, oak plank &c this ship is abt three hundred and twenty Tons, was sold Low as it was Supposed she was Rotten, which I found to be the Case in many parts, upon which I put the Carpenters upon her, and Repair'd her for a Voyage, on my own Acot as I had no Orders from the Honbl Committee to purchase vessells, I've been Offer'd by Several persons to take any part of this ship and Cargo, and be Concern'd in the Voyage by which the ship would have Turned out to me, at least 14 or £ 1500 L my. It was very Uncertain whether the Honl Committee, would purchase or not. I therefore was Determined to take her on my own Acot and Make an Offer of the Ship and Cargo to the Honbl Committee, either on Purchase or on hire as they might think best. now had there been a Loss I must have Certainly have bore it, had the Honbl Committee Declined sendg Lumber which with great Submission I conceive to be a good reason, that I should have some Profit – Iv'e taken Several Things out of the Ship that she did not want, which will in part pay for Repairs, of these, and also the Repairs Iv'e not kept so Regular an Acot as I looked on it my own Stock, – I shall give every Dispatch to this ship Betsey Frigate on Acot and Risque of the Honbl

Committee, and Shall humbly Submitt the Matter to them – whether she should not be Appri[z]ed as she now stands, with her Repairs or for her to proceed on Charter, or least the Honbl Committee should think me takeing the least Advantage, I am willg she should go at one Thousand pounds L my as she now stands with her Repairs, tho' her Suit of Sails two Cables and Anchors, her Standg and Run[nin]g Rigg[in]g with small stores, would sell for more money. her Cargo at the Same I gave, tho' such a one cannot be had at the same price, at this Advanced season, – upon the whole I shall abide by the Determination of the Honbl Committee be it what it may, as Iv'e no Doubt they will think I have a right to Transact my private business when it does not interfere With the Publick –

Now I have Orders I shall do every thing in my Power to purchase on the lowest Terms for the Continent, and shall not think of being Concern'd in any Such Voyage untill my Orders are Compleated – I shall Consigne this Ship and any others I may Purchase agreeable to order to Mr Thom[a]s Morris or his Order at the Several ports – I shall Recommend these old Ships to be sold by all means, if the Matter can be made Agreeable to the Master and people, there, in getg Passage home, as it's impossable to get either Masters or people of this Country men (others ca'n't be Trusted) to go the voyage u[n]less it's out and home, not to be Discharged there, this must be left at the Discretion of Mr Morris, there. if a good ship happens to be imployed it will be as well for her to Come out and bring the hands of the others –

There is Number of Suitable Ships to be had here, but it's impossable to get Cordage and Sails, therefore shall Depend on Purchaseg those which have these Materials belongg to them – Iv'e also Twenty thousand feet Mahogany on board the Betsey Frigate, which is all I shall send in her of that sort of Cargo –

As to Tortoise Shell, Sassaparilla, &c there's none bro't into this State as yet – It will be necessary that I should have a Sum of money sent immediately for this purpose, as I've no Prize money in my hands yet (tho' shall soon have some) but the whole will be wanted for the Honbl Marine Committee's Acct – I expected to have had money er'e this for my Draft on the Marine Committee, but the Gentlemen who have money here belongg to the Southward Choose Rather to Speculate I shall at All times exert myself in the business of the States, and do it with all the frugality and Dispatch in my Power. – I am with great Respect, your's and the Honbl Committee's [&c.]

JOHN BRADFORD TO JOHN HANCOCK¹

Sir

Boston 14th Novr 1776

I had the honour in my last to Acquaint you that the Arm'd Schooners Hancock and Franklin had sent in a Brig with Salmon & dry fish, it gives me the highest pleasure its in my power to inclose you the Copy of a manifest of the Cargo of a Brig brought in yesterday by the above mentioned Vessells, a most valuable Acquisition, on which I most heartily Congratulate you & my Country. it affords a rich supply of Necessaries to make the Army comfortable through their Winter Campaign, a duplicate is forwarded to General Washington; I most earnestly wish our Enemies may continue their supplies of such articles as we cannot easily obtain amongst ourselves, When leisure will permit I shall Esteem it a favour if I may be directed what to do with the Lynch, as she remains in pay doing nothing for the want of Cannon, and was the[y] compleat theirs not the least probability of her ever doing any thing for the honour of the State, here are four fine four pound Cannon in the Brig last taken, but I am realy of opinion was we in possession of a compleat set of Guns the Capt could not get men to go with him, not through fear of his leading them into danger² – You may remember Sir I hinted to you some-time since that by desire of the Commissary I kept the Beef taken in the Ship Peggy (about 400 Barrells[]) for the use of the army; I've not yet been call'd on for it. the Cpts [John] Skimmer & [Samuel] Tucker who were victualed last cruise with that provission say it is so bad that their people could not eat it, should be glad to have orders what to do with it, it will not do for the army – Capt Skimmer is extremely anxious to get his Commission he never has yet had it. And has Commanded only on a Breviatt obtain'd from General Ward, I hear he runs a risque of being ill treated if he should be taken, I think he is worthy of a Commission & won't dishonour it,³ – In my last I beg'd I might Receive directions how to manage with those passengers who hav[e] no interest to support them, several such I have now daily visiting me for supplys. I am at a loss how to conduct in the affair, hope I shall receive directions from Congress – I have by last post receiv'd directions from a Committee of Congress relative to the Settlement of the public Accots at Certain periods⁴ it would be a Gratification to me to know on what terms I do this Business and indeed I know not how to Compleat the Accounts till I come to that knowledge I am most Respectfully [&c.]

[P. S.] You will please to Observe that besides the Inclosed Invo there is a parcell Good wch was to be landed at New found land to the Amo. of 2503 . . 3 . . 3 3/4 the Invo was sent out in another Vessell

CAPTAIN JAMES GRAY TO THE MASSACHUSETTS COUNCIL¹

Long Island [Boston Harbor] Novr 14th 1776

Capt James Gray, as Commanding Officer at Long Island in the Harbour of Boston, begs leave to report to the Honble Board, that on the 13th Inst at Night, a Sloop belonging to the Eastern parts of this State, came to an Anchor near Long Island when the Capt of said Sloop, came on shore, and informed, that, some time last week, upon his voyage from the Eastward to this Port, laden, with wood, he was taken by the Juno Frigate, at which time, all the men belonging to said sloop (himself excepted) were taken on board the frigate, and a prize-Master with 4 men put on board the Sloop, and ordered to proceed with the Captain and Capture to Halifax – but it appears through the policy of the Captain, by letting out the water, that they were obliged to put into some Harbour, to recruit their Water – and the prize Master being unacquainted with Harbours upon this Coast, desired the Captain to pilot the Vessel into some Harbour for the purpose aforesaid, when he happily arriv'd in this Harbour – That upon his requesting assistance, to secure said Sloop, a party of Men under the Command of Lieut Ellis, enter'd on board said Sloop and secured the prisoners, & papers, and in consequence of the above wou'd be glad the Honble Board wou'd give directions concerning the prisoners &c –

James Gray

[Endorsed] In Councill [Boston] Novr. 15. 1776

On the within Report being read at the Board

Ordered that Capt Gray be & he hereby is Directed to Bring the prisoners within named, from Long Island to this Town of Boston & them Deliver to the Sheriff of the County of Suffolk, And the Said Sheriff is hereby ordered & Directed to Confine the prisoners aforesaid in the Goal of said County, untill further order of this Board –

NATHANIEL SHAW, JR. TO GOVERNOR JONATHAN TRUMBULL AND THE

Gentlemen

New London Nov 14 1776

Last evening I Return'd from Hartford & was surprized to find that Capt Kenedy [Thomas Kennedy] in a ship fitted out by order of the Continental Congress for France, was by Capt Hardings order Stopt & not Suffered to depart, the men belonging to the Ship have quitted her, and if this is been done by your order I think its best that sum person should be directed what to do with the Ship as she is very valuable Vessell and Capt Kenedy seems not to be a mind to have any further to do with her — my last Letters from Phila from Philip Levingston & Frances Lewis are dated the 14 Octr they were then very desirous that the Ship should sail Immediately.

Inclosed is a letter I Just Received from Mr [Robert] Morris by which you will See that I have a Quantity of Powder Just arrived at Maryland This powder was Shipt by a Gentleman at Martinico who Capt Packwood left Effects with last Spring to purchase it on Accot of our State & the Sloop Macaroni was to have returned to Martineco in order to take it on board but unfortunately was taken on her outward bound passage, which has been the occasion of its not coming to hand Sooner if you are disposed to take the money for it should be glad you would give me directions — I have about Eight thousand wt of Continental Powder now in store that might be exchanged & I daly expect more, if you had rather take powder this Landed in Maryland is about thirteen thousand wt I shall write an Answer Soon as I have your orders. I Suppose their will be about Six Thousand of the above that will belong to us and the Remainder to the Continent —

Information being given to Congress, that part of the enemy's fleet was seen coming out of the Hook, and steering their course to the southward:

Resolved, That copies of the letter, giving the information, be sent by express to the General, and to Governor [William] Livingston, of New Jersey, and also to the southern states.

Resolved, That the Board of War do immediately confer with the council of safety of this state, and co-operate with them in devising ways and means and [for] calling forth the strength of this and the neighbouring states, for the defence of this city, against any attempts which the enemy may make to obtain possession of it; and that, for this purpose, the Board of War be invested with the full powers of this Congress, to promote most effectually this important purpose:

That the Marine Committee also be directed to make such disposition of the naval force, now in the river Delaware, or the neighbourhood thereof, as will best conduce to defeat the designs of the enemy.

WILLIAM HOOPER TO THE NORTH CAROLINA PROVINCIAL CONGRESS ¹

Gentlemen

Philadelphia Novr 14th 1776 -

We have this moment received Intelligence from the Jersies that 100 of the Enemies Ships have been seen of[f] the Coast of Shrewsbury steering Southward. They probably intend for this place, however as it is possible they may intend farther Southward, the Congress have thought proper to dispatch an express to you that you may hold yourselves in immediate readiness to oppose any attempt against your state, or to render assistance to your Neighbours.

A Careful look out should be kept along the sea coast, that we may be apprized of their movements and not taken napping. As your defence & that of South Carolina must consist chiefly in Militia - You will take measures that they hold themselves in perfect readiness to march when and wherever the Convention shall think fit to order them. We are making every possible preparation to oppose any designs they may have against this place & with the blessing of God I confide shall be able to disappoint them. I am Gentlemen [&c.]

MAJOR GENERAL WILLIAM PHILIPS TO LIEUTENANT JOHN SCHANK, R.N.¹

The Boat from Tyonderoga called a Flag of Truce may be sent back with the persons who came in it. It is unnecessary to say more to these people than to repeat that his Excellency the Commander in Chief does not permitt Flaggs of Truce, or any Communication with the American Rebels unless coming to implore the King's Mercy – The allowing these Rebels in this Boat to return and not made prisoners is an Instance of the Clemency of his Majesty's Officers to these unfortunate people, but it is recommended to them to be careful how they venture within the posts of the Army as they will be treated as Spies.

CAPTAIN RICHARD PEARSON, R.N., TO VICE ADMIRAL RICHARD LORD HOWE¹

My Lord,

Quebec November 15th 1776.

The Command of His Majesty's Ships and Vessels in the River St Lawrence having devolved upon me on the departure of His Majesty's Ships Isis, Captain Douglas, and the Blonde, Captain Pownal, who Sailed from hence the 8th inst. for England, it being thought impracticable for them to remain here in safety during the Winter; the Blonde having 64 of her Men upon the Lakes, it was judged more proper for her to proceed to England than to Halifax at so late a period of the Season; I must therefore beg leave to inclose to Your Lordship, the *State and Condition, as also the Situation of His Majesty's Ships and Vessels now remaining in the River St Lawrence.

I also inclose You a Copy of a Letter from His Excellency General Carleton, to Captain Douglas, with a List of the Vessels and Number of Men which His Excellency thinks it necessary should be employed on Lake Champlain early in the Spring – these did not arrive till two Days after Captain Douglas's departure from hence; but as I judged he could not be got down the River farther than the Isle of Coudre, I dispatched Lieutenant Scott in the Gaspie Schooner after him, who overtook him before he had Sailed from thence, but the Schooner is not yet returned.

A few Days before Captain Douglas's departure from hence, he gave Orders for two Transports to be Loaded with Corn, Hay, Flour, and such other Things as the Deputy Commissary to the Army at New York might think proper to be put on board them, and they to be dispatched forthwith to the Southward – The one of those Transports having two Men upon the Lake, and the Master of her representing it to me, that his Ships Company was not sufficient to Navigate her; and that he could not possibly proceed on the Voyage without the Assistance of two Men in lieu of those on the Lake; therefore in order that the Service might not be retarded, I thought it proper to put two Men on board of him belonging to His Majesty's Ship under my Command, with an Order to the Master to return them to the Commanding Officers Ship at New York on his Arrival there, that they may be returned to the Garland by the earliest Conveyance in the Spring.

It also appearing to me that by those Ships going thro' the Gut of Canceaux at this late Season of the Year, their passage would be greatly shortened; I have thought it for the good of the Service to order a Pilot to be put on board each of them, directing them to apply to the Commanding Officer on their Arrival, to procure a Conveyance for their return as early as possible in the Spring

His Excellency General Carleton arrived here [this day] from Montreal having withdrawn his Forces across Lake Champlain to Saint Johns, Montreal, Chambly, Trois Rivières [illegible] not being able to procure them sufficient Winter Quarters at Crown Point.

I have the Honor to be with the greatest Respect, My Lord [&c.]

"EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM CAPTAIN MURDOCK MACLAINE, OF THE ROYAL HIGHLAND EMIGRANTS COMMANDED BY LIEUTENANT COLONEL MACLEAN, TO A GENTLEMAN IN EDINBURGH, DATED HALIFAX, 15TH OF NOVEMBER, 1776" ¹

We sailed from St. Helen's the 9th of September, in Company with the Euphrates, Artemisia, General Howe, and Success Increase, Transports, under Convoy of the Vulture and Hunter Sloops of War. By the Attention and Vigilance of our Convoy, we kept Company till the 7th of October, when a violent Storm separated the whole Fleet, leaving not two Ships together. In two Days after we fell in with the Hunter Sloop, and continued with her till the 19th, when a most impenetrable Fog, which lasted 48 Hours, again deprived us of her Protection. In this Situation, and finding myself approaching the Enemy's Coast, at the Head of only 23 Recruits and four Volunteers, who had never seen any Service, and on whose Obedience alone I could depend, I thought it full Time to take Steps for our Defence in Case of an Attack. I accordingly communicated my Intentions to the Master of the Vessel, and his Inferior Officers, who readily said they would obey my Orders, and give me all the Assistance in their Power, but that they could not answer for the Sailors. Whereupon I immediately assembled the Crew, and, after pointing out to them what was likely to happen, and saying every thing I could to animate them, I told them, that in such an Event, I hoped they would behave like British Seamen. Their answer was, "They were not engaged on such Condition; that if they should be disabled, they had no Claim on Government; and that even if they took a Prize, the first Man of War they met would take it from them." To obviate these Objections, I promised them a pecuniary Reward, and Protection in case they should receive any Hurt; upon which, with the Help of that persuasive Liquor called Grog, they gave me three Cheers, and swore they would not flinch, whatever should happen.

On the 23d, about 40 Leagues off Cape Race, at Four o'Clock in the Afternoon, we saw a Sail to Windward, bearing down upon us. We soon discovered her to be a Rebel Privateer. I immediately ordered every Man to his Station, and we stood our Course. A little after Five o'Clock, she came within 30 Yards of us, on our Larboard Quarter, and, after ordering us to strike, she saluted us with a Broad-side of her Carriage Guns, Swivels, and Small Arms: But being prepared for her, we returned the Compliment so briskly, that in less than an Hour she thought proper to sheer off. In Hopes of getting clear of her under Favour of the Night, we crowded all the Sail we could set; but we soon perceived that she was by much the fastest Sailer, and only lagged a-stern to keep Sight of us till Morning. To prepare, therefore, in the best Manner I could for another Engagement, I ordered up all the Hammocks to barricade the Decks, and after refreshing and encouraging the Men, I kept them on their Arms all night. About four o'Clock in the Morning we saw our Yankee Friend close at our Heels; and considering that by keeping to Windward he would attack our Lee, by which our Deck would be exposed, and his screened from our Fire, we determined to haul up our Courses, and go before the Wind, to be on as equal Terms as possible. This being done, we fired a Gun by way of Signal that we were ready for the Attack. He seemed so disconcerted by this Manoeuvre, that he laid his Sails to the Mast, and took Half an Hour to determine. After which he advanced on our Larboard Quarter, and raked us aft. He then came on our Starboard, and the Dispute was maintained with equal Keeness on both Sides till 11 o'Clock, when our Antagonist found it necessary to sheer quite off, with the Loss of several Men, and much Damage done to his Vessel. She appeared to be about 200 Tons Burthen, mounted 10 Carriage guns, 12 Swivels, and carried upwards of eighty Men.

It is very remarkable, that we had not a Man killed or wounded, though the Bedding, of which we made a Breast-work, was full of Balls. Several of the Soldiers Muskets were shot to pieces in their Hands, and considerable Damage was done to our Ship and Rigging.

By this Affair, I have had the good Fortune to save 20,000 l. Sterling to Government; and, as the principal Part of our Loading was Soldiers Clothing, the Rebels are baulked of what would have been a most valuable and seasonable Booty for them in their present ragged Condition.

The Activity and good Behaviour of Capt. Carey, his Officers, and Crew, cannot be too highly commended on this Occasion. We had only six Three-pounders, a few Swivels and 11. Sailors.²

1. Public Advertiser, London, January 8, 1777.

2. An account in the January 18 issue of the same newspaper reads:

A Correspondent says, Captain Murdock MacLaine's Friend in Edinburgh, who sent the Account of his Engagement with an American Privateer to our Paper, omitted a Circumstance that adds greatly to the Honour he acquired by his gallant Defence of the Ship. — After the Action was over, Capt. Macklaine gave each of the Sailors Half a Guinea out of his own Pocket, and promised Reparation for the Damage done to the Vessel, which was considerable. Such spirited Conduct is very exemplary to all who command on board Transports, or indeed Merchant-men, and would, if followed, prevent those Yankey-Picaroon-Rascals from making so many Captures.

SIR GEORGE COLLIER TO THE CAPTAINS AND COMMANDERS OF HIS MAJESTY'S SHIPS AND VESSELS IN THE BAY OF FUNDY ¹

As there is a probability that several of the deluded People now in Arms against their Sovereign may attempt to ravage the Country in the Neighbourhood of Fort Cumberland, or some other Part of Nova Scotia, it is extremely necessary that the utmost Vigilance and Attention should be employed to repel and disperse such invaders, by the most vigorous exertion of the Kings Forces by Sea and Land in those parts.

You are therefore hereby required and Directed to co-operate with the Commanding Officer of His Majesty's Troops at Windsor, giving Him all the assistance and Succour You possibly can, and particularly in case of a Requisition for transporting troops, covering a landing, or any other Point which you think can tend to promote the Kings Service, for doing which this shall be your Order.

Harbour of Halifax the 15th of November 1776. --

JOSEPH RUSSELL TO BARNABAS DEANE ¹

Sir

Providence Novr 15. 1776

We are now to acknowledge the Rect of Your Favours under the 28th Ulto & 6th Inst which came to our Hands but a few Days since, otherwise should have been replied to before We embraced the first Opportunity & wrote Mr Mumford sending him an Extract of Your Letter desiring the Iron Caboose might be omitted & wishing that it might not do any Damage to him as we had no other View in the Matter than to oblige You & render a Peice of Service to the Continental Ship under Your Care ² and we could have wished the Matter had so ended; but are sorry to tell You that he holds us to our Engagement as You will see by his Letter to us of Yesterdays Date which we here enclose —

We think it rather unfortunate that You did not know sooner that You could have the Iron Caboose made at Norwich as no Doubt it would have come much cheaper & have been more convenient [to] You to have it made there than here. However we really think ourselves justifiable in agreeing with him for it after the Rect of Your Letter of the 26th Sept which is as follows "I want for the Frigate under my Direction an Iron Caboose or Furnace the same Size that You have for Your smallest Frigate, You will much oblige me and serve the Publick at the same Time if You can procure & send me one of them. Our Forecastle to the Ship I believe is lower than Yours; perhaps it may make some little Difference in the Height of the Furnace."

The foregoing being a true State of this Matter we trust, Sir, You will not blame us for what we have done as our Intention was to serve You in Return for the Services You have rendered the Naval Committee about the Spars³ – You will please to favour us with a Line by the first Opportunity that we may not have any Difference with Mr Mumford which we would wish to avoid –

The Naval Committee thank You for the Information of the two large Spars which got loose in the Sound and we have wrote to Mr Nathl Shaw of New London to use his best Endeavours to get them from Fishers' & Long Island to New London & from thence here; they are also glad that all the Spars are brought in from New Hartford and observe Your kind Intention of sending them here which we hope You will soon find an Opportunity of doing before the Season much farther advances –

SECRET COMMITTEE OF THE CONTINENTAL CONGRESS TO GOVERNOR NICHOLAS
COOKE¹

In Secret Committee of Congress –

Philada Novr 15th 1776

Sir

We received a letter last week from Capt Samuel Smith junr Commander of the Ship Hancock & Adams belonging to Mr Blair McClenachan of this City informing us of his arrival with that Ship and Cargo at the port of Bedford in Massachusetts. His letter is dated the 1st instant and he Says that in Latitude 38..29 and Longitude 65..23 he fell in with the Game Cock Privateer of Rhode Island Commanded by Capt Timothy Peirce of Providence, who brought him too examined his papers and finally determined to make Prize of his Ship and cargo, under pretence of her having two or three Sets of Papers, and accordingly he put a Prize Master and men onboard the Ship taking out Captain Smith his officers and men also some passengers, but Capt Smith after entreating him for thirteen hours got Liberty to go onboard his Ship Again and was Sent in with her to the Port of Bedford where he now is. We Chartered this Ship in Feby last to perform A Voyage from hence to Lisbon thence to France and back to this Port on Account and risque of the United States (then Colonies) of America. The Ship had the voyage before Narrowly escaped being Seized in Ireland in Consequence of an attempt to take in Gun Powder to be brought hither and Mr McClenachans Friends found it necessary to take out A New Register for her there in order to screen her from the intended Seizure. When We Chartered her this Irish Register was deemed a fortunate Circumstance as the Restraining Act of Parliament was not then known to us, and having her cleared from the Customhouse here for Falmouth Under that Register, with Bills Loading Invoice and letters Suited thereto, it was presumed wou'd carry her Clear of Seizure by British Men of War Should any of them Meet her on the outward passage. Our Instructions to Captain Smith are dated the 22nd Feby 1776 & recapitulate all these Circumstances, after Which they direct him peremptorily to proceed for Lisbon and there deliver his Cargo to Messrs Pasley & Co: of that place, unless they direct him to A better Market, after which he Was ordered to proceed to Nantes and receive from our Agent a Cargo of Arms, ammunitiion and other Goods or Merchandize and then to return to this Port with that Cargo on Accot of the United Colonies. It seems that when Captain Smith first fell in with the Game Cock he feared she was his Enemy as no Letters of Marque were granted by Congress when he departed from hence, he therefore on his first examination produced to Capt Peirce only his Irish Register and Shipping Paper, but when he Saw the Commission Signed by Mr Hancock he then produced All his Papers and amongst the Rest our Orders to Captain Smith which must have fully and Clearly explained to Any man of Common Sense and common honesty the Nature of the Voyage, and if the love of Plunder had not prevailed over every other consideration Capt Peirce would have released the Ship, especially as there were on board Four French Gentlemen and their Domesticks, two of whom we suppose to be officers, and two Manufacturers with their people whom we wrote for by Order of Congress, and there can be little doubt but they would make Capt Peirce Sensible that the Ship was in the Continental Service. In Short we have laid this Matter before Congress and Capt Peirce's Conduct is judged to be extremely Criminal, but it is a just and commendable Maxim Not to condemn any Man Unheard and the Congress passed on this occasion the Resolve of which you will [find] a Copy inclosed.² Now sir, it is our duty to inform You, that the public Service is exceedingly injured by this transaction, for every Article of this Ships Cargo (Which belongs to the Continent) is and has been Much Wanted for some time past

If Capt Peirce had not interrupted the Ships voyage She Would in all probability been Safe in this port some Weeks Since, and the Several articles before Now have been With the Army, instead of which they are Now onboard Ship at a Port distant from the Army, and the delay, danger, and expence of transporting them will be Very Great. Indeed the public are also insurers on the Ship and obliged to deliver her to the owner in this Port at their Risque, We cannot help mentioning that this is the Second or third instance of the Kind, and unless Such practices are discouraged in the beginning there is no knowing what lengths the Privateers may go, in short it is laying the foundation for breaking the union of America and opening the door to prey upon each other. We do therefore most earnestly entreat you, to order the Strictest Scrutiny into the Conduct of this same Capt Peirce, discover what reasons he can offer in his justification, and if they are not satisfactory we Shall order him to be prosecuted for the penalty of his Bond and sued for damages. We observe by a Copy of his letter to his Owners he acknowledges capt smiths orders were signed by Some Members of Congress, but he objects that they are interlined with different hand Writing and different Ink and without any Seal or permit from the President, but all this will not avail, he must give Much Stronger reasons than these or those he Calls a Foible before he will be justified in the Eyes of the Publick. We think it of the utmost importance to check this improper Hunt for Plunder, and hope you will exert your self in Support of So Salutary a measure – We have the honor to remain Your Honors [&c.]

[Extract]

Gentlemen,

Philada Novr 15th 1776.

Since dispatching the Express yesterday, with Intelligence that a Fleet of above one Hundred Vessels had left New York, the Congress have received a Letter from Genl Green [Nathanael Greene] containing further Accounts; a Copy of which in Obedience to their Commands, I now enclose.

It appears from this Information, that Lord Dunmore is to take the Command of a Fleet, bound for the Southward, and said to be for South Carolina. But as it is by no Means certain against which of the Southern States, the Expedition is designed, it is highly necessary you should be on your Guard. I shall not detain the Express, only to add that you will make such Use of this Intelligence as the Importance of it requires. I have the Honour to be, Gentlemen [&c.]

that the harbours in that District had been frozen up for some time before She Sailed – this is by no means an encouraging Account to me as it lays me under the greatest Apprehension that the port of my distination may be in the same condition – besides the Stormy and contrary winds still Prevail and the providence and Alfred keep each a pump going – I will however pursue the Expedition while their is a possibility of Success – I have hopes of being in one of our ports by the 10th of Decr – meanwhile I have the honor to be with much Esteem and Respect Gentlemen [&c.]

[Boston] Saturday
Novr. 16th. 1776]

The Committee of both Houses to whom was referred sundry petitions relating to Capt Jeremiah Obrien, & Capt [John] Lambert, and several Charges, and Accusations against Capt. Obrien, have attended that Service, & examined divers Evidences produced, and ask leave to report as follows. – viz: That with respect to the demand of William Hazen for Damages, and Detention of his Vessel, your Committee are of Opinion, that the said Obrien's taking the Schooner Polly, & bringing her into port, may be justified as there was sufficient reason for his suspicion of her going to supply the Enemy, that therefore he is not intitled to any damages for Detention. –

As to the Demand of said Hazen. for Embezzlement – Your Committee upon the strictest Enquiry find that a number of Articles as mention'd in the annexed Account were taken out of said Schooner, and the said Hazen ought to be allowed by this State for the same amounting to the Sum of Thirty five pounds Eighteen shillings, & six pence. as the Articles were for the Vessels Use; but we find that the said Vessel reed. an Anchor, & Cable belonging to this State which your Committee estimate as Fifty three pounds, so that there appears a ballance due to this State from sd. Hazen the Sum of Seventeen pounds. One Shilling. and six pence, but they find sundry Articles that Capt Obrien, & Capt. Lambert received from said Schooner, as contained in the Account herewith exhibited. amounting to Twenty four pounds five shillings, & four pence, which being deducted from said Ballance leaves the sum of Seven Pounds, three shillings, & ten pence due to said Hazen. therefore report a Resolve for payment of said Sum; and what is deducted for supply to Capt. Obrien and Capt Lambert, Your Committee judge ought to be deducted out of their Wages. –

Your Committee have examined several Witnesses concerning what has been suggested of Capt Obrien's making up his Roll for more than he ought to have done, and it appears the said Obrien has received from this State by Virtue of said Roll the Sum of Nine pounds 18/, which he ought not to have received as appears by a List herewith exhibited, and your Comtee. are of opinion that the said Obrien is accountable to this Court for that Sum as so much unjustly received

All which is humbly submitted –

Henry Gardner p order

Resolved that there be paid out of the Treasury of this State to Mr. William Hazen the Sum of Seven Pounds, Three Shillings, & ten pence in full for the ballance of what was taken out of the Schooner Polly by Capt Obrien, & Capt Lambert. —

Whereas Benjamin Pierce Commander of the Sloop United States, did on the 19th Day of September last capture on the high Seas, and send into the Port of Warren, the Brigantine Polly, Robert Nelson, Master and Owner, from North-Carolina: And whereas it appears that the said Brigantine was not employed in any illicit Trade, but, on the contrary, that the said Robert Nelson's Intentions, can in no way be proved to be inimical to the American States, and that he was bound to Lisbon, agreeable to Permission obtained from the Provincial Convention of North-Carolina, signed by Cornelius Hartnett, President.

Therefore we, the Owners of the Sloop aforesaid, do hereby give up and entirely discharge said Brigantine, her Tackle, Apparel, Furniture and Cargo, unto the said Robert Nelson, utterly renouncing any Right, Title or Pretence to her, of any Nature soever. EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM ST. EUSTATIUS, NOVEMBER 16, 1776¹

There arrived here this morning a brigantine from Congress called Andrew Doria, commanded by Captain James Roberson [sic Isaiah Robinson], mounting 14 guns and carrying a crew of one hundred. This Captain's mission is still unknown; but since he spent a long time at the Governor's, it is believed that he brought him dispatches from Congress. He left Philadelphia on the 28th of October and the River on the 1st instant. Congress has dispatched at the same time three other vessels whose destination is unknown even to their Captains; the one who just arrived learned his only once he was at sea.

. . . The Americans met with a rather important defeat on lake Champlain during a Naval Engagement which lasted from the 11th to the 13th of October between two small fleets. The Royalists had forces by far superior to those of the Americans who, however, were still occupying after the action the forts of the Crown [Point] and Ticonderago. Two frigates of 36 guns each are expected to come out this month from the River of Philadelphia.

Boston, Novr. 18th, 1776

. . . I wish I could Entertain you with any News of Importance but I can only tell you of prizes taken. but this is become so common that we hardly hear of them ourselves, unless they are from Europe with such Articles as we want much, and very rich besides. we have had divers such lately. A report prevails this day that Howe is Embarking his Troops, which occasions many Conjectures about the place of their destination. I forgot to tell you that this Harbour really looks Brilliant and Grand, as full of Ships as in the most flourishing State of Commerce, and all but a few armed Vessels [are] prizes.

PETITION OF THOMAS DAVIS AND EPHRAIM SPOONER TO THE MASSACHUSETTS
GENERAL COURT ¹

To the Honble the Council, and the Honble the House of Representatives of the State of Massachusetts Bay.

The Petition of Thomas Davis & Ephraim Spooner humbly shews,

That a Schooner called the White-Oak, has been lately captured by an American Privateer, and carried into the Eastern District of this State, three quarters of which were owned by your Petitioners: That it was so late before Your Petitioners, had notice of the capture of said Schooner, and the time of her tryal, as rendered it impracticable by reason of the distance, for either of them to get to Pownalborough, and claim their property, till after said Schooner, her cargoe and appurtenances were condemned in the Maritime Court. Your Petitioners prior to the Continental Association, had annually carried on the business of fishery from Barrington in Nova Scotia, and when the act of Parliament was passed, restricting the trade of these States, they were obliged to take out new Registers for their Vessels, in the names of some of the Inhabitants of that Province, in order to save them from confiscation and forfeiture. One of your Petitioners was allowed by the Committee of Safety in Plymouth (where they reside) to go to Nova Scotia, & secure their effects, which he accomplished, except the interest in the Schooner White Oak, which he could neither dispose of; nor bring away.

Therefore, as your Petitioners are steady friends to their country, and as it is owing to no fault of theirs, that a claim was not filed in the Maritime Court within the time prescribed by law, they humbly pray your Honors, to grant them the privilege of an appeal to the next Superior Court to be held in said Eastern District, that they may have an opportunity of proving their property in said Schooner, and your Petitioners as in duty bound shall ever pray—

MEMORIAL OF BENJAMIN EYRE TO THE CONTINENTAL CONGRESS¹

Philada Novr 18. 1776

The Memorial of Benjamin Eyre of Phila Shipwright humbly representing That his Petition of the 24th October² last preferred to Your Honours for the Payment of certain Services by him done together with his Bill of Charges for the same Services has been by Your Order referred to the Board of Treasury – And they by stating that Account upon a postulatam or principle by them for similar Cases adopted have reduced Your Memorialists said Account to a Sum less than half that which he thinks his said Services are worth in Justice and reason – The Difference between his said Bill and the Taxation thereof made by the Board of Treasury is clearly appearing on the face of the Synopsis of both Accounts hereunto Subjoined –

Your Memorialist solemnly disclaims all those vague pretensions and presumptions of Artists & Tradesmen in favour of their own Knowledge and Deserts: He only begs leave to make one or two Observations upon the Reduction Account of the Board of Treasury and to appeal from their Settlement of his Account to the Wisdom and Justice of the Delegates of the States of America.

1./ First and principally Because Your Memorialists Charge of building Row Gallies at a certain Price per Ton is made agreeable to the Usage and Custom of Shipbuilders in the Old and New World But Your Board of Treasury reduces and confines him to accept of daily Wages and Rations: Which Rule of ascertaining the Quantum merait could never be establish'd against the constant Custom without a previous Contract between the Employer and the Workman – And that Resolve of Congress to pay the Journeymen Carpenters £ 13 and the Master Builders double that Sum per Month and to allow them stated Rations was made a Month after Your Memorialist setting out for New York and could have no Retrospect to bind him or fix upon him an express Contract, When he at the desire of Brigadier General [Thomas] Mifflin and on his promise that he should be handsomely rewarded left Philadelphia without making any Contract at all –

2./ Secondly Because the Board of Treasury have allowed Your Memorialist Rations which he can in no wise accept of – When he arrived at New York he did not choose to live in that great Town like as in a Camp or Barracks He hired a House furnished it and kept regular House and one Horse constantly employed in the public Service All which in the Dearness of times has actually cost him more than 15/ – per day and this he spent the freer as he never expected to be at any Charge to the public for his daily expences but to be paid for his work by the Ton.

Therefore Your Memorialist most humbly submits to Your Honours Whether his Charges of 25/ P Ton for three Row Galleys finished and 15/. for the one not finished are too high? He left his own Yard and his Work in hand unfinished, by which if he had stayed at home he might well have earned more than what he has charged for his Work abroad –

And Your Memorialist as in duty &c

In Council of Safety, Novem'r 18th, 1776

Sir:

The Secret Committee of Congress have informed this board that the Continental Cruicers are so employed that they cannot afford the necessary protection to the Trade of this State; you are therefore ordered to proceed to Cape May. You are not to leave that Station when any of the Enemie's Vessells are at the Opposite Cape, and to use your best endeavours to protect all trading Vessells belonging to the United States of America, and to the Islands of Bermuda or Bahamas, or to any Foreign State, except under the Dominion of the King of Great Britain; and in case of their being in distress, you are to grant them all the Aid and Relief in your Power, and upon any number of the Enemie's Ships appearing off the Coast, you are to give Intelligence thereof to Mr. Henry Fisher, of Lewis Town, with the Course they Steer, and such other Circumstances relating to them as are of any importance to us; or if you should be able to transmitt the Intelligence by express to us more expeditiously than Mr. Fisher, you are to do it.

And you are, at the same time, to use your endeavours to make Capture of and distress such of the Vessells belonging to the enemies of these States as come in your way; but if it should appear to you that the Enemy are coming with a Fleet to invade this State, you are, in that case, Immediately to return with the Convention to Fort Island.

We confide in your discretion to execute the foregoing orders, so as to answer the Intention of this board, and that you will perform such other service as the nature of your Station will require; we therefore shall omit any further Instructions.

N.B. If there are any vessels appear with an Ensign hoisted at the fore top Gallant mast Head, you may conclude it is a trading Vessel, in the Congress' Service, and you may give her any advice or assistance Accordingly; That being their signal to the Light House. Save your Salt Provisions as much as Possible, & provide your men with Fresh, if to be had at as low a rate as of the Commissary here.

Portsmo 19 Novr 1776

I wrote Mr Morris few days Since, in which I mention'd that a q[uan]ti[t]y of Sugar would be sold soon, they were at the time mentiond but at the sale the first day, they sold so high that I tho't it not worth while to Engage as they sold for upwards of 50/. the next day at the first of the sale I purchased abt Twenty five Hhds Sugar which Iv'e Stored for your Acct this is some of the best of the Cargo, and will not Average more than thirty nine or forty shillings P[r] C I should have gone to one Hundred Hhd if a Number of purchasers had not Appeared, which raised it two high - I mentiond likewise, that in abt month; more Sugar Jamaica Rum Mahogany &c which was taken by private vessell, would be sold, before which I can hear from you, when you'll be good enough to Mention the prices of any of those Articles that you think would do, as it will be some guide to me in purchaseg -

Such has been the Demand for Seamen within these few days that there Wages have risen to abt Twenty Dollars P month - the Privateers give one hundred Dollars P man Advance, by which you'll see that it will [be] expensive to send out ships with Lumber however the Lumber will pay great freight, - we have Number ships which woud Answer the purpose, had they Rigg[in]g but it's [im]possible to get it in this part of the world - Therefore should you Conclude to send any ships with Lumber, they must be purchased with all Compleat. the ship with the Rum, which is to be sold in abt a month is very Compleat, valuable ship, and as I think she is too small for Masts, therefore will not do for the Continent should she go low, it would be best to purchase her, and fit her out to the West Indies with proper Cargo Lumber, on your Acct together with Messrs Cunningham & Nesbit, as you shall order – I shall not proceed any further untill hearing from you fully on this matter, which I've mention in mine to Mr Morris aforementioned to which I beg leave to Refer you – I am Gent [&c.]

Kingston 19th Novr 1776

I yesterday addressed a line to you,² mentioning the arrest of a prize of Capt Samson's of the Brig Independence with a number of Irish men on board.³

as the Supporting such a number of people here will be expensive, I have thought it advisable to send Lieut Adams the prize master to Boston to take the orders of the Honble Board respecting them. can they be considered as prisoners & sent on board the flag of truce at Marblehead & if they can with propriety they may answer a valuable purpose, if not I believe a great part of them might be taken into families for their labor through the winter many of them I find have families in Ireland & are very desirous of getting home as soon as they possibly can - shall hope soon to receive the orders of the Honble Council respecting them [&c.]

VAN BIBBER & HARRISON TO THE MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY¹

Gentlemen

St Eustatia 19th November 1776 –

I Have by different oppertunitys lately Advised you of the Change and turn that has taken place here by Government in favor of the American States. Now our Flag flies current every day in the road

The Merchants here were Always complaining of Government untill they would give as much Protection and Indulgence here to us as the French and Spainards do. The orders from the States [General] and Great West India Company to this Governour for the Prohibition of the Export of Powder and other Warlike Stores Expires the 28th Instant. It's made Publick and the Governour is daily expressing the greatest desire and Intention to protect a trade with us here – Indeed they begin to discover their Mistake and are now very Jealous of the French's running away with all their Trade. All kinds of goods and Warlike Stores are very Plenty here and much more Reasonable than they are at the French Islands & All your goods purchased here, and at a very great expence & Risque too they are [sent] up to Martinique to be reshipped to Maryland in your Vessels as they all Arrive there. Your Flower, Bread and Tobacco is all sent down here to be sold as this is allways the best Markett for your Produce especially Tobacco which this is the Only Markett for, All these goods are burthened with a very heavy freight from Martinique here and Never fail to suffer great Abuses in the way, Hhds broken all to pieces & the Tobacco hove loose a Shore & ca & ca indeed its lessened in Value 50 p Cent – All this I have often mentioned in Sundry of my last letters to your Honourable House – I have Enclosed all my own private accounts by three different Vessels, I hope you have received some of them and Flatter my self they will be Approved off as I must assure you I never omitted doing any thing that has ever been in my Power that cou'd serve my Country

Sir's on Mr [John] Crocketts arrival here I intended to have returned home and left him to Settle my Affairs here, but my Circumstances are such that our Creditors would not Consent to my leaveing this place untill our debts were discharged.

I shall endeavour to content my self untill it may suit you Enable us to Wind up what we have done for our State here & will render every Service in my Power during my stay; tho I must inform you that I dislike my Station and would be happy if it was to be in my power to leave it very soon – I have endeavoured allways to Encourage all the Trade & Speculations that was possible to any part of the Continent, and particularly to our State as perhaps you may have observed – and I have engaged into some Concerns very largely, in order to enduce others to Speculate to our State Vizt in particular in two Ships ordered to be purchased in Baltimore and load out from there – One of them I engaged to be a fifth and the other a Fourth Concerned, this was purely to serve my Country, and my engagements otherwise will Scarcely Admit of my being Concerned. This I inform you off with an Expectation that you would take the Risque, Profit or Loss of[f] my hands. The Plans of the Voyages are good & we will Attend to and see them well Managed &ca Mr John Crockett is to return and is the Bearer of this he is well acquainted with all Matters here that you may wish to be Advised off & to him please to be refered, Should he at any time want a sum of Money to execute any orders he may receive, I Hope you will not hesitate to let him have it as I assure you Gentn that he will not call on you for it Unless it is to Execute orders that he may Receive from me or through my Recommendation &ca. I shall In future send my letters under Cover to Mr Crockett who will imeadiately wait on whomsoever you may direct him to with them. Our Mr R. H. [Richard Harrison] is at Martinique and has lately dispatched several of your Vessels with very Valuable Cargoes &ca. I am doing all I can to send home Salt & have borrowed many large Sums of Money in order to join with Merchants here to hold part of their Vessels & Cargoes to induce them to send in Salt. We never had any orders to join your Honourable House into Partnerships or perhaps we shou'd have chose to Interested you before ourselves—Indeed we are as the Saying is Makeing one Nail drive another & Shoeing the Horse, for when we were able to pay of[f] one Debt it give us a Credit for Twice as much, which Credit we allway Modestly made Use off –

Capt Robertson [Isaiah Robinson] of the Continental Brig Andrew Doria arrived here three days agoe and Saluted the Fort with eleven Guns the Salute was returned from the Fort with 18 Pounders and the Capt most graciously received by his Honour the Governour and all Ranks of People. Its esteemed here by the first Gentlemen a favor and Honour to be Introduced to Capt Robertson – all American Vessels here now were [sic wear] the Congress Coulours. Tories Sneak and Shrink before the Honest & Brave Americans here –

Robertson and his Officers & Crew make so good an Appearance in every Respect & such good order Observed, that it gives the Greatest pleasure to the friends of our States and Strikes the Tories with terroure and Confusion – Gentlemen we have the Honour to be [&c.]

JEDIDIAH ELDERKIN AND NATHANIEL WALES, JR. TO GOVERNOR JONATHAN TRUMBULL¹

To the Honourable the Governor and Council of Safety of the State of Connecticut agreeable to your Honors Directions, We the Subscribers have repaired to New-london, and Examined into the Curcumstances of Capt Hardens [Seth Harding] Stopping the Ship Mary under the Command of Capt Thos Kanady from proceeding on her Voige; and the reasons of her being Detained in this Harbour till this time; have taken Several Depositions also copys of his orders & Instructions which We hearwith transmit to your Honors, by which We apprehend the dangers attending the sailing of said Ship at the time She was stoped and Since Will appear Nearly in their true Light: but we think it our duty to further inform: that we have advised with Mr Nathl Shaw Jur Capt [John] Deshon and sundry other Gentlemen Well acquainted with the Coast the place where the British Ships are Cruising and with the temper of the Crew on board the Ship Mary, and they unanimously agree that it was the most Likely that had said Ship proceeded as Was intended when stoped or since, She Would have been taken by our Enemies or have been delivered up by the Crew. and those acquainted with her Cargo say that it has been so long shipd it is doubtful whether it will not Spoil on the Voige, that flax seed will answer much better and be Safer for both the publick and the owners – and it seems to be a General opinion that there is a probability that Considerable part of our Army May be wanted here, in which Case it may be Extreem difficult to provide flower for them – and it seems to be the opinion of every one that Capt Harden Conducted prudently in stoping the Ship from sailing. We Conferd with Capt Kanady on the Subject. he says it is a fact that the most of his Crew & his Mate Were Prisoners brought in by our Armed Vessels & that they belongd to Europe and were straingers to him but Says he Could get no others: and had orders to sail, and therefore thought best to take them – & that they promised to be true to him in the Voige but he freely Confesses to us that it is his opinion that if he had Gone Out when he intended, it is most Likely he Should have been taken by those British ships, or that his Crew would have proved unfaithful: he also agrees with those who say their is danger of the Cargos takeing Damage if attempted to be Carried to Europe, he Left the Ship on her first being stoped but is now gone on board and promised us this Day to take good Care of the Ship & Cargo till he hears further; Says he has wrote to the General Congress the whol affair: it appears to us that the Danger is still as great, as to said ship going to sea as ever – and that She Stands but a very smal Chance to escape our Enemies. all which is humbly submitted to your Honrs by your [&c.]

SIR GEORGE COLLIER TO LORD SANDWICH ¹

My Lord/

Rainbow, at Halifax 21st Novr 1776.

I esteem it a Duty incumbent on me to make use of the Opportunity which presents itself (by Lieut Breyntons return to England from the Pembroke,) of paying my Respects to your Lordship & of acquainting You with the present State of Affairs in this Province.

Apprehending a probability of the Rebels attacking Halifax, Lord Howe was pleased to give me Orders to proceed here with his Majestys Ship I command, & to take the Direction of all the Men of War stationd in, & near, the Province of Nova Scotia; I arrived here the 21st of Sept & Commissr Arbuthnot did not oppose my taking upon me the Authority his Lordship had been pleasd to vest me with; convincd doubtless of the Impossibility of any one Persons going through the various Duties of Governor, Commodore, & Commissioner: only one of which, I beg leave to assure Your Lordship, has taken up almost every Moment of my Time since my being here.

As one of my first Wishes is to be honord with your Lordships approbation of my Conduct, I will entreat your leave to enter into a little Detail of the most material Things which have happend since my Arrival.

After sending the Liverpool to Canso, to secure that very valuable Fishery, which had lately been continually ravagd by paltry Privateers, I made the best disposition I could, (with the Advice & Approbation of the Lieut Governor) of the rest of His Majs Ships stationd in the Province: every Thing remaind Quiet except Rumors of intended Attempts by the Rebels, which were not believd till the 6th of this Month, when the Lieut Governor receivd Information, that an armd Force was assembling near St Johns (New England) & upon This, & the Councils application to me for a Man of War to be sent from hence "to the Rivers Kenebeck, Penobscot, & Pasamquody for Intelligence" I directly orderd his Majs Sloops the Albany & Diligent to go to Sea, with the Directions mentiond in the Paper I take the Liberty of sending for your Lordships Inspection, marked No 1.²

And General Massey applying to me for a Man of War to convoy a Vessel loaden with Provisions for Fort Cumberland, (which by some strange Neglect had scarce any remaining) I sent Capt Dalrymple in the Juno to perform that Service, & afterwards to look in at Annapolis [Royal], where if He found every Thing quiet, & the Inhabitants under no Apprehensions of a visit from the Rebels, He was to proceed on a Cruize between that Place & Mount Desart, which effectually securd the Mouth of the Bay of Fundy.

The Milford had saild for the Coast of New England some little Time before, Her Orders are in the Paper No 2 -- Capt [John] Burr being too much indisposed to go to Sea, I gave Capt Mowat (whose Abilitys when He surveyd that Coast recommended Him to your Lordship) an Order to command the Milford; & my first Lieut Mr Hyndman (who was with Adml [John] Byron round the World,) the same Powers to command the Albany Sloop, which Capt Mowat was removed from.

The Chain of Cruizers I formd for annoying the Enemys Coast, & securing that of this Province, was as follows.

The Milford – stationd from Cape Cod – to Monhagen

The Hope 14 Guns – from Monhagen – to Mount Desart

The Juno – from Mount Desart to Passamquodi, & so up to Cape Sable.

The Lizard – & 2 small armd Vessels, from Cape Sable allong the Coast of Nova Scotia, to Liverpool – (which is about 20 Leags from hence to the Westward.)

I informd these Captains, of each others Destination, in order for their mutual Assistance shoud they ever be obligd to retreat from very superior Force.

Lord Howe having been pleasd to direct that the Commissioner & myself shoud send a Cartel Vessel to Marble Head with Rebel Prisoners, in order for their being exchange for an equal Number & Rank of His Majs faithful Subjects, We hird a large Sloop of 100 Tons, & a Schooner; & sent 179 Rebels in them; directing the Commissary who had charge of them to apply to Mr Nathl Tracey at Newberry Port, whom the Inhabitants of the rebellious Colonys had vested with Powers to settle & adjust the Exchange of Prisoners.

Capt Dalrymple executd his Orders & convoyd the Provision Vessel safe up to the Bay of Fort Cumberland, where finding from Col [Joseph] Goreham that the Garrison under his Command, was free of Apprehension from the Rebels, He proceeded to Annapolis; and finding no Alarms there from the Enemy, nor any particular Cause to induce his Stay, He pursud the rest of his Orders in cruizing for the Annoyance of the Enemy & the Protection of the faithful Subjects of the Crown.

It was the 17th of this Month that the Juno saild from Annapolis; and on the 9th, Govr Arbuthnot receivd Advice, that the Communication between Windsor (44 Miles from hence,) & Fort Cumberland, was cut off by the Rebels; & that the Ferry boat was taken by a Pirate Vessel of 8 Carriage Guns; upon which I immediately dispatchd the Vulture Sloop (who was just arrivd here from England) into the Bay of Minas, with the Orders your Lordship will be pleasd to peruse, markd No 3.³

And upon the certainty that Fort Cumberland was actually invested by a Body of Rebels, I immediately sent Directions to the Captain of the Albany to proceed instantly to Fort Cumbd together with the Diligent, & throw as large a Body of Men & Officers into it, (to assist Col Goreham in its Defence,) as could be spard from the two Sloops: And in order to prevent any Demur about carrying Troops in the Men of War, I furnished Genl Massey with an Order addressd to the Caps of any of His Majs Ships in the Bay of Fundy, to use the best means in their Power to perform that Service, & to cover their Landing; – & likewise with another, for them to supply Fort Cumberland, & Fort Edward (at Windsor) with any Provisions which their Sloops coud spare, & the commg Officers of these Garrisons shoud make Requisition of.

I have presumed to be thus particular that your Lordship may form a Judgment of my warm Zeal & Attention to his Maj's Service, & in the flattering Hope that I may merit (a Reward highly prized by me) the Honor of your Lordships Approbation of my Conduct.

There remains but little more for me to acquaint yr Lp of; the Provision Vessel was taken by the Rebels, 3 Days after the Juno left Cumberland Bay, the Serjeant & Ten Soldiers on board Her were made Prisoners, asleep, & nothing but the Cowardice of the Rebels prevented the Fort from being surprized in the same Manner; to remedy this Inconvenience I have sent one of the Victuallers from hence, with Ten of my own Seamen added to her Compliment, & Genl Massey directed an Officer & 20 Marines to embark in Her for Fort Cumberland.

We have since learned, that this Body of Banditti are not near so formidable, as the first Fears of the People represented; they have no Cannon, & do not exceed 3 or 4 Hundred Men; Col Goreham has 260 in the Fort, & Major Batt embarked on board the Vulture at Windsor with 400 fine Troops 3 Days ago, for Cumberland, (which is not above 20 Leags distant,) so that we daily expect to hear of the flight of this maroding set of Rebels.

I must beg leave to express my Opinion of the perfect Security of Halifax for this Winter; for tho the Enemy might possibly find a way for Men thro the Woods, it is impracticable to convey Cannon without a Road & the only one to this Place, is by Fort Sackville (11 Miles off,) & lies by the Water side; allong which I think I may answer, to prevent any being brought. By Sea, the Ship I have the Honor to command, is able to engage all the Force that the rebellious Colonys can set forth; besides wh I propose keeping one or two of the smaller Men of War during those Winter Months when it is impossible (in this Country) that they can keep the Sea to cruise.

I beg leave to present my respectful Congratulations to your Lordship, upon the happy Success of His Maj's Arms in the Province of New York, & on the Lake Champlain; the People in New England (I'm well informd) begin to be heartily tired of the destructive War they have forced the Parent State to Wage against them; & I trust a very few Months will restore Tranquillity to this distracted Continent, & make them pant to return again under His Maj's mild & gentle Government. I have the Honor to be with the greatest Respect Your Lordships [&c.]

Geo Collier ⁴

I shall dispatch on Tuesday next, a Convoy of 20 Sail of Transports & Victuallers for New York, under the Protection of 3 Frigates: Capt [Maximilian] Jacobs of the Amazon is here but [h]as declined interfering with the Command of the Port.

Sir

Newport November 21st 1776

I wrote you a Letter some time ago, acquainting you that it appear'd to a Court Martial, that Capt'n [Lawrence] Bowden of the Royal Exchange, had some hand in forwarding a Mutiny onboard – and for you to Stop his Adventure untill that matter was Clear'd up ² – Since which the Captain has been here and declares his Innocence – and I wrote by him to Captn Whipple that whatever he gave him an Order to Receive, Should be Satisfactory to me – but on Seeing Capt Whipple and the Officers belonging to the Fleet, they do not seem Satisfied with giving him money – however Should think it but humanity for you to Supply him with three or four hundred Dollars, to enable him to Subsist while here, and it will be agreeable to me, and I do not think the Congress or the People of the Navy will take it amiss –

I am now almost Ready, and expect to Sail in a few days – in the mean time I am with great Respect Sir [&c.]

JEDIDIAH ELDERKIN AND NATHANIEL WALES TO

Sir,

New London Novr 22d 1776 –

A Flagg of Truce arrived from Lord Howe in this Harbour this Day – The inclosed Copy will inform your Honor of the Business he is charged with – ² it seems he is confined to those in the Naval Department – we have not many of those in that Department in this State, but we suppose there is likely many in the state of Rhode-Island – but since our Arrival in this Town we have been informed that a considerable Number of those who have been brought into your State in the prizes are petitioning for a permit to depart, & it is thought they will obtain it – if this should happen perhaps it may be a means of detaining the same number of our Friends in Captivity – As we happened to be here on Business & being of the Govrs Council of safety we judge it our Duty to give immediate notice to our Governor ³ of the Arrival of this Flagg & have forwarded the same Copies to him as to your Honor, but as our Governor is at Hartford we think it necessary to give the earliest Intelligence to your Honor that such steps may be taken in your state as may be necessary for the relief of our distressed Friends – This Mr Wm Howland informs us that he sailed from Dartmouth the begining of Novr for surinam, was taken in a day or two after he went out & carried into N. York – that there were on board the Ship he was confined in about 140 prisoners some taken from our privateers – some from Merchantmen – that black & white, Officers & Sailors are crouded down below Decks – kept at short Allowance – are sickly & dieing – that there are a great number of sd people prisoners – they are badly cloathed & sickly – we are not acquainted with this Howland nor his Character ⁴ – we have a report here that Fort Washington is taken This same Howland says it is true – that he left New York last Monday [November 18] – and that our Garrison surrendered on saturday about eleven of the Clock in the forenoon – that 3700 of our Men fell into their hands – We this minute heard a Letter read from Colonel Woolcot [Oliver Wolcott] speaker of our lower House of Assembly now sitting at Hartford, in which he says it is reported there that Fort Washington is taken but not fully Credited – but it appears most likely to us to be true – We are – with Esteem [&c.]

HENRY WISNER AND GILBERT LIVINGSTON TO THE NEW YORK COMMITTEE

[Poughkeepsie] November 22, 1776.

In consequence of a letter received by us the subscribers, members of the secret committee, from the Committee of Safety, dated the day of November instant, when we were at Fort Montgomery fixing the chain across the river, enclosing an extract from a letter of Gen. Schuyler, requesting the Convention to have the river sounded in different places in the Highlands, we have sounded the river, beginning between Verplanck's and Stoney Point, thence northward through the Highlands to Pollapel's island, and find no part of the river in that distance less than eighty feet deep in the main channel, till within a short distance of the island.

From the island to the western shore, found by measurement, the distance to be fifty-three chains; the channel near the middle of the river at that place is about eight chains broad, and fifty feet deep; from the channel the water shoals gradually on both sides to the flats, which are about eight or ten chains broad, reckoning both sides.

This above described place is the only one in our opinion, that it is possible for an obstruction to be made by docking, effectually to impede the navigation of Hudson's river, at any place above the south part of the Highlands.

[Haverstraw] Friday 22 Novr.

. . . The British Army left West Chester for the City & afterwards came up from it agt. Fort Washington. Perhaps a Party crossed at Kings Bridge in Boats sent up Harlem River for the Purpose from the Ships in the East River. In either Case why did not the Provincials march to their old Ground at Harlem Heights & prevent or raise the Seige? The River is now open to the Highland Forts, and probably Mr. Washington's Army divided on both Sides of the River, and unequal on each Side to Mr. Howe's who may attack either with his whole Force, or waste the Country agt. a Descent at such Places where there is not any Force to oppose them. . . . The chief Dependance of the Provincials must now be in their Projects by Fire Ships Forts &c to prevent the Ascent of the British Ships up the River and their collecting a numerous Militia to the Banks of it.

DIXON AND HUNTER'S Virginia Gazette, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1776

Williamsburg, November 22.

Wednesday evening an express arrived here with advice, that a fleet of the enemy's transports had sailed from New York, about a hundred sail, standing to the southward, the wind then favourable, and that it was imagined their intention was to make an attempt upon some of the southern colonies; that General Burgoyne had returned with his army to Quebec, where they will probably remain during the winter; also, that the army under General Howe, finding their attempts against our army utterly fruitless, had retired to the city for winter quarters.

On the 16th instant was stranded on Cape Henry, the brigantine Beckey, or Lady Washington, laden with flour and bread, from Alexandria, bound to Charlestown in South Carolina, Captain's name Harper.

Mylord, I have the honor to send you a few items concerning the present situation in New England; the defeat on lake Champlain was somewhat softened by the fact that, as various letters from this country indicate, the Americans had gained a few advantages on land, recapturing a few posts and ground which they had previously lost to the Royalists. I also enclose the extracts from three letters which I received from St. Eustatius and which confirm this news in part.²

Mylord, vessels and privateers arrive here frequently from New England. I know that they come in order to buy from the merchants of St. Pierre powder at high prices, which is not harming the French trade in any way. Three hundred thousand pounds were received here from France and I heard that the Governor of Dominique had had thirty thousand pounds removed from the trade. I am with respect, Mylord [&c.]

MINUTES OF THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL OF NOVA SCOTIA ¹

At a Council holden at Halifax on the 23d November 1776

The Lieutenant Governor having taken under consideration the descent made at Cumberland by the Rebels from New England, and the Accounts lately received of their Numbers, Also the danger with which the interior parts of this Province is threatned, and Application having been made by the Lieutenant Governor to Captain Jacobs, Commander of His Majesty's Ship Amazon requesting that he would Order the Marines on board the Ship under his Command, to be landed, in Order that they may be sent as a further reinforcement to dislodge and disperse the Rebels –

In Answer to which Captain Jacobs having Answered by Letter, that he could not reconcile to his duty a step that wou'd so materially incapacitate the Amazon from Executing any Service for which she may be destined by the Commander in Chief, on his Arrival at New York.

It was then Advised that Application be made to General Massey that if he should think it proper and Necessary, he would please to make the Above requisition of Captain Jacobs, as from the information of the Lieutenant Governor the Amazon had a considerable body more than her Complement by the Addition of the Company of His Majesty's Ship Savage lately lost at the Isle of Cape Breton. –

Gentlemen,

Hartford Novr 23 1776.

I Received yours 18th Ulto Inclosing a Letter to Capt Thos Kennedy, also directions &c Relative to the Destination of his Voyage,² at the time your favour came to hand Capt Kennady was Loaded & ready to proceed on his Voyage & agreeable to your directions I fill'd up the Bills Lading, and Inclosed them as you desired to your friends at Havre De Grace in France, and being obliged to go into the Country, I wish'd Capt Kennedy a Good Voyage, & sett out on my Journey but on my return (which was in a Week) I was Suppriz'd to find Capt Kennedy still in port, and the Ship detained by Capt Seth Harding of an arm'd Brig belonging to this State, I immediately sent an Express to his Honor the Govenour to know if it was by his order that the Ship was detained but received no answer, and as the Govenour & Council were setting in this Town I came up here to see if the Ship might proceed on her Voyage, and Last evening I waited on them, and at their request I am desired to keep the Ship in Port untill I receive your further orders for her Sailing, as they think you will consent to have her unladen at N[ew] L[ondon], when you receive the inclosed depositions of Sundry persons in N L which was sent to his Honour by the N L Committee setting forth the great difficulty there is in getting out to Sea without falling into the hands of our enemies and further that the Govr & Council think that incase part of the British Troops should make an excursion to the Eastward, the article of Wheat would be much wanted here being none & is now at a Dollar pr bush as to what is said in one of the depositions reflecting on Capt Kennedy[s] Conduct being not friendly &c I must in Justice to his Character say, that I believe him to be as Good a man as could be employed in the buisness you was pleased to Honor him with. True it is that the greatest part of his Ships Crew were persons that have been brought into America by our Cruising Vessells (having only four persons besides himself but was in that Situation on board) it being impossible to get any other, as to the men of Warr Cruising of[f] the Harbour at the time Kenedy was to Sail, there were four at Anchor of[f] Gardiners Island, and our intention was to have Sailed through Fishers Island Sound, and into the Vinyard & over the Sholes, as the day before a Ship taken by the Cabot was bro't into N L that way, by an excellent pilot who I ingag'd to take charge of Kenedy, and it was his opinion that he could carry him out, thus I have mentioned the Facts, and the Ship will be detained untill I hear from you again which I hope will be Soon, as I think the Wheat is been too long already on board & begins to take damage, and where it mine I would rather sell then Ship it & Load the Ship with Flex Seed, but must Say that there is no seamen to be had only such as are taken in Brittish Ships the risque of having such people you must be Sensible is worthy of consideration, those that Kennady employed were as Good of the kind as could be had & seemed much averse to be taken by any of the Brittish ships & what is in their favour in my opinion they refus'd taking their Months advance before Sailing choosing rather to have it on their arrival in france. I imagine I can dispose of the Sead on Board for near the first Cost if you determine to give up the Voyage I have not to add but am Gentlemen [&c.]

MINUTES OF THE NEW YORK COMMITTEE OF SAFETY¹

[Fishkill] Die Sabbati, 9 HO. A.M.

Novr. 23rd, 1776.

Mr. Wisner and Gilbert Livingston's report was read.

Resolved, That a copy of the said report be transmitted to General Schuyler, with a request that he will favour the Convention with his advice on the best and most effectual plan for obstructing the navigation of Hudson's river, and that the committee of the Convention of this State appointed to obstruct the navigation of Hudson's river, be instructed to cause a nautical survey to be made of such parts of the river as may be most effectually obstructed, so as not only to impede the navigation but likewise to prevent the landing of troops below such obstruction; that they endeavour to procure the advice of the general officers and engineers respecting the said obstruction.

Resolved, That the committee appointed to obstruct the navigation of Hudson's river, be instructed not to pay the blacksmiths who made the chain which was lately drawn across the said river, and broken by the tide, until such time as the sufficiency of their work can be properly examined; and that the said committee take proper measures for that purpose.

Saturday, 3 ho. P.M. Novr. 23rd, 1776.

A letter from General George Clinton, was received and read.

A draft of the river, enclosed, was also exhibited, and committed to the committee of the Convention of this State, appointed to obstruct the navigation of Hudson's river.

A letter from Messrs. Augustine Lawrence and Samuel Tudor dated this day, was received and read.

A draft of an answer thereto, was read and approved of, and is in the words following, that is to say:

In Committee of Safety,

Fishkill, 23rd Novr. 1776.

Gentlemen – Your letter of yesterday concerning a quantity of rigging, to be furnished by you by an order of the marine committee, is under consideration; as the order is explicit, we advise you to comply with it immediately.

Capt. Ivers represents to us that it is impracticable to carry the cables by land, but that he has yarn sufficient to make the cables of, and that they cannot be safely carried until they are warped and tarred; this matter we leave with you, and advise, if it be the only practicable method, that it be pursued, and that Mr. Ivers go with the yarn and finish the cables. In case you cannot hire wagons or teams to carry the quantity of rigging wanted, you are hereby empowered to impress them, giving sixteen shillings per day for each ox team with drivers, (say four oxen) and twelve shillings per day for each waggon and horses, and drivers, they finding themselves, to carry the same to the first town in Connecticut on the road leading to Middletown.²

I am, gentlemen, with respect [&c.]

Number 13.

Eagle Off New York

Sir

November the 23d 1776.

The General thinking fit to move with a large Part of the Army to the Right of the Rebel Forces, who were preparing to establish themselves for the Winter on the Heights above King's bridge as well as on the North part of York Island, the Embarkation of the Troops in the Flat-Boats and small Vessels provided, was made from Kep's Bay in the Night of the 11th of last Month; under the Direction of Commodore Hotham with the Captains of the Ships from which the Boats were manned, as in the former Instances. And the Troops were landed in the Morning on the Peninsula of Frog's Neck in the Sound, about ten Miles Eastward from New York, without Opposition.

A thick Fog prevailing when the Boats entered the dangerous passage through Hell-Gate, every ill consequence was to be apprehended. But it fortunately happened, that no other Injury was sustained, besides the oversetting of an Artillery-Boat, by which Accident two Field-Pieces and three Men were lost.

It had been some time before resolved, in order to prevent the Enemy from receiving Supplies by the North River, to send a Detachment of Ships above their Works at Jeffery's Hook on York Island and the opposite Shore of Jersey; between which they had been lately making fresh Attempts to block the Channel. Captain Parker in the Phoenix was again chosen for this Service with the Roebuck and Tartar. The Wind did not permit the Ships to pass the Enemy's Works until the ninth. By the Accounts I have a few Days since received from Captain Parker, I find the Ships had suffered much in their Masts and Riggings. The loss of Men, as in the enclosed Return, was less considerable. Of four of the Enemy's Gallies chased from their Stations behind the Line of sunken Frames and Vessels placed to obstruct the Passage of the River, two were taken; One mounting a Thirty-two Pounder with Swivels, the other two Nine-Pounders and two four-pounders. The two remaining Gallies with some small Vessels being favored by the Tide and Weather, escaped the Ships in shoal Water, where they had sufficient Protection from the Shore, which was in the Enemy's possession.

The General judging it necessary to make a second Movement with the Troops he conducted, further to the Eastward of Frog's Neck; the Light Infantry, Grenadiers and other Corps of the first Embarkation, were again taken into the Flat Boats, and landed the 18th on Pell's Neck, separated from Frog's Neck by Hutchinson's River. The rest of the Army which had only that narrow Stream to pass, were conveyed over with the Artillery and Baggage a few Hours after. And the second Division of the Hessians that came under Convoy of the Diamond the nineteenth, were carried up in the Flat-Boats, and landed the 23d on Myers Neck, the post of Communication with the Fleet last established, nearer to New Rochelle.

This Position of the Army requiring further Provision to be made for keeping the Intercourse open by Water with York Island, the Rose and Senegal were added to the Frigates and small Armed Vessels before stationed in the Sound for that Purpose.

It is incumbent on me to represent to their Lordships on this Occasion, and I cannot too pointedly express, the unabating Perseverance and Alacrity with which the several Classes of Officers and Seamen of the Ships of War and Transports, have supported a long Attendance and unusual degree of Fatigue consequent of these different Movements of the Army. Captain [Charles] Phipps and the Detachment of Seamen under his Command, who were further appointed to assist in the Service of the Artillery upon an Emergency, have acquired much Credit by their spirited Conduct on that Duty.

The Enemy retreating on every Occasion as the Army advanced, were forced from the White Plains (where they seemed prepared to make some stand) into the North Castle District. And have finally retired with the greatest Part of their Forces behind the Croton River. Whereby the Communication was opened from York Island with the Continent, by Kingsbridge.

On the 16th instant the General directed an Attack to be made on their Lines adjacent to Fort Washington, a regular Work, constructed upon the high Grounds above Jeffery's Hook. It was appointed to be carried on from the Side of New-York, of Kingsbridge; And by two separate Embarkations from the Continent, across the last River. Thirty Flat Boats were ordered up to Kingsbridge by the North River the Night of the 14th under the Direction of Captain [Thomas] Wilkinson, (who has distinguished himself very much in the different Parts of this and the subsequent Operation) assisted by Captain [Andrew Pye] Molloy. The Batteaux, mostly manned from Transports, were commanded by Lieutenant Botham of the Brune, Lieutenant Loggie of the Mercury, and the Agent Lieutenant Henry.

The Troops embarked in the Boats had a considerable Fire to sustain from the Enemy in their passage across the East River, and at their Landing. But having surmounted every Obstacle, under the further Disadvantage of a very steep ascent to gain the Flank of the Enemy's Line; And the other Attacks succeeding at the same time, the Fort was completely invested in the Evening. The Rebels, in number about two thousand seven hundred, were thereupon induced to surrender Prisoners of War. And several Pieces of Cannon with a considerable Proportion of Military Stores, were taken in the Fort and Out-Works.

Captain Wilkinson's Presence being deemed most material with the Flat-Boats, the Pearl was left under the Direction of the first Lieutenant Scot, to be placed for covering the March of the Hessian Troops, and to flank the Enemy's Lines on the Side of the North River: In which Service his Behavior was much approved. The same Commendation is due to the Officers and Seamen in the Boats. Only one of the last was killed and five wounded; the Loss of Men at the Landing having happened chiefly amongst the Troops.

Twenty more Flat-Boats which were sent up the North River under Captain Phipps, passed the Enemy's Posts undiscovered in the Night of the 18th. And a Detachment from the Army commanded by Lord Cornwallis, being landed on the Jersey shore the 20th in the Morning above the Enemy's Redoubts opposite to Jeffery's Hook, and unperceived by the Rebels for some time; They soon became possessed of the Redoubts without Loss. Some few of the Enemy were killed, and about Seventy taken, with many pieces of Artillery and a large Quantity of Ammunition and Stores.

The sudden Effect of these two unexpected Attacks, seems to have made great Impression upon them.

In my Report to their Lordships upon these several Transactions, particular Notice is due to the Ability testified in the Direction and Conduct of many difficult and very fatiguing Services, which Captain Ferguson of the Brune was charged with, preparatory to and in the Progress of the various Movements of the Army, from the time of the first Descent on York Island to this Period. Lieutenant Botham of the same Ship, and the Agents Lieutenants Knowles and Henry (the last more especially) having had a considerable Share in the Arrangement as well as Execution of such Services, are likewise entitled to a particular Distinction on this Occasion. And the unwearied Spirit of the Seamen, from the Transports as well as Ships of War, in dragging the Artillery up the difficult Heights for sustaining the Infantry on their Landings, can never be exceeded.

The General, desirous to take Advantage of every Opportunity for prosecuting his intended Operations whilst the Season would admit, had some time since applied to have Transports for ten thousand Men, with an adequate Naval Force, prepared for a separate Service. The Command thereof, under the Circumstances of Lord Shulldham's Application to return to England, has devolved on the Commodore Sir Peter Parker, who will have the Ships of War and Transports under his Direction as in the Account annexed.

I have thought it necessary for the speedy Conveyance of the General's Dispatches on the present Occasion, to appoint the Tamar for that purpose; Having had the Sloop cleaned and refitted here for her Passage to Europe, in the best Manner that the Materials to be provided in our present Circumstances would permit, Captain [Christopher] Mason is directed to the port he can first most conveniently gain in England; and to wait to receive their Lordships Commands for his further Proceedings. I am, with great Consideration, Sir, [&c.]

VICE ADMIRAL RICHARD LORD HOWE TO COMMODORE SIR PETER PARKER¹
Copy.

By the Viscount Howe, Vice Admiral of the White and Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Ships and Vessels employed and to be employed &c in North America.

Whereas it has been judged expedient whilst the Season may still admit, to take every possible Advantage thereof, and to prosecute fresh Invasions on such

Parts of the Coasts and Settlements of the King's rebellious Subjects, as they might by further Opportunity afforded be able to strengthen, and under such Protection continue their illegal Opposition to His Majesty's just Authority and Government with greater Effect; It has been determined in consequence to proceed with a sufficient Force in Troops and Ships of War for making a Descent on the Colony of Rhode Island, in view to take an established Possession of the Town and Port.

And whereas by the leave granted at the request of the Vice Admiral Lord Shuldham, for his Lordship to return to England by the earliest Conveyance, the Direction of the separate Service intended devolves in Succession upon You; You are therefore hereby authorised and directed to take under your Command and Conduct (in Conjunction with the Commodore Hotham, subordinate to You) the several Ships of War and Transports specified in the Lists annexed, and destined for that Service: the respective Commanders and Agents concerned having received suitable Notice thereof.

When the Land-Forces under the Command of the Lieutenant General Clinton have been embarked, and every Requisite provided for that Occasion; You are to proceed with the said Ships of War and Transports, as soon as the Wind and Weather will permit, to the Colony of Rhode Island; For making a Descent in such Manner, and on such Part or Parts thereof, as with the Concurrence of the Lieutenant General, or other the chief Commander of the said Forces, is thought fit. Being further to render with the Ships of War and Seamen under your Command, every Assistance for promoting the Purpose of this Armament, on Requisition from the Lieutenant General, that your Means will admit; Or as You may otherwise in your Discretion and Judgment see cause from time to time separately to direct.

And as a further Object of your present Appointment will be, to prevent the rebellious Inhabitants of the said Colony and Parts adjacent in their Purpose, by the different Armed Vessels they have prepared, to make Capture of, and appropriate to their Use, the Ships and Effects of His Majesty's faithful Subjects; it is recommended to your particular Attention, as soon as the Progress of the Army in the Reduction of the Island will admit, by every possible Means to seize, burn or otherwise destroy, such Armed Vessels taking shelter in the Ports and Harbours thereof. And also with the Assistance (when it may be necessary) of such Land Forces as can be spared by the Lieutenant General, on your Application to that Effect, to recover from the Possession of the Rebels for being restored to their rightful Owners, such of their Ships and Cargoes as may now be detained in the Harbour of Providence, or other Harbours and Ports as before expressed.

Carysfort. And whereas the Ships named in the Margin are stationed off Greyhound. of the Port of Rhode Island, to prevent all Intercourse there-Merlin Sloop. with, or the Escape of the Enemy's Ships from that Port; You are at liberty to employ them in any Manner you judge requisite for the Service You have in Charge.

You will please to make known to me, the Progress of your Operations on that Service, or any material Incident arises; and to accomodate the Lieutenant General with suitable Opportunities, by detaching One (or more) of the smaller Frigates attending upon the Fleet, when he shall have Occasion to correspond with the Commander in Chief of the Army.

You are to communicate to him the Contents of these Instructions and all the Information You may acquire relating to the Object of your present Appointment: And to co-operate with him in every Measure that he may propose for the Benefit of the King's Service, as you are able, in all other Respects. And in case of your Inability to direct the Conduct of such separate Services as aforesaid, these Authorities and Instructions are to remain in equal Force with the Officer on whom the chief Command of the Squadron may from time to time devolve.

Given onboard His Majesty's Ship the Eagle off New York the twenty third day of November 1776

Howe.

To The Commodore Sir Peter Parker, hereby appointed to command a Squadron of His Majesty's Ships intended for a separate Service; Or the Officer on whom the chief Command thereof, for the time being, may devolve.

By Command of the Vice Admiral

Josh Davis.

SAMUEL CHASE TO THE MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY¹

[Extract]

Philada Novr 23d 1776

Gentlemen

Saturday

Since I wrote You on yesterday I saw a Letter from General Mifflin from Elizabeth Town dated the 21st Inst: in which he writes, that the Enemy crossed the North River below Dobbes ferry in 400 Boats, and stole a March to fort Lee, which the Garrison evacuated leaving all their Artillery, Cannon, Stores, provisions and their Baggage. We have not heard from the Army since the General Letter of the 19th – The Alarm of a fleet sailing from New York, with Troops is without any foundation. about 150 Transport & Store Ships sailed under Convoy of Commodore Shuldham in the Bristol, & two frigates, and are supposed to be bound to Ireland for provisions. This Information comes from General Mercer.

The Congress have resolved to encrease their Navy – two frigates of 36 Guns are to be built in our State.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR A DESERTER FROM THE CONTINENTAL SLOOP *Providence*¹

Chester, November 23, 1776.

Five Pounds Reward.

Run away from the subscriber, living in the Borough of Chester, in the beginning of August last, a Mulattoe man, named Jack Jones, upwards of 24 years of age, a Cooper by trade, about 5 feet 7 inches high, wears his hair tied in a cue behind, has a hobbling gait when he walks, occasioned by the rheumatism formerly in his hips, this country born, speaks good English, can read, and write a tolerable hand, and can play pretty well on a fife, is a sly, smooth tongued fellow, and may probably forge a pass, and pretend to be a freeman; he went on board the Providence privateer, commanded by Captain [John Paul] Jones, when she lay opposite Chester, outward bound on her cruize, and am since informed by one of the hands, that he escaped from on board the first prize taken by the privateer, when she was retaken by the English, and came ashore at or near Egg-harbour, in Jersey,² so that it is supposed he is lurking somewhere in Jersey, or perhaps may have come to Philadelphia in expectation of getting his prize-money. Whoever takes up said fellow and brings him home, or secures him in any goal in this province, so that his master may have him again, shall receive the above reward, and reasonable charges, paid by

Elisha Price

N.B. His clothes cannot be well described, as he left the most of his old clothes at home, and is supposed to have got new.

We wrote you on the 2d Inst by Capt [Thomas] Conway who sailed the 4th with a Cargoe consisting of Muskets, Powder, Woolens, Linnens & Salt to the Amount of £3944.19.10 this Curr[enc]y which we hope are all, or will be soon, safe in Store with you. . . .

The Elizabeth Capt Laugier got safe into Chas Town & sold your powder there with the Cargoe and has since arrived here with a fine parcel of rice & Indigo . . .

Tobacco is rising fast in Statia where several Ships are loading with it for Holland, & begins to sell well here. But Flour & Corn are very low & will keep down 'till towards the Spring. . . .

NARRATIVE OF CAPTAIN ANDREW SNAPE HAMOND ¹[Roebuck, in Hudson River, October 28 to November 24]

After the reduction of this Post [Fort Washington] which the Rebels had looked upon as allmost impregnable, The General [Howe] lost no time in pursuing his success, and immediately sent my Lord Cornwallis with 5. Thousand Men into the Jerseys to attack the Fort on the opposite side of the River. They embarked in the Flat Boats early in the Evening, intending to land at Midnight at a place about 5 Miles further up the River: But when his Lordship came to see the place, the path seemed so narrow, & difficult of access, that he could not be persuaded that it was the right spot, and went alongshore 2 or 3 Miles further to look for a better: by which delay the Enemy got apprized of their being landed and had just time enough to make their escape before the Army appeared in sight, and had drawn out of the Fort some of their Cannon & Mortars, but as My Lord Cornwallis was immediately reinforced to 10 Thousand Men he marched into the Country, where the Rebels flew every where before him, and all their Cannon & Military stores fell into his hands, among which were the Mortars that had been taken in the Nancey ordnance Brig the last winter,² and every thing else of any consequence that they had taken from us. During this time My Lord Howe was exerting himself to the utmost to annoy the Enemy by sea: every Ship was sent out to cruize on different stations the moment they could be no longer useful at New York

[Extract]

Philadelphia 24th Novr 1776

Very long before your recommendation of Mr [Thomas] Plunket came to hand, a Capt. [James] Disney had been appointed Capt. of Marines on board the Virginia, upon the recommendation of Mr [Thomas] Stone.

The Congress have determined to build in Maryland two Frigates of 36 guns each, and I make no doubt but that one at least of these will be built at Baltimore. I suppose, when the [Marine] Committee meets on Tuesday next, that directions concerning the building the new ships will issue to the respective States. Not a word has been yet said in Congress touching a quarrel with Portugal, no[r] will any such thing happen, I imagine, unless they should confiscate any of our Vessels.

It will give us much pleasure to hear that Capt. Nicholson is ready for sea, and I think we can furnish him from hence with one such Anchor as you mention. Capt. Biddle's frigate Randolph of 32 guns is now completely ready except that she wants Men, which want we hope to remedy when the Vessels daily expected, arrive. The Virginia & the Randolph cruising together, might bring us in some of the enemies scattering frigates that now go about, very badly manned, injuring our trade extremely. I wish therefore, that every effort were strained to get the Virginia ready. Our enemies army has been pretty busy since they retreated from the White plains – Already they have got possession both of Mount Washington and Fort Lee, and they talk, or the Tories talk for them, strongly of their aiming at this City. I fancy they will find some difficulty, and not a little danger in the accomplishment of this part of their plan.

Iv'e not heard of the Guns from Connecticut, but have just heard that Mr Cushing has said that Mr Manly² is to have them Guns at Connecticut & that he has sent a Man to take them if this should be so I shall think very hard of it we are suffered thus to be imposed on that tho' we have taken such pains to get Ready should be Obligated to lay all Summer & at last wait for Mr Manly who cannot be equipt for long time; pray look into this matter; I think the Intention is to carry this Ship round to Boston that every thing might be done there – I sent a Sloop up to Boston for Shott which are there, (for this Ship) but nobody would deliver any untill Manly is supplied therefore obliged to return without any . . .

I should be glad to be inform'd Immediately what I am to Charge Commission on Prizes and what on the other Business you'll consider that, I am early & Late, at Expende of Clerks my Warehouse like a Tavern,

Iv'e nothing to Inform you of this way The Privateer McClary sailed few Days since on a Cruize The Ship that Iv'e built for Moore & Co is called the Portsmouth therefore hope that [John] Roche's will be call'd the Hampshire unless we should have orders to build a large one in that case it will be best to keep the name for her I understand that some large ones are to be built pray let me have orders to cut Timber as soon as may be that we may not be behind Hand I see the Absolute Necessity of proper attention's being paid to the Resolves of Congress by the Friends of Freedom other wise our whole Machine goes Soure like the Edystone but nothing under Heaven's that I know off will prevent the Generality of Mankind looking after self in preference to anything on Earth – If the Honle Congress would send in their Resolves to the Respective States & order them to be carried into execution it would do stop Privateering untill the Publick are served with Men &c few such measures would be Salutory –

Newport November 25th 1776 –

I receivd yours of October 23rd and have Order'd the Cabot round from Boston – the Hamden is nearly fitted – the new Ships and the Columbus are ready but not yet fully mann'd – if they are not mann'd when the Cabot arrives I believe I shall take the Officers and Men out of the Columbus, and attempt to put your Orders in Execution with all the dispatch in my power – Captn [Nathaniel] Falconer by whom this comes will be able to inform you more fully in respect to our Circumstances – Inclosed you have a Copy of Captn [John Paul] Jones's Letter which I receiv'd last Evening by Mr Walter Spooner the Master of the Alfred who arrived yesterday at Bedford in the Active Prize, I hope the Ship with Cloathing may arrive Safe as that will be of great advantage to the States by Supplying the Army – Mr Spooner informs that the Ship had some Quantity of Arms, and says he heard the Captain Say her Cargo was worth £60,000 Sterling –²

I think it will be necessary for you to Send Orders for the Alfred Providence, and Columbus if She should be left behind directing them how to be Employ'd – it may be best to direct them to the Care of my brother to forward them to whatever Port they may come intoo – I hope you will give some directions in respect to Supplying the Sailors out of the Prize Goods as they will not be able to do Duty well in the Winter without and it is with difficulty we are able to Supply them with any –

I have not been able to find a Small Vessel fit for a Tender and think of making use of the Hamden for that purpose – I am with great Regard Gentlemen [&c.]

Being directed by the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty pursuant to the Kings pleasure signified by letter from Lord George Germain, one of His Majesty's principal Secretary's of State, dated the 16th of last August, to inquire into the truth of the Facts there stated, with relation to the Capture of two Transports carried into Boston, as represented in General Howe's Letter of the 7th of the preceding Month; Whereby a Disposition of the Ships of War under your Lordships command transmitted it appears, that His Majesty's Ships the Renown and Milford, and the armed Vessels the Hope and Halifax were then stationed in Boston Bay; And also to inquire into the Reasons which so long operated to prevent the stationing of a small squadron of His Majesty's Ships in the Delaware, as directed by their Lordships Order of the 6th of July 1775; & into the motives which induced the removal of the Roebuck and Liverpool from that River, when at length it had been thought fit to station them there. Whereas from the lateness of the Season it has been thought unadvisable to put to Sea with the whole number of Transports appointed for the Service expressed in your Instructions of the 23d Instant; And the separating of them into two Divisions being deemed inexpedient for the purpose of their Destination: You are therefore at Liberty, notwithstanding the Tenor of those Instructions, to make such Disposition of the several Ships of War and Transports under your Command, as, upon consulting and advising with the Lieutenant General, You shall find most convenient; so that the whole of the Transports (the Grand Duke of Russia excepted) may pass through the Sound under the Conduct of Commodore Hotham, with such Frigates of your Squadron as you shall appropriate for that Part of the Service. Being to proceed yourself with the rest of the Ships of War, and the Transport last named, by Sandy Hook and to the Southward of Long Island; Thence to join the other Transports conducted as aforesaid, at such Rendezvous as, with the Concurrence of the Lieutenant General, You shall see fit to appoint.

New-York Gazette, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1776

New-York, November 25.

On Tuesday last the Solebay, having under Convoy a Number of Merchant-men and Transports, with the 6th Regiment on board from St. Vincent's, arrived safe in the Harbour. The Solebay spoke with the Active and Fowey off Nan-tucket Shoals, with the large Fleet of Transports under their Convoy; all well, and the Wind fair.

The Raven, Capt. Standope [John Stanhope], and the Cherokee Armed Vessel, arrived here from the Southward on Thursday [November 21], and brought in several Prizes.

Since our last arrived here from London, in nine Weeks, the Mermaid Frigate, James Houker [Hawker], Esq; Commander, with about twenty Sail of Victuallers under her Convoy. A few Days since off Delaware, Captain Houker spoke with the Dauphne and Orpheus Frigates, who then had four Prizes in Company, and were in Chase of two others. — The Mermaid took a Schooner from Baltimore for the West-Indies, loaded with Provisions, and brought her into this Port.

In one of the above Ships came Passenger, Samuel Kemble, Esq; Naval Officer for this Port.

The Syren Frigate is come into Harbour, having lost her Foremast, in chasing a Rebel Privateer in a brisk Gale of Wind. She left the Perseus and Merlin in Chase of two others, and it is supposed they must have come up with them, as they appeared to gain upon them very fast, while in Sight of the Syren.

BARON DE COURCY TO COUNT D'ARGOUT¹

Copy

St. Pierre, 25 Novr 1776.

General, I have the honor to send you an account of a special event which took place yesterday along the coast. I have already told you, General, that two

English merchants recommended by M. [Thomas] Shirley, Governor of Dominica had come here from that island. These two gentlemen came here in a truce ship on a mission for the English Government and were therefore welcome. Wishing to return to their island, they departed yesterday on board the same cartel ship under the same guarantee. A small privateer from New England, lying at anchor, watched them and got under way in order to follow them. These were making sail along the coast without any suspicion when the privateer closed on them and seized them leeward of the Perle. After capturing the truce vessel, they robbed the Captain and the whole crew of their last shirt. Then, they took the two Negroes belonging to the passenger merchants and put everyone ashore at the Precheur, keeping the vessel and the Negroes. The two merchants report that they were then only one league from shore, and complain that they were captured while under the protection of the island. I had M. [William] Bingham informed and he agrees that the Privateer's insult is most flagrant; he said that he was going to write to Congress about it to demand justice and the restitution of the vessel and the two Negroes. Should this small Privateer return here, I beg you, General, to let me know if I should place it in M. Bingham's custody and leave to him the right to exercise any justice he will deem proper with regard to us and to the merchants recommended by M. Shirley, or if I should put him under arrest on my own authority. Messrs. Bingham and Arrison [Richard Harrison] are quite disturbed by the conduct of this privateer captain and speak of him as a man who should be demoted. I am &c. Potier de Courcy

COMMODORE MARIOT ARBUTHNOT TO LORD GEORGE GERMAIN ¹

[Extract]

I had received information of this business,² before it happened, which principally occasioned my letter to Genl Howe a Copy of which & Mr Franklins [Michael Francklin] (who cannot sufficiently be applauded for his Zeal) will give your Lordship all most the whole of what we are doing in Consequence of those horrid pursuites of those People, except that General Massey has Added 1 Company of Grenadiers of the Royal Emigrants, one hundred Men & Marched them Yesterd[ay] to Windsor to reinforce the others allready at that place to Embark for Fort Cumberland, which with what Force can be landed, from the Vulture, sent upon this occasion by Sir Geo Collier at my requisition allso the Albany & Diligent Armed Brigantine Likewise sent prior to this at my request to Guard the Rivers Kenebec &c. I hope all together, a force – full sufficient to drive those Banditty to their holes – as the only means to secure our quiet this winter, there cannot be the smallest doubt about our success Unless the Rebels in the eastern part of New England can afford them more Succour than I think they have power to Effect.

However, as we have in the harbour one forty Gun Ship, three Frigates, I have wrote to Capt. [Maximilian] Jacobs, of the Amason, Requesting him to Land his Marines as he is going to head Quarters, I have likewise requested the same by letter to Sir George Collier, to order the Ships Under his Comand to do the like, as well as himself, this I think when complied with will make a reinforcement of near 150 rank & file, beside recruits which came out in the Pembroke 120 & other people left behind General Massey has now detained upon this Occasion, I should think will amount to near 200 more, so that I am in no pain about this place from any thing but fire, and that nothing may be Omitted I have caused the Gentlemen of the Town to mount every night with 20 Men to patrol the streets in addition to the Military, in short my Lord, as farr as my faculties can assist me, no pains shall be spared, to defeat the privat[e] Machinations of those detestable Men; And I am sure General Massey will do the same.

I shall conclude this long letter with Acquainting you that the variety of services which the Kings Ships have been called upon to perform has put it out of Lord Howes power to give that protection to this province which otherwise I well know he would; Our Coasts have been infested with small piratical Rebels who have entered Our defenceless harbours, and done much Mischief to the Fishery & Shiping, some of Which they have carried away, & many others they have burned, but since the Landing of the Kings Troops on long Island we are well protected, but I have been obliged to purchase a small Armed Vessel of 8 Carriage & 10 Swyvel Guns, Maned with forty People for the Convoying the Coasting Vessels, &c, at the expence of about 260 pounds, which I shall draw for & will be the only expence attending this business Permit me my Lord to Offer my Congratulations On the success which his Majesties Arms has Obtained over the Rebel Vessels on Lake Champlain who are totaly defeated on the 11th & 13th of October past, the particulars of which arrived at this place in a Transport after a passage of 19 days from Quebec bound to head Quarters; last night. . . . COUNCIL ¹

Marblehead Novr 26th 1776

Among the Prisoners that I brought to this place were two belonging to Rhode Island or Connecticut - Ezekl Burrough's second Lieut of the Columbus & Jno Earl Master of the Alfred both having Continental Commissions I propos'd to the Gentlemen of the Committee appointed by you to settle the Exchange of Prisoners (on my first Meeting at Water Town) to Exchange Lieut Burroughs for Lieut Edward Sneyd of his Majesties Navy Prisoner of War in one of the above named Colonies; the Gentr at that time acquainted me that it was out of their power to treat for him he being Prisoner in another Colony but that they would send and endeavour to procure him. Since which Govr Cooke of Rhode Island has sent round to me two Masters of Transports who I by no means look upon as an adequate Exchange for the Continental Officers above Named. I am however willing to accept of one [of] them in Lieu of Mr Earl but can by no means Think of accepting the other in Exchange for Lieut Burroughs – I shall therefore esteem it a favour if you would desire the Gentn of the Committee appointed to settle the Exchange of Prisoners to acquaint Govr Cooke of his Mistake & endeavour to procure the Release of Lieut Sneyd, as I should think it extremely hard he being so very near should be exempted from the Benefit of the present Exchange of Prisoners I am Gentlemen [&c.]

Respected Friend

Nantucket 11th Mo 26th 1776

Nicholas Brown

I am very sorry to be under the disagreeable necessity of making a second complaint to you of the unjust conduct of one of your Privateers, but as this comes nearer to your door than my former information (if I am rightly inform'd of you being one of the owners) I shall do it with more freedom, & with greater expectations from necessity of your exerting every faculty, that may conduce to the extermination of such atrocious Villany; our Harbour has been frequently infested with a small Sloop, her name I know not, but she is known here by the Name of the Willfull Murther, an appellation not very unbecoming the carrecteristick of her crew; of the Commander & Company of this Vessell I have now to Complain, & shall begin the subject at its source & endeavour to trace it to the present Day. The Schooner Nightingale own'd intirely by Inhabitants of this place, was hired by Timothy Folger to send to the West Indias; of the Risque & Charter of this Vessell I took about three Quarters, she went to the Mole, (where likewise Folger went in another Vessell) and finding this Vessell unfit to return here without some New Sails, & not a ps of Duck to be got at the Mole, determin'd him to try an Expedient to supply himself elsewhere (though in the end it proved a very expencive one) accordingly having nothing but Oil on board, went under the appearance of a Whaleman towards Jamaica, & near that place was taken by a Ship of War,² the Vessell & Cargo tried condemn'd & Sold, in which we lost with the Expences Three Thousand Dollars, he then bought the Vessell at a high price for the hirers, proceeded to the Mole, loaded her with Molasses, intirely on our (the first hirers) Account, arriv'd at this place Yesterday, abt 11 or 12 O'Clock, the Privateer came in the same time in the last Night, & this Day about 11 or 12 O'Clock, the Commander with his Company in a Ruffain like manner took possession of Vessell & Cargo, with Swords & guns, & Still keeps them, notwithstanding I think we have fully proved, by the declaration of several Passengers as well as of ourselves, that are concer'd whose words I believe whould have satisfied any honest Man that the whole Cargo was taken in at the Mole, & that the Vessell & Cargo is intirely the property of the Inhabitants of this place; which I now declare to you to be the case and that no person directly or indirectly other than the Inhabitants of this place are concern'd therein, & that without the least Collusion of any kind, besides she had been along side the Wharf about Twenty Four Hours, her Sails unbent & part of her Cargo out, & discharging the remainder as fast as we could. —

I am not about to beg for my interest, but only to ask for impartial justice, & if you are still an Owner I desire you would see that justice takes place, for at present I cannot apprehend you can acquiesce in such conduct, nor be partaker of the Spoils of such wicked plunderers. If you are not concern'd, I intreat you to interpose & assist us in justly wresting our Intrest from the hands of such wicked Men. And if you are concern'd in the Privateering business, I beg you to consider the consequences of it, & how often honest Men are depriv'd of their Rights; it is not sufficient in my opinion to say that the innocent must suffer with the guilty; however Wise Providence may permit such things to fall upon the innocent, what reward thinkest you, those have who are the instruments of their Sufferings? I intreat you, & that from pure good will, to let the consideration of those things pass over your mind, & endeavour to bring to your View the cries of innocent parents & their tender Offspring, perhaps for the want of Bread, for the reallity of this let any man cast his Eyes on some parts of Nova Scotia Government, where the Calamitous situation of some of our real friends & Country men that are settld there, brot on them by the Destruction from privateers, must be a very moving scene to a mind susseptible of but a small degree of Humanity. I really believe I have seen you seeking better things, & wish still to see you pursuing such. –

28th – we have this Day made Capn Symonds³ an offer that if he would deliver up Vessell & Cargo that she might be unloaded, as the Molasses is in a very leaky Condition, we would give bonds & also produced four good Bondsmen, & presented him with them, that if the Vessell was Libel'd & condemn'd we would give up the whole, but he will do nothing, therefore we intend in a peacable manner to unload her, without the least injury to any Man, & if it should be Condmn'd I will give up my part. pray enquire for particulars of Capn Robt Champlin & Hammilton Ballantine Esqr for particular[s] in hast I am your Friend –

[Extract] Philadelphia Nov 26th 1776. Tuesday Morning –

We have certain intelligence that a number of ships of the smallest Draught of water, sufficient to carry 10,000 Troops are now lying ready in the North River with Fascines on their sides. The Destination of this Float [sic fleet] is uncertain, some conjecture to land a body of Troops at South Amboy, which is very probable, if this City is the object with Mr Howe. others guess Virginia or South Carolina, the latter is the most suspicious, because if they Succeed against Charles Town, they can pass the Winter there. a few days will relieve us from Conjecture

MARQUIS DE LA TORRE TO JOSÉ DE GÁLVEZ¹

Illustrious Sir:

I have learned from the Royal Order Your Excellency transmitted, dated August 6, that the King has approved the answer I gave to the Governor of Louisiana, following his request to dispatch a War Frigate to the Mississippi River in order to maintain respect in those shores, and expressing His Majesty's will that amid the strict neutrality he enjoins be observed in the war of the English with their Colonists, no permission be given to one or the other to enter into these Ports, and much less to permit acts of hostilities among them within the shelter of said ports, or reach of their guns, since in such cases they should be advised to abstain from executing those acts, and if they do not abstain, to oblige them to do so repelling them with Artillery. I have communicated that Royal Resolution to the said Governor of Louisiana, to that of Cuba and to the Lieutenant Governors of this Island, that they observe and obey it, as I shall punctually do myself; but I wish to bring to the attention of Your Excellency that the refusal to permit entrance to English ships, in my understanding applies except in cases of emergency, in which case in accord with the spirit of previous Resolutions the indispensable hospitality must be extended; and were it the intention of His Majesty not to permit anchoring under any circumstances I pray that your Lordship so advise me, so that thus it may be complied with, and we may be freed from the inconvenient visits of Foreign Ships, which will never cease to frequent Havana since there are no other ports nearby where similar facilities may be had to obtain promptly the necessary assistance. 26 NOVEMBER 1776." ¹

I had the honor to receive your letter, dear Baron, in which you reported the capture by an American Privateer under the Perle of a Parliamentary vessel with two merchants from Dominique on board. This is a most heinous action: any power should be safe under the protection of our flag and the least hostility is an insult to it. Therefore, you will please to command all the New Englanders who are either in the Road or in Saint Pierre that they be personally responsible for and repair the damage committed by this Privateer and to tell them most expressly on my behalf that if reparation is not made in a satisfactory manner I shall give new orders and punish them more severely.

My dear Baron, we do not know here any deputy from Congress; you understand me, and you will show them my letter; you will also assure the two merchants from Dominique on my behalf that I was most surprised by this action and acquaint them with the orders I gave in consequence thereof. I have the honor etc.

OBSERVATIONS BY THE LATE MASTER OF THE BRITISH SHIP Spiers ¹

Narrative of Mr. Lamont's Observations during the Time he was a Prisoner in Massachusetts-Bay, viz. from the 22d of September till the 27th of November last [1776]. Mr. Lamont commanded a Ship from Glasgow ²

Upon the 6th of November two continental men of war lay at Newport, Rhode-Island; the one carries 36, 12, and 18 pounders; the other 32, 9, and 12 pounders, nearly manned, with every thing else on board fit for the sea, which they were to scour of the English frigates.³ Between that place and Providence, I was told there were upwards of fifty privateers of different force and burthens, but chiefly small. From Plymouth there are ten small privateers, and a brig called the Independence, of fourteen guns, belonging to the province.

There sailed from Boston, in the months of October and November, at different times, about forty privateers, amongst which was the ship Zachary Bailey, formerly of London, now the Boston, of 24 guns; she sailed about the 1st of November upon her cruize, which was intended betwixt Cape Finisterre and Madeira;⁴ she took under her convoy the ship Hope, [Alexander] Lumsdale, late master, who was taken, with powder and stores for the British army, and a large brig, both of which were loaded with fish and lumber for the French West-Indies.

About this time, arrived a sloop and brig, belonging to this province, from Cape Nichola Mole, with molasses and rum, each of which had a French as well as New-England master on board, with several French officers for the continental army; and near this time also arrived a French sloop with warlike stores, and another at Newbury; these were cleared for the island of St. Peter, as well as the other two.

About the 20th of October, the Boston, a 30 gun frigate, came round from Newbury to Boston, to fit out under the command of Capt. M'Neil; she was navigated by thirty English sailors, whom they impressed for that service only; about one hundred New-Englanders embarked in this ship; the French officers bore some command, and one of their independent companies acted as marines; soon after, her guns were shipped on board a sloop, and sent round to Newbury to be put on board another continental frigate finished there, to carry 36 guns, which is daily expected in: she fits out at Boston.⁵

Out of Newbury, Beverly, Salem, and Marblehead, are several privateers upon a cruize, besides the Massachusetts, a provincial brig of 16 guns, 6 pounders, commanded by a Captain Souter [Daniel Souther]. At these places a great many others are fitting out, viz. at Beverly, the Alfred, formerly of Bristol, to carry 20 guns: at Salem, a brig built for one Campbell, but seized, when launched, as English property; this brig is to carry sixteen 6 pounders, with many other small privateers, sloops, and schooners, of 8, 10 and 12 guns.

At Boston, a ship, formerly the Britannia, was burnt down to the wale, but now rebuilt, and is to carry 30 guns, which are not all procured; it was said she was to go to France to finish her outfit, and afterwards to cruize in a southern latitude for Indiamen. At this place are also the Isaac, formerly of Liverpool; she is to carry 24 guns, which are not yet procured; and the Anna Bella, formerly of Glasgow, taken with troops; ⁶ she carries 18 six-pounders, and was ready for sea the 20th of November, with many other brigs, sloops, and schooners.

There were also fitted out for a voyage to Virginia and France, the ships formerly Lord Howe, and George, of Glasgow; the Anna Maria, Lady Juliana, Picary, Earl of Errol, and Camden, of London; and two others at Salem. The Julius Caesar of London, Captain [Azariah] Uzald, who, though she mounted 10 iron guns, shewed 18 wooden ones, and had 27 men all ready to engage, struck to a force far inferior, without firing one gun; she is now fitting out as a privateer, to carry 18 or 20 guns.

The Congress, when they issued commissions for privateers, made a law, that persons taken in prizes should have their private adventure restored them. This was observed to a great many taken at first; and still is by continental and provincial vessels; but this act was amended by leaving something discretionary to the captors, since which they generally find some way to avoid giving them any thing; and it was resolved in council, and recommended to the committees, to send all prisoners into the country, as far from any post-road as possible, and there, such as cannot maintain themselves are made to work for their living. Mates of ships taken, and seamen, are not suffered to depart. They say they don't impress them into their service; it is true, they don't lay violent hands upon them, and force them on board their vessels of war, but take a more effectual way, which is this—they pay them what wages are said to be due to them, in their paper money, on which the poor fellows set no value, but sailor-like, spend it as fast as possible. When this is gone, they must starve unless they enter on board their privateers, which are always ready to receive them. I don't doubt several enter before it comes to this extremity, but the greater part do not.

There is another six and thirty gun frigate building in Piscataqua,⁷ the finishing of which was retarded by the want of iron, but they have lately got a small supply from Philadelphia, and some ready manufactured, in the Julius Caesar, from London. I was told there were also building upon the lakes, two frigates to oppose General Carleton in the spring.

I was greatly mortified in attending their court of admiralty in Salem, at a trial, where a prize ship was claimed by some people in the country. The counsel for the privateer, produced a register taken out in the name of Lane, Son, and Fraser, London, in proof of her being British property. The counsel for the claimers affirmed, that the register was only a sham one, to prevent her being taken by English men of war, and that the property still rested in the claimers. The counsel for the privateer demanded to know, how any such sham register could be procured, seeing, that an oath was always made, that the persons named in the register were the sole owners thereof; to which the counsel for the claimers replied, that he could get the people in England to perjure themselves, or do any thing else, for money. After long disputing, the ship was decreed to the claimers, and the cargo to the privateer.

2. Spiers was taken on September 6, 1776 by the Massachusetts privateer schooner Eagle, Captain Elijah Freeman Payne, while en route from the Bay of Honduras to Glasgow. Lamont was removed to the Eagle, and a prize master and prize crew put on board the Spier. On September 15 the members of the Spier's crew, who had been left on board their ship, rose under the mate, William Carmichael, and retook the vessel which was carried to Glasgow on October 13, Public Advertiser, London, October 23, 1776. Lamont, with a number of other British shipmasters, embarked at Boston on November 27 in the brig Dolphin, ostensibly bound for Portugal. However, she sailed directly for England and reached Plymouth on Christmas Day 1776, Whitehall Evening Post, December 24 to December 26, 1776.

Mr. Lovel [James Lovell] of Boston, who has been a prisoner among the enemy since Bunker Hill battle, has lately been exchanged for Gov. MINUTES OF THE NEW YORK COMMITTEE OF SAFETY ¹ [Fishkill] Wednesday, A. M.

November 27th, 1776.

Mr. Robert R. Livingston moved sundry resolutions relative to obstructing the navigation of Hudson's river, and engaging General Schuyler in that service.

5 ho. P. M. November 27th, 1776.

Resolved, That a letter be immediately written to Major-General Schuyler, informing him of the survey that has been taken of Hudson's river at Poliple's island, and requesting him to take on himself the superintendence and direction of such works as he may think necessary, either there or elsewhere for the security of Hudson's river.

Resolved, That a letter be written to the Honble. the Continental Congress informing them of the measures that have been pursued for obstructing Hudson's river; suggesting the necessity of more effectually securing the posts and passes in the Highlands; employing the carpenters, who are now discharged from the shipping, in preparing fire ships and whatever else may be thought necessary for the defence of the river, and annoying the enemy on their passage up; and requesting that they will be pleased to put the management thereof under the direction of Major-Genl. Schuyler, whose abilities, knowledge of the country and military command will give him great advantages in the execution thereof.

Resolved, That a letter be written to His Excellency General Washington, enclosing the above resolves, and requesting his concurrence therein.

[New York Harbour] 27th Novr

Most of the transports with troops on board for the Expedition, went out of the N. River to day, and anchored between Governor's Island and Redhook. The large ships are gone down to Gravesend bay.

It is still uncertain where we are going; but Rhode-Island is now generally supposed to be our destination; and that The Frigates and transports will go through the Sound, and the two decked Ships round Long Island, and rendezvous off the E. end of Long Island.

Number 14.

Sir

Eagle Off New York

November the 27th 1776.

Enclosed herewith I transmit a Return of the Disposition of the Ships of the Squadron, for specifying the Changes made therein since the Date of the last Return sent by the Fowey, which sailed the 13th Instant; and also an Account of the State and Condition of the Ships, with an Explanation of the Supernumeraries borne onboard them.

The Lark, intended to relieve the Cerberus off of Rhode Island, was forced back to this Port the 16th, with the Loss of her Main-Mast; caused by a considerable Defect in the Mast below the Partners, which it is conceived might have been discovered at Halifax, (where the Mast was made and supplied), if it had been duly inspected. The Greyhound sailed some Days before to strengthen the Ships on that Station, upon Intelligence that some Armed Ships of Force would soon be in readiness to put to Sea from Rhode Island. And Directions were sent by that Opportunity for Captain [Richard] Smith to detain the Cerberus, if still in fit Condition, a few days longer. But the Accident happening to the Lark before the Greyhound joined them, the Cerberus came back with the Lark in consequence of the former Appointment.

The Carysfort was thereupon ordered off of Rhode Island. But the Fore Mast of the Syren being soon after found defective and sprung in the Head, which compelled the Return of that Ship also, the Diamond and Ambuscade were appointed to replace the two disabled Ships.

The Lively arrived from before the Harbour of St Augustine the 5th Instant. Captain Bishop left the St John Armed Schooner in that Harbour; And the Otter with the Hinchinbrook to remain in St Mary's River for the present Service of the Province. The St John Schooner, which has been in St Mary's River mostly since the Beginning of last April is found on Survey unsafe to venture out of the port and is incapable of being repaired there. The Condition of the Otter is represented to be such (not having been cleaned since the 2d of Feby 1775) as to render the Sloop little fit for Service at Sea. And the Raven and Cherokee arrived the 21st much in the same State.

On the 20th the Solebay returned with the 6th Regiment from St Vincents. And the Mermaid arrived the 22d with the Convoy of Victuallers and other Transports Captain [James] Hawker had in Charge to conduct to this Port, the Aurora and Newmark Victuallers excepted; having parted from them the 13th in a hard Gale of Wind, during which it was feared the last had foundered at Sea.

The Perseus and Galatea anchored here the 25th; The Term for which the first was appointed to cruise Eastward from the Nantucket Shoals being expired; and the latter to discharge several Prisoners taken, some by that Ship, and others by the Orpheus and Daphne, in small Trading Vessels the Property of His Majesty's rebellious Subjects. — Several more Captures have been made by the Frigates cruising from Boston Eastward. — When I have received the Particulars thereof, daily expected, I shall transmit a Return of the whole Number reported during the last six Months.

I am to acknowledge the Receipt of your several Letters of the 31st of August, and 6th and 7th of September by the Mermaid. To the Contents of which I shall have every due Attention, and communicate my Proceedings on the several Matters with all suitable Dispatch. I am with great Consideration Sir [&c.]

“COPY OF A LETTER FROM CAPTAIN BANKS OF THE Renown TO

My Lord

Renown in Gravesend Bay 27th Novemr 1776.

I have received your Lordship's Letter of the 25th Instant, inclosing an Extract of a Letter from Lord Viscount Howe (in consequence of a Letter from Lord George Germain to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty) Noting that he is directed by their Lordships to inquire into the Cause of the Capture of Two Transports with part of the Highland Troops onboard, which were carried into Boston without any interruption by any of His Majesty's Ships, and that the late advices from Halifax mentioned the Arrival there of the Renown and Milford, two of the Ships Stationed in the Bay of Boston under my Orders; and your Lordship directing me to furnish you with the Copies of all the Orders I have issued to the Captains of His Majesty's Ships and Vessels put under my Command while upon that Service, together with the cause of the Renown and Milford proceeding to Halifax, as well as all other necessary information which has fallen under my knowledge on the above Subject. In answer thereto, I herewith inclose to Your Lordship Copies of all the Orders I have given to the Captains you left under my Command, which I hope will meet your Approbation; and with respect to my proceeding to Halifax, I must beg leave to inform your Lordship that I left Nantasket Road principally for want of Provisions, having onboard not above one Month's for my Ships Company, and the Troops at the Light House which I was obliged to support, and having with me to the Amount of about Thirty Sail of Transports with Highland Troops, and Stores, in a similar Condition, and not knowing when I should have a Supply; I thought it right, for the good of the Service, to take them under Convoy, and with the Hope which was likewise in the same Condition to proceed to Halifax, leaving the Milford which I had completed with Provisions for one Month, under Orders to Cruize in the Bay as long as it would admit her to do so with propriety. The Rebels having been employed after the Arrival of the Highland Troops, in Erecting Works on every spot from which they could annoy us, and in all probability of itself would have soon obliged me to evacuate that place, as I found from the high situation of their works, my Shot against them could do no execution; I must likewise beg leave to remark to your Lordship that during the time the Renown lay at Nantasket she was so exceedingly sickly that for some time I had but two Men to a Gun, and never had less than Sixty or Seventy Men on shore at the Hospital on George's Island which I was obliged to protect, And that in the whole time was never joined by any of the Ships and Vessels put under my Command but the Milford and Hope, and the Lively for some little time which Ships were constantly employed Cruizing in the Bay, and saved a Number of Victuallers and other Vessels from falling into the hands of the Rebels. The two Transports which your Lordship mentions with Highland Troops were taken after I left Nantasket Road, and which I consequently knew nothing of. That there was a Ship carried into Boston there is no doubt,² but she was taken a great distance from me, and I never saw her till she came thro' the Sound, which your Lordship is sensible must be totally out of my power to prevent, as none of the Ships then under my Command were near me at that time. MAJOR GENERAL CHARLES LEE TO MESHECH WEARE¹

Sir,

Camp Philipsbourg 27th Novr 1776.

As the whole fate of America depends on the speedy completion of the New Army; all consideration ought undoubtedly to be postponed to this object. The Officers (and indeed it must necessarily be so,) are of opinion, that nothing impedes the recruiting of the Army so much as the present rage for Privatering, that unless this is in some measure check'd, it is vain to expect any Success. I wou'd therefore humbly refer to your Consideration whether it is not expedient to lay a temporary Embargo on Privateers until the Regiments of each State are compleated Our situation is so delicate and alarming and the absolute necessity of the Army's being raised without delay so obvious, that you will at least excuse the liberty I take in proposing the only mode which occurs to me I am with the greatest respect [&c.]

Gentlemen –

Upon the information given to the marine committee by Capt. Patrick Dennis, of the then state of the frigates built at Poughkeepsie,² the said committee desired me to inform you that it was their opinion, those ships being launched should as soon as possible be sent up to Esopus creek, to be there laid up for the winter, as there appears at present no prospect of bringing them into service for this year. And it is their opinion that a lieutenant of marines be appointed, with orders given him to immediately enlist thirty marines to guard those frigates during winter, and that all such stores that are remaining, together with those belonging to such vessels as were ordered to be sunk in the North and East rivers, be also put under the care of said lieutenant of marines.

That Capt. Dennis, who has at present the custody of all the rigging, &c. belonging to the vessels so sunk, be directed to deliver the same to said lieutenant, furnishing him with an inventory of the particulars; a copy thereof to be signed by the lieutenant, and transmitted to the marine committee, who apprehend the stores aforesaid will be this winter wanted by Genl. Schuyler.

In regard to the destination of the frigates for the winter, if you see any likelihood of their being brought into use, they are submitted entirely to your direction. Upon your nominating the lieutenant, his commission will be sent up to you as you, are more immediately upon the spot. In regard to the frigates, the marine committee refers it to your judgment to direct what may be necessary to be done with them, and desires you will advise them thereof. I am, respectfully, sirs [&c.]

LIEUTENANT THOMAS DAVEY, R.N., TO VICE ADMIRAL CLARK GAYTON ¹

Copy

Sir

Diligence Pensacola Novr 27th 1776 –

Yesterday I received a Letter from a Gentleman at [New] Orleans, an Extract of which I think it necessary you should know as soon as possible, as by representing it to the Ministry a stop may be put to a Trade that is very detrimental to His Majts Service. This information is from undoubted authority, & may be relied on, my Letter is dated the 29th September.

“In the Month of August arrived here a large Barge from Fort Pitt on the River Ohio in which came one Gibson ² & twenty rifle Men, it is currently reported, that Gibson brought a Packet from the Congress to Govr Unzaga, whether he did or not, he had several Conferences with him, & about five days ago they went back loaded entirely with Powder, it is said they had 12,000 pounds, it was taken out of the King’s Magazine by Mr Oliver Pollock His Britannic Majesty’s loyal Subject who entirely equip’d these fellows.”

If you remember, Sir, in one of my Letters I mention’d the Manner the French traded to the Mississippi, & that it was the opinion of the Attorney General of this Province, that the Captains of His Majesty’s Ships could not seize those Vessels, as it could not be proved that they traded with His Majts. Subjects, but that it was the duty of the Spanish Governor to prevent it, if it was not permitted by his Court, Now, Sir, this Ammunition is imported by the French, & may very easily be seized, if the Captains of His Majesty's Ships were properly authorized to do it, but in the present circumstances it would be folly in any Captain to do it, as the Vessels would immediately be acquitted by the Admiralty Court when they were brought to a Trial I am &c.

I am sorry it was not in my power to ship the Goods according to order received as it is impossible to obtain them. I have wrote to several of the Neighboring Islands for the Woolens which was not to be had.

Some time agoe arrived here, Wm. Aull, from France, formerly of your place, with a large Cargoe of Goods among which was some Cloths. He sold the whole off at 15 p'r Ct. on the Invoice; and after he had bargained for them he found it was Considerably under the Value, he wou'd not let the person have them. I went to him for the Blue Cloth which cost about 2/10, and he ask'd me 18/ p'r yard for them. I looked at him with Amazement, but offer'd him 9/ for them but he wou'd not take it, and I come away. The next day he offer'd them for 12/ to take as many Brown as Blue, however I agreed with him for them at 10/.

This was the day before the Andrew Doria arriv'd, and after her arrival he was acquainted with her errand. I desir'd him to send me the Cloths and he return'd me for answer I cou'd not have them for that price, as he was offered more and to take proportion of white with them by Mr. S.[Samuel] Curwin, for the Continent, which I Inform'd I had purchased those Goods from Mr. Aull. But he did not like to give them up, and rather than Expose Aull, as he was a stranger here, I gave the matter up. He has made Mr. Curwin pay the most Extravagant prices for Goods I ever heard of, as there is no other than what he has at Markett, Owing to the Detention of the Vessells in Holland, there being a great Quantity

[Fishkill] Thursday Morning, Nov. 28th, 1776.

Mr. [Henry] Wisner from the committee appointed for securing the frigates, made the following report:

Your committee to whom was referred the securing of the frigates at Poughkeepsie, report the following resolves to be served on Capts.

Tudor and Lawrence respectively:

1st. That they fit their respective ships, Congress and Montgomery, with all the despatch possible, with so much rigging as is necessary to remove them from Poughkeepsie:

2nd. That they proceed up the river with the first fair wind after the ships are ready, as far as Roundout kill or creek, near Esopus Landing, where they are to be wintered, if after carefully sounding the depth of the water on the bar at the mouth of the creek, they find they can be safely carried in:

3rd. If upon strict examination there is not found water enough safely to carry the said ships into the creek, then they are to proceed with all the despatch possible, (after taking on board the best pilots they can procure,) to Claverack dock, and there secure the ships in the best manner in their power:

4th. That the quantity of lead in the possession of the Convention of this State is so small, that there is none at present to be spared for any other use than musket ball.

[On board H. M. S. Orpheus]

[October 3 to November 28, 1776]

The 7th ² we dropped down to Staten Island, and on the 12th put to sea with his Majesty's ship Daphne under our command, and proceeded off the Capes of Philadelphia . . .

The 20th we took a small schooner from Philadelphia, bound to the West Indies, with flour and Indian corn, and having taken out the flour, set her on fire.³ The 24th, retook a brig from the coast of Guinea, which had been taken by the Congress and Chance privateers, and had on board about a thousand pounds' worth of ivory.⁴ She was sent to New York with one of our midshipmen, who was again taken on his passage and carried into Rhode Island, from thence to Providence, where he remained a prisoner six months. On the 30th, having again parted from the Daphne, we took an armed sloop mounting eight carriage four-pounders, fourteen swivels and four cohorns, and loaded with rum, porter, flour and bread.⁵ I was sent to take charge of her with two men and a boy, having no time to take any clothes with me, as another sail was seen from the masthead; and a few hours after, I lost sight of the Orpheus and was left in a heavy gale of wind in a very distressed situation, having split both my main sail and foresail. I continued water-logged till the 4th of November, when the gale somewhat abated, though I got neither dry nor clean things till the 25th; for notwithstanding I was fortunate enough to fall in with the ships the following day after the gale ceased, yet bad weather and constant chasing prevented any boats from boarding me till that time, which, on the coast of America at this season of the year, was not the most pleasing situation in the world.

The 9th at daybreak in the morning, Cape May bearing NNW, fifteen leagues, we took a schooner from St. Eustatius with rum and gin;⁶ and the 14th spoke his Majesty's ship Mermaid, with a convoy from England for New York, on which day we took two sloops from Philadelphia, bound to the West Indies with flour.⁷ The 18th we took a schooner from Martinique with claret,⁸ and on the 26th, for the first time, the boat came on board me with directions to take charge of the five prizes, and proceed with them to New York; and having got on board my sea chest and bedding, I parted company with the ships on this day, having during my time in the Colonel Parry prize, had my shirt and stockings washed while I lay in bed naked till they were dry. I arrived all safe at New York on the 28th Instant, and secured the prizes alongside the wharf amidst twenty-nine others belonging to the Orpheus.

Copy

Roebuck off New York the 28 Novr 1776.

My Lord, I had the honor this day to receive your Lordships Letter desiring to be furnished with the cause of the removal of His Majesty's Ship under my Command and the Liverpool from the River Delaware; In answer thereto I beg leave to lay before your Lordship the following Narrative of my Proceedings concerning that matter.

Having Cruized off that River with the utmost Vigilance until the beginning of May, I received your Lordship's Letter of the 11th April informing me that the force I had required to enable me to put in execution those Orders I had received from Admiral Graves, and renewed by your Lordship the 17th January (Viz:) "To destroy the floating Batteries, and to weigh up or otherwise render useless the Machines sunk in the Channel of the River Delaware to obstruct the Navigation thereof," could not for certain reasons be sent to me, I immediately turned my thoughts to that part of your Lordship's Letter which mentions Sir Peter Parkers request to have the Roebuck with him on his Expedition against Charles Town South Carolina together with Your Lordship's desire that "if I could leave a sufficient Force to prevent the Operations of the Enemy in the Delaware that I would comply with his request," I took the resolution to join Sir Peter Parker and to leave the Liverpool (and Glasgow which I hourly expected to arrive) to Cruize in Delaware Bay to obstruct the Trade, which from intercepted Letters I had reason to think would be laid aside by the Rebels during the summer Months: But as at this time I was short of Water, I thought it necessary to run up the River for the purpose of compleating it, which would also give me an opportunity of reconnotring the Enemy's force, so as to be useful when any attack should be planned against it. Accordingly on the 5th of May, I took the Liverpool with me, sailed up the River as far as Wilmington where I was attacked in a shallow part of the River by thirteen Row Gallies attended by several Fire-Ships and Launches, which in two long Engagements I beat off, and did my utmost to destroy, a particular Account of which (is given in my Journal to the Commander in Chief) and after having fully executed what I had in view, I returned to the Capes the 15th, when I gave Captain Bellew Orders to remain Cruizing (a Copy of which is here enclosed) and stood to the Southward. The same Evening I fell in with a Vessel dispatched to me by His Excellency the Earl of Dunmore Governor of Virginia by which I received a Letter from His Lordship to acquaint me of having received certain Intelligence that the Rebels intended attacking the Lines near Norfolk; that they were bringing cannon down and preparing fire rafts to destroy his Fleet, and assembling in large bodies in his Neighbourhood: Therefore earnestly entreated me to return to his Assistance and relief. The saving His Lordship and so valuable a Fleet which consisted upwards of ninety sail of Vessels, many of them with Rich Cargoes onboard, out of the hands of the Rebels appeared to me an immediate object of so much consequence, that I sent my Tender to acquaint Sir Peter with my intentions, and altered my Course for Virginia, flattering myself however that his Lordships apprehensions might be premature.

I arrived the next day off Norfolk when I found my Lord Dunmore's expectations of an Attack not the least abated. Every Circumstance therefore was considered, both as to situation and strength to oppose the Enemy's attack, when it was thought most adviseable to move the Fleet immediately for had we waited until the Enemy had planted Cannon at certain places on the River side (which is not half a mile over) it would scarce have been possible to have got the Vessels down the River and they must inevitably have fallen into the Enemy's hands.

Gwins Island at the Mouth of the Pianketank River being pointed out as a spot containing many advantages, and to be easily defended against the Rebels was fixed upon as the most proper place to repair to, where with more trouble and difficulty than ever I before experienced I deposited the whole Fleet on the 27th May, and should then have taken my leave of His Lordship, but from the small Pox having broke out in his little Army, together with a bad fever, he was so much reduced in his numbers, that I was obliged to assist with my Ships Company in throwing up some works on the Island for their defence, which I the more readily consented to as I received a Letter from Captain Hudson of the Orpheus, acquainting me that he had joined the Liverpool and had also the Kingsfisher with him off the Delaware, after that time so many new things occurred, and the Rebels were so very industrious in raising an Armament against us, that I found it impossible with any degree of propriety to leave his Lordship until the Vessels with him could be fitted so as to proceed to a place of safety, which I used all possible diligence to do, but so many impediments happened in this new scene of a Floating Town, that I was not able to effect it until the beginning of August, having been obliged to go a hundred and twenty Miles up the River Patowmack to get Fresh Water for their Sea Store; when after having set the Otter as Convoy to about Forty Sail to St

Augustine, The Fowey to see Governor Eden Twenty Leagues off the land, with Ten Sail bound for England; I left the Capes with his Lordship and the remainder, and arrived here the 13th of August; having directed Captain Montagu to take the Otter under his Command at her return from the Southward, and to continue Cruizing there 'till further Orders. I have the honor to be [&c.]

To the Honble the Council, and the Honble the House of Representatives of the State of Massachusetts Bay,

The Petition of Samson Mears humbly shews,

That the friend of your Petitioner Mr Samuel Curson is an Inhabitant of the Island of Snt Eustatia, belonging to the dominions of the United States of Holland, and was owner of a certain Brigt called the Dove, lately captured by Capt Thomas Truxton,² & brought into the Port of Dartmouth; and has been tried & condemned in the Maritime Court of the Southern District, and the said Brigt & her cargoe sold at public auction.

The tryal in the said Maritime Court was held so soon after the said Brigt arrived into Port, as rendered it impossible for your Petitioner, or any other friend of said Cursons to appear & file a claim within the time prescribed by law; she being brought into Port the 3d & tried the 30th of October, and your Petitioner being within that time at the distance of near 400 Miles. Your Petitioner would acquaint your Honors, that said Curson the owner of said Brigt & her cargoe, is not only a friend to the United States of America, but transacts business for the Continental Congress in the capacity of an Agent, and by his firm adherence & attachment to the glorious cause in which this Country is engaged, has made himself so obnoxious in the British West India Islands, that he is obliged to cover his property in order to screen it from British men of war. Your Honors will doubtless be sensible how discouraging it must be to the friends of this Country abroad to have their property confiscated by these States, in whose service & defence, they are daily venturing their all.

Your Petitioner, therefore, prays your Honors to take the premises into consideration, and order that said Curson may file his claim in said Maritime Court, in such manner & form, as if no process had been had on said Brigt & her cargoe, or indulge him to appeal to the next Superiour Court to be held in said District, and in the mean time direct, that the Captors may give Sureties for the safe lodgement of the Monies, which arose from the sale of the said Brigt & her Cargoe, so that there may be a possibility of said Cursons recovering his property, provided he should support his claim; and give such other orders as your Honors in your wisdom shall direct.

Samson Mears

East River. N. York 29th Novr The Earl of Effingham came down the N. River this morning about 10 o'Clock with the Ebb tide, and with the next flood went up the East River, and anchored off Bushwick point. Greatest part of the Expedition fleet is now at anchor in the E. River between Turtle bay and Bushwick point.

About 60 sail are assembled. The Frigates which are [to] Convoy us, passed through Hell-Gate some days ago, and are waiting for us in the Sound.

The large ships, vizt Asia, Chatham, Centurion, Renown, Experiment, & Preston with some Frigates, and the transport with the 54th Regiment, went over the Bar, and put to Sea this Morning with a fine wind at N.

Rhode Island is certainly our object, at which place it is said there are some Rebel Frigates, and a great quantity of Goods and Stores.

MAJOR CHARLES STUART TO HIS FATHER, THE EARL OF BUTE ¹

[Extract]

East River, New York, Nov. 29, 1776

Upon the 11th Oct. we embarked on board the flat-bottomed boats at 7 ocl. in the evening, and at about daybreak the next morning we proceeded through Hell-Gate (a place so called from a considerable chute which renders the passage very dangerous) to Throg's neck, where we landed without opposition.

The rebels, observing our motion, destroyed a bridge and causeway which joined this neck to part of the continent called West Chester, and flung up entrenchments further to impede our march. It being thought improper to force their pass we encamped; one boat of artillery and a few lives were lost in the passage.

On the 17th we again embarked and landed near Rochelle upon the continent; the rebels not expecting us, we proceeded near 3 miles unmolested, until the Lt. Infantry coming to the great road which leads from New York to New England they had a slight brush, in which Col. [Thomas] Musgrave, three officers and a few men were wounded. . . .

(I forgot to mention that General Kniphausen with 3,000 Hessians had been sent to invest Fort Washington, which fort is about a mile from Kingsbridge upon York Island.) On the 12th we marched in two Lines towards Kingsbridge, and after two days' march we encamp'd with our right at Morrisania and our left upon the River fronting White Plains. A general attack on the Fort was ordered on the 15th, the dispositions being as follows – Gen. Kniphausen to advance and ascend the Hill, Lord Percy to attack the lines in front, the Guards, Lt. Infantry one [sic our] Corps and 42nd Regt. to cross Harlem River, and land in two different places. Fortunately for us the Americans behaved as dastardly as usual, and after a little opposition to the Hessians and Highlanders they ran to the protection of their Post, which not being able to contain them, they surrendered at discretion.

About 3,000 prisoners lay down their arms; thus did we gain possession of a Fort which I wou'd have engaged with 800 men to maintain against 10,000. The post in itself was weak, but the ascent to it was difficult beyond description; they had, more over, 6 months' provisions and stores.

In this affair the British lost 100 killed and wounded, and the Hessians 300. . .

Six thousand are embarked for an expedition under the command of General Clinton and Lord Percy; I likewise go, with the command of the Grenadiers, we imagine to Rhode Island. I am on board a miserable transport with 30 officers, therefore you must excuse the incorrectness; it is rather severe after sharing in every active part of this campaign immediately to undertake a Winter one.

SAMUEL PURVIANCE, JR. TO RICHARD HENRY LEE ¹

Dear Sir

Baltimore Novr 29th 1776

I have communicated to Capt [James] Nicholson what you mention in your Letter of the 24th, expressing the desire of Congress to have his Frigate fitted for Sea as soon as possible; and have asked his own opinion how soon (from her present Circumstances) She can be ready. He says that if he is supplyd with One large Anchor & shoud not be disapointed in his expectations of getting part of the Ship Defences Crew, he can certainly have her ready to sail in a Month at the utmost. – The Ship Defence is a few days ago arriv'd at Annapolis from her Cruise, And as her Crew were allmost every One recruited by Capt Nicholson, they went out on the late Cruise chiefly at Capt Nicholson's request & with the expectation of Shipping with him in the Frigate on their Return. The time of their enlistment will be expired about the 15th or 20th of next Month, before which they cant leave the Defence – Capt Nicholson thinks If he can get only half of them that he will be well off as to Seamen; – The Frigate has got 22 of her 12 Pounders mounted, the other 2 We expect to receive immediately. The 4 Pounders are not all come to hand, But that will not delay the Vesl as the Capt thinks it wd not be proper to Mount them now at going out –

Two of the Officers are now on the Eastern Shore with Casks Salt & Coopers getting Pork put up, & part of the Beef is now making up here. – I have got the Gunsmiths employd in making the Musquets which will be all compleated in 3 Weeks. –

I will now give you a detail of the principal Wants, which I hope Congress will endeavour to supply by some Means or other; some of them being such as I see no prospect of being able to supply here. – Blankets, of these we can get none either in Town or Country, both being ransackd to equip the Flying Camp Troops. – The heavey Anchor w[hic]h I informed you Mr. Young had procured in Virginia is not yet brought up: But supposing it certainly to be got, Another of the largest Seize is still wanted. – Inclosed you have a List of the light Canvas yet wanted. The Sail Maker deliverd Me this lately, altho he had long before told Me, we had enough or nearly so. – As We expected in a Vesl here from Statia with Canvas, I thout it best to wait her Arrival rather than trouble Congress about it. The Vessel is arrivd a few days agoe at Sinepuxent, but cant learn the particulars of her Cargo. – Capt. Nicholson thinks that if you dont expect to get out any more than One of the Frigates from Philida. this Winter, You can spare a Set of those light Sails for him. – In the meantime I shall not fail to purchase whatever light Canvas may be arrivd in the Vesl at Sinepuxt.

On receiving the Advices yesterday that Genl Howe seems bent on pushing for Philada., A Number of the Officers & Gentlemen of Coll [William] Buchanans Bataln chiefly of this Town Militia, met & came to a Resolution of trying to make up a Number of Volunteers to march as soon as possible to Philada. – I have not a doubt that they will be able to make up a respectable Number, shoud none others besides meer Gentlemen go. – I flatter myself that the Example will have the most salutary effect & stimulate many other Batallions to march a Number of Volunteers on this very importt Occasion. – I wish my Situation woud admit of my Marching, but that is impossible. Mr [David] Stewart my Bror In Law & Co Agent for the Frigate & an Officer of the Marcantile Company, will certainly march for One altho but Just emerging from a Fever. My Bror² is but Just beging to move about after a tedious Fever, wh subjects me to no little Bussins, so that I have no hopes of being able to go. — Captn Nicholson proposed to go along with the Volunteers, as he thinks he could be of Service in assisting about the Artillery: But I have perswaded him to go up to Congs as soon as ever the Bussns of the Frigate will admit of it. Accordingly he has resolved to go next Week. — I purpose getting him to send an Express for Captn [John Thomas] Boucher who lives at George Town on Potomk & in Order to take him up with him, as I am perswaded he is a Gentln very capable of being serviceable in any departmt about the Artillery. This Captn Boucher is the same who was lately in the Service of yr Colony, & formerly First Lieutt to Captn Nicholson in the Defence. I know him to be as brave a Man as lives, & One who will readily serve his Country on any Emergency. I am very sorry he was not thought of to be appointed to One of the Contlnl Vessls for which I apprehend he is One of the fittest Men on this Cont[inen]t — I know Capt Nicholson considers him as much superior to himself in the Knowledge of Marine Matters. He is a Man of Education & excellent Genius, and was brought up regularly in the Navy.

God grant us all firmness & Resolution at this important Crisis. I neither wish nor expect to survive the Liberties of our Country. If that is to perish, let us like Sampson bury Ourselves in the Ruins. Adieu My Dear Sir & May God bless you, prays Your [&c.]

[November 3 to November 30] ²

We sailed to the eastward of Halifax, the first prize was a snow from England bound to Halifax her cargo dry goods, the next prize was a Ship called the Malech [Mellish] her cargo 10,000 suits of Soldiers Clothing ready made, a set of light-horse accoutrements with carbines and a valuable invoice of Medicine chests: The Ship the most valuable out of 45 sail, the rest of her cargo trunks of Silk gowns and dry goods suitable for Gen. Burgoyne's army at Quebeck, the Ship haled down her colours to the Sloop Providence, she mounted 12 carriage guns and had between 60 & 70 men, the Alfred and the Snow coming down on us, we then manned the Malech, and ordered both for New Bedford, where they arrived safe. As soon as they arrived, without trial, for the Malech, she was unloaded, and all the clothing taken out and waggons prepared to send them on to Gen. Washingtons army, at that time his army being in a distressed situation for clothing, and in this Ship was every article complete for a Soldier from the hat, to the shoes, and at that time I can say with pleasure I had rather taken her, than a Spanish Galleon with hard money, although we took Continental money for our parts of all the prizes. We cruised off Halifax until we took 3 more Ships, their cargoes sea coal &c – when we had a violent snow storm, it being in the month of Nov. we parted with Com. Jones and then we put away for Rhode Island and arrived the last of Nov. and the Alfred arrived safe at Boston.³

Mr. Duer, pursuant to a resolution of this morning, reported certain alterations he had made in the draft of a letter to the Honble. the President of the Continental Congress, agreed to on the 28th inst. which were approved of, and by which the following was substituted instead of that part of said letter contained between the words "defenceless parts of New-Jersey, in conclusion of the first paragraph, and the words "however severe the sudden reverse of fortune," in beginning of the last paragraph, vizt:

In perfecting the obstruction between Anthony's Nose on the eastern shore and Fort Montgomery, we endeavoured to avail ourselves of the model of that which had proved effectual in the river Delaware, and were assisted by the advice and experience of Capt. [John] Hazelwood, but the great length of the chain, being upwards of 1800 feet, the bulk of the logs which were necessary to support it, the immense weight of water which is accumulated, and the rapidity of the tide, have baffled all our efforts; it separated twice after holding only a few hours.

Mr. Mechin, the engineer at Fort Montgomery, is of opinion that with proper alterations it may still be of service in another part of the river, and we have, with General Heath's concurrence, directed him to make the trial. But we have too much reason to despair of its ever fully answering the important purpose for which it was constructed. A like disappointment, we are informed, happened at Portsmouth, the chain intended to obstruct the navigation of that harbour, proving equally ineffectual. These considerations have induced us to explore the depth of the river throughout the Highlands, in which a committee of the Convention have been assisted by Gen. George Clinton. The distance and depth of water at the north entrance, which, on the experiment, is found to be the fittest place, will be seen by the enclosed plan. General Heath, on a conference with General Clinton, has been pleased to recommend the obstruction of the navigation in this part of the river by cassoons, and the Committee of Safety, after mature deliberation, conceiving it to be very practicable, have agreed to the further resolutions, which are herewith transmitted, They wish on account of General Washington's distance and the multiplicity of business with which he is encumbered, that the direction of this work may be committed to Major-General Schuyler, who we believe to be every way qualified to ensure its success. Timber and stones can be conveniently procured, and when the campaign terminates, the troops cantoned in this part of the country may be employed in rotation to assist in the work. If the enemy persevere in their plan of subjugating the States to the yoke of Great Britain, they must, in proportion to their knowledge of the country, be more and more convinced of the necessity of their becoming masters of Hudson's river, which will give them the entire command of the water communication with the Indian nations, effectually prevent all intercourse between the eastern and southern confederates, divide our strength and enfeeble every effort for our common preservation and security. That this was their original plan, and that General Carlton and Genl. Howe flattered themselves with the delusive hopes of uniting their forces at Albany, every intelligence confirms; and it appears to the committee that they will not give up this grand object until they shall finally relinquish the project of enslaving America.

The committee take the liberty to submit these reflections to the Honourable Congress. If they are well founded, an early and vigorous preparation to oppose the progress of the enemy in this quarter must be indispensable, and the defence and security of Hudson's river a principal object of that preparation.

Ordered, That a copy of the said letter, as amended, be engrossed and signed by the President and transmitted.

PROCLAMATION OF ADMIRAL HOWE AND GENERAL HOWE ¹

Richard Viscount Howe of the Kingdom of Ireland, and William Howe, Esq; General of His Majesty's Forces in America, the King's Commissioners for restoring Peace to his Majesty's Colonies and Plantations in North-America, &c. &c. &c.

Proclamation

Whereas by our Declarations of the 14th of July, and 19th of Sept. last, in Pursuance of His Majesty's most gracious Intentions towards his Subjects in the Colonies or Provinces of New-Hampshire, Massachusetts-Bay, Rhode-Island, Connecticut, New-York, New-Jersey, Pennsylvania, the three lower Counties on Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North-Carolina, South-Carolina and Georgia; all Persons speedily returning to their just Allegiance were promised a free and general Pardon, and were invited to accept, not only the Blessings of Peace, but a secure Enjoyment of their Liberty and Property, upon the true Principles of the Constitution; and whereas, notwithstanding the said Declarations, and the Example of many who have availed themselves of the Assurances therein made, several Bodies of armed Men, in open Contempt of His Majesty's proffered Clemency, do still continue their Opposition to the establishment of legal Government and Peace; and divers other illdisposed Persons pursuing their own ambitious Purposes in the Exercise of a lawless influence and Power, are using fresh Endeavours, by various Arts and Misrepresentations to alienate the Confidence and Affection of His Majesty's Subjects; To defeat every Plan of Reconciliation, and to prolong the unnatural War between Great Britain and her Colonies: Now, in order to the more effectual Accomplishment of His Majesty's most gracious Intentions, and the speedy Restoration of the public Tranquility; And duly considering the Expediency of limiting the Time within which such Pardon as aforesaid shall be granted, and of specifying the Terms upon which only the same shall and may be obtained, We do in His Majesty's Name, and by Virtue of the Powers committed to Us, hereby charge and command all Persons whatsoever, who are assembled together in Arms against his Majesty's Government, to disband themselves and return to their Dwellings, there to remain in a peaceable and quiet Manner.

And We also charge and command all such other Persons as are assembled together under the Names of General or Provincial Congresses, Committees, Conventions, or other Associations, by whatever Name or Names known and distinguished, or who under the Colour of any Authority from any such Congress, Committee, Convention, and other Association, taken upon them to issue or execute any Orders for levying Money, raising Troops, fitting out armed Ships and Vessels, imprisoning or otherwise molesting His Majesty's Subjects to desist and cease from all such treasonable Actings and Doings, and to relinquish all such usurped Power and Authority, so that Peace may be restored, a speedy Remission of past Offences quiet the Apprehensions of the Guilty, and all the Inhabitants of the said Colonies be enabled to reap the Benefit of His Majesty's paternal Goodness in the Preservation of their Property, the Restoration of their Commerce, and the Security of their most valuable Rights, under the just and moderate Authority of the Crown and Parliament of Great Britain: And we do hereby declare, and make known to all Men, that every Person who within Sixty Days from the Day of the Date hereof shall appear before the Governor or Lieutenant Governor, or Commander in Chief in any of His Majesty's Colonies or Provinces aforesaid, or before the General or commanding Officer of His Majesty's Forces in America, or any other Officer in His Majesty's Service, having the Command of any Detachment or Parties of His Majesty's Forces there, or before the Admiral or Commander in Chief of His Majesty's ships of War, or any armed Vessel in His Majesty's Service, within any of the Ports, Havens, Creeks, or upon the Coasts of America, and shall claim the Benefit of this Proclamation, and at the same Time testify his Obedience to the Laws, by subscribing a Declaration in the Words following, "I, A. B. do promise and declare that I will remain in a peaceable Obedience to His Majesty, and will not take up Arms, nor encourage Others to take up Arms, in Opposition to His Authority," shall and may obtain a full and free Pardon of all Treason and misprisons of Treason, by him heretofore committed or done, and of all Forfeitures, attainders, and Penalties for the same; and upon producing to Us, or either of Us, a Certificate of such his appearance and Declaration, shall and may have and receive such Pardon made and passed to him in due Form.

GEORGE WASHINGTON TO THE CONTINENTAL BOARD OF WAR ¹

[Extract]

Head Quarters, Brunswick, November 30, 1776.

Gentn: I am to acknowledge the receipt of your favors of the 18th. 19th and 23d Instant, which, from the unsettled situation of our affairs, I have not been able to answer before.

That of the 18th incloses a list of Stores taken in the Hancock and Adams Continental Ship and carried into Dartmouth in New England, with a Resolve of Congress to deliver the Muskets, Powder, Lead and Flints to my order, as the other Articles of the Cargo will be full as useful to the Army, as those included in the Resolve, I would advise, that you given directions to have the whole Cargo removed from Dartmouth to some secure place in the Neighbourhood of Philadelphia, and there deposited till call'd for. It is by no means proper, that so great a Quantity of Military Stores should be lodged with the Army, especially at present, as we know not today, where we shall be obliged to remove tomorrow, and that will in all probability be the case, while the Enemy continue with a light Army on this Side the North River.

[Fishkill] Sunday, P.M. December 1st, 1776.

A draft of a letter to be addressed to John Teller, John Elmendorf, Jeremiah Clark and Nicholas Brewer, Junr. appointed agents for collecting boats, scows and crafts by the third resolution passed yesterday for obstructing the navigation of Hudson's river, was read and approved of, in the following words, vizt:

Decr 1st, 1776.

Sir: – The necessity of obstructing the navigation of Hudson's river near Pollepel's Island, having been resolved upon as an object of the utmost moment to the safety of this State, the enclosed resolutions have been adopted.

The advanced season of the year requires that the preparations should be made with the utmost vigour; and from an opinion which the Committee of Safety entertain, of your activity and zeal for the common cause in which we are engaged, they have unanimously appointed you to the trust mentioned in the said resolutions. They entertain no doubt that you will execute it with fidelity, despatch and cheerfulness.

I am, sir [&c.] By order.

Long Island Sound 1st Decr The Expedition fleet weighed anchor at daybreak, with a fine wind at S. all went safely through Hellgate, and at 3 in the afternoon anchored near Whitestone, & not far from Frog's-point. Here we found the Brune, Mercury, and Kingsfisher, appointed, with some others not yet joined, to Convoy us. Some of the ships which did not leave New York yesterday, came down this Evening. Commodore Hotham, who Commands this part of the fleet, hoists his broad pendant on board the Brune.

No accident happened to any of the Ships in passing through Hellgate, notwithstanding the extreme narrowness and difficulty of the passage, and the rapid tide which sets through. The day being very clear and fine, the appearance of so many large ships going through such a narrow and dangerous passage, in a line ahead, with all their sails set, and with considerable velocity, afforded a grand and pleasing sight. In some places a stone might have been thrown on either shore.

The tide, at some times, runs 7 or 8 knots an hour in this passage, and I have several times seen large transports pass through with a contrary wind, Stern foremost, with all sails set.

During the time the army has been on New York Island, very few accidents have happened, considering the great number of vessels which have passed through this dangerous Channel. They have frequently touched the Rocks, but no ship has been lost. The best time to go through is at the beginning of the flood tide, and near high water, as then the strength of the Current is much abated. It is safer to go from New York into the Sound, than the contrary. Before the arrival of the Army at New York, it was very uncommon for any vessel drawing above 10 or 12 feet water, to attempt going through this passage.

RICHARD HENRY LEE TO CAPTAIN JAMES MAXWELL ¹

Sir

Philadelphia 1st Decr 1776

The Congress having resolved immediately to undertake the building of two Ships of War of 36 guns each in Virginia as directed by the Marine Committee to apply to some proper persons in that State to Superintend the business. You Sir have been recommended so strongly to me by Gen. Stephen and others as a person of great fitness for this business; and not doubting but that you may comply with this, altho you are the same way employed by our Government, I do in the name of the Committee request you will, taking the advice of the Navy board in Virginia, determine on the most safe, and in other respects most fit place or places to put these Ships upon the Stocks at. Safety against the enemy is a very necessary object, and proper water for Launching. Convenience for getting proper timber you will consider. I suppose it will be no objection if both these Vessels are put upon the Stocks at the same place but in determining on the place or places, not private or local but public considerations are to govern. A Master Builder with 4 or 6 Workmen will soon go from hence to Virginia for this business, and I have no doubt but a sufficiency of other workmen will be to be had in that State to carry on the work briskly - The Builder desires that the Trees may be immediately felled whilst the Sap is down, that a quantity of Locust Trunnels be split 1½ inches, and in length from 18 to 30 inches. That Sawyers be employed to get up plank (White oak) of 3½ inches. These things and whatever else may be immediately necessary for the right pursuit of this business you will take care to have done, and your drafts for the expence created by the same, on the Chairman of the Marine Committee of Congress, shall be duely honored. One or more Associates will be joined with you in this Agency, but for the present you will singly do what is necessary, and for your trouble you will be liberally compensated by Congress. The Board of Assistants are directed to prepare a proper draught of these Ships which shall be forwarded to you when ready. Let me have your answer to this letter by return of Post. I am Sir [&c.]

Richard Henry Lee

P.S. The Builder tells me that Cedar, Locust, Pitch Pine, or Wild Cherry tree, will be the proper Timbers for upper works.

The Roe Gally that is building at my Yard is nearly ready to launch the Cables and Anchors are wanting to secure her when in the Water, the Guns are wanting to enable the Carpenters to make the Carriages and the pig Iron for Ballast – the Council will please to direct me what name to call her –

Mr Thomas Coursey who stands on the List of Applications would accept of the Command of her I am told he is very capable and was all last War engaged in the Sea service and had the command of a Privateer; or he would accept of the Command of one of the Province Merchant Vessels. Mr Coursey is well known to several Gentlemen of your Board – The Council will please to excuse the liberty I have taken in mentioning Mr Coursey . . .

“EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM JAMAICA, DEC. 1.”¹

The Lady Keith armed schooner has been remarkably successful in her cruizes. She is just returned with two prizes, which she took off the island of Hispaniola; they sailed from the continent together, but parted in a gale of wind. The Lady Keith fell in with one of them first, which she took, and the next day met with the other, and has brought them both in here. They are laden with provision and lumber, and though no great prizes to the Lieutenant who commands her, yet will be of great service to the island, as we are in want of such cargoes, and wish we had 50 such in Port Royal Harbour.

wind will permit.² When we leave the yard, there will be a quantity of plank, timber, and stores left, which we beg your advice what to do with. We think it would be prudent to pile up the plank and timber, and lock the stores up in the shops. It may likewise be prudent to have a man to take care of them. It has been hinted to us that you intend building floating batteries; if so, we conceive our carpenters (the bulk we have just discharged) would be very useful to you, and may now engage, though some are daily going away; the sooner you let us know

When The letters giving me this Information were writing Eleven Sail were plainly discovered, and before the Expresses came away, several more hove in sight. The Authority of New Hampshire will make such use of this Intelligence as Prudence shall suggest, and at all Events prepare the Force of that State to Act as the exigency of affairs shall require.

OWNERS OF PRIVATEER Eagle TO WILLIAM ELLERY ¹

Sir,

Providence Decemr 3 1776.

The Owners of the Privateer Schooner Eagle request that you will present to Congress, and support with your good Influence, the inclosed Memorial and Protest, relative to the Conduct of Capt. Jones, Commander of the Ship Alfred, in impressing a Number of Hands from the Said Schooner, maltreating the Officers, and breaking up her Cruize. We are told, and are convinced, that we should be guilty of a breach of Duty to the Continent were we tamely to pocket the Abuse; and the Result of Congress, and the Event of an Action we have commended against Capt. Jones, must determine whether this flagrant Violation of all Law and Justice shall be drawn into a Precedent. If unhappily it should be thus determined, Division, Confusion, and frequent Bloodshedding, must be the inevitable Consequence. We however trust that neither the Congress nor an American Jury will countenance such Outrages, which must render Property insecure, and are a Scandal to Humanity and the sacred Cause in which we are engaged. –

We wished to avoid every Cause of Offence in pointing out said Abuse and for this Purpose were determined, with [our] Captain, to prevent any if possible – The Articles were hung up in one of our most public Taverns, the Men went on board and the Vessel sailed down the River in the face of Day; she lay at Newport some days near the Alfred, and was repeatedly searched by Boats from her, and from the Forces stationed there and as Capt [Isaac] Field showed a written List of the mens Names who had entered on Board the Privateer to one or more of the officers belonging to the Alfred If notwithstanding this one or two did go in her, without the Knowledge, and contrary to the Inclination of the Owners and Captain, we conceive the Fault must have been with the Officers of the Fleet, in not being more vigilant, and if one or two were found on board by Captain Jones, it will surely not be deemed a sufficient Pretext for his taking all the Seamen belonging to the Privateer –

Your friend Mr [Francis] Dana is retained in our Behalf, who, before we had said a Word to him on the Subject, told Commodore Hopkins publicly that Capt. Jones had been guilty of an Act of Piracy. We present you our best Regards, and are, Sir [&c.]

BRIGADIER GENERAL ROBERT HOWE TO THE CHAIRMAN OF THE GEORGIA CONVENTION ¹

Sir,

Savannah 3d Decemr 1776

The Survey I took of a great part of Georgia made me in some measure acquainted with it's Situation, and I mention'd to his Excellency the President those methods I thought best calculated to place it in a proper State of defence; this induced me to imagine that upon the meeting of your Convention either those methods wou'd have been adopted, or some other plan of defence immediately fallen upon, and that the necessary materials and the number of hands Wanted to carry it into execution, wou'd have been provided and procured. In consequence of this expectation I was setting out for Georgia when I recd information, that the Convention without taking this matter into their Consideration at all, had adjourn'd for five weeks; I had Consequently nothing to do in this State which required my personal attendance, and having a great deal to employ me in South Carolina, I chose to postpone my Visit to this Country 'till your Convention met again when I doubted not that they wou'd among the first objects of their attention have considered how very important it was, to prepare for that attack which I perswade my self there are reasons every moment to apprehend. But your Honble House (employed I Suppose upon matters which they think more Consequential) have Suffer'd a fortnight to Elapse without having taken one Step towards effecting this essential purpose. forgive me therefore Sir if I feel it my absolute duty once more to trouble you upon this occasion by repeating, that you are assailable at a variety of places and at none prepared for defence. that while other States are by every effort endeavouring to make their Country as dear a purchase as possible and have in a great measure effected it, Yours remains so very weak that it seems to invite an attack, for it is natural to imagine that the enemy Shou'd they progress Southerly will aim at that conquest which will cost them least, and their attempts in your present Situation can hardly fail of Success.

Some other States possess advantages yours unhapily has not, the number of their people and their other internal resources are greater than yours, they have in some measure established a Constitution, and invested the executive part of it with powers in all cases of emergency to act with dicision, their people having been frequently called into action, are prepared and habituated to fly upon any alarm, to their arms, the establishment of minute Battalions and the very strict militia laws they have, which of late have been rigidly executed, has given their men a knowledge of discipline, and so inured them to Service that they Submit to it Without murmur or repining; and shou'd their State be attacked in so formidable a manner as to require assistance, they are not so remote but it may be brought up in time. these are Capital advantages, and yet they do not wholly rely on them, but by every means in their power are preparing for defence, and have lost all idea of expence in the importance of the object. Added to this their people are united, all private pique & party animosity have either intirely Subsided, or if they exist at all have no influence upon Public Measures; these last mention'd advantages you perhaps possess in Common with them, and I flatter myself that you will Shew yourselves equally desirous to place your Country in as good a State of defence

It gives me Sir great anxiety to find your State so destitute of almost every military requisite, and so deficient in every necessary provision for the Soldierey no Barracks built for the men, nor any that I have heard of preparing to be built, no public stores furnished with goods where the Soldiers may lay out their money in necessities and by that means be kept from spending it improperly, at the same time that it benefited the State, no arms purchas'd nor Comissioners appointed to purchase them, Very little powder or lead and no effectual measures taken to increase the quantity, not one rheam of cartouche paper either for musquettrey or Cannon, no great number of flints, no public Armourers or Blacksmiths appointed or employed, not Cannon Sufficient and no steps taken to procure more no Clothes, Blanketts or tents provided or providing, no Stock of medicines laid in for the want of which many good men have fallen a melancholy Sacrifice, no public Hospital established for the Sick, no store of wood provided for this inclement season, No great quantity of salt, No magazines of provisions of forrage, No intrenching tools wheelbarrows or other necessary implements of war, No Carpenter's tools or indeed tools of any Sort, so that upon my application to the quarter Qr Master for a Single axe it was not to be obtain'd, This Sir is a dreadfull Catalogue of wants and yet many things equally usefull remain unmention'd, let us therefore for god sake Set about making instant provision.

Arms & ammunition are articles so very essential that you Cannot Exist as a State without them; these are only to be obtain'd from abroad, a great number of Vessels Shou'd be employed for this purpose that tho the Vigilance of the enemy Shou'd deprive you of some of them, others may arrive to furnish you; private adventurers are by no means to be depended upon in a matter so truly important, they may not have finances to undertake it upon so large a Scale or so immediately as is requisite, or if they do, and Shou'd Succeed, What they procure must Come with accumulated expence. The Public therefore Shou'd in my opinion immediatly undertake it, permit me to recommend it with the utmost earnestness and to reiterate that in this, as well as every other Circumstance of defence, not one moment ought to be lost, your private interest and the good of the Common Cause Conspire to demonstrate the necessity of your immediate exertions, that this golden opportunity now lent us may not pass away.

If Sir my urgency in any part of this letter has exceeded the bounds of propriety may I hope that you will solicit for me the kind indulgence of your Honble House and that they will do me the justice to impute it to that regard I have for their interest & safety and to that Zeal I feel in the Glorious cause to which I am, and pride myself in being, the devoted Servant.

I shall be glad to be favour'd with a determination of the Convention upon the Subject of this and of my former letter as expeditiously as possible. I have the honour to be With the greatest respect Sir [&c.]

Providence Decemr 4th 1776 —

Recd yours 3rd currt pr ² Express, with the Copy of Adjutant Stelle's Letter ³ inclosed, and you may be assured every effort, will be made to repel the enemy. To that purpose, large reinforcements, will be immediately sent; several regiments are now in Motion — I doubt not your Zeal on this Occasion; and that nothing will be omitted on your part, for the public Safety.

The Stock for the present may be removed to the middle of the Island & to such places as may in case of Necessity, admit of being readily drove to the Ferries — the Flat bottom'd boats will be also held in readiness to carry them off, or other Purposes — as circumstances may require —

The Cannon at the North Battery I believe it will be best should remain there the rest agreeable to the Order of Assembly should be removed to and secured on the Heights upon the [place] near the Ferries as the whole defence & safety of Newport depends upon commanding that important pass —

You will attend to the Conduct of persons supposed to be disaffected — and conduct at present towards them as prudence shall suggest. I am [&c.]

Saturday evening last the Flag of Truce, mentioned under the New London Head, stopt in this Port; the Manner of her coming in gave some Suspicion that their Designs were not good, and the Officer¹ was taken into Custody and examined by the Magistracy of the Town, who after a proper Examination, acquitted him, and Monday Morning the Vessel pursued her Voyage to New York.

DIARY OF FREDERICK MACKENZIE¹

[Long Island Sound] 4th Decr The wind being fair this morning, the signal for weighing was made about 11 o'Clock, and at 2 in the afternoon almost the whole of the fleet was under way with a light wind at N. Towards Evening the wind came round the Westward, and freshened; and about Sunset the whole was well in company, making all the sail they could, under Convoy of The Brune, Rose, Carysfort, and Kingsfisher. The Mercury remained at Whitestone, waiting for an Hospital ship which had not arrived from New York.

This Evening, just as it grew dark, our ship being among the headmost in the fleet, we had an opportunity of viewing a most beautiful Seapiece from our Cabbin windows. The fleet was going down the Sound before the wind, those ships which sailed the worst having all their sails set, the others such as were necessary to keep them in their respective Stations. The Sun having set from under some very thick clouds, a Streak of a reddish colour between those clouds and the horizon, shewed the fleet aStern of us, and just discernable. The perspective was very fine: in the farthest distance we could perceive some of the Sternmost ships, with their Mast heads and Top Gallant Sails, reaching about half way up the red streak:—according as the ships were situated nearer to us, less of them appeared; in some only their Topsails, in others nothing more than thier Courses. But the principal object in the piece was the Brune Frigate; this ship had nothing more than her three topsails set, and she was exactly at that point of distance in which no part of her could be seen but her lower masts and rigging, her Hull being below the horizon, and her sails above the red streaks. What was seen of her had a singular appearance. The stillness of the Sea added much to the beauty of the piece, which would have afforded an uncommonly fine subject for a Painter.

MINUTES OF THE NEW YORK COMMITTEE OF SAFETY ¹

Die Mercurii, 10 HO. A. M.

[Fishkill] Decr. 4th, 1776.

The committee to whom was referred the letter from Francis Lewis, Esqr. of the 27th of November last, and also the letter from Captain Samuel Tudor of the 2nd inst. reported certain resolutions, which being read by paragraphs, were amended and adopted, vizt:

Resolved, That Mr. Victor Bicker, Junr. be nominated lieutenant of marines for the ship Congress, and directed to enlist thirty marines for the ship Congress for the same term as the other Continental troops, whose duty it shall be during this winter to guard the ships Congress and Montgomery, and such other vessels and stores belonging to the Continent as may be laid up with them. That they be allowed the Continental bounty, pay and rations.

That Capt. Patrick Dennis be furnished with a copy of the letter from Francis Lewis Esqr. to the Honourable the Convention, and be requested to deliver over the Continental stores and rigging in his custody to the said Lieutenant Bicker, who is directed to sign duplicates of the inventory and receipt therefor, and transmit them to the Convention of this State, in order that one of them may be sent to the marine committee of Congress at Philadelphia and the other to remain with the Convention.

That the two Continental frigates at Poughkeepsie be secured in the manner directed by the resolution of the Committee of Safety, of the twenty-eighth of November, and that the other Continental and public vessels be laid up in the same place, if they can be there accomodated; if not, that the agents for the said ships make an immediate report thereof to the Convention of this State, and suggest some place where they can find a secure harbour for them.

That all convenient expedition should be used by the managers, Messrs. Tudor and Lawrence, together with the captains of the frigates, to get the same rigged and their cannon mounted by the spring, as in the opinion of the Committee, they may be of use in the defence of Hudson's river, which will most probably be exposed to the attempts of the enemy.

Resolved, That carriages for the guns be immediately begun by the carpenters, if they can be supplied with the seasoned stuff; and if not, that stuff be prepared for seasoning, on which work they may be employed till the Convention receive an answer to a letter written to the Honourable the Congress, on the subject of fortifying Hudson's river, and building floating batteries, &c. thereon.²

Resolved, That the managers take such measures as they conceive proper, for the plank and stores that are left at Poughkeepsie, and direct one of the inhabitants of the said place to take charge thereof.

Ordered, That the managers of the said ships be furnished with copies of the above resolutions; that a copy thereof be transmitted to Francis Lewis, Esqr. and that another copy be sent to Lieut. Victor Bicker.

ROBERT MORRIS TO WILLIAM BINGHAM¹

Dear Sir

Philada Decemr 4th 1776

This will be delivered to you by Capt. Geo. Ord who takes his passage with Monsr Cotiney de Prejent in the Ship Esperance for Guadaloupe he is a worthy, Active, Industrious, Honest Man in whom you may safely repose confidence at least such is the Character he has hitherto borne & such is my good opinion of him —

Under this opinion, from Mr Prejents solicitation's, and from a desire to comply with your request as mentioned in your letter of the 1st October to me, I have procured a Commission for Captain Ord to Command a Privateer and send him with it in order that you may purchase fit & Man a Suitable Vessell for this purpose under his Command, I propose that this Privateer shou'd be a stout, good, & fast sailing Vessell quite fit for the purpose a Ship, Brig a Sloop or Schooner just as you can best suit yourself. I think she shoud have 12 to 16, six or four Pounders & 100 to 150 Men if to be got, and be well fitted & provided in every respect.² She may be bought, fitted & sent out on a Cruize with all possible expedition the sooner the better, and I leave the Choice of the Vessell & all other Circumstances to you, Mr Prejent & Capt Ord, as also the Cruizing Ground, altho I think good business may be done amongst the Outward bound West India Men by Cruizing to Windward of B[ar]B[a]dos where is also the track for Guinea Men. I propose this Privateer to be, one third on your Acct one third on Acct of Mr Prejent & one third on my Account and If the Esperance arrives safe Mr Prejent & you will have sufficient Value to accomplish this business, if she does not arrive you will otherways receive sufficient remittances to pay for your & my part —

You must observe, I have not hitherto had any Concern in privateering & even at this day my Partner Mr [Thomas] Willing objects possitively to any Concern therefore this has no Connection with the business of my House but is totally distinct & on my Own Account, You will charge me for my part the Cost of Outfit & Credit me for my third the Nt pceeds of all Prizes &c You may use the Effects of W[illing,] M[orris] & Co to pay for my third; but I hope that Amot will soon be reimbursed by some good Prizes, if not, I will repay them the Amot here. I have not imparted my concern in this plan to any person and shall Copy this letter myself to prevent its being known, therefore I request you will never mention the least Tittle about the matter to any person nor in any letter but private ones to myself. You must know I had determined not to be Concerned in privateering but having had several Vessels taken from me & otherways lost a great deal of my property by this War, I conceive myself perfectly justifiable in the Eyes of God or Man to seek what I have lost, from those that have plundered me.

I recommend a Stout Privateer because I imagine the British Ships will now come out very generally Armed and little will be done by small ones. I have delivered Capt Ord the Rules & Instructions of Congress and request that both he & you will closely abide by them, indeed I have given Bond that you shou'd do so. I think however that you may sell Negroes, perishable Commodities & other Articles suitable for the Islands, in Martinico if the General will give You leave without waiting a formal Condemnation in any of these States, but I think you had best send the Vessells & such parts of their Cargoes as are suited to the Continent to some part of it for Camdemnation & Sale, & when You take out a Cargo or any part of it from a Prize You might ship Salt or Mollasses, Rum &c in lieu thereof. You'l Consign to Mr John Dorsius in Charles Town to Messrs Hewes & Smith at Occracock North Carolina, to Benjn Harrison junr Esqr in Virginia, to Mr David Stewart at Baltimore, to us on this Coast, to Mr Nathl Shaw junr at New London, Mr Danl Tillinghast at Rhode Island, John Bradford Esqr Continental Agent at Boston or any port in Massachusetts or to John Langdon C Agent in New Hampshire – I forgot to Mention Benjn Wereat Esqr in Georgia, however I wou'd always have you prefer sending to Charles Town & this place whilst they remain ours, indeed if you hear this place falls into the hands of the Enemy it may probably be best to keep the whole of the Prizes in your own hands

We have been much alarmed for some days past for the safety of this City & are not yet entirely relieved of our apprehensions on Acct of the unfortunate changes in our affairs since the reduction of Fort Washington The Enemy landed a Body of 8 to 10,000 Men in the Jerseys with a large Train of Artillery, and after forcing Genl Washington with between 4 & 5000 Men to evacuate Fort Lee, they have Continued their March as far as N Brunswick in the Jerseys where they now are & obliged Genl Washington to retreat before them to Prince Town & Trentown, he is at the latter place with about 3000 Men Ld Stirling at the other with 1000 to 1500 Men, but if the Enemy come on they will be obliged to Cross Delaware for Safety as they are not a Force to make a stand before the Enemy, in this retreat we have lost many usefull Stores, Provisions & I fear Artillery, and You may suppose the alarm & confusion here as it was generally believed they intended for this City, thus you have one side of the Picture, I hope the other may be better. Our Associators had been much disgusted with their Service in the Flying Camp & their Spirit had gone to sleep, they were called upon but did not rouse, untill within this two days when they began to Conceive their danger was real & they are now turning out with a Spirit becoming Free Men this day & tomorrow the whole Militia of this City & Suburbs March to join Genl Washington the Country will follow the example of the City the Jerseys are in Motion and Genl Lee has Crossed the North River with Considerable Force & is on the March towards the Enemy, so that I expect they will now be driven into Winter quarters more I do not promise myself at this time as their Artillery is extreemly formidable & we have but little to oppose it. Our affairs are amazingly altered for the worse within a few Weeks however I hope the exertions of Congress this Winter will but [sic put] them in a respectable posture before the Spring.

I am in daily hopes of hearing from you by Capt [John] Young,³ the Committee will not have time to write by this Conveyance. I am Dr Sir with much regard [&c.]

Rob^t Morris

P S I expect Mr Prejent will be very usefull in buying, fitting & manning the Privateer. You must however get as many Anglo American as possible for Officers & Men and be sure that no Prize is detained unless clearly British or British-West India property.

Sir.

I am to inform you that yesterday I fel in with a Brig from Nantucket bound for Bordeaux, but she loosing her Masts in the Latde 38° North, obliged her to make the best of her way for some of the French Islands, we fell in with her a little to leeward of Marigallant [Marie-Galante], I was under the necessity of taking her in tow, as eight points is as near as She can lie when close hauled.²

I have delivered her safe to Mr Corlet at Roseau; her Lading is Oil and Flax seed. I also sent in a Schooner the 21st last Month to Roseau with Flour and Tobacco from Baltimore,³ both taken by the Greyhound; I am sorry to say she has sprung her Foremast, which obliges me to keep her close at hand, and for fear of her being taken by some of the Privateers, as there are great numbers in these Seas; one in particular at Martinica fitted out on purpose to take the Greyhound, exactly such another mounting six Guns and twenty five Hands. Mr Nibbs of Tortola is my author[ity], himself was taken by this said Privateer last Sunday was a week, he also informed me there are Six others ready to sail at a moments warning; from this News and the Greyhounds disaster I propose being at Barbados the 12th or 13th, receive your Letters and make the best of my way to Antigua; Inclosed you will please to receive the State and Condition of His Majesty's Ship under my Command, and a List of Vessels seized. Yours of Yesterday I have just recd and I shall take it for granted, that you will take every Legal method to forward the manning of the Ships, and as to what you refer with respect to the Wages and Prize money I must now let you know, that as I am not Agent or Pay Master that I have nothing to do in that matter, further than to use my Influence that Right be done to every Man in the Navy; I have no knowledge of any Fraud in any Officer under my Command and I believe there is none I shall caution the Officer to take care to keep the men on Board althoh I believe the greatest part of the desertion was before they ever came on board, and as to what you seem to desire that the Ships shoud go round to Boston, my Orders will not admit of such a Step and if they woud, I can see but little prospect of getting men there, as I am well assured that if one of the Ships there had been manned she woud have Sailed before now – I am Sr yours and the Members of the Assemblys [&c.]

[Extract] Lebanon Decembr 5th 1776

Sr I have this day recieved Intelligence from New-London that there are Collected in the Sound near plumb Island Ten English Men of Warr and about 80 Transports And from Another quarter have further Intelligence that some hundred of the Enemies Ships and Transports had passed hell gate, their destination must at present be Uncertain Whether at New London or New-port but New Port may be the most probable, tho they may possibly pay us a small Visit at New London as they goe along. I think it is high time for the New England Colonies to be Alarmed, and amost every other Consideration to be laid Aside, to have the great Object of our defence employe our Utmost Attention & most Vigorous exertions. I have Ordered The Militia of this State On and Eastward of Connecticutt River to be on their March towards New London and Trust we shall be ready to Afford All possible Assistance wherever the Appearence of the Enemy shall make it Necessary. I have taken the Liberty to Inclose a letter containing the same Intelli-

[Long Island Sound] 5th Decr The wind increased considerably last night, and we went about 6 knots an hour under topsails only. It blew very fresh this morning at N.W.

At day break being nearly off Seabrook, we saw Sir Peter Parker's Squadron at anchor under the Long Island shore, with thier yards and top masts struck. At sunrise Commodore Hotham saluted him with 13 Guns, which was soon after returned with the like number. Immediately after this, our fleet stood over to the Connecticut shore, and about 12 oClock anchored off Seabrook, which stands at the Mouth of Connecticut River. The last ships of the fleet were at anchor by 3 o'Clock. Fresh wind at N.W. Soon after our fleet appeared, Sir Peter Parker's Squadron began to set up their yards and topmasts. About 12 o'Clock they weighed, and about Sunset they anchored near us.

The above Squadron consists of the Chatham, Asia, Preston, Centurion, Experiment, Renown, Emerald, Sphynx, and ; – also the Grand Duke [of Russia] transport, with the 54th Regiment on board.

The wind abated towards night.

Some of our ships are anchored within less than a mile of the Shore. Very few people appear there. Many Cattle and Sheep are feeding along shore, and every thing appears perfectly quiet. In the Evening some few people, who seemed to be attracted by curiosity alone, came down to the shore, without arms.

A Signal having been made in the afternoon on board The Admiral, for all Masters, they returned soon after with a paper containing the order of Sailing to be observed by the Fleet.²

Besides the ships of War mentioned in the form of Sailing, the Carysfort, Mercury, Rose, & Kingsfisher are with the fleet, and are employed in Cruizing, or other services.

Lieut Knowles's transports have on board The Light Infantry, Grenadiers, and 3rd brigade.

Fishkill, 5th Decr. 1776.

A draft of a letter to Francis Lewis, Esqr. a member of the marine committee, was read and approved of, in the words following, to wit:

Sir – Your favour of the 27th of November has been laid before the Committee of Safety, who in consequence thereof have agreed to the resolutions, a copy of which I am directed to transmit. You will be pleased to assure the marine committee that we shall be attentive to every thing which is requested of us; and when the Continental vessels of war and the stores in this river are in a place of safety, shall not fail to give them information, and transmit the inventory they require.

Lieut. Victor Bicker, being recommended for his courage, activity and integrity, they have nominated him to be lieutenant of marines to the Congress and hope it will meet with approbation.

Capt. Hetfield, who commands a Continental brig, purchased by General Mifflin, and now in this river, has still a few seamen who have the care of the brig.

We are informed a Continental sloop is in the same situation. Be pleased to inquire from the marine committee whether the captains and men are to be discharged, or how they wish them to be disposed of. I am, sir [&c.]

Sir,

December the 5th 1776.

Being directed by the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to send a Part of the Ships of His Majesty's Fleet composing the Squadron under my Command stationed in North America, to be cleaned and refitted occasionally in the West Indies; Orders having been given, as their Lordships are pleased to inform me, for making due Provision of Stores at the different Yards accordingly: The Roe-buck, Pearl and Falcon are appointed to repair in consequence to the Island of Antigua, with that Intent. The Perseus and Camilla will follow in a short time after, to procure a fresh Supply of Water, and otherwise prepare for further Service, as Circumstances may require.

And as the tempestuous Season, commencing at the time Captain Hamond (the Senior Officer) quits his Station off the Delaware, will not in all probability allow of his return there to any Effect until the Month of March; I am induced for His Majesty's general Service to submit, that a suitable Disposition of those several Ships for protecting the Trade of His Majesty's faithful Subjects, under your Orders, or intercepting the Rebel Armed Vessels cruising within the Limits of your Command, be made in the meantime, as You think fit: Being nevertheless to request You will please so to regulate your Appointments in those respects, that the Ships may be completed in their Water and Stores, to return under the Conduct of Captain Hamond and resume their former Station on this Coast, consonant to the Tenor of the secret Instructions he will communicate to You upon his Arrival.

I beg leave to refer You to his Information for the Particulars of the Success of His Majesty's Arms under the Conduct of General Howe, on these parts of the Continent. I have the honor to be Sir [&c.]

Council Chamber [Antigua] Decr 5th 1776.

Sir I was favoured with your Letter of the 20th of last Month² in which You inform Me that there are now on board his Majesty's Ships under your Command near one hundred American Prisoners that have been taken onboard different armed cruising Vessels from America, and that you cannot keep such Prisoners longer onboard the Kings Ships, and think it both improper and unsafe to give them Liberty to return back to America, and in which you also desire that I will communicate the same to the Members of his Majesty's Council of this Island in order to their procuring some place of Safety where the above Prisoners may be properly secured 'till you may receive Directions from Government concerning them; and that you will in the mean time direct them to be victualled at the Expence of Government; I am therefore, Sir, to inform You that on the 28th of last month I laid your Letter before the Council, and there arising at the Board some Doubts on the Construction of the late Act of Parliament prohibiting Trade and Commerce with the Rebellious Colonies in America, the Members thought proper before they came to any Resolution so as to enable Me to answer your Letter, to refer these Doubts to his Majesty's Attorney General for his Opinion thereon, which has prevented me from sending a more immediate Answer to your Letter. —

The Council met again this day and the Consideration of your requisition being resumed, the Board are unanimously of Opinion that there is not at present in this Island any Place, except the Common Jail where the Prisoners you have taken, can be kept in Safety, and that to confine such a Number of Men there, when the small Pox rages in the Town, a Disorder that most probably the greatest part of the Prisoners have never ever had, would be delivering them over to the Miseries of a Prison and Disease, and consequently to almost certain Death; at the same time the Inhabitants of St John, in such a Climate as this, in the Opinion of the Board, would run no small Risque of other Distempers from having the Jail, which is situated in the Midst of the Town, rendered so sickly, and infectious.— The Board, Sir, are sensible that other places may be thought of as proper for the Purpose, nor have the Members neglected to consider such other places, but when it is recollected how very small the Number is of His Majesty's Troops at present in this Island, and the impossibility of keeping in safety without their Assistance and strict Attention, such a Number of Prisoners rendered desperate perhaps by their peculiar situation, the Board imagines that they shall not stand single in their Opinion –

I must beg leave to add in Justice to the Members of the Council that it has been with much Concern they have found themselves unable to cooperate with You in relieving his Majesty's Ships from the Inconveniency they at present labour under, which cannot but be detrimental to his Majesty's Service. I have the Honor to be with Regard Sir[&c.]

JOURNAL OF THE CONNECTICUT COUNCIL OF SAFETY ¹

At a Meeting of the Governor and Council of Safety, [Hartford] December 6th, 1776.

There being a large fleet of men of war and transports at anchor a little to the westward of N. London harbour and their design not being known, it was determined to be a prudent step to remove the continental and colonial property at N. London up to Norwich, and also to take a quantity of wheat on board a ship at New London, commanded by Capt. [Thomas] Kennedy,² for publick use; and Capt. Ephraim Bill, Jabez Perkins and David Mumford of Norwich are appointed and desired to assist Mr. Shaw in taking and removing the said wheat to the mills to be floured, and the continental and colonial ships stores &c. to the places of the greatest safety that can be up Norwich River, and to secure the same as well as they can.

Orders were given to several regiments of the militia to march to New London in the defence of this country against the invasions of the enemy; also letters sent to Genl Washington and others for the needful assistance and steps to be taken in this alarming time of danger &c.

Connecticut Gazette, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1776

New-London, December 6.

Last Saturday Morning the Flag of Truce mentioned in our last, left this Harbour, and the same Evening put into New-Haven for a Harbour, in her Way to New-York. The State of Rhode-Island, by a Committee which came here last Week, have agreed upon an Exchange of the Prisoners in that State, for a like Number in the British Fleet, which is to take Place the 9th Instant, at this Port. An Exchange of the Prisoners in this State is postponed for the present.

Tuesday last, this Town was alarmed by the Appearance of eleven Ships from the Eastward, coming into the Sound, most of which appeared to be Men of War, who by their Course, for some Time, it was apprehended might be bound in to this Place; but they went further up Sound, and towards Evening anchored under Long-Island Shore, where they lay till Yesterday Morning, when being joined by other Men of War and Transports from New-York, to the Number of near One Hundred, they came to Sail, and anchored near Black-Point, about eight Miles West of this Harbour, where they remain at this Publication. The Appearance of such a formidable Fleet within one Hour's sail of the Town, has thrown the Inhabitants into great Consternation.

Our Readers we doubt not, will readily excuse the Publication of a Half Sheet this Week, on the above Account.

The Public are desired to remember, that the Ship Sally and Cargo were notified for Sale at Vendue in New-London, on the 3d December, on which Day the Sale was deferred on Account of the Alarm which then happened. — The Sale of said Ship and Cargo will now take Place on Wednesday the 11th Day of December, in New-London.

[Long Island Sound] 6th Decr 1776 The fleet weighed this morning at 7 o'Clock, Wind E; but having the advantage of a strong ebb tide, we worked, as far as The Race, which is between Fisher's and Gardiner's, Islands. At 2 o'Clock, the tide being spent, the signal was made for anchoring, which Was done by the whole fleet by half past 3 o'Clock. The Race lies between Long Island, Gardiner's Island, Fisher's Island, and The Main; and is occasioned by the narrowness of the Channel, which confining the great body of water that comes out of the Sound, causes a great rippling on the Ebbtide, in the narrowest part, and has the appearance of the water running over a reef. There is however above 20 fathom water on it.

The tide which flows in at Sandy hook and past New York, is met at Whitestone by that which comes up the Sound from the Eastward; from which place they return again. So that a vessel coming from New York as far as Whitestone with the flood tide, has the advantage of the Ebb tide from thence down the Sound; by which means the passage from New York to some of the Ports in the Sound is made in a very short time.

The passage from New York is very entertaining, and the many beautiful views on each Shore, but particularly that of Long Island, which is in several places intersected by deep bays and Inlets, make it extremely pleasing even at this season on [sic of] the year. In Spring or Summer the Views must be delightful.

From the place where we are now at anchor, we have a view of the mouth of the Thames upon which river New London is situated; and which we can see just over the W. end of Fisher's Island. Several vessels are plainly discovered at anchor in the harbour, with their sails loose. We suppose some of them to be Privateers, as many are fitted out from that place. Our Pilot says there is not above 12 feet water on the Bar at high water.

We are now about 15 leagues from Rhode Island, to which place, it now seems past all doubt, we are going. The Ships of War are throwing overboard all useless lumber, and appear to be clearing out in order to bring up against any batteries which the Rebels may have to obstruct our entrance.

The Mercury Frigate joined the fleet this afternoon with the Hospital ship which was left behind.

You observe our Tobacco by Capt Stevens cost high & the freight out of the way. had you been here when it was shipped you wou'd not have thought so, indeed none but persons on the spot can have a just Idea of the perpetual changes that take place in every branch of business. When ships that in common times sold for £1000, by a sudden demand are raised in Value to £4000 & Seamens Wages jum[p] from £4 to £14 p Mo & every article relative to ship rises in the same proportion what must the freights be to make an equivalent, as to the price of Tobo ours was bought on as good terms as any at the same time, the quality we are very liable to be imposed on, having no inspection nor in fact any persons here sufficiently judges of it; We wonder the exportation of it shou'd not be permitted from Martinico to France, as it is from St Domingo for we had 15 hhds transhipped from Cape Francois on our Acct Rice & Indico we

[Extract] Philadelpa., Dec. 6, 1776
By the last Accounts from the Northward we are informd that the Ice begins to make on the Lakes. A few choice Friends have conceivd it very practicable when the Enemies Vessels are closd in the Ice to destroy them by burning. Could this be done it would exceedingly distress the Enemy and confound them. I confess I am enthusiastical in this Matter. I wish you would consult a few concerning it. If it is a Proposal worth your Notice, and I hardly doubt you will think it so, it must be communicated to a very few. I should think it would be best set on foot and executed by the New England People and I dare say there are trusty Men in our State who thoroughly understand such kind of Business. Sat Verbum Sapienti. Think seriously of it.

THOMAS LUDWELL LEE TO RICHARD HENRY LEE ¹

My Dear Brother

I must own to you that I cannot avoid some uneasiness at the late manoeuvres & successes of Howe. He avails himself greatly of those advantages which the water gives him to puzzle, distract, & divide our forces. I dont like the small force of 6000 with Washington, whilst no more than 10000 remain on the other side. Does the number of 16000 make up the whole force of our grand army? As little comfort can I draw from that damned torpid militia you mention. Militia, bad at best, can deserve very little confidence in such a state.

However as you dont appear to be alarmed I do not altogether despair.

[Plymouth] Decr 7. Their Army is now broken to peices – Their General not to be found – so that General How has been Obliged to send to the Governor of Connecticut about an exchange of prisoners – of whom he has great N[umbe]rs – They have likewise lost a very great part of their Cannon Tents & baggage – And yet the managers of the Game in the province affect to talk in the high Style – Still push the draughting of every fourth man to relieve the Army who are every day running home – Sick Louzy ragged & full of all manner of nastiness – Nay General Wn [Washington] (who moves the Puppets (or puppies) of this place) has the effrontery to give out that a french fleet & army will be over early in the Spring – But he has lyed so often & so barefacedly That his very tools & creatures begin to distrust & condemn him – A Fleet from France! – There will be one from the Moon as soon – Strange Stupidity to expect assistance from that quarter – For can it be tho't, that any European power who has colonies in America would lend a helping hand to form an independant State here so large an one, as the British Colonies would make; if all united. –²

GENERAL ORDER OF MAJOR GENERAL HENRY CLINTON ¹

General Orders.

On board His Majesty's Ship Chatham

Rhode Island harbour. 7th Decr 1776

The General is certain that the officers Commanding Regiments will take the utmost care that the reputation their courage has so justly given them during this Campaign, is not sullied by Marauding, or any other disorderly behavior. Want of discipline does not reflect less dishonor on a Corps, than deficiency in point of Spirit.

1. Mackenzie's Diary, I, 125.

Rhode Island Harbour, 7th Decr A fine fair wind all last night, and good weather; which continuing this morning, at 4 o'Clock the signal was made for the fleet to weigh, and at 5 the whole was under way, with a fresh wind at S.W. At 8 o'Clock saw Block Island, at 10 Point Judith, which is the S.E. point of Connecticut, and at 12 made the Light House on the S. point of Connonicut Island at the entrance of Rhode Island harbour. The Commodore soon after made the Signal to speak with The Experiment, Capt Wallace; and about 1 o'Clock that ship took the lead, and stood up the Western Channel, between Connonicut, and the Main, followed by the Chatham, and Asia, and then by the transports and other ships according to the form of Sailing given out.

No Enemy appeared on either side as we went up.

About 2 miles from the Light House, the Rebels had a Battery or Redoubt, with 4 Embrasures towards the Channel. But it appeared to be abandoned.

When the leading ships had got as far as the N. end of Connonicut Island, they hawled round the point to the Eastward, and steered down the Middle Channel towards Newport on Rhode Island, keeping near the Rhode Island shore. The rest of the fleet followed in order, and about 4 o'Clock the signal was made to anchor, which was done by the whole fleet at 5 in the afternoon, without the smallest accident, about 4 miles from Newport, between Dyer's Island, and Weaver's Cove, half a mile from the Shore, and immediately off Mr Stoddard's house. As the fleet turned round the N. end of Connonicut Island, we saw three large ships and a Brig, standing up the harbour at the back of Prudence Island, with all sails set. We at first took them to be some of our Frigates which had come up the Middle passage before us; but we soon found they were Rebel frigates, Commanded by Mr Hopkins, Commander in Chief of the Rebel fleet. They went up towards Providence. A Brig laden with Lumber and Poultry, which was too late in coming away from Newport, struck to the Chatham, who fired two shot at her.

No armed Rebels appear on the shore. A few appear on Tammany hill, about 2 miles from the town, where they appear to have a work thrown up, and on which there is a Beacon erected. The Rebel Colours are flying on the Batteries below the town.

As soon as the fleet came to an anchor, eight men came down to the shore near Stoddard's house, on which a boat was sent to them from the Experiment, which returned with four of them; the others rode back towards the town. It appears from this circumstance that the Rebels have no great force on the Island, and those who are there do not intend to make any resistance, & will probable retire before we land.

The passage of the fleet here, and the weather during that passage, has been as favorable as could have been wished, particularly during this day, when we had the most favorable wind that was possible, by which the fleet was enabled, without loss of time, to come in by a passage which it is probable the Enemy did not expect so large a fleet would attempt. The same wind served to bring us round Connonicut to our present anchorage without the smallest obstructoin. We have by this means avoided those batteries which they no doubt have erected to defend the usual and principal entrance. We have now got above the town, and the Rebels must either abandon it, or fall into our hands.

Orders were given this evening for the Army to land to-Morrow at daybreak.

GOVERNOR PATRICK TONYN TO LORD GEORGE GERMAIN ¹

No 31

A report has been current, my Lord, that the rebels are supplied with ammunition from New Orleans, up the Mississippi to Fort Pitt, a laborious hazardous attempt. The Indians, my Lord, will certainly consider it, a noble inviting prise, I am hopeful, they will entercept them.

Mr Stuart ² mentions a Batteau with sixteen thousand weight of Gunpowder escorted by the Rebels, up the Mississippi for Detroit or Fort Pitt, and, that he has sent the Indians to way lay them, I hope, with all my heart, they will succeed.

These accounts, my Lord, I shall convey, with all possible dispatch to the commanders in Chief of the Army and Navy. . . .

"A LETTER FROM ROBERT NICHOLSON, CARPENTER, ON BOARD THE Le Soye Planter . . . DATED SANTA CRUZ, DEC. 7"¹

On the 1st of Nov. we sailed from New York for Corke, but on the 10th of the said month, in lat. 38,20, long. 60, fell in with an American privateer, and were taken.² They left four men, a boy, and myself, on board, who, with twelve of their own men, were to carry the prize into Boston. On the 12th we met with a violent gale of wind at N.N.W. and being very leaky, had then four feet water in the hold, which kept two pumps constantly going. Being unable to reach the destined port, we bore away for Cape Francois, and in the interim I stopt several leaks. On the 22d I disclosed my mind to the Boatswain and fellow-prisoners of seizing the ship, which met with their concurrence: accordingly, the same day, being in the cabin with the Mate, I suddenly seized him, with four pistols about him, and with one of them knocked him down; then handing the pistols upon deck, desired my comrades to make use of them, but save lives if possible, which they did so effectually that we were soon masters of the vessel without bloodshed. We then proceeded with the ship, though in great distress, to Santa Cruz, belonging to the Danes, where we arrived on the 1st of December, and where I met with the owner (from Domingo) and many other friends, who gave me a joyful welcome.

VICE ADMIRAL JAMES YOUNG TO PHILIP STEPHENS¹

No 1. Antigua 7th Decemr 1776

Sir, I request you will be pleased to acquaint my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty; that I have now received your different Letters mentioned on the other side with their Duplicates; the latter I received the 22d Novemr pr September Packet, but the Originals did not reach me 'till the 5th Instant. (Owing to an Error in the Post-Master at Barbado's who took them from the August Packet, expecting some Ship of the Squadron would call for them, as had been usual; but the Kings Ships being all out on different Cruizing Stations; I had no Ship with me to send up to Barbados 'till the latter end of Novemr when I sent His Majesty's Brigantine Endeavour which brought me said Letters the 5th Current.) I am extreemly sorry to find this mistake and delay has prevented my Complying with their Lordships directions, (pr your Letter of the 9th August) to Order the Ship that sailed with the Trade from St Christophers the 4th of November last; to proceed with them to England; however their Lordships will perceive by my Letter to you of the 29th October last; I had directed Captain Chapman to see such Ships as Sailed under his Convoy as far as the Latitude of 38° North: which I flatter myself is to a greater distance from the Islands than any of the American Cruizers go to. The Seaford is Cruizing off St Eustatia and the adjacent Islands, and I shall send the Kings Brigantine Endeavour to join her as soon as She is Victualed and will give such particular description of the Schooner Gunticanute as may enable them to intercept her.

I am exceeding sorry to perceive (by your Letter of the 7th August) my Appointment; of Lieutenants Swiney and Drummond to be Second and Third Lieutenants of the Portland, and of Mr John Luck to be Second Lieutenant of the Argo, is disapproved by their Lordships, and that they should appear to suppose said appointments had been made in consequence of Mr Young refusing to go back Lieutenant of the Portland. I must therefore entreat you will now acquaint their Lordships the latter was in no wise the case, but said appointments were made on a Supposition their Lordships would have been pleased to put Mr Young on the List of Masters and Commanders for the reasons I took the liberty to offer to their Consideration in my Letter to you of the 20th May last; however as you now acquaint me their Lordships do not think fit to depart from the Resolution they had come to on that matter, (Signified to me by Mr [George] Jackson's Letter of the 20th February last) I shall submit to their pleasure; and will appoint Mr Young Second Lieutenant of the Portland the moment I can get an opportunity to put Mr Drummond into some other Ship. —

I must also beg you will assure their Lordships no care or endeavours shall be wanting in me to distress and annoy the Rebels so far as I am able to effect it, with the small Squadron under my Command; but if the Intelligence your Letter of the 6th Septemr brings me is well grounded, I hope their Lordships will think it necessary and be pleased speedily to reinforce the Squadron employed in these Seas.

The inclosed Papers marked No 1, 2, & 3 are Copies of intercepted Letters, and private Intelligence sent me which I must desire you to lay before their Lordships.² I am Sir [&c.]

The Army landed this morning at Weaver's Cove near Mr Stoddard's house, in the following order –

The first Embarkation consisted of the Light Infantry, Grenadiers, and 10th Regiment, under the Command of Major General [Richard] Prescott. As soon as they had landed, the boats returned for the three other Battalions of the 3rd brigade, which formed the whole of the 1st Division.

The 2nd Division consisted of Losberg's brigade, & Wutgenau's Regt under the Command of Major General [Frederick Wilhelm Freiherr von] Los[s]berg.

The 3rd Division consisted of the 43rd, 54th, & 63rd Regiments of the 5th brigade, and the two other Hessian Regiments of Schmidt's brigade, under the Command of Brigadier General [Francis] Smith: – All these Corps were landed in succession at the same place, and the whole of the Army on shore by 3 oClock in the afternoon.

The first Embarkation under Genl Prescott, marched as soon as formed to the high road from Newport to Bristol ferry, a short distance from the landing place, and finding that the few of the Enemy who were on the Island, had retired in haste towards the N. end of it, he pursued them to the ferries, where he took a few prisoners, and a 9 pr Cannon; and saved a great many Cattle & Sheep which they had not time to carry off.

The remainder of the 3rd brigade marched as soon as they landed and joined Genl Prescott. The 5th brigade and the two Hessian brigades, were ordered to encamp near the road above Mr Stoddard's house.

The 22d Regiment went down on their Transports under cover of some of the Ships of War, early this morning to Newport, and finding the Rebels had abandoned it, they landed, and took possession of it, and the Batteries.

It rained during the time the first Division were landing, but cleared up soon after, and proved a fine mild day.

It appears that the Rebels have driven off a considerable number of Cattle and Sheep belonging to the Inhabitants; and have removed most of their Cannon and Ammunition.

The Rebels have Batteries on the Main at Bristol Ferry, and Howland's ferry. They fired both round & Grapeshot from their Battery at Bristol ferry, at some of our advanced parties, but without any effect.

Honor'd Gent.

[Baltimore] Decemr 8th 1776

Our People's time will Expire some time this Month and the begining of next, and as their is wages given as far as Eleven Pounds per Month in the Merc[han]t Service its very Possible that many of them will leave the Service of this state without due Encouragement. I'm inform'd that there is a resolve made by the Honrble Convention of this State giving Twenty Dollars Bounty for Able seamen and ten Pounds for Ordinary Seamen, I'm in hopes this Bounty will Engage the whole of them or the greatest part, to the Service, provided its Advertised, I hope for your Instructions in this Case and should take it as a singular favour you would Provide for me the resolves of this State, or Congress, that is relative to the Navell Department that I may Act Accordingly. I'm doing all I can to get the Ship away before Christmas and make no doubt of its being so provided we can keep our people together. –

Since I wrote the above I recd your favour of the 6th Inst and it gives me pleasure, I can be Supply'd with Canvas, Mr Hollingsworth bid for the Snow fourteen Hundred Pounds & upwards. I believe he went as far as he thought the value of her, but was over bid. – The Schooner Nancy one of our Prizes I make no doubt will answer your purpose if large Enough. the Capt of her informs me she is a good Vessell and well found. – As I expect to see you in a few day I shall have an Oppertunity of ta[l]king farther with you, therefore shall trouble you no further at present, but am Hond Gent [&c.]

You are hereby required and directed to proceed immediately with his Majesty's Ship Portland, under your Command to Prince Ruperts Bay, Dominica, and there use all possible dispatch to compleat the Portlands Wood and Water; as soon as that Service is performed you are to proceed off the Island Curassau [Curaçao]; and Cruize about that and the adjacent Islands for three Weeks; and are to use your best endeavours to intercept and make Capture of all Ships and Vessels belonging to or Owned by any of the Inhabitants of the associated Colonies of North America now in Rebellion; and of all other Ships and Vessels whatsoever that you may meet with, either going to Trade, or coming from Trading with any of the aforesaid associated Colonies taking care strictly to comply with the General Orders you have received from me concerning them; And whereas I have received Information, that several Armed Vessels, and Privateers belonging to the said Rebellious American Colonies are now Cruizing in these Seas to annoy and make Capture of the Trading Vessels and Property of his Majesty's Loyal and Faithful Subjects, you are therefore directed to use your utmost endeavours to take, sink, burn, or otherwise destroy all such Armed Vessels and Privateers, belonging to the Rebels as you can meet with at Sea, but are not to attack them in the Bays Harbours, or Roads of any of the Islands belonging to the European powers in amity with Great Britain, while under protection of their Ports; after the expiration of your Cruize you are to return and join me in English harbour Antigua bringing with you such Prizes as you may have taken: For which this shall be your Order

Sir,

In consequence of your Orders I Yesterday went on board the Tartar Transport William Bussel Master, and made Enquiry into the Cause of her having been taken by an American Pri-

*The Privateer had only 25 Men The Tartar had Ten 4 Pounders & Men Sufft

*2 Mates who were taken by the Privateer in other Vessels. *The Rebels put only 4 Men on board, there were 9 others who were Prisoners taken by the Privateer.

I believe instead of "Insured," Mr Haynes should say chartered, as that Sum is expressed in his Charter party to be paid for her if taken vateer; and found from seperately examining the whole Crew that the Vessel to which she had surrendered was a small Schooner Privateer with only six Carriage Guns of two Pounders, against which no Defense had been made, as the Master absolutely forbid his People firing the Guns; who were otherwise well disposed to have defended her.

On the Scheme being concerted for the Recovery of the Ship by the Mates* put on board from the Privateer, they consulted the Master, whither or not, he was willing to assist; who declared he would have no hand in it, being determined (as he expressed himself) to stand neuter. *When they first ordered the Course to be altered, the Prize Master said to Bussel, it was hard they should take the Vessel from him, he replied it was no act of his nor was he the least concerned in it. After the Mates had recovered the Vessel Bussel asked one of them what he supposed the Tartar might be worth, who replied from £700 to £800; he then said it was unfortunate for him that she had not been carried in by the Rebels as he should have made Money by it, the ship being ensured* for £1200. On the whole it appears to me that the Vessel was given up in a most cowardly or treacherous Manner, as a single Shot in all Probability would have occasioned the Privateer to have made sail from her.

These are the principal Heads I at that time collected on board the Tartar; but was since at the Attorney Generals when they were again deposed upon Oath. I am Sir [&c.]

SALEM COMMITTEE OF CORRESPONDENCE TO THE MASSACHUSETTS COUNCIL ¹

Salem December 9th. 1776

The Committee would inform the Honorable Board that the foregoing List ² was forwarded, immediately after it was taken; but the Committee having made enquiry last Evening, of the Honorable Mr [Daniel] Hopkins, what had been done upon the matter, he informed them that he had never heard any mention made of it at the Board, and therefore concluded that it must have been mislaid. The Committee would beg leave further to inform the Honorable Board, that the minds of the People in this Town are in general very uneasy, that these Prisoners should be suffered to remain here, on account of its being a Sea port, as the danger arising from them, must from a variety of circumstances be greater than if they were distributed about, in the interior parts of the Country, and as there are a great number of our best Men, going from this Town in a few days to join the Army, and the number of Prisoners still increasing, our danger must, in proportion be greater. At the time of taking the foregoing List there were a considerable number of Prisoners, who had entered on board our Privateers. and who were not included in the list, many of whom are not yet gone to Sea, and as there is a general Embargo now laid upon all Shipping they must remain here, which must still increase our danger, arrived at Squam from Bilb[ao] in 30 Days, with whom came Passenger Mr. George Cabot of Beverly, Merchant, who informs that the Spanish and French Ports are open to our Cruizers and their Prizes, and that they permit the American Vessels to carry the American Flag in their Ports; and that both the Courts of Madrid and Versailles were determin'd to prevent the Russians coming to America. [This may be credited as the natural Dictate of the soundest Policy]¹

By two gentlemen from Martha's Vineyard we are informed, that two of the enemies ships have for some days been cruizing at the mouth of the sound, between Gayhead and the Elizabeth islands, and at night have run in and come to anchor. It is supposed they are station'd there in order to stop the communication. It is hoped that those who have any shipping to pass that way, will keep a good look-out.

SAMUEL TUDER TO THE NEW YORK CONVENTION¹

Gentlemen -

Poughkeepsie, December 9th, 1776.

Mr. Ivers having declined doing any more for the ships,² and your orders being to fit them for sea by spring, would inform you that after the rigging we have spared, shall fall considerably short to fit the ships out, we shall therefore be under the necessity to get some person to relay what rigging may be wanted out of the old rigging on board the brig Polly, Capt. Redfield, for which purpose would recommend the bearer, Mr. Degrushe, who we think very capable. Mr. Ivers being willing to serve the cause, will either sell his tools he has here, or let them on reasonable terms. Capt. Anthy. Rutgers can give you Mr. Degrushe's character, as a rope maker. As the season is so favourable we should be glad of your answer by first opportunity, that Mr. Degrushe may go to work, if you approve of him.³ We expect the stuff for the gun carriages soon, and as we must have the dimensions of the guns before the carriages can be made, should be glad to know where the guns are, and whether it would not be prudent to send a person to take measure of them. There will be wanted a number of stores to fit the ships for sea. Would submit it to your Honourable House whether it would not be prudent to appoint Capt. Anthony Rutgers to assist in providing them. Agreeable to your desire, we have appointed Mr. Stephen Hendricks, of this place, to take care of the stores. Should be glad you would let us know whether we shall agree with him, or you stipulate his wages to go to the yard once a day. I am, with great esteem, gentlemen, [&c.]

No 2:

Sir

Antigua 9th December 1776.

My last Dispatches to their Lordships were dated the 29th October, and the 2d Novemr past, and were forwarded by one of the Merchant Ships that Sailed the 4th Novemr under Convoy of the Shark, and Duplicates thereof came by the Packet, Via Jamaica; in those Letters, I related the Transactions of the Squadron, under my Command to that time; I also mentioned the Pomona having been missing since the 7th Septemr last; ² and that the Portland had taken and sent into English Harbour, an American Privateer called the Putnam, carrying twelve Guns, and eighty Men. The Pomona is yet missing, and I have received no certain information what is become of her. The Portland arrived at English harbour the 19th Novemr from her Cruize, and had taken four other American Vessels as pr particulars in the List of Prize Vessels taken; The Portland on her arrival had a number of American Prisoners on board, and her Company were growing Sickly; I therefore wrote to the President of the Kings Council to lay the same before the Legislature of the Island of Antigua; in Order to their procuring some place of safety where said American Prisoners might be Secured; 'till I could receive directions from England concerning them however they have not thought proper to Comply with my requisition; as their Lordships will perceive by the inclosed Paper marked No 1. which contains Copy of my Letter to the President, his Answer thereto and my Reply to said Answer.³

The 17th November, the King George, Navy Transport, Danl Witherden Master, having onboard part of the Eighth, and Forty seventh Regiments of the Kings Forces onboard (whom She was ordered to carry to Quebeck) put into the Island of Montserrat in Distress having lost her Masts in bad weather at Sea, and I find by Report of a Survey held on said Transport she requires very Considerable repairs, and will be a great length of time before she can be refitted, and made sufficient to proceed on her Voyage: I therefore thought it would prove of more benefit to the Kings Service to send the Troops to America as soon as possible, and have accordingly Contracted with the Owners of the Ship Lord North, George Ross Master, to carry them to New York, there to be Landed and disposed of as the Commander in Chief may think proper, and I have wrote to Lord Howe and the General concerning them; the Paper marked No 2 is Copy of the Contract I have entered into with the Owners of the Ship Lord North; which I hope their Lordships will approve. The Killingworth Victualing Transport (Ordered by Lord Howe to proceed to England under Convoy of the Active) is put into St Johns Antigua in distress having sprung a Leak at Sea; I shall hasten the necessary Repairs both of her, and the King George Navy Transport, and Order them both to proceed to Deptford the moment they are Refitted.

The other inclosed Papers marked No 3; 4; 5; 6 and 7 are Copies of Letters of Intelligence received from Captains Colpoys and Bryne, Copys of Orders given to the Seaford, Pelican, and Portland; List of Prizes taken; State and Condition and Disposition of the Ships under my Command, which you will likewise be pleased to Communicate to their Lordships I am Sir [&c.]

Sir

[Halifax] Decemr 10th 1776

I have taken the Depositions of several People on Board the Tarter Transport and do find upon the whole that the Master of her Basely & Cowardly gave her up without firing a Gun, tho' encouraged by his own Men to fight the Privateer – but as we have no Method by Common Law for Punishing Cowards I cant see what we or you can do with him, for there is no Punishing Cowardice but by the Martial Law.

I am therefore of Opinion there can be nothing done with this Fellow but to cause the Ship which I am told is his own Property to be Libelled for Salvage, with which You may reward those honest Fellows that recovered her – and not any longer to detain Bustle [William Bussel] the Master but let him go about his Business – & if you require it I shall Libell his Ship – and am with Respect [&c.]

Onboard the Warren 5 miles below Providence

Gentlemen

December 10th. 1776 –

Three days ago the English Fleet of about 54 Sail of Transports and 16 Sail Men of War arrived in this Bay, and two days ago they landed I believe about four thousand Troops, and took possession of the Island of Rhode Island without Opposition. The Inhabitants of the Town of Newport favour'd their Operation I believe too much – the Militia are come in, in Order to prevent their further Operations. I thought it best to come up the River after the Fleet was within about two leagues of us with the Warren, Providence, Columbus, Brigantine Hampden, and Sloop Providence – The Inhabitants are in daily expectation of an Attack on the Town of Providence. I have got the Ships in the best posture of defence we can make them without they were full Mannd which they are not more than half – We lay where the Ships can't come up that draw much more Water than we do – If we get the Ships mann'd Shall take some favourable Opportunity and attempt getting to Sea with some of the Ships – but at present think

GEORGE WASHINGTON TO THE PENNSYLVANIA COUNCIL OF SAFETY ¹

Head Quarters, Trenton Falls, December 10, 1776.

Sir: Yours of last evening reached me at 4 OClock this Morning. I immediately sent orders to Commodore Seymour, to dispatch one of his Gallies down to Dunk's Ferry, and I shall dispose of the remainder in such manner, and at such places, as will be most likely, not only to annoy the Enemy in their passage, but to give the earliest information of any attempt of that kind. Parties of the Enemy have been reconnoitring both up and down the River, and I imagine it has been one of those parties that have appeared near Burlington; for as they have not found the least Opposition from the people of Jersey, they venture very far from their Main Body; which from the best Information, still lays about Trenton and above it.

I have desired Col. [Richard] Humpton, who is the bearer of this, to apply for a Party of Men, to go up Cooper's and Ancocus [Rancocas] Creeks, and bring down all the Craft he may find there; for it is in vain to cut down Bridges, if the Boats are left; they cannot be trusted to the Owners, for if an Enemy was to appear, such is their fear, that they would deliver them up, upon the first demand.

I think that the Fort began at Billingsport should be attended to; if there is not a party already there, one should be sent under a good Officer, who would not too readily take the alarm and come off; for you may depend, that only small Bodies will be sent to that Distance. But I have always found, that the Intelligence brought by people not used to see Men in Arms, has always magnified numbers exceedingly, and on this Head the officer should be guarded, not to trust to Report, but be well Satisfied himself before he gives up his post.

Having sent down Major General Putnam to throw up necessary Works for the Defence of your City, I hope you will co-operate with him, and give him every assistance in your Power to expedite so necessary an Operation. I have the honor to be, [etc.]

[Extract]

Turks Islands Decr 10th 1776.

Gentlemen, I have the Pleasure to inform you of my safe Arrival here last Saturday after a tollerable passage, in which there was no material Occurrence worth mentioning except our being chas'd near the West End of Grand Caicoes (where by some Accident we first fell in with the Land) by a Ship which we apprehend to be Stationed in those parts to cruize for Vessels bound to Cape Francois or the Mole. We have since been informed that there are several Ships cruizing in those Quarters – so that it might be dangerous to attempt a Trade with any of those Parts or to go too near in shore in a Voyage from hence Northward.

On my Arrival here I met with some exceedingly good ginned Cotton, of which I made a purchase of £100, worth on Account of the owners, as I was persauded it was an Article which would answer exceedingly well, and insured me against any Accidents arrising from the want of a sufficient Cargoe of Salt to obtain a Return Cargoe – I was the rather induced to this Purchase as the Bills

I have given for it are at six Months sight, by which Time I hope to have it in my Power to make an ample Remittance – Another Inducement was the Apprehension I was under of not having a sufficient Cargoe to advance the Premium on Insuring at our next Port of discharge, in Case the Price of Salt should fall. – We have not our whole Cargoe of Salt on board yet – we want only between two and three hundred Bushells to accomplish it, so that I hope to Sail pretty early in the forenoon of tomorrow if the Weather holds fair of which there is at present a very good Prospect. –

P: S: Decr 11th 1776.

I am now to inform you that we have taken on board 2817 Bushells of Salt which is as much as we think it adviseable to carry besides what the Captains &c. have on board amounting nearly to 200 Bushells. I think it was not very lucky that Mr. Godets offer was rejected as the current price for Salt is nine Pence on board, at which Rate I have purchased the whole Cargoe. The whole Cargoe on board belonging to the Owners amounts to £205 . . 12 . . 9. as will appear below.

2817 Bushells of Salt a 9d	£105 . 12 . . 9
1500 lbs fine ginned Cotton at 1/4	100 . 0 . . 0
Total on acct of the Owners	£205 . 12 . . 9

The Gentlemen Owners of the Sloop Dispatch.

I should have preferred loading at Salt Quay, but was universally advised not to risque lying there at this Season of the Year – especially as there would be no obtaining equal Dispatch there. These Reasons induced me to give the Grand Quay the Preference altho' the Salt is both lighter and cheaper at the former Place – The Season of the Year being so far advanced I was determined to lose as little Time as possible.

“DEPOSITION OF PATRICK REDMOND MASTER OF ONE OF THE VESSELS THAT SAIL'D IN THE JUNE CONVOY RESPECTING THE SAID CONVOY.”¹

Jamaica ss –

Patrick Redmond of the Parish of Kingston in the said Island Mariner maketh Oath & Saith that he is Commander of the Sloop Kingston, in which Vessell he made a Voyage to Quebec, last Summer, having Sail'd from Bluefields in Jamaica on the Seventeenth day of June in the present Year of our Lord 1776, in Company of a Fleet of between Thirty & forty Sail of Merchant Vessells, under Convoy of His Majestys Ship the Antelope, William Judd Esquire Commander – Saith that on Sailing towards the West End of Jamaica several more Vesels bound for England Joined the said Convoy & that some of the Vessels in Company were tolerable good Sailors, and some very bad – Saith that the said Fleet having Scatter'd themselves a great distance, from one another the said William Judd having Endeavour'd by all possible means to keep them together, and finding it Impracticable so to do, He Hail'd the Sloop Kingston on Saturday the 22nd June (she being a remarkable fast Sailing Vessell) and order'd this deponent to hoist a pendant and keep a head of the fleet, and to order such Ships as were a head, to keep a Stern of the said Sloop, And that whenever he wanted to give this deponent any further Instructions he would hoist his pendant at the foretopmast head – This Deponent further Saith that there was Several of the said Convoy a head at the time last mention'd, and that in particular one Vessel was between two & three Leagues a head of the rest, – Saith he this deponent made Sail Immediately after her until Sun Sett, but could not come up with her, although this deponent was then two Leagues a head of the rest of the Fleet, upon which this deponent fired two Guns to bring said Vessell too which she paid no regard to. Saith he this deponent then lay too until the fleet came up, and that the next Morning being the 23d June at 3 AM; he came up with the Ship he had been in Chase of, the preceeding Evening, and advised her Master to keep in the fleet, and told him the orders this deponent had received from the Commander of His Majestys Ship the Antelope, Saith he this deponent received for Answer from said Ship “Do not you see my Poop Lanthorn, I am my own Commander” This deponent Saith the next day another Vessell who wore a Short Red Pendant kept out of the Fleet, and upon being hail'd & order'd into the fleet by this deponent; answer was made “that the Ship Steer'd so very bad, he was afraid to keep in the fleet for fear of running foul of some of them” This Deponent Saith that Captain Judd constantly hoisted Signals & fired Signal Guns from the Antelope according to the Instructions he had given the Fleet, to keep them together, & Saith that many of them did not Obey such Signals & Signal Guns – Saith that some more Ships from the North side of Jamaica joined the said Fleet at Cape St Antonio, which made the whole to consist of about fifty Sail, — Saith that near the Havannah the fleet Straggled at a great distance in the Mornings, but were brought too in the Evening by Captain Judd, in the best manner he could, Saith that notwithstanding Captain Judds unwearied endeavours to keep the Fleet together, some of them were so farr a head between the Havannah & the pan of Matanzas, as to be scarce discern'd, And that between the pan of Matanzas and the Martiers part of the Fleet went out of Sight – Saith that to the best of this Deponents Knowledge and belief, the said Captain Judd did all he possibly could, to keep the said fleet in order, and in every other respect behaved as became the Commander of a Convoy but that it was out of the power of any one Single Ship to keep so large a fleet, with so many unruly Masters together This Deponent further Saith that Captain Judd continued with, & Convoy'd such of the Fleet as he was able to keep together until the Sixth day of July 1776, when this Deponent parted with in Latte 31 : 20 North and soon after lost Sight of him.

Chatham, Rhode Island Harbour, 11th December 1776.

My Lord – I have done myself the honour since I sailed from Spithead of writing several letters to your Lordship, which I presume have been received. I should be sorry to be thought troublesome; but as your Lordship, from your knowledge of sea affairs and of the nature of conjunct expeditions, must be sensible how necessary the most perfect harmony is on such occasions, it may not be unsatisfactory to inform your Lordship that immediately on my appointment to this command I waited on General Clinton and Lord Percy, who did me the honour to accept of the Chatham for their headquarters. We set out in good humour and friendship, so we have continued, and so we are likely to continue. The season advances upon us so fast that I cannot give your Lordship any hopes of Providence falling into our hands before the spring; and I believe I must be contented with using the best means in my power to block up the Continental fleet as they term it. Their Admiral Hopkins is now with them. The Alfred is the only ship (I am told) at sea from this port; and should she appear off, we have Continental colours, which the general will hoist at the fort with a view to decoy her in, and I shall have a frigate ready to slip after her.

I cannot help esteeming your Lordship as a very particular friend to whom I owe the greatest obligation. I must therefore my Lord do my best, were it only for your credit, being, my Lord [etc.]

Sir

Chatham Rhode Island Harbour 11th Decbr 1776

The Commanders in Chief in America having thought proper, while the Season wou'd Admit of it, to Employ a considerable Number of His Majesty's Ships and Troops, for the purpose of making Descents on the Colony of Rhode Island, and Lord Howe having done me the Honor to appoint me, to the Command by Sea (Lord Shulldham having leave to return to England by the most early Conveyance) I directed Commodore Hotham (agreeable to my Instructions from the Vice Admiral) to proceed with His Majesty's Frigates the Brune, Mercury and Kingfisher, and also all the Transports with the Troops under the Command of Lieutenant General Clinton, (the Grand Duke of Russia excepted, which was judged to be too Large) by the Way of the Sound, whilst I proceeded with the great Ships, some Frigates, and the last named Transport, by Sandy-Hook to the Southward of Long-Island – I sailed the first instant, and on the Fifth, joined Commodore Hotham in the Sound, in Black-Point Bay, a Place He had judiciously Chosen, for the Protection of the Transports against the Violence of a strong NW Wind, which Blew the Night before – The Sixth I turned down with the Fleet, to be as near as possible to the Place of Our Destination. At Four the next Morning the Wind sprung up at WSW and by Three O'Clock in the Afternoon, the whole Fleet came to an Anchor off Weavers Cove Rhode-Island – The following Morning Captain [Toby] Caulfield (who had the Direction of the Flat-Boats) Landed all the Troops without Opposition, and I have the Pleasure to inform Their Lordships, that Rhode Island, with the Isles adjacent are now in the Possession of General Clinton. Captain Wallace of the Experiment Lead the Fleet by the West or Narriganset Passage, an Arrangement was made for covering the Transports, but we only passed Two Works without Guns, and intercepted a Brig of One Hundred and Sixty Tons, (which the Experiment took) Laden with Pipe, and Hogsh-head Staves, and Bees-Wax – On the first Appearance of the Fleet, Three Rebel Privateers of Thirty Four, Thirty, and Twenty Eight Guns, went up from Newport to Providence, where They are now with several Others, and I shall Hope to put an effectual Stop to any farther Mischief from that Nest of Pirates – General Clinton sends One of His Aid-De-Camps in the Mercury with His Dispatches, and I have directed Captain Montagu to send His Lieutenant Express with mine. Enclosed is List of His Majesty's Squadron under my Command, and a List of the Rebel Privateers at Providence, commonly called the continental Fleet. I am [&c.]

Personally came and appeared this eleventh Day of December in the year of our Lord one Thousand seven Hundred and seventy six; before me Titus Hosmer Esqr Justice of the Peace in and for said County Silvanus Waterman of Chatham in said County Mariner, and being duly and solemnly sworn upon his Oath deposes and saith that in the Month of March 1775 he said Deponent was appointed by Richard Alsop Esqr late of Middletown in said County deceased Master of his Schooner Called the Dolphin of the Burthen of about sixty five Tons then bound on a Voyage from the port of New London in Connecticut to Montego Bay in the Island of Jamaica in the West Indies, & this Deponent further says that before he sailed he received the said Alsops Orders in writing for his Government in said Voyage wh were to proceed directly with sd schooner from New London to Montego Bay aforesaid and there to dispose of & sell the Cargo and to purchase and relade said schooner with a Cargo of the produce of sd Island and then return with sd schooner directly to New London and Middletown aforesd That on the last day of March aforesd this Deponent sailed with said schooner from New London and on the 27th day of April then next following arrived at Montego Bay aforesaid & proceeded in selling his Cargo and purchasing produce of sd Island – that while he lay at Montego Bay he recd Advice of the Battles of Lexington & Bunkers Hill, which alarmed him with Apprehensions that he might be taken & made a prize of by the British Cruisers upon his return to prevent which he ventured without Orders from his said Owner & with Intent only to save sd schooner & Cargo from Condemnation as American property to make a Bill of Sale of sd schooner to Francis Mariez Merchant there, without any Consideration received, and at the same time took a writing under sd Mariez Hand obliging him to restore said Bill of Sale when demanded, that there upon this Deponent changed the Name of sd schooner to the Frank took out a new register, cleared her out for Newfoundland and on the 3d day of August sailed with Intent to proceed directly to New London aforesaid agreeable to his owners Orders as aforesaid, and pursued the rout to New London till he arrived in the sound within Long Island and within seven Leagues of New London when he discovered an Armed Ship lying at Anchor which he judged to be a British Sloop of War, who as soon as she discovered said schooner came under Sail & stood for her upon which this Deponent bore away, and the weather coming on very thick by changing his Course he got clear of sd sloop, and immediately afterwards the wind came about an[d] blew fresh from the West which made it impossible for him to gain his port with Safety, and as he did not know what Cruisers might be on the Coast, he thought it most prudent to bear away for Newfoundland which he accordingly did and arrived there the fourth day of October, from thence he cleared out for Jamaica with Intent to proceed to the Mole and return from thence to New London when he arrived off the Mole he was chased by two British Frigates to Leward & was obliged to go to Jamaica, from Jamaica he cleared again for Newfoundland, but was obliged to procure bond to deliver his enumerated Articles at Newfoundland or some other place in the possession of the King of Great Britain Which obliged him to save his Bondsman to proceed to Newfoundland, which he accordingly did, & there took in a Cargo of Fish and Oil & cleared for Jamaica, with full Intent to proceed to St Nichola Mole in Hispaniola, & from thence return to sd New London that in his passage towards the Mole on the 29th Day of October last he fell in with and was taken by the privateer Montgomery commanded by Capt Thos Ruttenbur [sic Ruttenber] and carried into providence in the State of Rhode Island – and this Deponent further saith that he hath constantly endeavoured in every Method he thought safe and practicable to comply with his Original Orders & return with sd schooner to New London & Middletown aforesd agreeable to his Orders – this Deponent further says that while he lay in Jamaica in August 1775 he received a Letter from Richard Alsop Esqr his owner in which he positively ordered him to return home with said schooner immediately which Letter with his Orders and every other paper tending to evince the property of sd schooner to be in Sd Alsop this Deponent destroy when he was chased by sd sloop of War off New London as aforesaid, and this Deponent further declares that he never did take on board sd schooner any thing that could be of service to the Army acting against the united states of America, or afford them or any Servant of the King of great Britain any aid or Assistance of any Kind whatsoever, but confined him self in all his Conduct to the sole point of getting Home as fast as he could, & was particularly carefull not to do or say any thing injurious to his native Country, and further this Deponent saith Not,

Ambuscade in Rhode Island Harbour

Sir

12th December 1776.

Captain Feilding [Charles Fielding] onboard His Majesty's Frigate the

Diamond, with His Majesty's Frigate the Ambuscade under my Command, being at Anchor in Martha's Vineyard Sound, lying there to intercept the Rebel Privateers from getting out from Rhode Island; On Saturday 7th Instant Captain Feilding, the Senior Officer, sent his Barge onshore to Nashawn Island with a Flag of Truce, intending to purchase fresh Stock for his people; but to our very great Surprise about 10 or 12 of the Rebels, against the Laws of God and Man, fired at the Boat, and shot the Gunner through the Head, but did not kill him. Captain Feilding very justly enraged at this, ordered me to send all the Boats manned and armed, with the whole party of Marines, which was immediately complied with, under the Command of Lieut Patrick Sinclair, 2d Lieutenant of the Ship, Lieutenants Anderson and Gregg of the Marines, who all repaired onboard the Diamond which weighed and stood close in-Shore; and after firing some of her great Guns to scour the Beach, sent her own and Ambuscade's Men onshore to the Number of between 130 and 140; who after making their Landing good amidst a very galling, straggling Firing from behind Rocks, Walls &c drove all the Rebels, now grown pretty numerous, from off the Island into some small Vessels on the other Side with the loss of 4 or 5 of their Men killed. Their villainous Conduct in firing at a Flag of Truce entitled them now to all the Horrors of Rebellion, which was immediately put into Execution, by setting Fire to every thing that would burn; so that neither House, Barn, Hay nor Indian Corn that could be met with escaped the Flames, nor did the live-Stock share a better Fate: for what could not be carried off was shot. All this was done in a few Hours, with only the Loss of one Marine killed belonging to the Diamond and two Marines slightly wounded belonging to the Ambuscade. Our Success, Sir, will shew the Conduct and Courage of the Officers and Men upon such occasions; and I flatter myself that this Affair, Sir, will meet with your Approbation, which will always give great pleasure to, Sir [&c.]

John Macartney.

My Lord

Chatham, Rhode Island Harbour,

12th December 1776

I have great pleasure in acquainting your Lordship, that I am now in this port with all the Transports &c, and such Ships of the Squadron as I chose to bring in with me. I have, at the Instance of General Clinton, (who thinks the Success We have had of so great Importance, that it ought to be communicated as soon as possible to Administration, and in which Sentiments I concur) sent the Mercury to England with General Clinton's Dispatches and mine. I have the Honor to transmit to your Lordship, a Copy of my Letter to the Secretary of the Admiralty, a List of the Rebel Privateers at Providence, the State and Condition of this Squadron, and where each Ship is stationed; And also an Account of the Brig taken by the Experiment. The 2d Instant I fell in with the Carysfort off Block Island, and the 4th gave Orders to Captain Fanshawe [Robert Fanshaw] to cruise for one Month off Fisher's Island, for the purpose of blocking up New London, and protecting the Transports &ca, and then to govern himself by Orders which he has received from your Lordship. The 3d Instant at three o'Clock in the Morning, Block Island NW four Leagues, the Cerberus spoke with the Diamond and Ambuscade. The latter came in here Yesterday Evening, and informs me, that two Days ago the Diamond was forced to Sea by a NW wind, not being able to weather Gay-Head; The enclosed Letter from Captain Macartney will give your Lordship an Account of a Skirmish at Nashown Island between the Diamond's and Ambuscade's people and the Inhabitants. The 6th at nine in the Morning a Cartel-Sloop named the Diamond came into the Fleet. An Adjutant [Benjamin] Stelle brought a Letter from Mr Nicholas Cooke to Captain Furneaux, which, with the List of Prisoners, that he says sailed from Rhode Island in her; a Letter from Adjutant Stelle to me, and a Copy of One from Captain Furneaux to Mr Cooke, I now transmit to your Lordship. The Adjutant only delivered six Men; the rest, he says, landed on Long-Island, to avoid being pressed by the King's Ships. The Sloop had been out above three Weeks, and I am credibly informed that Mr Stelles gave Intelligence of us, two or three different times; I shall therefore detain him for his unwarrantable Behavior, 'till I hear from your Lordship.

In coming down the Sound, the Asia struck twice on a Rock off Fisher's Island, and makes twelve Inches Water an Hour. I have a Letter of Yesterday's Date from Captain Macartney, desiring a Court Martial on his Boatswain for Drunkenness and Neglect of Duty; which I shall order to be held as soon as possible. I have the Honor to be, My Lord [&c.]

Poughkeepsie, December 12th, 1776.

Your resolve of 5th instant, also yours of yesterday by Mr. Degrushe, we have this moment received and note the contents. We shall use our best endeavours to get the cannon and other necessary stores. As to the cables and anchors ordered to General [George] Clinton, we would acquaint you that in a few hours after we received your orders, we put on board a sloop four anchors and two cables, which was all we had on board the ships that would answer, and the reason they are not down is, that Mr. [Gilbert] Livingston thought it best for the sloop to go down with a raft of timber for the docks which were then ready, by which we imagine the sloop must be detained. We should have sent the other two cables, which we must have taken from the privateer sloops, but could not then be spared, as they were going up to Esopus with the ships, and it would not do to leave them at single anchor. As soon as our sloop returns (which is all the boat we have,) we shall send the other cables down. The ship Congress got into Esopus creek yesterday, and we have reason to think the ship General [sic] Montgomery has got in this day, as the tide has been much higher to-day than it has been for some time past. I am, gentlemen [&c.]

Eagle Off New York

Sir,

December the 12th 1776.

In my Letter by the Tamer, which sailed the 4th Instant, I informed their Lordships of the Armament then preparing for Rhode Island.

The Troops being all embarked and the larger Ships with the Commodore Sir Peter Parker moved to Sandy Hook the 29th past, preparation was made for the passage of the Transports through Hell-Gate, to join the Frigates appointed for their Convoy in the Sound. That very difficult Undertaking was committed to the Management of Captain Duncan of the Eagle, assisted by Captain [John] Bourmaster and the other Agents of the Transports. Forty Sail were by the unremitting Diligence of those Officers got through without Accident the 30th past. But the Wind proving less favorable the two following Days, the remainder of the Embarkation, consisting of Twenty-one Sail, was delayed until the 3d Instant; When these also passed through without any material Obstruction. They all proceeded to the Eastward with the Frigates under the Direction of Commodore Hotham in the Brune, next day: the Two-decked Ships with Sir Peter Parker having sailed from Sandy Hook the first of the Month.

The Progress of the Army in the Jerseys leaving the Frigates more at liberty to be employed on Cruising Service, the Roebuck, Perseus, Camilla and Falcon put to Sea the 8th Instant, and have been ordered to remain off the Entrance of the Delaware until there is reason to believe the Communication by that River to the Town of Philadelphia, has been by the State of the Weather entirely prevented. The Perseus and Camilla are thereupon to be left together on the Coasts of the Southern Colonies for such longer time as their Water will last with due Sufficiency for their Passage to the Island of Antigua; Whither the Roebuck and Falcon are more immediately to repair for being cleaned and refitted in Succession, agreeably to the purport of a Letter Captain Hamond is charged with for the Commander in Chief at the Leeward Islands, a Copy of which is herewith enclosed. It is meant that such further Service should be afterwards rendered there by the said Ships, jointly or severally as with the Approbation, or by the Appointment of the said Commander in Chief is thought fit: But so as they may be complete in their Water, and in all other respects, to return together off the Delaware by the time there is reason to believe the Navigation thereof may be again open in the Spring. And, upon their Arrival, Notice is to be given to me as soon as the Navigation of the River is found to be practicable.

The Pearl, appointed to proceed with those Ships, would have sailed at the same time; But her Departure was postponed for replacing her Mizen-Mast and Main-Yard, rendered unserviceable by Damage sustained from the Fire of the Enemy, when passing their Works up the North River, to protect two Victualling Transports with Provisions sent for the immediate Supply of the Army then at Dobb's Ferry. The Resolution Captain Wilkinson testified in the Conduct of that Service, where his whole Attention was necessarily directed to draw the Enemy's Fire from the Victuallers upon his own Ship, merits particular Notice. And the Steadiness of the Petty Officers, Mr Ley and the Honorable Mr Cranstown, placed in the two Victuallers, was highly commendable. They have been appointed on that Occasion to the Vacancies for Lieutenants in the Magdalen and Lizard, which their Lordships were pleased to leave to my Nomination.

The Repulse, Nautilus and Galatea, under the Orders of Captain Davis, have been detached to cruise from the Island of Bermuda Westward towards the American Coast: The two former to remain on that Station so long as their Provisions and Water will last with due Sufficiency for their Passage to Jamaica, to careen and refit: And afterwards to return up along the Coast of the Southern Provinces, in time to join me as early after the middle of next March as may be, at this Port. The Galatea, under the same Circumstances of being no longer able to keep the Bermuda Station, is to return here directly for further Orders. But if during the time of Captain Davis's continuance on this Station, he should meet with a considerable Number of the West-India-Trade on their passage to Europe wanting Convoy for their Security and needing his Assistance; He is not, in such case, to deem himself restrained from rendering every such necessary Assistance, in the Extent even of proceeding with them to Europe.

The Phoenix and Tartar would also have been sent immediately off the Capes of Virginia; But upon their return from the North River they are found to require new Mizen-Masts (the former being disabled by the Enemy's Fire) with other Repairs that will necessarily detain them some Days longer.

On the 3d Instant Lieutenant Berkeley of the Isis arrived in an Armed Transport with Letters from Captain Douglas. The chief purport of them is to inform me of his Intention to proceed immediately for England; And that he had, at the Requisition of General Sir Guy Carleton, ordered the Blonde, Triton and Garland to remain in the St Lawrence for the Winter. I am apprehensive the Inexpediency of that Resolution will appear, when the Frigates are again wanted for Service.

By the same Conveyance (the Armed Ship having stopped at Halifax) I am informed by Sir George Collier that he had stationed the Juno, Milford, Lizard and Hope from Cape Cod Eastward towards Cape Sable: That the Amazon was arrived from the St Lawrence; and the Hunter and Vulture Sloops with the Transports under their Convoy, except the Euphrates, one of the Victuallers, which was run ashore a few Leagues Eastward of Halifax, under circumstances of Weather so favorable as to give Cause to suspect great Misconduct in the Master. Most of the Cargoe has been saved, but the Transport is irrecoverably lost. Sir George further informs me that the 9th of last Month the Union Transport with Cloathing and a considerable Sum of Money for the Army in Canada, arrived at Halifax; The advanced Season of the Year not admitting of an Attempt being then made to prosecute her Voyage. But I have given Directions for taking the earliest Opportunity to send that Transport forward under proper Convoy in the Spring.

The Commissioner Arbuthnot acquaints me with the Arrival of the Success-Increase Naval Transport, which he intends ordering to this Port: tho' he apprehends the Stores will prove to have been much damaged.

Both these Officers mention a Descent made near Fort Cumberland by an inconsiderable Force of the Rebels from the Western Side of the Bay of Fundy. They concur in Opinion, that there is little reason to apprehend any Success to that ill-concerted Measure: Timely precautions having been taken and the whole Force of the Rebels supposed not to exceed three hundred Men.

I sent the Lark as soon as her Damages were repaired, to be employed by Sir George Collier upon the New-England Coasts; For replacing the Liverpool or Milford, that one of these two Ships may be immediately sent to clean in England. I have by the same Opportunity desired the Commissioner will order the Elephant Store-Ship, if she should be arrived, to be sent also for the Service of the Ships assembled at this Port; that from this Store-Ship and the Success-Increase, the Frigates meant to be careened this Winter in the West Indies, may then be furnished with sufficient Supplies of Stores, and the Magazines there not be unnecessarily exhausted.

The Andeligonda Louisa, the last of the Foreign Transports, sailed with the Lark: The Repairs wanting for that Transport not having been completed in time to send her with the others which proceeded to Europe under Convoy of the Active and Fowey. The Lark having seen the Transport to the Eastward of the Nantucket Shoals, She is to be left to prosecute her Voyage according to the Instructions the Superintendent has received. I am Sir [&c.]

- JOURNAL OF THE CONTINENTAL CONGRESS ¹

Resolved, That General Putnam be authorized to employ all the private armed vessels in this harbour, for the defence and security of the city. And that he take the most effectual measures for manning them, and putting them in fit condition for the above purpose.

General Putnam and Brigadier General Mifflin being called to a conference, and having, by strong arguments, urged the necessity of the Congress retiring, it was, therefore,

Resolved, That Mr. Wilson be desired to inform the assembly and council of safety of Pennsylvania of the proposed adjournment of Congress, and the place to which they have resolved to adjourn; and to inform them, that Congress will, at all times, on their application, be ready to comply with their requisitions for the security of this city and state against the common enemy.

Whereas the movements of the enemy have now rendered the neighbourhood of this city the seat of war, which will prevent that quiet and uninterrupted attention to the public business, which should ever prevail in the great continental council:

Resolved, That this Congress be, for the present, adjourned to the town of Baltimore, in the state of Maryland, to meet on the 20th instant, unless a sufficient number to make a Congress shall be there sooner assembled; and that, until the Congress shall otherwise order, General Washington be possessed of full power to order and direct all things relative to the department, and to the operations of war. That the several matters to this day referred, be postponed to the day to which Congress is adjourned.

To the honble the Council & Hon'ble House of Representatives for the State of the Massachusetts Bay

The Subscribers of Newburyport Merchants humbly beg leave to represent to your Honours, that a Ship owned by them, called the Montgomery, commanded by Joseph Rowe, had, before the present Embargo took place, sailed from hence bound to Bourdeaux in France, with part of her Loading (of which two Casks of Furs were shipped by the honble Board of War upon the Acct of this State) & with all her Provisions in, but was to call into SheepsCut at the Eastward, there to compleat her Loading with Spars & other Lumber. That their Design in this Voyage (in which they export only the Produce of this Country) is to bring in a Load of Salt, which the Country appears to be very destitute of, also some Cannon, for a Twenty Gun Ship they are now engaged in the building of, & other warlike Stores if to be got, & their Cargo on board will procure them, & if warlike Stores are not to be procured, they have ordered coarse Linnens & Woollens – Now, the present being judged by far the best Season to supply the Country from abroad, with the many Articles it stands in need of, & as your Petitioners have with much Trouble, & at extraordinary Expence provided a Master & Crew to sail their said Ship, & they have already proceeded part of the Way upon their Voyage, Upon your honours' Consideration of these Premises & the foregoing, they flatter themselves that you will grant Permission, And they humbly beg of your Honours to grant them a Permit (& duplicates of the same, to send by Land & Water) for their said Ship Montgomery, Joseph Rowe Master to depart for France from SheepsCut or any port in the Eastern part of this State where said Ship may be, after having loaded or compleated her Loading with Masts Spars & other Lumber the present Embargo notwithstanding, & your Petitioners as in duty bound shall ever pray

ROBERT MORRIS TO JOHN HANCOCK ¹

Sir

Philada, Decemr 13th, 1776

The enclosed letter from the General ² was delivered to me open by Mr [George] Walton who judged it prudent to examine the Contents before it went forward & in which I concur with him as it was probable some service might result to this place from their being known & I flatter myself that essential Service will be rendered to the Continent thereby. As soon as I saw this authentic Account of the Enemy's design to Cross Delaware above the Falls, I waited on Genl [Israel] Putnam & proposed that the Frigate Randolph & Sloop Hornet shou'd be sent to Sea immediately as it was plain to me they woud be of no use here & I had received certain advice that there was not any British Men of War in our Bay. the General very readily Consented & I have this afternoon given Capt Biddle & Capt [John] Nicholson their Instructions signed by me on behalf of the Marine Committee, they will depart early in the Morning and I entertain the most Sanguine hopes of their escape, the Hornet goes for Carolina with the Shot, but part of the flour was landed previous to this new determination. I have presumed to go one Step farther in this Navy business and flatter myself I shall be entitled to the approbation of Congress whether I meet it or not, for my intentions are good and I procure myself much trouble with the Sole View of serving the Cause, On Viewing the Frigate Delaware I thought it possible to get her away before Genl Howe could get here I have therefore set about it stoutly, a Number of People, scarce as they now are her, are at Work on her, the Sails will be bent, Anchors to the Bows, Stores onbd and every thing in some forwardness to morrow. I have sent an Express to the General informing him of my design & requesting him to send down Capt [Charles] Alexander his Officers & such Seamen as are willing to go with him & if it is possible to get her away I shall order her to Baltimore, under your own care If I fail in this attempt You only add a little Expense of labour to the loss, for the Ship may in that case be destroyed, however if Genl Howe will give me but a few days more & Ld Howe keep away his Myridoms I shall have the pleaseure to despatch the Randolph, Hornet, Delaware, Security, Fly & a large ship laden with Tobacco all which you may deem as saved from the Flames. The removal of Congress has left me much other business I am paying your Debts at least those of the Marine Committee & directing fifty Necessary things to be done and with Genl Howe's permission shall be glad to finish the business you woud wish to have done here, but if Mr Howe advances I shall push off & leave him to finish the business his own way. I am told there is a letter in Town that mentions Genl Clintons arrival at Rhode Island & that he took Peaceable possession of it, as all the Inhabitants to a Man abandoned the Island, but tell Mr [William] Ellery I have not seen this letter nor will I vouch for its Authenticity. You will please to receive enclosed some pleasing letters for the Marine Committee & with perfect esteem & respect, I remain Sir, [&c.]

[Philadelphia, December 13, 1776] ²

. . . for Action, yet when we consider you will have Seamen & Marines sufficient to work the Ship, we think it much more for the public interest to risque her out on these terms than to let her remain & be destroyed. You are therefore to repair on bd the Randolph Frigate of wch you are Commander and proceed with all possible dilligence to Sea. We shall not at this time prescribe to you where you are to Cruize nor form any plan whereby to distress our Enemies - the first Object is to get the Ship well manned and for this purpose you may Cruize where you think is the best Chance of meeting Merchantmen or Transports without Encountering Frigates &c we find by [expe]rience the Seamen taken in prizes are in General very [wi]lling to enter into our Service we think you will be able [in] this Manner to compleat your Number admitting [all] such as enter freely & induce them thereto show [the va]rious Encouragement given by Congress. When the [Ran]dolph is compleatly manned or that you esteem [yours]elf in a good Condition to make a good Fight you [will] return on this Coast, cruise for some of the Provi[sion] Vessels or Store Ships that will be coming from Europe [to New Y]ork & particularly keep a look out for the Galatea [Captain] Jourdan

LETTER FROM DOMINICA ¹

[December 13]

The American Privateers have ventured amongst the Islands; one of them being at Martinique when Dr. N——, was there in a Flag of Truce, slipt out in the Night after him, and took him in the Channel. The Captain of the Privateer landed the Doctor and his Brother at an Out Bay at Martinique, who repaired to the General and made a formal Complaint, which was so well received, that the General ordered the Agent for the Congress to pay them immediately for their Vessel, Slaves, &c. or he would stop every American that was in the Island. Another of these Freebooters took several English Vessels near Guadaloupe, and sent them into the Ports of that Island, all of which the Captains ransomed, except one. This coming to the Ears of the General, he ordered the Privateer not only to give up every Vessel and Cargo, but to pay back the Ransom Money, and at his Peril to presume interrupting any English Vessel in the Neighbourhood of that Island for the future.

VICE ADMIRAL JAMES YOUNG TO PHILIP STEPHENS ¹

Sir

Antigua 13th Decemr 1776.

Be pleased to acquaint my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty that I have just received by the October packet your four Letters Dated the 3d October last, with Duplicate of two others Dated the 5th & 6th September. I am very much Concerned to find I have incurred the Censure of their Lordships, by my Orders of the 27th July 1776, to Captain [William] Garnier of the Argo, wherein I left him at liberty to part from the Convoy in the Latitude of 38°, North; and not directing him to see them to England. I beg of you to inform their Lordships my sole motive for so doing was, I judged the Trade to be in perfect Security at that distance from the Islands, (having never heard any American Cruizers were seen farther to the Northward than 35° North) and the Argo being represented to me in so very Crazy a State, I was desirous she should make her passage before the Equinox; when heavy Gales of Wind frequently happen in & about the English Channel; and from her reported Condition I did not think the Argo at all fit to encounter them: I therefore hope their Lordships will think these reasons Satisfactory and believe I shall always exert my best Endeavours for the good of the Kings Service; and punctually Obey their Commands.

I am extreamly sorry farther to inform their Lordships; that Yesterday I received information by a Seaman, who was lately discharged from the Atalanta at Jamaica; and came from thence Six Weeks ago; who says when he left that place His Majestys Sloop Pomona had not been at Jamaica; but that a packet (supposed here to have been lost in the Gale of Wind) arrived there dismasted: I am therefore very much afraid, The Pomona was lost in the late Gale of Wind: and as her loss will be very great on this Station (the Seas at this time Swarming with American Armed Vessels & Privateers) I presume to hope their Lordships will not disapprove of my Purchasing & Commissioning some more Armed Vessels, and a Sloop of War to replace the Pomona; if I can meet with such Vessels as are fit and proper for the Occasion. I have the honour to be Sir [&c.]

CONTINENTAL MARINE COMMITTEE TO WILLIAM BINGHAM, MARTINIQUE ¹

Sir

[Philadelphia] December 14th 1776

We expect this will be delivered to you by John Nicholson Esqr who commands the Hornet Sloop of war belonging to the Continent. She will carry you some Rice and Indigo by order of the Secret Committee which you'll please to receive expeditiously. As this sloop touches at Carolina before she sails for the West Indies it is uncertain when you may see [her], therefore our orders must be discretionary, and when she arrives if you [have] any advices or any goods to send that you think of importance to these States, you may dispatch Capt Nicholson therewith immediately. Should this not be the case you may assist him to procure more Men, and let him go a cruising during the Winter Months only dispatching him so as to be here by the beginning of April. If our Trade in the Islands is interrupted by any privateers or Tenders that this Sloop can match they should be her Object, If there be none such she may cruize where there is the best chance of good Prizes. —

If Captain Nicholson is lucky enough to send any in to you, sell such parts as are suited for the Island consumption, but be careful what you sell is the property of none but british subjects not resident in Bermuda or New providence. Whatever you sell render regular Accounts of it – make the seamen &c necessary advances and transmit us their receipts with the Accot Sales &c for what you sell that just distribution may be made on their return. If Captain Nicholson meets with any Canon more suitable for the Hornet than those on board, assist him in buying and getting them mounted – Supply him with Money and necessaries he may want for the service his receipts will be your vouchers and your drafts on us will be paid –

When you dispatch him for the Continent he will take on board any goods you have to ship. We are Sir [&c.]

DEPOSITION OF JOHN TROTMAN¹

St Christophers

Before John Stanley Esqr, one of the Members of His Majesty's Council for the Island of St Christopher, His Majesty's Sollicitor General for His Leeward Charibbee Islands in America, and one of the Justices assigned to keep the Peace within the said Island of St Christopher.

Personally appeared John Troffman [sic Trotman] aged Seventeen years, or thereabouts, who being Sworn on the Holy Evangelists of Almighty God, deposeth and Saith, that some time in the month of April 1773, he this Deponent was Sent by his Father Henry Trotman, Merchant in the Island of Barbados (where he this Deponent was born) to the Care of Messrs James and Drinker of Philadelphia Merchants, for Education, and that, soon after his arrival there, he was Sent by his said Guardians to Prince Town, in the Province of New Jersey, to a scool kept at that place by the Revd Dr John Witherspoon, who was afterwards chosen one of the Members to Serve in the Continental Congress for the Said Province of new Jersey. And this Deponent further Saith, that in the month of September last (it being vacation time) he went from Prince Town afore Said to Spend his Holidays as usual, with his beforementioned Guardians at Philadelphia, and that One Evening, he this Deponent being walking out rather later than usual, with George West, of Carolina, who was one of his Scool fellows, he this Deponent and the Said George West met on a wharf, in Philadelphia aforesaid, by a Gang of Men (whose Practice, this Deponent was afterwards informed, it was every Night to hunt for and press all the Men they could meet with into the Service of the Continental Congress) who forced this Deponent and the said George West on board a Brigantine fitted out by the Continental Congress, called the Andrew Doria, commanded by one Capt: [Isaiah] Robinson, mounting Fourteen double fortified four Pounders, Fourteen or Sixteen Swivel Guns, carrying 100 Men, or thereabouts, and which was then lying at Gloucester in the River Delaware, about five miles from Philadelphia. And this Deponent farther Saith, that the sd Brigantine soon afterwards sailed for the Island of St Eustatia, where she arrived some time about the middle of the month of November last; and that upon the sd Brigantines coming to an anchor off the Town in that Island, She Saluted Fort Orange with Thirteen Guns, and that, after some Interval, the Salute was returned by the sd Fort with nine or Eleven Guns (but which the Deponent doth not now recollect) the Sd Brigantine during the Time of the Salute and the return thereof, having the Colours called the Continental Congress Colours then flying. And this Deponent farther Saith, that he this Deponent, with three other Persons belonging to the Sd Brigantine (two Englishmen and one Frenchman) on the Evening of their arrival at St Eustatia, were ordered by the Master of the sd Brigantine to carry him onboard an American Pilot Boat, then lying at anchor in the Road of St Eustatia; and that upon their putting him onboard they were ordered by the Sd Master to return with all Expedition to the Sd Brigantine, and to get the Boat hoisted in: and this Deponent Saith that, upon their quitting the Pilot Boat, this Deponent and the sd three other Men consulted amongst themselves how to make their Escape from the Sd Brigantine, & takeing the Resolution of attempting to come to this Island, after rowing all Night, they arrived at Sandy point, in this Island, about Seven of the Clock, the next morning. And this Deponent farther Saith, that, from what he could learn on board the Sd Brigantine, he verily believes the object of the Sd Brigantine's Voyage to St Eustatius was to purchase Clothing and other Necessaries for the use of the Continental American Army. And this Deponent Saith, that whilst he was onboard the Sd Brigantine, he was in general treated as well as he could expect, in his circumstances, by every Person on board, except the Boatswain, who was a Foreigner, who beat him this Deponent very severely several Times.

(Signed) John Trotman.

Sworn this 14th day of Decr 1776, before me (Sighn'd) John Stanley.

VICE ADMIRAL JAMES YOUNG TO GOVERNOR JOHANNES DE GRAAFF ¹

Antigua 14th Decemr 1776

Sir, The inclosed Memorial ² having been presented to me by a Subject of His Brittannic Majesty, I think it my duty to send Captain [John] Colpoys of his Majesty's Ship the Seaford, to lay the same before your Excellency, in order that strict Enquiry may be made into the Circumstances related therein; and if found to be as represented, to Demand in the Name of the King of Great Britain that immediate reparation may be made to His injured Subject.

In addition to the foregoing Complaint, I cannot avoid mentioning to your Excellency, that it is with equal Surprise, and astonishment, I daily hear it asserted in the most positive manner, that the Port of St Eustatia, has for some time past, been openly and avowedly declared, Protector of all Americans, and their Vessels; whether on private Trade, or Armed for Offensive War; and that even the Colours and Forts of their High Mightinesses have been so far debased, as to return the Salutes of these Pirates and Rebels; that the Subjects of the States not satisfied with giving all manner of Assistance to the American Rebels, of Arms, Ammunition, and whatever else may enable them to Annoy and disturb the Trade of His Brittannic Majesty's Loyal and Faithful Subjects, and that even the Government of St Eustatia, daily suffer Privateers to be Manned, Armed, and fitted in their port, and the Subjects of the States are said to be part Owners of such Privateers. The Piratical Vessel named in the inclosed Memorial, was known to be fitted out at St Eustatia, and part owned by a Mr Vanbibber of that place.

I cannot suppose any Governor would take upon him to act in this manner merely of his own Authority; therefore must Conclude you have received Instructions from Europe, and are guided thereby; altho the whole proceedings appear to me Diametrically opposite to the late Declarations of their High-Mightinesses, to the Court of London.

As my Duty obliges me to transmit Informations of such Consequence to the British Court, I have first ordered Captain Colpoys to deliver you this Notification, and have directed him to make the strictest Enquiry into the Facts related; and receive your Excellencys Explanation of them. I must likewise desire you will give me a positive Answer, whether you mean to Suffer any of the American Rebels to bring into your Port of St Eustatia the Ships and Vessels they may take from his Brittannic Majesty's Subjects, and there dispose of them: Your general Answer hereto, must be the Guide of my future Conduct, and determine with me, whether You remain Allies to the Crown of Great Britain or have entered into new Engagements with the American Rebels, inimical to the King my Master. I have the honor to be Sir [&c.]

Jam^s Young

P.S. I would wish your Excellency to observe, I make great distinction between the Receiving into your Ports, the Trading Vessels belonging to the American Rebels, and their Vessels Armed for Offensive War.

Governor over the Islands St Eustatia, Saba & St Martin.

Sir

In consequence of an Order from you dated 10th December directing me to give you an Account of my Proceedings with respect to the June Convoy which sail'd from Bluefields the 17th June under my Command. For that purpose I beg leave to lay before you an exact Copy taken from the Ships Log Signed by myself the Second & Third Lieutenants & Master from the 15th June to the 7th July, which when you have thought proper to peruse and taken into Consideration the Inclosed Sailing Instructions, the List of the Convoy and the Disposition and order of Sailing, likewise the Affidavit taken by one of the Masters of the Convoy, I flatter myself that you will approve of my Conduct. And Sir, as you yourself whose experience & knowledge in those matters are much more extensive than mine, I need not mention to you the great difficulty for even a Fleet of Men of War, much more for a Single Ship to take care of an obstinate, and I may venture to add very often a great many Ignorant Masters of Merchant Ships to deal with, which I beg leave to assure you was the Case of a Number of the June Convoy, but by no means can I blame the whole And I have only to say that it has always been my Study to endeavour to promote the good of His Majestys Service as much as in my Power both with Care & Honor I am, Sir with profound respect [&c.]

THOMAS CUSHING TO JOHN HANCOCK ¹

Dear Sir.

Boston Dec 16 1776

I have received your favor of the 16 November, hope the express will arrive very soon with the Cash or I shall not know what to do. The ship Hancock is arrived from Newbury Port into this Harbour. It was thought she could not by any means lay with safety at Newbury, Capt Manly has therefore exerted himself to get her Round, and has been obliged to be at very considerable expense to execute this business at this season of the year, pray inform me whether I am to provide Sloops for the seamen, and whether it is not the Business of the captain. I think by the rules and regulations of the Navy, it be longs to the captain; however, if Congress orders that they should be purchased and laid in the charge of the Continent for the use of the sailors I shall obey. Capt Manly says that you told him you should give me directions to pay the officers of the ships their back wages or arrearages. I find their commissions are all dated the 10th of October last, but you must be sensible they were appointed and have been employed in the service of the ships long before that time, please to let me know your mind upon this subject. This State has not as yet been able to procure the Cannon for the Hancock, and I know not when they will, please to let me know if the Congress will allow the enormous price of one hundred pounds and ten for them to the owners of the furnace in Rhode Island provided I can prevail with them to cast them. I wrote to you sometime ago upon this head but have not as yet been favoured with an answer. The sooner I have the mind of the Congress upon this head the better. The ship might go to sea in Ten days if she had her guns and men and I could procure some Duck for her light sails. Capt Bradford the Continental Agent tells me there is a considerable quantity of light Duck under his care in one of the Continental prizes which he has wrote to Congress about, but as he does not know but they will order him to send it to the Southward he dares not part with it, pray send him orders to Deliver me as much of it as I may want for the ships, as also any other article he has that will be of use for the vessels. I remain with great Respect [&c.]

Thomas Cushing.

P.S. Pray send me answer by the return of this Express, who carries a letter from the Council which renders it needless for me to write you relative to the proceedings of our Assembly.

Philada Decr 16th 1776

Since I wrote the President this Morning, a Young Gentl came up from Chincoteague where he had landed out of the Sloop Independence (Capt Young) belonging to the Continent, this sloop was from Martinico bound hither but was chased into that place by a large Frigate. The Sloop has on board a quantity of Blankets, Coarse Cloths & near 1000 Muskets, which I will take care of. Capt Young staid behind sick & she is now Commanded by Lieut Robinson [James Robertson] who had no paper to write on but sent up word he would push round for this place soon as he cou'd the Goods are what was ordered by the Secret Committee & the Andw Doria will bring a good Cargo from St Eustatia where she is arrived. the Sachem is also arrived at Martinico, but no News yet from Monsr Hortalez —

You have enclosed the letters from Mr [William] Bingham and Mr [Silas] Deane, the latter complaining as I have long expected he wou'd for want of advices & Remittances, in short if the Congress mean to Succeed in this Contest they must pay good Executive Men to do their business as it ought to be & not lavish Milions away by their own mismanagement, I say mismanagement because no Man living can attend the daily deliberations of Congress & do executive parts of business at the same time. I do aver here will be more money lost, totally lost, in Horses, Waggon, Cattle &c &c for want of sufficient Numbers of proper persons to look after them, than wou'd have paid all the Salarys Payne [Robert Treat Paine] ever did or ever will grumble at Mr Deane has had a hard situation I foretold it long since & unless you employ some Man of Talents to Collect materials & keep the Commissioners abroad Constantly informed of what is passing here, You never will have that Consequence nor your Agents that Dignity they ought to have. I should be glad you woud return me these letters or Copies of them & I will reply from hence, they have been with me but a few minutes & I will not keep the express

If you make any captures of any ships or Vessels above described you are to send them into this State directing them to Mr Phripp and myself, but if you should know that our State is stopt up in that case you will order them to Philadelphia to the care of Mr Morris or the nearest Port, giving Orders that immediate notice be sent by Express to Mr Phripp and myself. Should any accident happen to you at Sea and a refit be necessary you will apply to Mr Isaac Gouverneur at Curacoa or to my Mr Rawleigh Colston at Surinam with my Letters of Credit or any others on whom Mr Phripp shall give you credit for such assistance as you may want which expense is to be charged to the Company as your Men are not enlisted to serve longer than some time in January should they insist any of them to return home to Boston ² when their time is expired you are by no means to go there with your Vessel but rather put such Men on board some Vessel that may be going to Boston. The terms of their enlistment do not oblige you to carry them home at the end of the time, and the Company will by no means agree that the Vessel should be carried so far out of her way If you prove unsuccessful during the continuance of your Provisions and Stores which expect will serve you three Months, after they are expended you are to return home to receive another recruit of necessaries and Men which are to be engaged on account of the Company but at present I have obliged myself and Messrs Willing and Morris to find a three Months supply of all necessaries whatever, Powder I put over a thousand weight you will remember is our property after the Cruise is over by Agreement.

You are to send me before you sail from York a perfect Account of all your disbursements since you came to this Country and the Articles that have been added to your Vessel &c. Mr Reynolds at York will Supply you with any thing further you may have occasion for there.

Those of the Company that are here have agreed that if you are out near three Months & can take no Prizes, in that case you may return to Boston to discharge these Men and enlist others for a five Months Voyage and that you will apply to Mr [John] Rowe for such necessaries as you may want until you can get here to take in your stores for a further Cruise.

You will remember to send with any Vessel you may take all the Papers belonging to said Vessel with respect to her clearance, age, Owners &c.

DEPOSITION OF JAMES FRASER¹

Copy Before John Stanley Eqr one of the Members of His Majesty's Council for the Island of St Christopher His Majesty's Solicitor General for his Leeward Charibbee Island in America and one of the Justices assigned to keep the Peace within the said Island of St Christopher.

Personally appeared James Fraser of the said Island of St Christopher, Gentleman, who being duly Sworn on the Holy Evangelists of Almighty God; deposeth and Saith. that on, or about the 16th day of November now last past, he this Deponent, in Company with Captain John Dean and Captain John Spier (Masters of Vessels now lying at anchor in the Road of Basseterre in this Island) being on board a Sloop in the Road of St Eustatius, he this Deponent, upon Spying a Brigantine comeing round the Leeward part of the Said Island of St Eustatius, with a Pendant and Colours flying observed to his Said Companions, that there was a Man of War Tender coming round, upon the Said Captain Dean (to the best of this Deponents Recollection) replied O No by God it is an American Privateer, for "don't you See the Congress Colours with 13 Stripes in them" or expressed himself in words of that Substance and Effect, and this Deponent farther Saith that the said Brigantine Soon afterwards came to an anchor in the Road of St Eustatius on the Larboard Quarter of the Sloop, on board of which this Deponent and his said Companions then were and from whence the Deponent plainly discovered that She carried 14 carriage Guns or there abouts, and was afterwards informed, & believes that She was manned with 110 Men or there abouts, was called the Andrew Doria, & commanded by one Captain Robbinson [Isaiah Robinson], and this Deponent further Saith that upon the Said Brigantines coming to anchor, the Dutch Colours (which during the Time the Said Brigantine was working into the Road were flying in Fort Orange in the said Island were hawled down, and that as Soon as the Said Brigantine had brought too, & furler her Sails, She fired (to the best of this Deponent Recollection) Eleven Guns and this Deponent further Saith that after an Interval of upwards of a quarter of an hour as he and his said Companions were rowing on Shore he perceived the Dutch Colours in Fort Orange to be hoisting again, and when they were compleatly hoisted, nine great Guns were fired from the Said Fort, after which the Brigantine returned one Gun more. and the Deponent further Saith that upon his and his Companions getting on Shore and going immediately into a Tavern in the Said Island of St Eustatius, where there was a large mixed Company, he found People were discoursing there on the Ceremony of the Salute fired by the Said American Privateer, and of the return of it, by the Said Dutch Fort, and this Deponent further Saith that it was then and there publickly Said by Some of the Company present at the Said Tavern, that the Commandant of Fort Orange hesitated to return a Salute fired by a Vessel under the Congress Colours and that before he would return the Salute, he went to the Governor of the Said Island to have his Directions about it, and that it was by the Governor's order that the Said Salute was returned by the Said Dutch Fort.

Sir I beg leave to acquaint your Excellency with the arrival of His Britannic Majesty's Ship the Seaford in the Road of Statia, being charged with some dispatches from Vice Admiral Young to your Excellency; I beg to know, when it will be most convenient for your Excellency, to let me have the Honor of waiting on you with them.

I beg leave to observe to your Excellency, that it has hitherto been my Custom, since I have had the Honor of Commanding one of His Majesty's Ships, on my Arrival, at any of the Ports, of the States of Holland (where they had a Fort) to Salute the Flag of their High Mightinesses, but at present I am sorry to be obliged ('till I have your Excellencys Answer) to swerve from a rule which I have always considered myself as bound to adhere to, as well from the nature of my Instructions as my own particular inclination, And why I am now prevented from doing what has hitherto been so much my wish (to pay every respect in my Power to their High Mightinesses Flag) is, that reports prevail of their High Mightinesses Fort, having received and returned Salutes, from the Vessels of the King my Masters, Rebellious Colonists; And Sailing under what they call Provincial Colours; Should such reports be well founded, I must consider it as an insult offered, to His Britannic Majesty, and of course must decline Saluting your Fort; I would willingly hope and believe, that the reports may be premature, and if your Excellency will assure me that no such insult has been offered to the King my Master, I shall immediately Salute your Fort with 11 Guns, on your Excellency's assuring me that a like number will be returned. St Eustatia Decr 16th 1776.

Sir, I have duly received your very acceptable Letter of this date and have the pleasure of Congratulating you upon your safe Arrival in His Brittannic Majesty's Ship of War the Seaford in the road of this Island, & hope I shall have the Honor of receiving the dispatches of His Excellency Vice Admiral Young from your hand to morrow forenoon any Hour you will be pleased to mention.

I am much concerned that any report should have prevailed here, or elsewhere, capable of determining you to decline giving or receiving the Ordinary Marks of that friendship and cordiality, which have long Subsisted & I flatter myself will long continue to Subsist between His Brittannic Majesty & their High Mightinesses, the Lords States General of the United Netherlands, my Masters; As it neither is, nor ever hath been the Custom of this Port to demand the Passports of foreign Vessels, Merchantmen entering this Port & Saluting the Fort have been always Saluted in return as such, that is with two Guns less than the Salute given; but I can boldly affirm that no Insult hath been knowingly offered or intended to the King your Master, which induces me to presume, that upon reflection you will see cause to Suspect many of the Informations you may have casually received, and believe that I shall be extremely happy in showing those distinctive Marks of Attention to the British Flag, which Subsisting treaties between two Nations in Amity have established; and in returning the Salute, when you will be pleased to honour my Fort with it, with the same number of Guns. Mr [George] Walton, Mr [George] Clymer & myself, thought it advisable to open the enclosed letter, last night that we might judge if the expense of another express should be incurred or detain it for the Post, which we concluded to do as I had wrote You the unfortunate Fate of Genl [Charles] Lee before. I am sorry to inform you that the Roebuck & Falcon Men of War are in Delaware Bay & two Bomb Ketches said to be in the offing. on Rect of this News (which is certain) I hired a Pilot Boat, & sent her with a letter to Capt Biddle, & all the other Vessells outward bound, desiring them to stop or come back. so that my labours appear to be lost & sorry I am for the disappointment, however its likely the first smart NoWester may give us an opening to push them out. I have just heard that a party or partys of the Enemy were yesterday at Moors Town & Haddonfield in the Jerseys opposite to this & distant about 7 to 9 Miles, what their Views are I cannot say, but by the appearance of the Men of War below & the Bomb Ketches being said to have sailed from N York it would seem as if these party's meant to make their way to Red Bank erect Works to command the chevaux de Frize & then to come up with the Ships this however is mere matter of speculation. Colo Griffin is I understand gone over with about 800 men, but I fear he will not be strong enough for them. I have the honor to be very respectfully Sir &c

MAJOR THOMAS PROCTOR TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE PENNSYLVANIA COUNCIL OF SAFETY¹

Sir,

To-morrow the ferry at Rudolphs' will be in order, and I have got two boats to ply to Fort & Province Islands, agreeable to your Instructions, Capt. Rice's Gally arriv'd from Cape about an hour ago, and Anchors off the Fort. The Lieut. of which Informs of Eight Ships and three tenders being in the Cape, the Fowey and Roebuck is supposed to be two of them. The vessels which were leaving port are some of them gone into Morriss river, others into Christeen, &c., one vessell taken, said to be a Frenchman. I should be glad to have some Casks of powder sent down here, as there is room in the magazine. The Floating batterys expects supplies from the Garrison, as they have but Fifty rounds for each Gun. It is more than probable that these ships would not attempt our river at this precarious season, did they not Intend forcibly to form a Conjunction with Lord Howe, under these Conjectures, think it highly Expedient that a sufficient number of men Should be thrown in Immediately for the Defence of this place, being Exceeding weak, by a reason of Detachments being sent to Join the Grand Army, & Desertions so prevalent, & be assured if I am suitably furnished with men, provisions and stores, the English shall purchase deer what ever they get from me. I am, Sir, [&c.]

GOVERNOR CRAISTER GREATHEAD TO GOVERNOR JOHANNES DE GRAAFF ¹

Copy.

St Christophers 17th Decr 1776.

Sir, At a time when the antient Treaties of alliance and Friendship between Great Britain and the States General are existing in their original Spirit & Vigor; when their High Mightinesses as well as the other Sovereign Powers of Europe behold with astonishment & indignation and have Solemnly expressed their abhorrence of the unnatural Rebellion stirred up by the Subjects of the King my Master on the continent of North America, and have given the most earnest assurances of withholding all Succour & Countenance to them in the prosecution of their treasonable attempts against the Supremacy & Constitutional authority of Great Britain over them; it is with the deepest concern that I find my Self called upon to remonstrate to your Honour against the repeated & avowed encouragement and Protection which these rebellious Colonists have publicly received and still daily meet with in the Island over which you preside.

The Performance of this unpleasing, yet indispensable part of my Duty hath been hitherto delayed from a disinclination in me to give credit merely to publick Fame, and from my unwillingness to believe that the antient and natural allies of Great Britain could be so far regardless not only of the common principles of national Policy but of the Sacred obligations of Treaties, as to cherish & uphold British Subjects in their unjustifiable & rebellious Practices against their parent State; but it is now, Sir, from the most authentick Information that in the name of my Royal Master I complain to you.

That not only Supplies of all Sorts of Provisions and warlike Stores are almost daily & publicly furnished by the Inhabitants of St Eustatius to His Majesty's said rebellious Subjects, but that Vessels have been also equipped & Set forth in a warlike manner from that Island for the express and avowed Purpose of cruizing against & making Prize of the Ships and properties of his peaceable & faithful Subjects.

That in particular a Sloop called the Baltimore Hero thus equipped & set forth did actually on or about the 21st day of November last under certain colours called Those of the continental Congress almost within the Reach of the Batteries of St Eustatius piratically Seize and take possession of a Brigantine & her Cargo bound from this Island to St Eustatius the Property of Mr Forster McConnell a British Subject resident in the Island of Dominica, which Sloop after this act of Piracy notoriously committed within Sight of the Dutch Forts returned into the Road of St Eustatius with her Colours flying & there continued to receive every mark of Support & Protection.

That an armed Vessel called the Andrew Doria commanded by one Capt: [Isaiah] Robinson, belonging to & in the Service of the said Rebels did some time about the middle of November last, publicly enter and come to an anchor in the Road of St Eustatius & with Colours flying known to be those of the Rebels called the Continental Congress Saluted with Thirteen Guns Their High Mightinesses Fort called Fort Orange & which Salute was afterwards with the Solemnity due to the Flags of Independent Sovereign States returned to the said Vessel by the said Fort, which Vessel was afterwards permitted to take in a Loading of Gunpowder & other necessities of war & Provisions at St Eustatius for the use of the American Rebel Army.

Individuals there are to be found in every State, who from the Sordid Principle of gain will be tempted to transgress every publick Law by which the State is bound But with every possible allowance for the Errors of Humanity, & the political offences of private Persons, it must be evident to you, Sir, that a partiality & conduct similar to the one herein complained of even in favour of a Sovereign State in Amity with the States General, but at Enmity with Great Britain, would be a flagrant Violation of the many compacts now existing between our Two Courts. How much more then must those compacts be infringed by extending such assistance & avowed countenance to the proscribed Rebels of Great Britain? In no other light can these deluded People be lawfully considered, for they have been declared such by the Sovereign Authority of Great Britain, & the Law of nations acknowledges no such Right as that of a lawful War waged by Subjects against their Sovereign State. In this Character have they been accordingly hitherto considered by the different Princes & States of Europe, & consequently their captures at Sea, under the authority of their usurped Powers, can be but piratical Depredations. But to the Scandal of all publick Faith and national Honour, it has remained for a dutch Settlement to be the avowed abettors of their Treasons & Promoters of their Piracies, & for their High Mightinesses Forts to be the first publick Recognizers of a Flag hitherto unknown in the Catalogue of national Ensigns.

The Duty of the King's Commission, which I have at present the honour to execute, and the Zeal I bear for His Majesty's Service would not allow me to withhold from you, Sir, a representation of Facts so injurious to that good Faith, union & Harmony, which on the part of my Royal Master have been so uniformly cultivated with the States General. In his name do I therefore call upon you, Sir, the Governor of their Island of St Eustatius for an exemplary atonement for the Indignity offered to His Majesty's Colours by the Honours publicly paid by Fort Orange to those of His Rebel Subjects. And I do more over, Sir, require (and do not doubt) that when you shall have reflected how grossly the Treaties between our Two Courts have been Violated in the Instances above alledged, you will not only exert your authority to prevent a Repetition of those Breaches of Faith, but will also take effectual Steps, that ample Reparation may be made to the Sufferers by the Piracy committed by the Sloop the Baltimore Hero, and that the Partners, Sharers and abettors in that act be found out & apprehended, & that they may suffer condign Punishment for a Terror to others.

I have thought proper that these my Sentiments should be delivered to your Honour by as respectable a conveyance as I could. I have therefore for this purpose made choiche of Mr [John] Stanley, a member of His Majesty's Council, and His Solicitor General, who will have the Honour to present them to you, & wait your Reply. He is fully instructed and authorized by me to discuss at large this Subject, & the several Treaties which are the Foundation of this application, and I doubt not your proper Reception of Him and his Commission. I have the Honour to be &c.

[Sloop Providence, December 6 to December 18]

Shortly after (the 6th of Dec,) the British took possession of Newport. The ship Warren, Ship Providence & Sloop Providence lay near Gould Island, but we made the best of our way to Providence, while the British fleet was running into Narriganset bay: the Sloop Providence had some men on shore on Gould Island cutting wood, I perceived a large quantity of hay stacked up there, I ordered one of the men to give me a brand of fire. I stepped into the barge and our Sloop hove too, until I set fire to all the hay on the Island, as I well knew it would fall into the hands of the British, and all I received for this was the loss of a silver knee buckle, and a Waistcoat, but had great contentment of mind, which money cannot purchase, then we hauled our wind to the north end of Jamestown Island, the wind being S.W. as soon as we opened Narriganset bay, there was nothing to be seen but Ships, we under easy sail wishing some of them to give chase, we lay in the way until we gave them 3 shot, when immediately 3 of their ships with all sail they could pack, gave us chase, which we wanted, and we under easy sail stood up for Warwick neck, they finding we intended to get them a ground, signal was given from the Com. of the British Fleet and they gave up the chase, and then we went up to Providence. A short time after, one of our prize Ships running in for New Port, was taken after receiving a number of shot being cut off by one of their Ships near Prudence Island, and carried back to Newport,² so ends this cruise. —

VICE ADMIRAL RICHARD LORD HOWE TO PHILIP STEPHENS¹

Number 16.

Eagle Off New York

Sir

December the 18th 1776.

By the Receipt of your Letter of the 19th of October, I have the particular Satisfaction to be advised of the Approbation their Lordships have done me the Honor to express of my Proceedings to the Date of the Dispatches delivered by Major Cuyler, who arrived here the 15th Instant.

The large Detachment of the Army which pursued the Rebel Forces through the Jerseys for an Extent of near Ninety Miles to the Banks of the Delaware, being now of Necessity retired into Winter-Quarters; I have nothing concerning the present Disposition of the Ships to add to my last of the 12th Instant, by this Opportunity.

I received Letters yesterday from Sir Peter Parker, to let me know that the King's Forces under the Command of Lieutenant General Clinton took possession of Rhode-Island the 7th without Opposition; And that he had ordered the Mercury for England with the Lieutenant General's Dispatches, and to give their Lordships the earliest Intelligence of that beneficial Acquisition. I have added Copies of the Commodore's Letters, by this Conveyance.

The uninterrupted Progress of the Army having removed the Rebel General Washington (under whose Authority the Exchange of Prisoners on this Part of the Continent could only be then negotiated) too far distant for continuing the Communication; And the Appointment of the late Armament preventing the Effect of an Intercourse I had subsequently opened with the principal Persons in Authority at Rhode Island and Providence Plantation, with better Prospects of Success; I have not yet derived any material Benefit from the Proposition.

I do not trouble their Lordships with the Papers on the Subject referred to in Sir Peter Parker's Letter, as the Matter is of no consequence, and I shall now probably have an Opportunity to renew the Overture with better Advantage.

You will, Sir, have been already apprized from the Contents of my preceeding Letters, of the regard which has been had to the Subject of their Lordships pleasure, respecting the return of the Petty-Officers appointed to superintend the Navigation of the Transports of different Descriptions. Such as are since arrived, will take their Passage in the Bristol and the same Care will be continued in future Instances.

Equal Attention will be shewn to their Commands for the Dismission of the Agents of Transports, as they can be spared. But their Continuance here is so essential for carrying on the various Duties incident to this Branch of the conjunct Service, that I cannot at present say how soon a Decrease of their Numbers might be made with any Propriety. And when I have observed, that those Duties have consisted of repeated Embarkations and Landings, often of very considerable Corps of Troops, for near four Months, I am persuaded I shall be excused for any seeming Delay in that respect.

The State of the Asia and Experiment is such, that there will be a necessity for sending them to England. But as the calls for the Use of practised Seamen have been so various and frequent, and will be so soon renewed in a still greater Proportion, should this unhappy Contest (as there is yet too much reason to apprehend) continue any part of the next Year, it is not without great Uneasiness that I divest myself of the Aid of those Ships, under the Uncertainty whether they can be seasonably returned or replaced: Having to request that I may be strengthened with Six Sail of not less than sixty-four or sixty-Gun Ships in Addition to the Naval Force appointed for this last Year, to co-operate in the proposed Services of the Army next Campaign. It is desirable for this End, that such Reinforcement should be arrived here (or at Rhode-Island, as Circumstances of Weather upon the Coast may induce) before the End of March. I am, with great Consideration, Sir [&c.] Howe

Independent Chronicle, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1776

Boston, December 19.

The Alfred Man of War, of the American Navy, with the Sloop Providence, sailed from Rhode-Island, the 2d of November. – On the 12th they took a Brig with a very valuable Cargo from Liverpool for Halifax; and on the 13th off Louisburg they took a fine Transport, laden with Cloathing, for Canada – the 16th, of[f] Cape-North, they took a Snow, with a Cargo of Fish, &c. from Gaspey for Barbados – in the Night of the 18th, the Providence disappeared. – The Alfred kept the Transport Ship under Convoy, having mounted her with Guns, and manned her well. – on the 22d they were off Canso, the Alfred's Boats were sent to burn a Transport, laden with Provision, as she had got ashore within the Harbour, and could not be got off – the Boats also burnt the Oil Stores, with their Contents, and all the Materials for the Whale Fishery. – The 23d, the Alfred took three Transport Ships from Spanish River for New-York, under Convoy of the Flora Frigate; it was then hazy, otherwise the Flora would have been within sight. – On the 26th, the Alfred took a Merchant Ship, of 10 Guns, from Liverpool for Halifax; she had now five Ships under Convoy, and being unable to man a greater Number proceeded for Port. – On the 8th December, on St. George's Bank, she was chased by a large Ship and ordered the Quebeck Transport to make Sail and run a-Head, some of the fastest sailing Ships accompanied her, and the Alfred fell in between them and the Stranger; the Wind shifted in the Night. – The Alfred carried a top Light, and stood to the Northward – The Cloathing Ship and others that had been a-Head stood on to the Southward – the strange Ship was near the Alfred in the Morning, and appeared a Man of War with St. George's Colours – The last taken Ship, as she sailed fast, was sent astern to view the Enemy and make a Signal agreed on, if she was of superior Force, she made the Signal that the Enemy was of superior force – the Wind increased to a violent Gale in the Evening, and by that Means the Alfred and Prize Ship got clear of the Enemy, and the Alfred arrived safe in Nantasket Road the 16th current, having on board one Hundred and Forty Prisoners, among whom are the Attorney-General of Canada, with Lady and Family, and several Officers and Soldiers – she had only two Days Provision left, and left Rhode-Island with more than one Hundred and Forty Officers and Men. – The Quebeck Transport is called the Melliah [sic Mellish] – she was lately a Bomb in the English Service, and was then named the Thunder

Thursday, last week, Captain Palmer, in the Brig Elizabeth, belonging to the United States of America, arrived in a safe Port, from Mars[e]illes in France, which he left the 7th of October with a valuable Cargo of Linnens and coarse Woollens. He informs that greater Preparations for War were making in France, when he left that Place, than had been known there for 20 Years past; that two large Squadrons, one from Brest, the other from Toulon, were to sail on the first of January next, on an Expedition some where, but that their Destination was a profound Secret.

Silas Deane, Esq; was well in Paris, a Day or two before Captain Palmer sailed.

Last Friday, the Enemy landed 200 Troops, from four Vessels, on the Elizabeth Islands, and plundered from thence about 200 Sheep, besides burning a House and Barn, belonging to Mr. John Read, of this Town.

GOVERNOR JOHANNES DE GRAAFF TO VICE ADMIRAL JAMES YOUNG ¹

St Eustatius december 19th 1776

Sir, I have had the Honor of receiving from the hand of Captain Colpoys of his Britannic Majesty's Ship the Seaford, your Excellencys letter of the 17th instant with the inclosed Memorial, both relative to the Capture of a Brigg the property of Messrs Bendal & Foster McConnell of Dominica, by an armed Vessel, said to be fitted out in this Port and owned by a Mr Vanbibber now an Inhabitant and burgher of the Island: & Mr McConnell one of her Owners brought me a letter from his Excellency Governor Shirley with the same Complaint.

In consequence of your Excellency's application, as the Charge is brought agt a Burgher of the Island, I immediately assembled the Council, in order (if possible) to investigate the truth; and although the fact has not as yet been proved, should it, upon the strictest enquiry, turn out as represented, your Excellency may be assured, that I will not only cause full restitution to be made to the injured Subjects of his Britannic Majesty, but likewise proceed with the utmost rigor of the Law, against the Person or Persons found to be concerned in such Piratical enterprizes, and thereby give your Excellency a convincing proof that the Government of this Island, while it disallows any hostilities, or infringements of the Laws of Nations by any Vessels whatsoever, under the reach of its Guns, is also determined not to suffer with impunity, much less to encourage such unwarrantable proceedings, as it hath lately been (I may venture to say) slanderously charged with. And here I cannot avoid expressing my Concern, that any reports should prevail tending to disturb that Harmony and good understanding, which ought to subsist between the Commanding officers of the respective Governments—reports industriously propagated to interrupt that friendship and Cordiality, which have long subsisted and I trust will long continue to Subsist between His Brittannick Majesty, & the High and Mighty Lords of the States General, my Masters.

I have already partly satisfied Captain Colpoys on this subject both by letter and verbally and must further observe to your Excellency, that although the Instructions of the Commanders in Chief doubtless require their utmost watchfulness & attention in order to prevent any Clandestine transactions, yet irregularities will, in spite of their utmost vigilance, be committed by individuals: of which I believe there are many instances on both sides—the only thing that an Active Commander can do, is upon regular complaints to redress the respective Grievances of the Subjects of the Nations in Amity by every legal method within the limits of his power and instructions – And as this hath been & ever shall continue to be the rule of my Conduct during the unhappy disturbances between Great Britain & her North American Colonies, I flatter myself that your Excellency will not only see great cause to suspect many current assertions, but likewise perceive the Degree of that Malice, which hath represented the Government of this Island as the avowed and declared abettor of a scene of Piracy and depredation: a charge which I should be very sorry that, to their High Mightinesses, to whom, under God, I shall ever think myself accountable for my Conduct, I was not able to prove both illfounded and injurious.

Respecting the positive answer your Excellency desires to have whether any Vessels taken from his Britannic Majesty's Loyal and faithful Subjects, will be Suffered to be brought into this Port and disposed of, I must observe that had your Excellency been pleased to be at the pains of inquiring, you would have readily concluded, that as ever when Great Britain was engaged in a foreign War, no Prizes whatsoever were ever allowed to be brought into this Port, Prudence and my own experience of that matter, will prevent my rushing head long into a measure which I could not answer to my Masters; as the allowing even of Prizes taken in a foreign War being brought into this Port, neither lies with me alone, or with me and the Council jointly; and as little does it depend upon me to determine, whether the Antient Alliances between Great Britain and the Dutch Nation are to be broken off, and new engagements inimical to the King your Master entered into; not the least notification thereof having been transmitted to me. –

Before I conclude I beg leave to mention to your Excellency that as I shall be always ready to prevent or upon due complaint to remove any cause of National Offence as far as my power, the limits of my Orders and the Freedom of such trade, as I am Confident the Lords States General, my Masters, will not suffer to be interrupted, can admit, and in that view will co-operate heartily in promoting a good Harmony and understanding between the respective Governments and Subjects of the British and Belgic Nations; so do I trust that your Excellency, on your side, will give instructions to the Commanders of the Vessels under your direction to abstain from committing any Hostilities or Infringements of the Laws of Nations, under the reach of the Guns of this Island; which have been heretofore the causes of repeated Complaints, as I shall think it my duty to transmit on my side, as I have already done, exact accounts of every even the least material occurrence, that may from time to time happen and in any wise concern My Lords & Masters to be informed of. I have the Honor to be Sir [&c.]

Johannes De Graaff.

This Port always hath made & still makes distinction between Merchant or Private Vessells and the Ships of War belonging to Sovereign States: the latter receive constantly, when they honor its Fortress with a Salute Gun for Gun, as a distinctive mark of Independancy –

My Lord

Providence December 20th 1776

I received a Letter from Capt Furneaux of the Syren dated October 11th last proposing, as he informed me with your Lordships Permission an Exchange of a Number of Prisoners he then had on board his Ship. I wrote to him that I accepted of the Proposal and would send the same Number of Prisoners to Block Island to be exchanged I have since been told that Capt Furneaux was at that Island about the Time agreed upon. But many Difficulties having arisen I was prevented from sending the Prisoners until after the Time stipulated was elapsed. However on the 12th of November I dispatched Mr Adjutant [Benjamin] Stelle with Two Masters of Merchantmen, Five Mates Twenty Seamen and a Corporal in the 53d Regt in the Service of his Britannick Majesty to Block-Island and gave him Orders to effect the Exchange, and in Case of the Absen[ce] of Capt Furneaux to deliver his Prisoners to the Captain of the First British Ship of War which should arrive taking a Receipt for them not doubting but that an equal Number would be returned. Upon Mr Stelle's arrival at the Island he found no Ship of War there and he being on Shore with the Masters and some of the Mates the other Prisoners took the Vessel by Force and carried her to Long Island where they landed and sent the Vessel back to Block-Island. Mr Stelle is not yet returned nor have I had any Intelligence from him within Four Weeks.

A Number of Masters of Vessels who were Prisoners here upon their Petition to the General Assembly were permitted to purchase a Vessel to carry them their Pasengers Mates and Apprentices to Great Britain. They were all embarked and only waited for a Wind when the General Assembly having Notice of Lieut. Barker's Arrival at New-London with Powers from your Lordship to negotiate an Exchange of Prisoners stopped the Brig. and sent a Committee to confer with Lieut. Barker; who entered into an Agreement with him to make an Exchange at Huntington upon Long-Island as near as might be on the 10th instant: In Pursuance of which after having endeavoured in vain to procure a Vessel Pilot and Men without Coercion to carry the Prisoners to the appointed Place I issued a Warrant to the Sheriff to impress them for that Purpose who was upon the Business when we were alarmed with a powerful Naval Armament in the Sound destined as we were informed for this State: Which turned our Attention to Objects of more immediate Importance. In this Situation burthened with the Number of Prisoners in the State I gave Permission to the above-mentioned Masters &c to proceed on their Voyage agreeable to the First Order of Assembly and inclose their Petition to your Lordship. The Brig. I am informed was stopped in Seconet River by One of the Ships of War under your Lordships Command; the Captain of which notwithstanding the Parole that had been given took the principal Part of the Mates and Apprentices out of the Brig. & they are now doing duty on board the British Ships of War –

I beg leave to observe to your Lordship that the unaccountable detention of Adjutant Stelle and the flagrant Act of Violence committed by the Prisoners in running away with his Vessel together with the difficult Navigation in the Sound in the Winter Season create such obstacles as make it almost impracticable to comply with the Agreement entered into with Lieut. Barker.

I have entered into this detail to account to your Lordship for the Failure on our Part in not effecting the Exchange of Prisoners.

I inclose an Account of the Prisoners who have been dismissed from this State for whom I must desire your Lordship to cause an equal Exchange both with Regard to Rank and Number to be made.

I have also to inform your Lordship that we have in this State about Fifty Seamen Prisoners several of whom were Officers on board the British Ships of War whom I am ready to exchange at any Place upon the Continent your Lordship shall appoint in this or the State of Connecticut. – I have the Honor to be with the greatest personal Esteem My Lord [&c.]

ROBERT MORRIS TO SILAS DEANE ¹

Dear Sir

Philadelphia Decembr 20th 1776

It is with a heavy heart I sit down to write to you, as the late unfortunate turn of American Affairs, leaves no room for joy in the mind of any true friend of our Country. – I am now the only member of Congress left in this City; & cannot pretend to give you a regular detail of our manifold Misfortunes, because my Papers are all sent with my Family into the Country; They commenced however with the loss of Fort Washington, by the reduction of which the Enemy made near 2700 of our best Troops Prisoners, & at that critical Period intercepted some dispatches from Genl Washington to Congress, with some of the General's Private Letters, particularly one to Ned Rutledge in which he had fully laid open the unfortunate Situation he was then involved in by the Cursed Short enlistments of our Army, the greatest part of whose times expired on the first of December, & those of the rest on the first of January, when he foresaw that the whole army would leave him, as they had undergone great Fatigue during the Campaign, had Suffered very much by sickness, and were like to Suffer much more for want of Cloathing in the approaching Winter – The Enemy being thus possessed of a most Authentic account of his real situation, determined to take advantage of it, & before Genl Washington had time to make any new Arrangements at Fort Lee, on the West Side of the North River, to which he had Crossed with about 3000 men, a large body of the Enemy landed above and another below him, so that he was near being surrounded by a force much superior to his own, & had nothing left but to retire hastily off the Neck of Land on which Fort Lee Stands, & Leave behind him considerable Baggage & Stores with most of our Large Cannon & Mortars: He retreated to Hackinsac and was there in hopes of making a Stand, until the Militia of the Country should come to his assistance, but the Vigilance of the Enemy did not give time for this; they pursued & he retreated all the way through the Jerseys to Trentown & from thence they forced him across the Delaware where he still remains, to oppose their passage across the River. Lord Cornwallis Commanded the British Forces in the Jerseys until they reached Brunswick where Genl Howe joined them with Reinforcements, determined to make his way to this City without farther Loss of time. You may be sure the Militia of New Jersey and of this State were called upon to turn out and defend their Country in this hour of distress, but alas our internal Enemies had by various Arts & means frightened many, disaffected others, & caused a general Languor to prevail over the minds of almost all men, not before actively engaged in the War; many also were dissatisfied with the Constitutions formed for their respective States; so that from one Cause or another, no Jersey militia turned out to oppose the Enemy's March thro: the Heart of their Country, & it was not without much difficulty that the Associators of this City were prevailed upon to march & join the General which they have now done & their example is likely to be pretty generally followed – During Genl Washingtons retreat thro: the Jerseys he wrote for Genl Lee, who had been left to Command on the East side of the North River, with about 10000 men, most of whose Enlistments are either Expired or Expiring; & he Obeyed the Summons & brought with him about 3000 men, with whom he followed the Enemies rear, but was obliged to make Slow Marches, his people being in great want of Shoes, Stockings, & other Necessaries, which he was forced to Collect from the Tories in the neighbourhood of his Rout. Having passed a place called Chatham, near Elizabeth Town, he Lodged at a Farm House, last thursday night, sev'night, & some treacherous Villain gave Notice to the Enemy, & the Generals ill fate or some cause which I am ignorant of having delayed him there until 10 O'Clock on the Fryday morning, when his Army had Marched and their rear was about $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles before him, he was surpris'd & taken by about 70 Light Horse, who hastily carried him off in Triumph; an Event much to be Lamented. – The Command of this Party then devolved on General Sullivan, who Continuing his Rout fell in with Genl Gates & about 500 men returning from the Lakes, & both joined Genl Washington yesterday; A junction which has been impatiently waited for; but still I fear, that our force is too small to drive the Enemy from their Posts near the Delaware without which Philadelphia must be in danger of Falling, & they doubtless mean to attack it whenever they can cross the River on Ice, & have only been Kept from it by our having sent up the Gon-dalo's & brought off or destroyed all the boats along the Jersey Shore. — The scattered Cantonments of the Enemy, seem however favorable to an Attack from us & we are preparing to make one, but it will be a work of extreme difficulty to get at them: they have excellent intelligence of all our Movements, while we have scarce any that is certain, of theirs: Lord & General Howe have besides issued a Proclamation offering Pardon without exception to all who submit & apply for it, which a great Part of the Inhabitants of the Jersey's are supposed to have done, & thus strengthened the Hands of our Enemies.

In this perplexing situation of things Congress were informed this day seven night that an advanced Party of Hessians & Highlanders had taken Possession of Burlington; that they were pushing for Coopers Ferry (opposite this City) & that they had the means of Crossing it: There were no Troops to oppose them, our whole force both by Land & water, being above; it was therefore deemed unsafe for Congress to remain here, and it was absolutely necessary that they should be in a place of Safety where they could deliberate freely & without interruption: they therefore last Saturday adjourned to Baltimore, where they are now sitting. This City was for ten days in the utmost Confusion and distress — Almost all have removed their Families & Effects from it except the Quakers who with their Families pretty generally remain: Besides these we have many sick Soldiers, & some few effective ones under General Putnam, who is come here to throw up Lines, & prepare for the defence of the Place if Genl Washington should be forced to retreat hither — You may be sure that I have my full share of trouble on this occasion. — We are told the British Troops are kept from Plunder but the Hessians & other Foreigners looking upon that as a right of War, Plunder wherever they go, from both Whigs & Tories indiscriminately, & horrid Devestation they have made. —

I must add to this Gloomy Picture one Circumstance more distressing than all the rest, because it threatens instant and total ruin to the American Cause, unless it be effectually and Speedily remedied; I mean the depreciation of the Continental Currency; The Enormous Pay of our Army, the immense expence at which they are supplied with Provisions, Clothing and other necessaries, & in short the extravagance that has prevailed in most departments of the public service, have called forth prodigious Emissions of Paper money both Continental and Colonial; and our internal Enemies who are numerous & many of them rich, have always been undermining its value by various Artifices, and now that our distresses are wrought to a pitch, by the Success & near approach of the Enemy they speak plainer & some of them positively refuse to take it at any rate, & those who do otherwise, receive it with fear & trembling & you may judge of its value even amongst these, when I tell you that 666 continental Paper Dollars are given for a Bill of Exchange of 100 £ Sterling, 3 Dollars for a pair of Shoes, 12 Dollars for a Hat, half a Dollar for a pound of Butter & so on: A Common Labourer asks two Dollars a day for his Work & idles away half his time; all which amounts to a real depreciation of the money:—The War must be carried on at an Expence proportioned [to] this nominal value, which must inevitably call for immense emissions, and a farther depreciation must therefore ensue; unless prevented by borrowing in the money now in Circulation, which we are attempting both by Loan & Lottery;

though from our present troubles, but little has been done in either of these Ways here: How they succeed in the other States I am not well informed. Something more will however be necessary; force must inevitably be employed, and I dread to see the day of employing it: We have already Calamities sufficient for any Country, & the Measure will be full when one part of the People of America are obliged to Dragoon the other, and at the very time when they are Contending with a Powerful external Foe. For my part I see but two ways of releif, & one of these must be from you: If France will open her Eyes to her true Interest & think the Commerce of North America worth the Expence & Evils of a War with Great Britain, she may easily create a diversion, & totally change the face of our Affairs; but she must do it soon: our situation is Critical & admits of no delay I dont however mean that instant submission must ensue, if we should be left unassisted; but there is a great difference between the Benefits which she may derive from a Connection with this Country in full health & vigor & those which can be obtained after it shall be exhausted by the expensive Efforts of a tedious War, in which its Cities will be destroyed, its Fields ravaged, its inhabitants diminished in number, plu[n]-dered of their property, & disabled from Cultivating the most fertile soil in the World. Neither can she after a tedious delay expect that Vigorous Assistance, from us which she may be assured of, with a more early declaration in our favour—If they join us generously in the day of our distress, without attempting undue advantages because we are distressed, they will bind a grateful people to promote their future glory & intrest with unabating Zeal, & from my Knowledge of the Commerce of this Country with Europe I dare assert that Whatever European power enjoys the preference of it, must necessarily become the Richest & most Potent in Europe. But alas should time be lost in tedious negociation, & Succours be withheld America must sue for Peace from her Oppressors. Our People knew not the hardships & Calamities of War when they dared Britain to Arms—Every man was then a bold Patriot, felt himself equal to the Contest, & seemed to wish for an opportunity of evincing his Prowess—but now when we are actually engaged, When Death and ruin stare us in the face, & when nothing but intrepid[i]ty & vigorous exertion can deliver us, sorry am I to say, that many of those who were foremost in noise, shrink back like Cowards from the Danger. This indeed is not generally the Case, but fear often becomes Epidemical, & there is danger of its spreading like Contagion among us, unless some fortunate event should stop the Disorder in time.

You will doubtless be surprized that our Navy is not farther advanced, because you are unacquainted with many of the difficulties which have retarded its Progress, particularly the Want of Sea Coal for our Anchor Smiths, the Disappointments in our first attempts to Cast Cannon, and above all the frequent calling out of our Militia in a manner which would permit an Exemption of the necessary Workmen. You will wonder at this, & it would require more time than I can spare to explain it & therefore you must be satisfied with knowing the Fact; Though Dr Franklin will be able to tell you many Particulars respecting the Flying Camp which may account for it.

The Frigate in New Hampshire is a very fine Ship Completely fitted with every thing but Cannon which were to have been Cast in Rhodisland, where the Attention of all people has been so eminently engaged with business of Privateering that they have sacrificed every other Object public & Private to it. I understand however that the Guns Cast in Connecticut for the Frigate Building there, are Ordered to Portsmouth, and soon after their Arrival the Raileigh will doubtless put to Sea.

At Boston there are two fine Frigates nearly ready for Sea & their Commanders McNeil [Hector McNeill] & Manly [John Manley] are very good Officers. At Rhodisland were built the two worst of all our Frigates as I am informed by those who have seen them. They are however completely fitted & partly manned.

The Frigate built in Connecticut is said to be a very fine ship, but she cannot put to sea this Winter for Want of Sails Cordage &c

The two New York Frigates are also very fine vessels but they are blocked up by the Enemy, & have been hawled into Esopus Creek for Safety.

At this place we have four very fine Ships, one of them the Randolph Capt. Biddle, carrying 26 twelve pounders, will I hope put to sea with this Letter; another, the Delaware, Capt. Alexander, is nearly ready; but the other two want Guns, Anchors and men.

At Baltimore there is a fine frigate wanting only an Anchor & some few men.

Besides these we have in the Public Service, the Alfred Columbus & Reprisal, from 24 to 16 Guns: The Cabot, Camden [sic Hampden], Andrew Doria, & Lexington from 16 to 12 Guns: The Sloops Providence, Hornet, Fly, Independance, & Sachem: And the Schooners Wasp, Musquito & Georgia Packet: We have besides two very fine Row Gallies of 90 feet Keel, built here, but they are not yet rigged – It has also been lately determined by Congress to build some Line of Battle Ships; and at all Events to push forward & pay the utmost attention to an American Navy; and I wish you to make Known throughout Europe that the greatest Encouragement is here given to Seamen; their pay in our Navy being eight Dollars p Month, with the best chance for Prize money that men ever had; together with the privilege of being discharged after each Cruize, if desired: In the Merchants Service Seamen now get from 30 to 40 Dollars p Month.

Respecting our Commerce, the Eastern States are so intent upon the business of privateering that they mind little else, however there is some exportation of Produce from thence, & their Imports with their Captures have been so considerable, that they are much better Supplied than any other part of America. New York is in the hands of the Enemy, and the Produce of New Jersey will be totally consumed by their Army & ours. In this State, we had last Season the worst Crop of Wheat ever Known both as to quantity and quality: this being our Staple commodity & Staves prohibited, our Merchants have been led to purchase Tobacco in Maryland and Virginia, & to employ their Ships in exporting it, with some Flour, Boards Bees Wax &c. We have imported considerable Quantities of Goods but as fast as they arrive they are bought up for the Army or for the use of the neighbouring States, & therefore Continue to bear high Prices.

The Value of Ships has also risen in the same enormous proportion with every thing else, & the scarcity & insolence of Seamen, are beyond bearing.

In Maryland, Virginia, South Carolina & Georgia, they have plenty of valuable produce on hand but no Ships to Carry it away; & the cruisers which are constantly all along the Coast, make it dangerous to send Vessels from one Port to another: so that we are Surrounded by Difficulties in our Land & Sea Service & in our Commerce. Agriculture & Mechanic Arts have also their impediments by the Enlistments of Soldiers, & the frequent calls upon the Militia. In short nothing but the most arduous exertions & Virtuous Conduct in the Leaders, seconded by a spirited behaviour in the Army and a patient endurance of Hardship, by the people in general can long support the Contest. France should therefore strike with us at once & she will reap an immediate Harvest; her Manufactures will sell for almost any Price, & procure her in return Tobacco, Rice, Indigo, Deer Skins, Furs, Wheat, Flour, Iron, Bees Wax, Lumber, Fish, Oil, Whalebone, Pot & Pearl Ashes, with various other Articles; and she may here find an ample field to employ her Shipping and raise Seamen for her Navy; but she must put in for this Prize now or never.

I will enter no detail of our Proceedings in Congress, but you may depend upon this, that so long as that Respectable Body, persist in their attempt to execute, as well as deliberate on, their Business it never will be properly done, and this has been told them many, very many times, by myself and others, but some of them do not like to part with Power, or to pay others for doing what they cannot do themselves.

I have your favour of the 30th Sept^r now before me; the letter by the same Conveyance from Martinico, under the Cover of Mr Bingham, I have sent down to the Committe at Baltimore, & written them my opinion of the Justice of your Complaint for want of intelligence; I had often told it them before, and though, as you know, I was not put in to that Committe to Carry on, but forward the Correspondence, I have been obliged to write all the Letters which have been written for some time past; but as Col. [Richard Henry] Lee, Mr [William] Hooper, & Dr [John] Witherspoon are now added to the Committe, I shall hereafter excuse myself from that Task; thought it proper to give you this just state of our Affairs at present, because I suppose the Committe will not for some time get fairly in to their Guns at Baltimore and when they do, they probably may not be fond of laying things before you so fully as I have done. Some of us are indeed of very sanguine temperaments, and too apt to flatter ourselves that things are not so bad as they appear to be, or that they will soon mend &c; I however think that you should be fairly & fully informed of the state of our Affairs, that you may know how to act, & how to represent them; keeping secret what ought to be so, & promulgating what should be known. — You will shew this Scrawl to Dr Franklin for whose safe arrival my earnest Wishes have often gone forth &c &c —

My own Private affairs necessarily detained me here after the departure of Congress, & it is well that I staid; having set many things to rights, that would have otherwise been in the greatest Confusion: Indeed I find my presence, so very necessary that I shall remain here until the Enemy drive me away. I am Dear Sir [&c.]

Rob^t Morris.

Mylord, English frigates cruising in these seas have been so bold as to act in a manner which is as injurious to our trade as it is contrary to our treaties and which constitutes an insult to our flag. They have searched and examined the cargoes in order to see if they included any powder; they have acted this way almost within the reach of our batteries. Having been informed of these perpetrations I gave order to M. Dorve [Thomas Dorves] ² to cruise off our coast for a few days. He has complied with my order and has just returned to his main station to windward of the island. I am with respect, Mylord [&c.]

JOHN LANGDON TO WILLIAM WHIPPLE ¹

Dear Sir

Portsmo Decemr 21. '76 –

Your several favours of the 16 & 24th Ulto Ive just Received by which I find that some of my Letters have miscarried (it is not my Friend thro' Forgetfulness by any means I think I've not omitted only one week since I first wrote []) Your two Letters have been on their way one Month which makes me think there is some interruption your Letters were brou't to me by a private Hand picked up in a Tavern at Newbury Port before this comes to hand you'll receive some of mine by which you'll See that the Schooner Betsey arrived Safe and hope that the Schooner Friend's Adventure is arrived with you for Flour & Iron ere this which you are to pay for as also Mr Wharton's accot as you'll see by my Letters, You'll see by my Former Letters to the Marine Committee the Sales of the Prize Ship [Royal] Exchange by which I Cr the Continent for about £5000 L My which is almost expended Mr [Joshua] Wentworth has not paid me any money as yet but what I shall have of him will not amount to more than two Thousand Dollars which is nothing – The Betsey Frigate Capt [Thomas] Palmer sailed few Days since for France I shall Charge that Ship one Thousand Pounds with the Repairs included on Hull Masts Yards &c. – which any person must think reasonable as I could have had three hundred pounds more for her

I shall make out the Secret Committee's accot soon by which they'll see the expenditure of the money & the Ballance due to me there is nothing for European Markett here except Masts & the want of Cordage prevents my sending away another

We are just beginning Cap. [John] Roche's Ship hope to have her raised soon the other being Launched by building this Ship in the Winter will cost one third more I observe you mention a 74 Gun Ship but why have I not Orders to cutt Timber the Time will be over for halling before I can hear from you as it will be two Month's before I have an Answer to this as the Post now goes – I shall at a venture Cutt & hall three or four Hundred Tonns of Timber more than I want for this Ship for Godsake let the orders come in Season as it will be impossible to do without let the Orders come from the Committee, or by their Order as it will not do for me to act from Private Letters least any Dispute –

If I had Orders now as the Snow is just now come could get all the Timber in the Yard this Winter Which is the main point but if the Orders does not come in few Days it will be impossible – by the Strength of Your Letter of the 24 Ultò shall have some Hundred Tonns at a venture as I said before. If our Schooner arrives & there should be an embargo at Philadelphia you can send her away as the Iron & flour is wanted in part for the Continent. Cap. Moffatt has mentioned his Vessels to me I should certainly take her but no Cargo can be got for her I am obliged to strip the [Royal] Exchange which belongs to the Continent for want of Cargo

I am now in the House as also your Bror Joseph for the upper Towns George Gains & John Pickering was chose, but the latter refuses – I observe what you mention of my Neighbour & shall take due notice off it if any Vessel could be fitted away he should do it taking all Advantage & if you think of any thing let the order come to him who is as good a Man as can be [had] for that Business – If the order should come soon for the 74 I shall offer him to superintend the Yard & pay all monies if nothing better

Think of any thing my Friend & I am ready as I know of none I would sooner serve. – Inclosed you have a Sketch of the monies in my hands, by which you'll see the immediate necessity of sending me Twenty or Thirty Thousand Dollars more than what you have in Your Hands – The Ballance of which you'll also send as I shall draw no Orders, all the Gentlemen from the Southward who have had Prizes here lay out their money here & of Course will not buy Bills on Philadelphia – pray my Friend bear this in mind immediately on the receipt of this send off the money – otherwise I cant carry on Cap. Roches Ship, as I find Provisions & pay the men every Fortnight Let the order for the 74 come immediately if it comes at all, for without the Timber is in the Yard by the middle of February it cannot be got in & Twelve Hundred Tonns of Timber or more is no small piece of work to Cutt hew & hall This Timber must be paid for Down therefore Cash must follow ev'ry order or it may as well not never come – let me have Duplicates of all Letters & orders least any miscarry it is verry unaccountable that the order could not have come last Month the odds of it's not having come then & not till January will be at least Ten thousand Dollars

I've charged 2½ [per cent] on Prizes which no Doubt is the lo'vest as to building of Ships in the way I do it letting every thing pass thro' my hands & not Contracting makes much work & trouble the expence you'll easily see I've three Clerks which is great expence my Warehouse always like Tavern at great Expence in Treating Gentlemen who have business with me – These matters take the greatest part of my Profits therefore it cannot be done in this way without good Commission & unless I Contract with some Persons & take no Trouble about it which is not a good way –

As to surrender of Forts Washington & Lee are in my Opinion Trifles comp[are]d to the Grand Cause it ought to Inspire us to noble deeds am verry happy in what you mention of secret Intelligence No Guns from Connecticut the Raleigh must now lay 'till Spring must get out all her Water Ballast &c & must be hove Down & Cleaned before going to Sea – I expect the Assembly will go into Choice of Delegates next Week which will be immediately Transmitted you pray get us some money for our State that Wee may not omit any more –

I Intend writing you from Exeter relative to the Affairs of this State – beleive me my worthy Friend tho' you are in Philadelphia I am not unmindfull of our intimate & old acquaintance let me say – I am with Respect [&c.]

I hope I may not be thought officious when I mention from good authority that Comodore Hopkins designs as soon as the Ice begins to make, to haul his frigates up to providence I take it when that takes place them cannon wou'd serve a good purpose if they where shifted on board the Hancock, as it is possible the Comodore may be supplied by the time the river opens.

. . . I am now come to the 22d Decemr and most heartily congratulate my Country on the Arrival of the Alfreds prize with a great quantity of soldiers cloathing, the Alfred arrived in this port 17th gave information of her taking this Ship, and parting from her five days before her arrival – ordering her to Rhode Island, I imediately sent an Express to Dartmouth, ordering an advice boat to be dispatch'd with utmost Expedition to speak the ship, I also dispatch'd one of our Schooners from hence to endeavour to speak her, And very fortunately the boat met her at a harbour in the Vineyard she arriv'd safe at Dartmouth last fryday, I sent orders by the return of the Express to unload her and convey the cloathing into safety imediately – Mr Livingston sets of[f] for Dartmouth this hour in order to receive what part of the cargo is wanted for the Army and to forward it – I most sincerely wish she may prove as valuable as Capt [John Paul] Jones imagines, he says she has 16000 suits Cloaths on board,² shall be able to furnish you with the particulars in my next. –

Bristol 21st Decr 1776

The Ice has drove off the Gallies – They have been of great Use in keeping off the Enemy from Burlington, by which means we have a more easy & safe communication with that State, to procure information – we had good Intelligence, yesterday, that the Enemy were on their march to take possession of the Town – If the weather moderates I beg the Gallies may come up again, if it is only to shew themselves – To leave their Quarters after they are settled will distress them – If the weather should not moderate I beg you will be pleased to order the two 12 pounders, I sent you a few days ago, up again immediatly, as they will be sufficient to drive them out of their Quarters by a small Work being thrown up on McIlwaines Point – The Guns are heavy – Please to order a strong Team – I am Gent: with great Respt: [&c.]

BENJAMIN RUSH TO RICHARD HENRY LEE ¹

Near Bristol, December 21, 1776.

I have learnt from many people, and among others, from two New England officers, that the four eastern states will find great difficulty in raising their quota of men, owing to that excessive rage for privateering, which now prevails among them. Many of the continental troops now in our service, pant for the expiration of their enlistments, in order that they may partake of the spoils of the West Indies. At a moderate computation there are now not less than ten thousand men belonging to New England on board privateers. New England, and the continent, cannot spare them. They have a right at this juncture, to their services, and to their blood. We must have an army; the fate of America must be decided by an Army. It must consist of seventy or eighty thousand men, and they must all be fit for the field before the first day of May next. Since the captivity of General Lee, a distrust has crept in among the troops, of the abilities of some of our general officers high in command. They expect nothing now from heaven taught and book taught generals.

Philada Decr 21st 1776.

. . . inform you, that the Sloop Independence Commanded by Lt Robinson [James Robertson], (Cap Young being left behind sick) pushed out from Chincoteague where she first put in, and notwithstanding she was chased by Six of the Enemys Cruizers at our Capes, She got safe up here & is now landing the Cargo. I have determined to send 856 Blankets that came in her, to Genl Washington and have informed him they were imported for the use of the New recruits, but as the Inclemency of the Weather and the exceeding Severe duty of the Troops now with him, entitles them to every comfort we can afford I submit to him whether to make use of them for their use or not.²

The cloths I will deliver to Mr [James] Mease with orders to have them made up fast as possible - 919 Muskets shall be delivered to Mr Commissary Towers to wait the orders of Genl Washington or of the Board of War and I hope one or other of them will send orders soon as possible—

The Council of Safety want Money and have sent an express for a Supply I have borrowed Sufficient for the Marine department altho the Disbursements are considerable. Capt Biddle will get more seamen than we expected. the Delaware is getting ready and I have ordered the Fly Capt Warner down the Bay to watch the Enemies Ships & bring us word if they shou'd quit that Station. I have sent an express across the Jerseys to Capt Baldwin of the Wasp to Cruize outside of them to give notice to inward bound Ships, and have Stationed the Hornet Capt [John] Nicholson (who attempted to get out to Sea but cou'd not) in Christeen Creeks Mouth to Act in Conjunction with a large Galley of this State in defence of that Creek as there are many Valuable Stores up it I shall get the sloop Independence hove down & some little damage she recd at Chincoteague repaired & then send her also to watch the Enemys Ships. . . . There are some Prisoners on board the Enemies Ships at our Capes that have wrote up to me to procure their release, Amongst the rest Capt Morgan of the Bermuda Sloop that carried Mr Deane to France, who was returning here with dispatches and some Goods and was unfortunately taken near Cape May. I will send a letter for Capt Hammond of the Roebuck open to Henry Fisher at Lewis Town to be sent off by a Flag, in which I shall assure him that we have suffered great Numbers of Masters, Mates & Men belonging to Merchant Ships taken by our Cruizers to depart, without thinking of detaining them for an exchange & recommend his releasing these People or he will oblige us to alter that part of our Conduct as this is strictly true in a number of instances that have come under my Notice I hope Congress will approve the design. . . .

Philadelphia December 21 1776 –

Mr Davis Bevan having informed the board that Captain Hamond commander of His Majestys Ship the Roebuck had a number of Prisoners on board His Ship that were taken out of Trading Vessels belonging to the United States of America, and that he was desirous of Exchanging them for an equal number of like prisoners, subjects of Great Britain. But it having been the uniform practice of this State to release all such prisoners immediately on their arrival in this City, leaving them to their Liberty to enter the Merchant service if they chose or otherwise dispose of themselves; this board therefore have it not in their power to make any such exchange, But it is Resolved.

That this Council will deliver over to the Order of Captain Hamond or any other officer of the King of Great Britain an equal number of such prisoners as he may release of the Subjects of these States whenever this Council shall have it in their power.

COMMITTEE OF SECRET CORRESPONDENCE TO THE AMERICAN COMMISSIONERS IN FRANCE ¹

[Extract]

Honourable Gentlemen

Baltimore in Maryland 21 Decemr 1776

After expressing our Hopes, that this will find you all three safely fixed at Paris, we proceed with Pleasure to acknowledge the Receipt of Mr [Silas] Deane's Letter of the 1st October – When we reflect on the Character & Views of the Court of London, it ceases to be a Wonder, that the British Ambassador, and all other British Agents, should employ every means that tended to prevent European Powers, but France more especially, from giving America Aid in this War – Prospects of Accomodation, it is well known, would effectually prevent foreign Interference, and therefore, without one serious Design of accomodating on any other Principles, but the absolute Submission of America, the delusive Idea of Conciliation hath been industriously suggested on both Sides the Water, that, under Cover of this dividing & aid-withholding Prospect, the vast British Force, sent to America, might have the fairest Chance of succeeding; And this Policy hath in fact done considerable Injury to the United States . . .²

. . . If the great Land & Sea Force, with which we have been attacked, be compared with the feeble State, in which the Commencement of the War found us, with respect to Military Stores of all Kinds, Soldier's Cloathing, Navy, & Regular Force; and if the infinte Art be considered with which Great Britain hath endeavoured to prevent our getting these Necessaries from foreign Parts, which has in part prevailed, the Wonder will rather be, that our Enemies have made so little Progress, than that they have made so much –

All Views of Accomodation with Great Britain, but on Principles of Peace as Independent States and in a Manner perfectly consistent with the Treaties our Commissioners may make with foreign States, being totally at an End, since the Declaration of Independance & the Embassy to the Court of France, Congress have directed the Raising of 94 Battalions of Infantry with some Cavalry – Thirteen Frigates from 24 to 36 Guns are already launched & fitting, and 2 Ships of the Line with 5 more Frigates are ordered to be put on the Stocks – We hear the Levies are going on well in the different States – Until the new Army is collected the Militia must curb the Enemies Progress – The very considerable Force that Great Britain has already in North America, the Possibility of recruiting it here within their own Quarters by Force & Fraud together, added to the Reinforcements, that may be sent from Europe, and the Difficulty of finding Funds in the present depressed State of American Commerce, all conspire to prove incontestibly, that if France desires to preclude the Possibility of North America's being ever reunited with Great Britain, now is the favourable Moment for establishing the Glory, Strength, & Commercial Greatness of the former Kingdom by the Ruin of her ancient Rival – A decided Part now taken by the Court of Versailles, and a vigorous Engagement in the War in Union with North America, would with Ease sacrifice the Fleet & Army of Great Britain, at this time chiefly collected about N York – The inevitable Consequence would be the quick Reduction of the British Islands in the West Indies, already bared of Defence by the Removal of their Troops to this Continent – For Reasons herein assigned, Gentn, you will readily discern, how all important it is to the Security of American Independence, that France should enter the War, as soon as may be, and how necessary it is (if it be possible) to procure from her the Line of Battle Ships, you were desired in your Instructions to obtain for us, the speedy Arrival of which here, in the present State of Things, might decide the Contest at one Stroke . . .

. . . Congress approve of Armed Vessells being fitted out by you on Continental Account, provided the Court of France dislike not the Measure, and blank Commissions for this Purpose will be sent you by the next Opportunity – Private Ships of War, or Privateers, cannot be admitted where you are, because the Securities, necessary in such Cases to prevent irregular Practices, cannot be given by the Owners & Commanders of such Privateers . . .

. . . The last letters bring us a piece of Intelligence that it may be material for you to know one Mr [Davis] Bevan a person that may be depended on who was taken by Capt Hammond [Andrew Snape Hamond] informed Mr Morris that Hammond told him they were now determin'd to put a total stop to our trade, and for that purpose 6 Frigates were to be stationed off Georgia and the Carolinas, 6 off the Capes of Virginia and six off Delaware. Their signals and their stations were fixed so as to form a compleat line along the Coast and that they have determined to keep their Stations during the whole winter. This I fancy it will be difficult for them to do, however I thought it necessary the Board should know their plan.

Eagle, off New York, Decr the 22d 1776.

Sir, By Captain Graeme who arrived the 17th I had the Satisfaction to receive your favor of the 12th giving account of the early and effectual Possession of Rhode Island; An Event which I esteem of great Importance towards a more speedy termination of the unhappy Contest maintained by the deluded People of this Continent.

In order to extend the Benefits of that important acquisition, it will be expedient to disengage as many of the Ships of War under your Command, as soon as they can be conveniently spared, from a longer Attendance on the Service for which they were placed under your separate Direction. Wherefore in consideration of the State of the Asia, subsequent to the late accident of grounding off Fisher's Island, on your junction with the Transports in the Sound; and the Condition of the Experiment caused by the Action in Charles Town Harbour; I am to desire that the earliest opportunity which a necessary Suspension of your operations with the Squadron for the further purpose of your former Instructions affords, may be taken, for having those two Ships cleaned and refitted. And that You will thereupon immediately direct the respective Commanders to repair forthwith to the Port they can first most conveniently gain in England; But to Plymouth in preference, if circumstances permit: Being o[f] such their Arrival to make the same known to the Secretary by express, that they may receive the earliest orders from the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty for their further proceedings. But before the dismissal of those Ships on that occasion, you will please to draft from one or both of them, such a Number of Marines as will complete the Complement of Marines on board each of the Ships remaining with You short thereof. The same resource is to be taken for furnishing the Naval or Ordnance Stores, which can be spared with propriety for supplying the Deficiencies of your Squadron in such respects. These two Ships should not be detained longer than the End of the first Week of the next Month, but from absolute Necessity, or some adequate benefit to the King's Service impending In order that they may be returned to this Coast early enough in the ensuing Spring, for the further purpose of this appointment.

You will likewise please in the same Circumstances, to deliver the Orders and separate Instructions enclosed herewith to Commodore Hotham. And as I conclude the Emerald and Brune may be spared for the same Service, I desire You will give the necessary directions to the Captains of those Ships to put themselves under the Command of Commodore Hotham accordingly; One condition however that they also are not wanted for any present occasion whereof I am not advised. And as the Harbour of Newport will become the chief Port of Rendezvous for the cruising Ships during the Severity of the ensuing Winter Season; You will be furnished with other Frigates from time to time, to act under your orders, as I have opportunity to make my intentions known therein to the several Commanders.

There was an original Mismanagement in the transaction with the Persons in Authority in the Colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantation, respecting the Mode of carrying the proposed Exchange of Prisoners into execution; By the appointment of Block Island for the Place of mutual delivery of the Prisoners to be there exchanged. Hence the pretension of Mr Benjamin Stelle cannot well be disputed. I therefore think it fit that he should be immediately dismissed; Having it made known to him that his detention has been occasioned by the want of timely notice from Captn Furneaux, who was prevented therein by the tempestuous Weather that succeeded the Agreement, and afterwards forced him back to this Port. Mr Stelle's fruitless attendance off of Block Island, has been an unavoidable effect of the same Cause. But in order to prevent such disappointments in future, and (which of course it is desirable to conceal from him) to secure to the King's Service the benefits which were the primary objects of giving countenance to such an Intercourse with the King's rebellious Subjects, You will please to apprise him that the further Exchange which may be made of Prisoners on either Side hereafter, will be conducted under your direction: In manner as I shall have the honor to explain to You more fully in a separate Letter. You will please further to acquaint Mr Stelle for the Information of his Employers, that the 36 Prisoners as by the enclosed List have been set at liberty in Connecticut, in consequence of Advice I had received from one of the Persons discharged that several British Prisoners had enjoyed the same benefit in pursuance of the agreement with Captn Furneaux. The number so released not being then properly ascertained to me, I did not wait for that formality, and find by the List you have transmitted (which I therefore herewith return) that 11 are due on the Part of his Employers.

It is with much concern that I have been advised from the Contents of Captain Macartney's Letter of the necessity Captain Fielding deemed himself under to resent the Insult offered to the Flag of Truce he sent to Nashawn Island, in the manner therein stated. If the Inhabitants were conscious of the Deference paid by all civilized Nations to an Intercourse proffered under the Sanction of a Flag of Truce, they certainly merited the severest Treatment. But as I rather suppose they are of a Class wholly uninformed in such Distinctions, I much wish that other expedients had been taken to apprise them of their Misconduct; and that Extremities, which could have no immediate advantage to the King's Service attending them, had been at least postponed.

Nevertheless as things are now circumstanced it becomes necessary that the motives for proceeding to such severities, should be made generally known, Lest an impression should be taken of the King's intentions with regard to the ignorant and misguided part of his disaffected Subjects, different from His Majesty's most gracious purpose in such respects.

You are therefore requested to use every seasonable means, for making those motives, so generally known. And if the Circulation thereof cannot be advanced through the Channel of any intercourse which the Inhabitants of Block Island may probably hold with those of the Elizabeth Islands, and of the adjacent Coasts of the Continent, it is my earnest desire that it may be made an Object of particular Attention, and every requisite facility given to promote it.

And for the same beneficial purposes, You are at liberty, in respect of these Instructions, to grant, and it is advisable to take all suitable Opportunities to allow, the Inhabitants dwelling upon the Coasts adjacent to the Stations of the Ships under your command, the use of their ordinary Fishing-Craft or other means of providing for their daily Subsistence and Support; where the same does not seem liable to any material abuse. And in your Signification thereof to the several Captains, I must desire You will also recommend to them, to encourage and cultivate all amicable correspondence with the said Inhabitants, to gain their good Will and Confidence, whilst they demean themselves in a peaceable and orderly manner. And to grant them every other Indulgence which the Limitations upon their Trade specified in the Act passed the last Session of Parliament for restraining the Commerce of the rebellious Colonies therein mentioned, will consistently admit: In order to conciliate their friendly Dispositions and to detach them from the Prejudices they have imbibed to the Subversion of all legal Authority in the different Provinces concerned.

Having made, from the number of Frigates under your Orders, the dispositions requisite for blocking up the Ports of New London, Westward; Those in Buzzards Bay, Eastward; And the Channels from Providence and the adjacent parts communicating with your present Station; No means offering for getting possession of, or destroying the Armed Vessels of the Enemy, collected in those Retreats, It will be next incumbent to provide similar Restrictions on the New England Ports. In these several instances, I conceive it will be expedient to suggest proper places of Anchorage for the cruising Ships to retire to at times, for enabling them to keep at, or near their Stations, during the ensuing Winter Season.

In respect to a suitable Provision for the necessary restraint upon the New England Ports, Out of the Frigates You may have from time to time with you disengaged from the several Services previously noted in the preceeding paragraph, a sufficient number (I trust,) will remain, to be successively appointed for this important object. Very secure anchorage I am told, may be found for them in Cape Cod Bay; under Cat-Island, near Marblehead; As well as Mount Desert to the Northward, occasionally. It will become the several Captains to consider and avail themselves of the best Use to be made thereof, for intercepting the Armed Vessels fitted by the rebellious Colonists in their Passage to and from the adjacent Ports; and for the re-capture of the Prizes made on the property of His Majesty's faithful Subjects inhabiting other Parts of the British Dominions. A further care will be requisite in these last Appointments, that the Force of the Frigates may be sufficient to guard against the hazard of Insult, from a too superior Enemy; reduced as the Rebel Colonists are now become, to assemble their chief maritime Strength at Boston. In this view I shall submit to your Consideration the propriety of appointing two Frigates to keep together, nearer the Coast, for being able to secure a seasonable Retreat at all times either under Cape Cod, Cat-Island or the Isle of Shoals; on such appearance of bad Weather as threatens otherwise to force them from their Station. The other Frigates (whereof I judge that two at most will be a sufficient number) ordered for the same Service, may be stationed separately off St George's Bank in different Latitudes; Or from 20 to 30 Leagues Eastward of the former: The several Captains being advised of such their respective Appointments.

To correspond with this Intention, and to furnish more sufficient means for suitable Reliefs of the several stationed Ships acting under your Orders, directions will be sent for the Cruizers lately appointed from Halifax to the New England Coasts and assembling occasionally at that Port, to rendezvous during the ensuing Winter and repair for the necessary supplies of Provisions and Water, at Rhode Island. The Captains returning from those Coasts will furnish Lights for a better Choice of proper Stations (if necessary) for the several purposes aforesaid; and your Ability and Judgment will profit thereby, for amending the appointments accordingly.

In the attempts made to derive advantage from an Exchange of Prisoners, there is reason to suspect that the disaffected Americans with whom that matter has been hitherto transacted, have countenanced if not assisted, the escape of the returned British Prisoners. Wherefore I am to desire You will please to authorise and inform the several Captains of the cruising Ships; That in case by the capture of any Trading Ships of the Rebels, or Ships armed for War they shall be encumbered with a number of Prisoners not inclined to enter for the Service, they are permitted to exchange the same against any British Prisoners, Officer for Officer claiming equal Rank in the said Armed Vessels, and Sailor for Sailor, as by any communication for that purpose which they may have opportunity to open with the Inhabitants of the Provinces having such British Prisoners in possession, they are able to effect. But if being unable to make such advantageous exchange, they are likely to be forced to quit their Stations because of the number of Prisoners they may have on board, they are, in that case, equally permitted to land such of them as were not taken in Arms; in the Provinces to which they belong, or where more convenient with respect to the purpose of their cruising Instructions.

The nine victualling Transports named in the Margin have Sally been sent under Convoy of the Kingfisher for the Supply of the Betsey Ships arriving from time to time at Rhode Island. And that due Active Care may be taken in the Conduct of the Issues and Receipts Success thereof, and in other matters having reference thereto, the Agent
Nancy Victualler at this Port has been directed to forward by the same Northam Conveyance, a particular of the several Articles in the said Vic-
John tualling Ships contained, with other needful Documents:
Triton Whereupon You are desired to cause proper regard to be paid Generous Friends by such Deputy Agent, as, being hereby so impowered, You see fit to charge with those several Authorities. And for his encouragement in a faithful Discharge of the Duties he shall so undertake, he will be allowed five shillings a day during the time of his continuance in the management thereof; upon the Certificate of the Agent Victualler, to whom he is to make report of his proceedings from time to time.

And as the said Victualling Transports are taken up on monthly Pay, which is to be continued until their return to Deptford, unless the Masters shall desire to be discharged abroad; In which last Case they are to be respectively allowed one Month's Freight after their discharge; It will be for the Advantage of the King's Service that the Transports should be cleared of their Lading as soon as may be. Wherefore if any Stores can be provided on Shore wherein the several Articles of Provisions can be safely deposited and secured from Fire, or other such destructive Accidents, it is advisable to adopt that Expedient for the earlier Discharge of the Ships; Putting them under Convoy to be seen 50 Leagues into the Sea, and there left to prosecute their intended Voyages or to proceed on their return to Europe accordingly.

For supplying the Cruisers under your Orders with Naval Stores, the same Facilities do not offer. One Store-Ship may be daily expected to arrive from Halifax. And I have already sent Directions for another to be appointed for this Port also; Whence I flatter myself I shall soon be sufficiently assisted in the Articles of Sails and Cordage. But of Masts, Plank and Spars of different Dimensions there is the greatest Want. I shall be glad to have Advice if any Provision can be made thereof at Rhode Island, and for the repairs that may be necessary to the Flat-Boats, the due care of which you will permit me to recommend to your particular Attention. I have the honor to be, with great regard [&c.]

My Lord Roebuck in Cape Henlopen Road the 22d Decr 1776.

As I send the Perseus to convoy two prizes within sight of New York, I have the opportunity to acquaint your Lordship.

That since my arrival here (which was on the 9th instant[]) 1st no event of any consequence concerning the Motions of the Rebels, or information has come to my knowledge, but from a little communication, I have had by Flags of Truce with Lewis Town; The People there seem much more friendly to Government, than they were some time ago: The Colonel of the Militia who commands in this district received the last proclamations from the officer, and said they should be dispersed.

I can assure your Lordship that all possible vigilance has been used to Stop the Navigation of this Port, and notwithstanding the Perseus and Camilla were driven off by the Northerly winds for near a week, our endeavours have not been ineffectual, for except one Vessel that the Falcon missed by her bad sailing, I know of none that has passed by us, which I must do Captain Linzee the justice to say, has been much owing to his diligence, as I have stationed the Falcon on the inside of Cape May, which is the channel all the small Vessels frequent and which is so narrow that nothing can pass without being in reach of his Guns.

As the Pearl has never joined me and Captain [Thomas] Wilkinson informed me, he would be ready for sea in two or three Days after I sailed, I conclude your Lordship has detained him at New York. I have the honor to be &ca &ca &ca

To the Honorable the Council of the State of the Massachusetts Bay
May it Please the Honble. Board

In compliance with an Order of Council of the 11th Instant, directed to this Committee, they have apprehended, and caused to be confined, all Masters Mariners and Seamen, taken on the High Seas, who have not entered into the Service of this or some of the united States and were Resident in this Town.

The Mariners and Seamen the Committee were under the disagreeable necessity of committing to the Common Goal; but the Masters, and one other Gentleman Vizt Mr Henry Seaton, who was Super Cargo on board the Vessell in which he was taken, the Committee thought themselves authorized by the order of Council to suffer to remain in their respective Lodgings, taking their word of honor that they would not go beyond the limits of the House and yard where they were so Lodged untill further order of Council: and as the Committee in this part of their conduct were actuated solely by principles of humanity they hope it will not be disapproved of by the Honorable Board. The Committee would observe to the Board that the reason why the number of persons, now apprehended and confined is so much less than the Return lately made to the Honorable Board is, as they suppose, that the order of Council for apprehending them was by some means or other known before the Committee could put it in execution.

MEMORIAL OF JOSIAH THROOP TO THE MASSACHUSETTS GENERAL COURT ¹

To the Honourable the Council and Assembly of the State of the Massachusetts Bay

The Memorial of Josiah Throop in behalf of the County of Cumberland in Nova Scotia

Most Humbly Sheweth

That the Inhabitants of the District of Cumberland are Chiefly from New England and having to flee the Sweets of liberty cannot relish the bitter Potion prepared by the hand of Tyranny for them Implicitly to Swallow –

That after a Series of Arbitrary Impossions Suffered from Government they with much difficulty and Secrecy Sent Capt Jonathan Eddy to represent their Case to this Honorable Court and if possible to procure Some means of redress

That the latter end of October last he arived in the Country with about fifty Volunteers from Machias and the river St Johns and took Capt John Walker with a party at Shepody about thirty miles down the Bay from Cumberland where he was Stationed to prevent any Communication with the American States; and then proceeded to Cumberland and being Joyned by a few of the Inhabitants, they on the night of the Sixth of November took a Sloop of about a Hundred tons loaded Chiefly with Provisions for the Garrison, on board of which was a Guard almost equal in number to the party that boarded her, and Divine Providence as an Omen of our Success and to Encourage our hearts Sent numbers more of the Soldiers into their hands in ways truly remarkable on the news Spreading the Inhabitants on the eighth and ninth repaired to Eddy and his party to the number of about two hundred – and on the tenth a Summons was sent to Col [Joseph] Goreham to Surrender the fort – on the Eleventh they received his answer refusing to Surrender, together with a Manifesto to the Inhabitants, Declaring that his Most Gracious Majesty had Sent him there to defend and protect them if they would be Peacible and Loyal – But that if they Should aid or assist the party of Resistors that had come from the Rebelious Colonies he would put the laws in force and they might depend on an Immediate Military Execution – They returned him answer by a flag that they had rather die like Men than be hanged like dogs –

On the twelfth they prepared for Scaling the walls and made an attempt that night but found it Impracticable as they had nothing but Small arms – and the Fort was Piquetted in and the walls and Ramparts lately repared they have Six Cannon about a Hundrd men and Six hundred Small arms – They on the thirteenth chose a Committee of Safety, ranged them Selves in Companies and began Such Measures of Self defence as appeared to them best in so Critical a Crisis – They then dispatched your Memorialist with advices to this Honourable Court – who left them Co[n]sisting of about three hundrd including Accadians without Cannon or other Military Articles Save their Small arms; without Commission for what they have already done or Orders from proper authority to do more – But with a Cheerful dependence on divine Providence; in high Spirits having Shut up the fort and cut off all Succour; They were Making a brave stand in the defence of liberty waiting for Assistance from your Honours on the return of your Memorialist

Who therefore Prays – That your Honours would take our Case into your wise Consideration and Grant –

That the Counties of Cumberland and Sunbury in Nova Scotia be taken under the Protection of this State till that Province can be Subdued

That Coasting vessels for the future may Clear out for Pasamaquady the river St Johns and Cumberland and that Certificates from them places to any Port in this State may Secure them from the American Privateers

That our army now in Cumberland be considered as part of the Continental Army and taken into Continental pay

That a Colonels Commission be Sent to Jonathan Eddy Esqr to command the forces now raised and to be raised for our purpose this winter –

That blank Commissions for Officers for about five hundred men be Sent to our Committee to fill up for Such men as Shall be chosen by the Soldiers –

That Machias be fortified and Garrisoned for a retreat or Asylum for Our women and Children if need be –

That Some Cannon Mortars and War like Stores be Sent to Machias this winter So that we may have them early in the Spring

That two or three armed vessels be ready very early in the Spring to proceed up the Bay Funday and if possible, five hundred Land Men

That Provisions Powder and ball may be Sent for those that are now there as early in the Spring as May be –

Or that Such other Methods may be taken for our Safety and Success in the Cause as Your Honours in Wisdom Shall think most Expedient

And we doubt not but by the Divine Blessing and Your friendly Assistance we Shall Soon add another Stripe to the American flagg – and another Colony to the United States –

And for Your Honours Your Memorialist as in Duty bound Shall Ever Pray

Boston December 23, 1776

Having been informed the Army were in distress for want of clothing and there being a quantity on board a Prize lately brought into this port by Captains Skimmer and Tucker, in the Service of the United States,² I have forwarded to the Army at or near New York the several articles contained in the enclosed Invoice. I should have had them appraised before they were forwarded but found they would not be without the States suffering thereby, therefore they were forwarded to the Quartermaster General with a desire he would have them appraised before they were made use of; which I hope will be agreeable to Congress.

Boston Gazette, MONDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1776

Boston, December 23.

By a gentleman from Falmouth, we have collected a more particular account of what happened at the Elizabeth islands, on or about the 6th day of December the enemy made their appearance with two ships in the mouth of the Sound between Gay Head and the westernmost islands, after cruising two days some of the crew went ashore on the outermost island, where was a little hut, after buying a few turkeys, asking the price of sheep, and what force was at Tarpaulin Cove, on Naushon Island, they went on board ship again, came to sail and run into Robinson's-hole, near which place lived Mr. Jeremiah Robinson, a quaker, who made not the least opposition to their landing, but his family through fear, which consisted of his wife, an aged mother of 80 years, with 9 or 10 children, fled to the woods for safety. The enemy landed about 150 men, plundered and burnt the house in which was all the poor man's beef, pork, roots, butter, cheese, &c. together with all his furniture, not content with all this, they burnt his corn barn, in which was all his grain, killed and carried off two or three cattle and hogs, likewise killed and left dead on the ground some of his milch cows, and wounded and mangled others in the most cruel manner – Thus was a peaceable and good liver in a few hours reduced to the greatest distress, by worse than brutal enemies.

Capt. [Benjamin] Nye who was stationed at the Cove, with the help of the militia from the neighbouring towns very soon made a strong party, went up to the west end of the island, but they had gone on board the ships, and the next day stood out of the sound. We have not been able to learn who commanded the ships.

By a Vessel arriv'd at Cape-Ann from Guadaloupe in 19 Days, we learn, that before she sail'd six French men of war and some transports arriv'd there from France, who were part of a fleet that bro't 15,000 troops; and that the Captains of the men of war said they did not doubt but that war was declar'd in France against England before their arrival.

On Friday 3d of January next, at Eleven in the Morning, will be Sold by Public Vendue, at Bedford, in Dartmouth 1,400 Sacks of Oats, 30 Barrells of Beef, and Pork. And the Snow Friendship, about 250 Tons burthen, both River built Vessels and well found

Whereas a Chief Object in the appointment of the large naval Force destined to be employed in North America, has been for carrying into Execution the Provisions of an Act passed in the last Session of Parliament for preventing all Trade and Intercourse with the several Colonies and Provinces therein mentioned; And I have thought it necessary to put the Ships intended to be stationed on the Southern Parts of this Continent under your particular Direction for that Purpose, until further Order: You are therefore hereby directed to repair as soon as may be in His Majesty's Ship the Preston with the other Ships named in the Margin [Brune and Emerald] to Chesepeak Bay, where you are to establish your present Chief Station in the mean time, and in such part thereof as You see fit. And You are to appoint the said Ships, in conjunction with those you may find within the Limits of your command, or which may be hereafter sent to you, to such Stations between the Eastern Point of the River Delaware and Southern Extremity of the Province of Georgia & Coast of East Florida provisionally, as you shall judge from information obtained, and your further knowledge of the Ports and Shores thereof, they may be best employed on, correspondent to the intentions of the Legislature in the said Act expressed: And also to prevent the King's rebellious Subjects from succeeding in their endeavors to procure Supplies of Ammunition and other military Stores, And to take or destroy their Armed Vessels, by every Means in your power.

You are nevertheless at liberty in respect to these Instructions to grant, and it is advisable to take all suitable opportunities to allow, the Inhabitants dwelling upon the Coasts adjacent to the Stations of the Ships under your Orders, the use of their ordinary Fishing-Craft, or other means of providing for their daily subsistence and support; where the same does not seem liable to any material abuse. And in your Signification thereof to the several Captains You are to recommend to them to encourage and cultivate all amicable Correspondence with the said Inhabitants to gain their good will and confidence, whilst they demean themselves in a peaceable and orderly manner; And to grant them every other Indulgence which the necessary Restrictions from their Trade conformable to the Tenor of the before recited Act, will admit: In order to conciliate their friendly Dispositions, and to detach them from the Prejudices they have imbibed, to the subversion of all legal authority in the different Provinces concerned.

If by the Capture of any Trading Ships of the Rebels, or Ships armed for War, the Ships of the Squadron under your Command should be encumbered with a number of Prisoners not inclined to enter for the Service; You are permitted to cause and direct an Exchange to be made of the same, against any British Prisoners, Officer for Officer, claiming equal Rank in the said Armed Ships, and Sailor for Sailor, as by any communication for that purpose, which the Captains may have opportunity to open with the Inhabitants of the Provinces having such British Prisoners in Possession, they are able to effect, But if being unable to make such advantageous Exchange, they are likely to be forced to quit their Stations because of the number of prisoners they may have on board, You are in that Case equally permitted to direct the landing of such Prisoners as were not taken in Arms; In the provinces to which they belong, or where more convenient with respect to the purpose of the cruising Instructions which shall have been given to the Captains subject to that Inconvenience.

You are to co-operate with the Commander in Chief or other General Officer commanding His Majesty's Land Forces by every means suggested to you, wherein you are able to promote the King's Service, and for restoring Order and legal Government in the Colonies and Provinces in which the re-establishment thereof is still opposed.

And You are finally to transmit by every safe Conveyance, the most particular account of your proceedings in the employment of the Ships under your Direction, the incidents that occur, and the Stations on which they are placed from time to time, with the Condition of them, as Change of Circumstances may require. And you are to communicate by such Opportunities all Intelligence you may be able to gain of the practices and design of the Rebels for strengthening themselves in their illegal Resistance; With the measures that in your judgment appear most effectual for preventing the Success of their hostile purposes. That I may be better able to suit the general Arrangement of the Ships of the Squadron to provide accordingly for these and the several other equally important services which I have in charge.

Eagle Off New York

Copy.

December the 23d 1776.

Sir In Addition to the Orders of the same Date which You will receive herewith, I have thought it necessary to communicate in this separate Instruction, for your further Government and private Information alone, some Particulars that will require your earliest Attention, respecting the more general Employment of the Naval and other Military Force sent to this Country.

Many Opportunities may probably offer in the course of the Service you have been appointed to conduct, for collecting material Intelligence and making useful Discoveries; Not only of the Preparations for further Resistance of the King's Authority by His Majesty's disaffected Subjects, but also of the Pilotage and Navigation on the most accessible parts of the Coasts within the Limits of your Station: Likewise of the Means it may be expedient to adopt, in case it should become necessary to press the Inhabitants of the delinquent Colonies with severer Hostilities; Either by Descents upon the Coasts to ravage the interior parts of the Country, or by making Seizures of Cattle and other Refreshments for the Fleet and Army.

William Hotham

But to facilitate the Acquisition of such useful Knowledge, as well as the Concealment of the purpose, those Methods and Opportunities should only be taken for Sounding or other Examination of the Coasts, that will testify the least apparent Intention of that Nature. Hence it becomes necessary to desist from all partial Attempts that may have been proposed, for weakening the Defences of the Enemy or obtaining a limited and temporary Advantage over them: As they would be thereby led to the Discovery of more effectual Measures for resisting the Military Operations it may become expedient to prosecute in great Extent hereafter, in case the Signification of the King's most gracious Intentions with which I have the Honor to be charged in Conjunction with General Howe, for restoring Peace to the Colonies, should yet fail of that happy consequence.

For your further Information therein, I forward herewith Copies of the late Declaration made expressive of His Majesty's benevolent purpose, and of the Proclamation subsequently issued: That the Contents thereof may be circulated by You amongst the Inhabitants of the Southern Provinces in such Manner as you have Opportunity to do with most Effect.

You will nevertheless continue, pursuant to the Tenor of your General Orders, to use every sufficient Means for preventing all Trade and Intercourse with the several Colonies within the Limits of your Appointed Station, according to the Intent and Meaning of the Act of the last Session of Parliament referred to therein.

For the purpose of that Act, as well as to prevent the Armed Vessels of the Enemy from putting to Sea and molesting the Trade of His Majesty's faithful Subjects inhabiting other parts of the British Dominions, or procuring Supplies of Ammunition or other Military Stores; proper Stations should be chosen for anchoring the Ships of your Division in Security, when rendered necessary by Stress of Weather, and in the ensuing Winter-Season: So that they may be soonest enabled to resume their different Stations, in the Delaware more especially, when the Navigation thereof is open in the Spring, and on the other parts of the Coast, from which they may be otherwise forced by the tempestuous Weather to be now expected in Continuance for some Length of time.

It will likewise be requisite to consider the best Means practicable for providing the Squadron with Water occasionally from some Part of the Southern Coast: That the Stationed Ships (when You are provided with a sufficient Number to extend your Care further Southward) may not be drawn away too far from those principal Channels of Communication, by which the Enemy are furnished with their chief Resources for carrying on the War. And as the possession of Rhode Island will facilitate that purpose greatly, You will profit thereby, as You see necessary.

I have added hereto a Chart of the Delaware, the Part of your present Charge to which your principal Attention, and your Presence also, will be most necessary, whilst the Rebel Forces continue in the Town of Philadelphia. The Chart is probably imperfect: Especially in the Degree of Accuracy the purpose of this Instruction requires; But it is deemed the best extant. If it is at all correct, there should be tenable Anchorage to the Westward of the Shoals forming the Pass named the Narrows, too far distant to be incommoded from either Shore, and sufficiently extensive to prevent Molestation from the Pontoons or floating Batteries the Enemy are said to have provided for obstructing the Passage of Ships of Force higher up the River.

Tho' I would still postpone every Attempt upon those Pontoons or Floating Batteries, under such Circumstances as would lead, if suitably provided, to engage in a regular Attack of the principal Defences on which the Enemy rely for being able to protect the Town of Philadelphia from Insult; I do not therefore mean that the Ships should neglect any favorable Opportunity that may present for getting possession of, or destroying, any such Pontoons and Armed Vessels as shall be in all other Situations exposed to Capture or Annoyance.

By the Copies herewith enclosed of the Orders given to Captain Hamond, you will be fully acquainted with the Measures taken for securing the Passage of the Delaware until the Navigation is rendered impracticable, according to the general Experience, early in the next Month. You will see therein the Provision which has been made for commanding that passage in like manner later in the Spring, when the River may be cleared of Ice: This Event is said to happen at different Periods: Sometimes so early as the beginning of the second Week in February. It is therefore desirable that You should be attentive to seize the earliest Opportunity to have possession taken of the Entrance of the River, that the change of Circumstances will admit, and to repair thither yourself as soon after as may be: Taking care to leave suitable Provision for commanding the Passage in Chesapeake Bay. The Orders given to Captain [Hyde] Parker [Jr.], of which You are likewise furnished with a Copy, will instruct You in the Steps it has appeared expedient to pursue for the same End, prior to your Arrival on that Station. You are further provided with a Copy of the Instructions given to Captain Davis for the Conduct of a small Detachment of Ships appointed to a more distant Station, generally; But in which, by the Latitude it has been thought fit to give that discreet and diligent Officer, you may possibly have occasion to interfere. You will therefore be governed in those several Instances, and make such Alterations in the general Appointment of the different Ships, as You see to be of more immediate and effectual Benefit for His Majesty's Service. The same Liberty is given to You with respect to the Orders which (as I am at present informed) I may think fit to give to the Commanders of the other Frigates intended for the more Southern Coasts; To restrain the Commerce and Intercourse with the principal Ports on that part of the Continent also.

The Rebels having been preparing to put to Sea in Armed Ships, two or more together, of greater Force than usual, it may be proper that the Cruizers You detach for a Continuance on such distant Service as affords no Opportunity of finding Support in case of being attacked by a much superior Enemy, should not be less than two to act in Conjunction.

These different Objects will afford sufficient Occasion for the Exercise of your approved Ability and Judgment. And whilst I am therein providing for the Benefit of the public Service, I have the Satisfaction of being able with equal Propriety, to indulge the Sentiments of Esteem with which, I have the Honor to be, Sir [&c.]

Howe.

ROBERT MORRIS TO JOHN HANCOCK ¹

Sir

Philada Decr 23d 1776

I have the pleasure to inform you that the Continental Fleet in this Port is increased by the arrival of the Andrew Doria Capt Isaia Robi[n]son from St Eustatia which place she left the beginning of this Month & next day fell in with a British Sloop of War of 12 Guns ² which she took after a very obstinate engagement in which the Andrew Doria had two men killed, some Wounded, the Main Mast shot through & some other damage, The Sloop had many Men Wounded, Three shot through her Mast, her sails shot to pieces & much damage done to her, this is one of the Sloops the Lds of the Admiralty ordered Admiral Gayton to fit out at Jamaica, & Mr [William] Jones who commanded her has the Kings Commission as Master & Commander, he defended her obstinately & is certainly a brave Man. I will desire the Council of Safety to take his Parole & send him to some safe Place, Capt Robi[n]son manned this Prize & ordered her in for this Port. he also took a Snow from Jama Loaden with Mahogany & Logwood and ordered her for this Port but it is next to an impossibility for them to get in.³ Nothing but the fast Sailing of the Andrew Doria & the extream vigilance of the Captain brought her safe past the Enemies Ships, one of which lies in the Cape May Channelle.

The Cargo on bd this Brig Consists of 208 Dozen pair of Woolen Stockings, 106 Dozn pair of Worsted Stockings 215 Sailors Jackets, 23 Great Coats, 50 ps Dutch plains – 30 ps 900 yds Flannell, 45 ps blue, Brown & white Cloth, 463 Blankets, 218 ps 7/8 linens, Contg 6795 Dutch Ells, 496 Muskets 326 pair of Pistols 100 bbls Powder & 14101 lb of lead, for Acct of the Continent. I recd a letter last night from Genl Washington by Colo [Stephen] Moylan, requesting me to hurry Mr [James] Mease to have Soldiers Cloaths made up with all possible diligence, he says Muskets are not wanted there but that comfortable Cloathing is exceedingly wanted. Colo Moylan advises by all means to send up the Stockings and great Coats now arrived, which I think to do, but shall tell the Genl they were intended for the New Levies and leave him to dispose of them as he may think most beneficial to the Service. The Linens, Plains & Cloths I will deliver to Mr Mease with orders to have them made up, but he will find much difficulty as all the Taylors or near all, are at the Camp & the Council of Safety dare not order them down for fear the rest will follow. The Blankets shall also go to the General to be disposed of as he may think proper The Pistols Muskets, Powder & Lead, I think had best be sent to Lancaster but wish to hear from the Board of War in answer to what I wrote before on this subject The Sailors Jackets must be put onboard the Fleet being much wanted there. I propose that Captn Robi[n]son shoud put all the Seamen Prisoners on board the Randolph Capt Biddle & that the latter shou'd Compell them to do duty whether they enter or not, only following the example set us by the British Act of Parliament

Mr Davis Bevan of this City was taken about five weeks ago coming into our Capes & carried to New York from thence brought round in the Roebuck and suffered to Land at Cape Henlopen under a promise to return. he told me that he heard Capt Hammond & other Officers say they are now determined to put a total Stop to our Trade. Six Frigates were sent to Cruize of[f] Georgia & Carolina, six of[f] the Capes of Virginia, & six of[f] our Capes. they have fixed signals & stations so as to keep a compleat line along the Coast and are determined to keep these Stations throughout the Winter if possible, he says only part of the Troops Sent to Rhode Island are to remain there, the remainder are going for Carolina, Bevan is an intelligent Man, & had an opportunity of hearing and learning these things from Lord Howes under Secretary or Clerk with whom he ingratiated himself & was employed in writing for him onbd the Eagle. I have sent Mr Bevan down with the letter mentioned in my last to Capt Morgan and the Prisoners on board that Fleet. The Schooner Wasp commanded by Lieutt [John] Baldwin has brought into Egg Harbour a Schooner loaded with Indian Corn & Oats, bound from the Lower Countys to New York, he has sent up the Master & five or six other prisoners here. they had been on board the Falcon Man of War Capt Linzie, & subscribed the oaths of allegiance Certificates of which were found on them, I sent these Papers to the Council of Safety who Committed the Men to Goal, as there is no Judge of the Admiralty in the Jerseys, & Judge Ross is at Lancaster, I think it advisable to send Waggons to Egg Harbour for the Corn & Oats to feed the Continental Horses in this City. these articles are very scarce here & will bear the Carriage, but I will consult Genl Putnam and the Waggon Master on this Subject as to the Vessell I am of opinion it would be best to sell her without waiting for Condemnation as the Proofs of her Guilt are clear & incontestable and she lies in too much danger to wait patiently for the usual forms. however Congress or the Marine Committee will please to give a positive order what must be done in this respect. Baldwin had retaken a French Schooner that had been taken going out of our Capes by one of the Men of War cruising there, he was bringing her into Egg Harbour when a Fleet of 15 Sail hove in sight, two of which were two Deckers, one or two Frigates, and an Armed brige pursued him so close that he was obliged to abandon his Prize & get into the inlet fast as he cou'd. this happened last Wednesday being short of Provisions he intends coming in here and I wish he may escape the Enemy

You will perceive Sir, that our Fleet will be pretty Numerous here, altho their Force but small compared to the Dangers that surround them, I have conversed with several of the Captains & formed a plan for their getting safe out to Sea & taking such Merchantmen with them as may be ready, they approve the plan and I hope will execute it but, we must have time to get ready & they must act with great Vigilance & Spirit to effect it Upon this occasion I cannot help saying that I am very uneasy, as I am neither instructed what to do nor vested with proper Powers to act as may appear best, I must therefore request that Congress or the Marine Committee will either instruct me pointedly what to do, or give me proper Authority to Act for the best for the object is important and if misfortunes happen which is very probable it would be hard that I should hereafter be blamed when the event is known, for measures that appear previously to be well Calculated for the Publick Good – The Vessels to be got out, are the Randolph, Delaware, Andrew Doria, Independence, Hornet, Fly & Musquito With many Valuable Merchantmen. the Lexington, Sachem, & Wasp may be hourly expected in if they escape the Enemy. Sailors are Scarce, tradesmen at the Camp, and a kind of stupor seems to have seized every body that ought to give us assistance, so that it is inconceivable how slowly all work goes on & with how much difficulty we can get any thing done. I have applied to the Council of Safety to order down some Tradesmen to finish the Delaware, if possible, they wish but fear to Comply and if they do not she must after all remain here. Genl Washington desires me to remain here as long as possible & promises to give me notice if any immediate danger he thinks the Enemy are only waiting two events & when they happen, they will prosecute their designs against this City. that is, for ice to cross the River, & for the 1st Jany, when most of his Army will disband & he says you might as well attempt to stop the Winds from blowing or the Sun in its diurnal as to stop them from going when their time is up. General Sullivan brought him about 2000 Men, Genl Gates about 600 & his whole Force now Consists of about 5000 Men beside the City Militia, its true the Country Militia are coming in, but I suppose as many will leave him the 1st Jany as will join before that time, & if so it will not be possible for him to save this City out of the hands of the Enemy after they cross the Delaware. on this view of things, I think we ought to hazard every thing to get the Ships out & I shall advise Mr Mease, Mr Tod & all others that have Continental Stores to be prepared for removing them –

It is very mortifying to me, when I am obliged to tell you disagreeable things, but I am compelled to inform Congress that the Continental Currency keeps losing its Credit, many People refuse openly & avowedly to receive it, and several Citizens that retired into the Country must have starved if their own private Credit had not procured them the common necessaries of life, when nothing cou'd be got for Your Money, some effectual remedy should be speedily applied to this evil or the Game will be up. Mr Commissary Wharton has told the General that the Mills refuse to Grind for him either from disaffection or dislike to the Money, be that as it may the consequences are terrible, for I do suppose the Army will not consent to starve. At present I dont recollect any thing to add to this letter but as other occurrences happen I shall give you the trouble of more letters. I think it is time that Mr Pluckrose the Express I sent down with letters to you last Tuesday shou'd return, unless detained for some purpose of Congress. by him I sent a number of French letters &c I am with Great respect Sir we fell in [with] & took a snow from Jamaica on board of which I went as prize master; I parted with the Brig having encountered bad weather, we were twelve days on the coast in which time we experienced 8 gales of wind; on Christmas night 1776 got among the breakers on Chincoteague shoals with a gale at East; I was obliged to anchor in that dreadful situation, every sea broke over our vessel, my crew & self were obliged to get into the tops to prevent being washed over-board, where we remained several hours waiting for day light, at length the long-wished day appeared, when we discovered the land right astern of us, at a short distance; the breakers mountains high; we expected every moment that our Cable would break & nothing but death stared us in the face; about ten O'Clock we saw a Sloop near us, bound in, & in a few minutes she struck the ground; went to pieces & we saw no more of her or her crew, in the afternoon the wind changed & became moderate, we then got under way & the next day got into the harbour of Chincoteague, here I remained several days.

The Memorial of the State of North Carolina To the Delegates of the united States of America in Congress Assembled.

Sheweth

That about twelve Months past Joseph Hewes and Robert Smith Esquires of Edenton, Merchants and free Citizens of this State loaded a Certain Brigantine called the Joseph under the command of Emperor Moseley, and sent her to Cadiz in Spain, where she was detained until the Ninth day of October by British Ships of War which Cruized off the said Port

That on the Eleventh day of November last the said Brigantine being on her return to Edenton with Two Thousand bushels of Salt, a quantity of Wine, Jesuits bark and other Articles of very considerable value was Seized and made a Prize of by a Privateer belonging to Boston in the state of Massachusetts Bay Named the Eagle, and Commanded by Brazilla Smith and said to be the property of Elijah Freeman Paine, as by the Deposition hereto Annexed will appear.

That the said Capture appears to this State to be a direct Violation of the peace and union of the united States, and Contrary to the Laws of all Civilized Nations in general, and to the rights of the Citizens of this State in particular.

This state ever watchful over the Rights of its Members, expects that Strict justice will be done in the premisses either by the Captors, or the State of Massachusetts Bay, and have no doubt, but the Delegates of the united States will effectually interpose to have Justice done to injured Citizens, and to punish those atrocious Violators of all Law and Justice, whose Avarice and rapacity if not timely checked, cannot fail to be attended with the most fatal consequence to the American union and being sworn on the holy Evangelists of Almighty God, deposeth & Saith that he this deponent was master of the said Brigantine Joseph, that he sailed with the said Brigantine under his command from the Port of Edenton in the said state on the twenty second day of January One thousand seven hundred & seventy five with a Cargo of Pipe Staves & Tar the property of Joseph Hewes & Robert Smith Esquires, Merchants in Edenton in the said State on a Voyage to Cadiz in Spain, that the said Cargo was Consign'd to Messrs Duff & Welch in the said Port of Cadiz, that he arrived at the said Port of Cadiz on the twenty third day of February following and delivered his said Cargo to the said Duff & Welch, and received from them & others a Quantity of Salt, Wine & other Articles as by an Invoice hereto Annexed will more fully appear and was ready to sail from the said Port of Cadiz for the said Port of Edenton in the state of North Carolina aforesaid on the twenty third day of March following that on the said twenty third day of March Three British Ships of War appeared off the said Harbour of Cadiz; where they continued to Cruise, and some of them were seen almost every day till on or about the seventh day of October following, so that this deponent could not get out of the said Port during all that time with any Probability of escaping them, that on the ninth of the said Month of October having a fair Wind and being informed by Messrs Duff & Welch that the said British Ships were gone to Gibraltar, he sailed from the said Port of Cadiz for the said Port of Edenton in the state of North Carolina aforesaid, that he proceeded on the said Voyage till the tenth day of November being then in or near the Latitude of 35.39. Longitude 57.0. he spoke with a Schooner called the Eagle, that he this deponent was ordered to heave too that the Schooner might send her Boat on board his said Brigantine that soon after the Lieutenant and two men came on board his said Vessel and told this deponent that his said Schooner was a Privateer, that she was called the Eagle, commanded by Brazilla Smith and that he this deponent must go on board the said Schooner with his Papers, that this deponent went on board the said Schooner & carried with him the Register of his said Brigantine, a Bill of Health & Certificate of the landing his Cargo in Spain also several Letters for his said Owners and for Persons in several other States, that the officers of the said Schooner broke open all the said Letters and carelessly threw them and the Invoice & other Papers about the Cabin of the said Schooner, that this deponent afterwards took up such of them as he could find and took care of them, that the said officers told him this deponent he ought to have a Proper clearance from Spain, that they must carry his said Brigantine into Boston, that on the eleventh day of November they took possession of his said Brigantine and put a Prize Master and six men on board and took out of the said Brigantine the Mate and two hands and carried them on board the said Privatier, that they the said officers then put him this deponent on board the said Brigantine, that the Prize Master told him this deponent the said Privatier belonged to Elijah Freeman Payne of Boston, that soon after the Prize Master and his men had taken possession of the said Brigantine they unstowed the Wine, put one cask of it on board the Privatier and brought another cask up into the Brigantines Cabin broached it, and suffered the People to draw out when they pleased, that on the seventeenth day of Novemr at twelve oClock this deponent took an observation and found the Brigantine was then in the Latitude of 33.0. North, that he then desired the Prize Master who had the charge of the said Brigantine to take care he did not get on the rocks of Bermuda before morning that this deponent thought they must be near the said Island to which the said Prize Master replied he was seven or eight degrees to the eastward of the said Island, this deponent further saith that at two o'Clock in the morning of the eighteenth of November the said Brigantine Joseph struck on the Rocks of the said Island, that the said Brigantine was among the Rocks a considerable time and struck very hard many times, that the said Brigantine beat over several Rocks at length they came to an Anchor in Ten fathom Water and lay till about Ten o'Clock when several Boats came from the shore and the People conducted the said Vessel clear of the said Island, This deponent further saith that the Prize Master and his men appeared to him this deponent to be very little acquainted with the management of square rigged Vessels that they took little or no care of the Provisions on board that he saw great waste committed, that he this deponent offered several times to conduct the Vessel for them into any Port they chose, if they would give him leave, that the Prize Master refused and said he could carry her in. This deponent further saith that when he considered how severely the Brigantine had Struck on the rocks, that the Prize Master and his Crew were very ignorant, that the Provisions on board were wasting very fast, that the Brigantine was going on a Winter's coast he thought it prudent and necessary for his own safety to leave the said Brigantine, that he applied to the Prize Master and obtained his leave to go on shore in one of the Boats that came off from the said Island of Bermuda, that he landed on the said Island in the afternoon of the eighteenth of November from whence he got a passage to this State and further this deponent saith not.

GOVERNOR JOHANNES DE GRAAFF TO GOVERNOR CRAISTER GREATHEAD¹

(Copy.)

St Eustatius Decembr 23d 1776.

Sir, I have duly received from the hand of Mr Stanley your Honour's Letter of the 17th Inst the contents whereof I found to be Such as apparently concerned the intire Government of this Island.

When Vague, general and uncircumstanced report prevail tending to disturb that Harmony which ought to subsist between the commanding officers of the respective Governments, reports perhaps industriously propagated to undermine (if possible) that Friendship and cordiality, which have long Subsisted and I hope will long continue to Subsist, between His Brittanick Majesty, and Their High Mightinesses the Lords States General of the united Netherlands, my Masters; when I Say Such Reports prevail it might be expected that one commander in chief Should mention them to another, always in hope that Facts have not been represented in their true Light and a reasonable Expectation of having every Just cause of National offence prevented or removed; But that Such an application Should be ushered in with assurances of it's being in every respect founded upon the most authentick Informations is a Subject demanding very particular consideration.

The Government of this Island disavows being in any wise acquainted which [sic with] such unwarrantable Proceedings as the following, namely, that the Inhabitants are daily and openly employed in furnishing warlike Stores and other materials for offensive and piratical purposes: That warlike and piratical Vessels are either owned or fitted out and equipped in this port for the declared purpose of piratically cruizing against and making captures of the Ships and Properties of the peaceable Subjects of His Brittanick Majesty or in short, that the daily and publick Business transacted here is for the avowed Intent of carrying on a Scene of piracy and depredation such as it has been described.

And as the Same Government is entirely Ignorant of Such criminal practices prevailing here, and is not only disposed to prevent them, but likewise offers upon every regular and well founded application to punish the Persons, who upon a legal Trial should be found guilty of the charge, it is by, and with the advice of the Council of the Island, that I beg leave to require the Proofs from the most authentic Information of such illicit proceedings to be particularized, the Facts stated, and well attested against Such Individuals as may have been or are censureable, which I must to be allowed to say, ought in this respect to have accompanied your Honour's application, Since it is impossible for me to proceed against any part of the community upon a general charge, and neither my Commission nor the Laws of the Land allow me to prosecute without Evidence or to condemn Without Proofs.

And your Honour may be perfectly assured that as soon as the Government of this Island should receive such complete Information touching any illegal Proceedings as may be Sufficient for a Discovery and conviction of the Supposed offenders, all the Satisfaction which the Nature of the complaint require, shall be given.

With respect to the capture of a Brigantine by an armed Sloop called the Baltimore Hero; as upon friendly application I had the honour of receiving from his Excellency Governor [Thomas] Shirley in behalf of the Sufferers, I had their case brought before the Council for the purpose of making the strictest Enquiries in order to investigate the Truth. I flatter my Self that I have it in my power to inform my Lord and masters upon how slender a foundation that affair, with all its circumstances hath been represented in the light we have Seen, But there is another particular touching which, I beg leave to request Proofs, from the most authentick information your honour is pleased to mention namely; that the Government of this Island hath openly and publicly allowed, countenanced, abetted and promoted such illicit proceedings as are before mentioned. – This I apprehend to be a Piece of Justice due from one private man to another, much more have I cause to expect it from a Commander in Chief, of whom I have had the honour of receiving heretofore the assurances of his reciprocal endeavours for promoting a good understanding between the respective Governments.

Not concious of having in any respect Violated the Treaties, or that knowingly and willfully any indignities have been offered to the king your master; I don't know of any attonement I have to make, and I always have been, and am still so far from betraying any partiality upon the occasion of these unhappy Disturbances between Great Britain & her North American Colonies, that I sincerely wish they were happily terminated to the Satisfaction of both. But it must not therefore be expected that without receiving any express orders from the Power under whom I preside, I should take upon me to lay any restraints upon such a Trade and Navigation as I am confident their High Mightinesses will not suffer to be interrupted and thus injure the Colonies under my Direction and that part of the commercial Interest of the Dutch Nation committed to my care by the Lords Directors of the Honble West India Company.

As to the Treatment or Reception which the Fortresses of the Island under my command have given to any Vessels whatsoever I flatter my Self that when my Masters require it, I shall be able to render such an account as will show how far the Informations your Honour may have received are authentick, or founded upon matter of fact.

And here I cannot avoid mentioning to your Honour the Liberties which a noted publisher of many kinds of Informations has of late taken, not only with my Person and this Government, but likewise with a Nation from which I shall ever deem it an Honour to be sprung, I mean in a Paper, printed in an Island under your Honor's Command, and of your constant residence – Knowing that the Liberty of the Press in no other civilized Government tolerated to Such a degree, is the usual plea upon Such occasion. I have hitherto been Silent, though not insensible to Such injurious and unmerited reproaches; but an illiberality of this kind hath been aggravated by the addition of Threats and menances of Hostilities against a settlement of the Dutch Nation in a time of profound peace and amity: I shall Submit to the wisdom of my Masters, when their Lordships are duly informed of it, for curbing Such Insolencies offered, I may Say without provocation.

Before I conclude, I must observe that as I don't recollect ever to have been backward, or to have refused giving your honour satisfaction upon a regular and well founded application, I have preferred the mode of transmitting your Honour my answer in writing only to that of entering with Mr Stanley (without any disparagement to the respectableness of that Gentleman's character and Station in your Government) in to any discussion touching either the subject matter of your Honor's letter, or my conduct in any shape; choosing to say no more about the propriety or impropriety of this Step, as having relation to the tenor of the latter part of your honour's Letter, which I conceive to have the appearance of calling me to an account within my own Government, which none upon Earth but my Lords and Masters have a right to do. I am &ca

CAPTAIN JOHN COLPOYS, R. N., TO VICE ADMIRAL JAMES YOUNG¹

(Copy)

Seaford English harbour Decr the 23rd, 1776.

Sir, In obedience to your orders of the 14th Instant, delivered to me by Lieut Tinsley of the Endeavour, I immediately proceeded to the Island of St Eustatia, where, at my arrival, I sent an Officer, to wait on Governor de Graaf, with a Letter, a Copy of which, with his answer, I herewith inclose you.²

His Answer was brought on board to me by one of his Aid de Camps who informed me, that the Governor hoped I wou'd Salute the Fort, and that an equal number of Guns shou'd be returned, upon the Perusal of the Governors letter, I found an evasive answer was given on the Subject of the Forts returning Salutes to Vessels, wearing the Colours, of the American Rebels. I desired to know of the Aid de Camp, whether he had authority to talk to me on that Subject, his answer was in the Negative, I then, desired him to acquaint the Governor, that till I had a more positive Answer to my Question, I must decline Saluteing the Fort, and that, when I waited on his Excellency (which I purposed having the Honor of doing the next Morning, with the Admirals dispatches) I then did not doubt, his elucidating my suspicions, so far, as to enable me to Salute the Fort; The following was the purport of our Interview, and which past (partly in French) the Governor not being (as he told me) so perfect in the English language, as he cou'd wish, and for which reason I read over, your remonstrance to him, more than once, & 'till he told me, that he perfectly comprehended every part of it, & I really believe he did; for some Words, which a Foreigner might not so well understand, the full force of, he particularly requested an Explanation of.

His Excellency first hinted to me how Happy he shou'd be, to return Gun for Gun, if I did his Fort the Honor of Saluting it, upon which I told him, that before I did my self that Honor, I must have a clear explanation of that part of my letter (which I sent his Excellency on my Arrival) relative to their High Mightinesses Fort receiving and returning the Salutes of Vessels Sailing under the Colours of Pirates and Rebels. His answer was, that Statia was a Free Port, of course all Vessels under whatsoever Colours, were at Liberty to come in there, and if the Fort was Saluted, 2 Guns less was returned to all Mercht Vessels, to Kings Ships an equal Number, I then desired to know, whether, upon a Vessel coming in under Colours that were not known and, Saluting the Fort, whether Curiosity (or in my opinion common prudence) did not lead him to ask, what State they belonged to, before the Fort returned the Salute, and that I apprehended, a Vessel coming into

St Eustatia Road, with what was now called American Colours, must fall under that predicament. His answer was – As to his Fort returning Salutes to a Vessel under Provincial Colours, that was what he cou'd account for only to his Masters. I then told him that I must consider his Excellencys Answer as an avowal of the Fact, and that we must drop all thoughts of any Salutes passing between us in Future, for if their High Mightinesses, suffered their Flag to be so far degraded, as to return Salutes to the Colours of a Set of People who bid defiance to all Law, that I cou'd never think of degrading the Flag of the King my Master so much as either to give, or receive Salutes, from the Forts, of a State, who made no distinction between the Flag, of a Lawful Sovereign, or that of a Set of Pirates, & Rebels, which was the only light the King of Great Britains Subjects, who had taken up Arms against him cou'd be considered in, by any State, or Country, that wished to continue in Amity with him. – This was all that passed on the Subject of Saluting the Fort, except the Governor saying, that he was sorry to see, I was inclineable to give Ear to the Reports which were every day propagated to the prejudice of his Government. We then proceeded to discuss the different Heads of your remonstrance & the Memorial of Messrs Bendall & McConnell – His Excellency told me at large, that it always had been his wishes, & Study, to keep up the good understanding which had so long subsisted between the King of Great Britain & their High Mightinesses, and that with regard to the Americans, he never had, nor never wou'd give 'em any Countenance, or Protection, but what he was directed to, by his Orders, That in a Free Port like St Eustatia there must of course be many People, who wou'd do irregular things, and that whenever any came to his Knowledge, he wou'd exert himself in Punishing the Offenders, As to American Armed Vessels sending their Prizes into any part of his Government its what he never means to offer, nor had he ever countenanced any Armed Vessels coming in there, & that had hitherto come (except the Sloop which had taken Messrs Bendall and McConnells Brigg) under Provincial Colours, came there as Merchant Men, and that on the arrival of the abovementioned Armed Sloop, he directly gave directions, for her quitting the Port, which She did accordingly. – I then told the Governor that the Memorialists Bendall and McConnell, thought they could bring sufficient Evidence to prove, that Persons in St Eustatia were, either the sole Proprietors, or part Owners of the Armed Sloop that had taken their Brig, and requested him to call a Council, and let the Memorialists produce their Evidence, and that the Persons accused, by said Evidence might be sent for, he then told me my Request shou'd be complied with in every respect, of which I gave notice to the Memorialists, who were accordingly, with their Witnesses summoned to attend the Council the next morning, The result of which was, as I have heard, (and of which the Governor has given you a full Acct in his Letter) that a Mr Vanbibber a Mercht in St Eustatia was the Person accused of fitting the said Privateer, but I dont find that there were sufficient Evidence to prove it, Vanbibber said, that he neither was directly, or indirectly, concerned in the Vessel, of which he was ready to give his Oath, that he had (by Order) supplied the Master of her with 50 Johannises, how he disposed of them, he cou'd not say, by what I cou'd learn the reports of Vanbibber's having any concern in the Vessel, proceeded from a conversation (which was overheard) of some Sailors who had been entered for her, They were not then in Statia, but the Gov-error gave me the most Positive Assurances, that he wou'd, if possible, find them out in order to come at the Truth, and that if any body, under his Government cou'd be found out, to have any concern in said Privateer, that they shou'd be punished with the utmost severity, & full restitution made to the sufferers.

All this seemed very candid and fair; nevertheless, I must beg leave to observe to you, that Governor De Graaf is well known to have given more Aid, and Assistance, to the American Rebels than any other Man in his Government, being by far, the most Wealthy, & considerable Merchant in St Eustatia, he of course, has been the best able to carry on the most extensive Illicit Trade with the Rebellious Colonists. —

I cou'd get no acct of the Schooner called the Gunticanute, but I learnt that many Vessels under like circumstances, had come out from Holland, & sent their Cargoes from St Eustatia to North America.

I made enquiry about some three pound Guns, but was informed that there was no Man in Statia dared sell me one, I went to different places where there were some, and was told, that they were all bespoken.

I beg leave to acquaint you of my having taken on the 15th Instant a Schooner called the Driver, from Philadelphia bound to St Eustatia, three Weeks out, the Master and people quitted her, & got on shore at St Eustatia. I am Sir [&c.]

COUNT D'ARGOUT TO GABRIEL DE SARTINE ¹

[Extract]

Martinique

No. 187

Mylord, Since it is undoubtedly important for the interest of France to know exactly the real state of affairs in New England, I have deemed necessary to send you, Mylord, M. de Ksain, commanding the King's frigate Favorite. I do not doubt for a single moment that you are informed of these events by way of England, but the intelligence which I have the honor to forward to you has been sent to me by reliable persons who, moreover, are on the scene of the revolution.²

If it is the future policy of France to take sides in this war, an exact knowledge of the present state of affairs would undoubtedly become the base and the decisive factor for any resolutions which might be made in this matter.

The situation of the Americans, Mylord, is almost desperate. The defeats that they have suffered are far more injurious in their effects than they are in themselves. They have spread discouragement among the troops and made the future uncertain, unless General Washington is fortunate enough to take advantage of the last spark of enthusiasm and gathers as many troops as possible in order to fight a pitched battle with decisive results. In my opinion, it is the only thing he can do in view of his present position: any rebellion which suffers repeated defeats loses its dash by presenting to every individual and consequently, and in this case especially, to the whole the consideration of a future full of the worst woes.

On the other hand, Mylord, this pitched battle which, as I dare assure you, is General Washington's only resort would be extremely dangerous any way you look at it.

He will lead undisciplined soldiers against experienced troops, people who are either carried away by blind fury or crushed under an overwhelming consternation against firm and already victorious men. He can only fight at a great disadvantage against the superiority already gained by His British Majesty's army.

We can only hope for the effectiveness of a last effort which, I confess, sometimes produces marvelous results but on which we can count only to a certain point.

I had the honor to inform you that a number of transport vessels had arrived at Antigua and that four small frigates from General Howe's army³ had arrived at Dominica and Grenada to spend the winter in these ports. I am with respect etc.

GEORGE WASHINGTON TO ROBERT MORRIS ¹

Dear Sir: I have your obliging favors of the 21st. and 23d. the Blankets are come to hand, but I would not have any of the other Goods sent on, till you hear again from me.

I agree with you, that it is in vain to ruminate upon, or even reflect upon the Authors or Causes of our present Misfortunes, we should rather exert ourselves, and look forward with Hopes, that some lucky Chance may yet turn up in our Favour. Bad as our prospects are, I should not have the least doubt of Success in the End, did not the late Treachery and defection of those who stood foremost in the Opposition, while Fortune smiled upon us, make me fearful that many more will follow their Example, who by using their Influence with some, and working upon the Fears of others, may extend the Circle so as to take in whole Towns, Counties, nay Provinces. Of this we have a recent Instance in Jersey, and I wish many parts of Pennsylvania may not be ready to receive the Yoke.

The Security of the Continental Ships of War in Delaware is certainly a capital Object, and yet to draft, the many hands necessary to fit them out, from the Militia, might be dangerous just now, perhaps in a little time hence, their places may be supplied with Country Militia, and then if the exigency of Affairs requires it, they certainly ought to be spared.

I will just hint to you a proposition that was made or rather talked of a few days ago by the Officers of two New England Regiments whose time of Service will expire on the first of January. They are most of them Watermen, and they said their Men would willingly go on Board the Frigates and navigate them round to any of the ports in New England, if it was thought they would be safer there than in Delaware. You may think of this, and let me hear from you on the Subject, if the proposition pleases you. Lieutenant [Richard] Boger of the Navy is already gone in and I have made a demand of Lieutenant [James] Josiah in Exchange, but I have not heard whether Lord Howe accedes to it. I will procure the Release of Doctr. [Hugh] Hodge as soon as it can be done without injuring others by giving him the preference, as I have always made it a rule to demand those first who have been longest in Captivity. I will take the same Steps in regard to Mr. [William] Jones, commander of the Ship taken by the Andrew Doria.

I shall take the earliest Opportunity of sending in your Letter to Genl. Lee with the Bill drawn upon Major Small.

From an intercepted Letter from a person in the Secrets of the Enemy, I find their Intentions are to cross Delaware as soon as the Ice is sufficiently strong. I mention this that you may take the necessary Steps for the Security of such public and private property as ought not to fall into their hands, should they make themselves Masters of Philada. of which they do not seem to entertain the least doubt.

I hope the next Christmas will prove happier than the present to you and to Dear Sir, etc.

P.S. I would just ask whether you think Christeen a safe Place for our Stores? do not you think they would be safer at Lancaster or somewhere inland.

ROBERT MORRIS TO CAPTAIN JOHN NICHOLSON, CONTINENTAL SLOOP *Hornet*¹
Sir [Philadelphia] December 25th 1776

As this severe weather is like to make ice, Captain [Nicholas] Biddle will try to make a push with the Randolph and as it is of the utmost consequence that you should get to Carolina if possible I think it most [advantageous] for the public service that you should go down the Bay in company with him and I hope this will find you in readiness. You will see the Ship as she comes down, and must join her as soon as you can, and you must concert with Captain Biddle the best plan you can think of for getting out. I am fearful an expedition is gone or will soon go against Charles Town, therefore you must proceed cautiously and get into the first safe harbour in that State that you can & give immediate notice to the president and the Continental Agents of your Arrival. Capt Charles Alexander whom I sent up to Colo Cadwallader for a few Tradesmen necessary to finish his ship the Delaware is just returned and says that whilst he was with the Col a Note came in from Trenton giving an acct that Genl Washington is now Master of that place, that he had sent down to the Ferry 300 Prisoners, had taken all the Enemies baggage & stores at that place, that the Action had been pretty hot for an hour or an hour & a half, that the British then run away toward Bordentown & our People after them, this acct is just confirmed by a letter from Mr Barkly to Mr Mease who says Mr Tilghman had come down to the Ferry & gave him the Acct This Manoeuvre of the Genl had been determined on some days ago but he kept it Secret as the Nature of the Service would admit. . . .

Capt Robison [Isaiah Robinson] of the Andrew Doria tells me just now that he hears his Prize Sloop is got up to the Chevaux de Frize and I hope it is true & as this is the first of King George's Own Vessells that we have taken, I should be glad the Congress wou'd order her into their Service and give the Command to Lieutt [Benjamin] Dunn of the Andw Doria who has been in the service from the first & is said to be an officer of Merit. GOVERNOR CRAISTER GREATHEAD TO GOVERNOR JOHANNES DE GRAAFF¹

Copy.

St Christophers 26th Decembr 1776.

Sir, The Letter which I had the honour to receive from you of the 23d in reply to mine of the 17th Inst. make it necessary that I should once more trouble your Honour on the same subject.

On a reperusal of my former letter I am insensible of any Expression in it heightened beyond the Duty I owe my Royal Master, or incompatible with the respect due to your Honours Station, & the Decorum to be observed in Representations of this Nature. Had your Honour condescended to a personal conference with the Gentleman who presented you my letter & to have required from him the nature of the Informations which I had received, I presume that, instead of Vague, general & uncircumstanced reports the[y] would have appeared to you to have merited from me, the Epithet which I bestowed upon them; that their Extent warranted the use to which I had applied them, and that my application to you, Sir, was neither irregular, nor illfounded.

Your Honour disavows any acquaintance in the Government of your Island with the unwarrantable Practices of its Inhabitants: my Letter insinuated no such Charge against the Government in this particular, and althow in the Investigation of the capture of the Brigantine, the Proprietor who appeared before your Honour and the Council may have been deficient for the present, in that Strict legal Proof, essential by your Laws to the Conviction of certain Individuals of St Eustatius, as participating in that Transaction, yet I flatter my Self I Shall Stand Justifiable in the Eys of my Royal Master in my Specifick Charges against the Inhabitants of your Island.

Your Honour too is unconscious of any Partiallity or Violation of Treaties, or of any Indignities willfully offered by the Government of St Eustatius to the King my Master – The impartial World will Judge between us, whether a Salute deliberately returned by a Dutch Fort to the Rebel Brigantine Andrew Doria, under Colours known by the Commandant of the Fort, to be those of His Majesty's rebellious Subjects, be, or be not, a Partiality in Favour of those Rebels and a flagrant Indignity offered to his Majesty's Flag. wether the rebel Brigantine Saluted with Thirteen or Eleven Guns, or the Salute was returned with a Like or an inferior Number, will not I apprehend invalidate the Material Ground of my complaint on that Head, nor do I find in any part of your Honour's Letter which bears the least affinity to a Denial of the Instance of that express matter of Fact. In this Particular my remonstrance does indeed affect the Dutch Government and as your Honour refers to your Lords and Masters, your conduct as well respecting this Charge "as a Trade and navigation which you are confident T[heir] H[igh] M[ightinesses] will not Suffer to be interrupted" it naturally precludes in me, every Expectation that any future application of mine, on this Subject should meet a more favourable Reception from your Honour.

The Controversy therefore necessarily resolves it Self into a matter of State, to be determined by the king my master and their High Mightinesses whose wisdom will at once discern how Just a Conduct is reconcilable with the Treaties existing between the Two Powers.

Altho, Sir, the personal Insolences of a Printer of which your Honour complains affects not the merits of our publick Correspondence, I could not close this without taking Notice of that part of your Honour's Letter. Your Honour will I hope do me the Justice to belive that I cordially disclaim all Countenance of such Injuries and that I abhor the Licentiousness of the Press equally with yourself. But as by the Constitution of this free Country the Libelous Emanations of Calumny and Detraction can meet their Punishment only in the ordinary and established Course of it's civil Justice, So is it out of the Power of any British Magistrate to dispense or point out to your Honour any other mode of Satisfaction. I have the Honour to be &ca

COLONEL PIERSE LONG TO THE NEW HAMPSHIRE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES ¹

Portsmo, Decr 27th, 1776.

This morning I Received advice of one of the Enemies Tenders being drove into our Harbour.² I thought it my duty to secure her; being apprehensive that the prisoners might attempt an escape with the prize, I immediately ordered a number of soldiers to embark on board boats to take possession of her, and in the interim prepared others to follow: In one of which I went myself; when I came on board I found Capt. [Hercules] Mooney and Major [Caleb] Hodgdon, with a sufficiency of men to bring her to town. We hove her from off the shore and proceeded as far up the River as the tide would permit before it was spent. After which I gave orders for the prisoners to be brought to town, who are now, to the number I think, 43 or 45, under a proper guard, exclusive of five officers who were brought up by Capt. Pinkham (the person who brought her in) and put to Lodge at a public house. The Capt. of the Raleigh ³ order'd a guard on them, for which I am much obliged. This night Capt. [Titus] Salter, in conjunction with Capt. Robt Parker, who I have appointed pilote of her, will bring her to her mooring. I shall be obliged for an order for the Disposition of all the prisoners, excepting those who will be accompanied to Exeter to morrow by Capt. [Ebenezer] Deering to be examined and disposed of as you may judge proper. I am, Gentlemen with due respect [&c.]

Pierse Long.

P. S. I beg leave to observe that Capt. Pinkham had this vessel delivered to him by the officers and people belonging to her, to do with her as he thought proper, which induced him to make this push. He has libelled her, and applied to a friend to transact his business.

And also to Load & take on board the other of the sd Sloops called the Expedition, Eliphalet Ripley Master, burthen about fifty tons, so much of the same Articles as the proceeds whereof will be sufficient to purchase a Load of Rice & proceed therewith to South Carolina, & there to purchase the same & return to this Place therewith. Briggantine to France (William Ritchie Commander) with the Cargo aforesaid, consisting of Oil, SpermaCeti Candles, Tobacco, Potash, Fustick & Mahogany; they therefore humbly pray your Honors, & you Gentlemen of the General Assembly, will take this their Petition into Consideration, & grant them leave to Load the said Briggantine as aforesaid, & to dispatch her to Bordeaux in France, & your Petitioners as in Duty bound shall ever pray –

New-London, December 27.

The Captains Godwin and Howard, from Connecticut-River, who sailed from this Port for the West-Indies about three Weeks ago, are both taken and carried into New-York.

Last Wednesday Noon thirteen Ships from the Eastward went by this Harbour, and proceeded up Sound; they are supposed to be from Newport, and bound to New-York.

A Flag of Truce, with a Number of Masters of Vessels, &c. that were taken in Prizes that have been brought into this Port, will sail from hence, the first fair Wind, for New-York, to be exchanged for an equal Number of American Prisoners there.

CAPTAIN JAMES NICHOLSON TO SAMUEL PURVIANCE, JR., BALTIMORE ¹

Dear Sir

Philad Decr 27th 1776

An hour's detainment of the Tide gives me an opportunity of writing the particulars of yesterday's action at Trenton – Genl Washington with about four thousand Men crossed on the Christmas night and surrounded the town; the enemy was surprised, and collected confusedly; after a short resistance they grounded their arms and surrendered to the amount of 750 (Hessians solely); they lost 30 killed and wounded, and we 2 killed, and 3 or 4 wounded; Capt [William] Washington among the last, who commanded the advanced party, but not mortally. Had the weather proved favorable, and the other three divisions got over, there would (I have no doubt) the whole of them shared the same fate with these – Their light horse scampered away on the first alarm, and all those on the outskirts of the town made their escape about as many as were taken – There are 1 Col, 2 Majors, 4 Captains, 7 Lieutenants and 8 ensigns – prisoners, with 6 field pieces, 2 Standards and 1000 stand of arms, 20 Drums one Col wounded and left on his parole at Trenton – Our people having returned to this side again we should have whipped them in the same manner at Bordentown could our men under Col [John] Cadwalader have crossed, but the weather and ice made it impossible – This affair has given such amazing spirit to our people, that you might do any thing, or go any where with them – We have vast numbers of fine militia coming in momentarily – but none from our Province – I believe an attack is intended tomorrow upon the Hessians [main] body at Bordentown; in which I intend serving with my people as artillery men, and are embarked for that purpose on board the gallies – Immediately its over (please God) I intend down, and am doubtful if I can bring an anchor with me, but more of that hereafter (I am not pleased about it) I am yours [&c.]

FRANCIS LEWIS TO THE NEW YORK COMMITTEE OF SAFETY ¹

Baltimore, 27th Decemr. 1776.

Gentlemen – Your favour of the 5th instant, per Lieut. Brit, I have received, with your resolves relative to the frigate[s] in Hudson's river, which I this day laid before the marine committee, and meet their entire approbation. They are of opinion that whatever vessels belonging to the Continent, and are now in Hudson's river, should be also secured in Esopus creek, or some other place of safety. The people belonging to the brigantine and sloop may be disposed of at the discretion of your Convention.

Congress approves of your recommendation of Lieut. Victor Bicker, Junr. for the marines, and as soon as the blank commissions are received from Philadelphia, one shall be filled up for him and forwarded to you.

Your letter, directed to Captain [Patrick] Dennis, I thought it proper to return you; his last place of residence was in Brunswick, which is now in General Howe's possession. Perhaps you may hear of Captain Dennis some where in your State. The rigging, &c. that belonged to those vessels sunk into the North and East river[s], and now in the possession of Captain Dennis, it is imagined may be of singular service at Ticonderoga, of which General Schuyler should be informed. I am also directed to inform you that Congress much approves of the frigates being fitted out against the spring, and of your directing a sufficient number of cannon to be cast at Sal[i]sbury, as none for your purposes can be procured from these parts. . . .

[Annapolis] Decr 27th 1776

Benja Harrison Esqr President of The Board of War

Sir We are greatly embarrassed by your request to part with Capt [John] Martin's Vessel, she was purchased by our Agent in the West Indies, and is now claimed by Capt [William] Stone who hath replevied her, and we have undertaken to indemnify the Sheriff – if we part with her Congress must take the risque off our hands.

Should you want a fast sailing Vessel there is a Brigg at Baltimore taken by the Ship Defence which we ordered our Agent to buy for this State – that Vessel you may have if she will suit Congress – We are unwilling to part with Martins' Vessel, she being now loaden, and we expect her cargo of Coarse Woolens &c is now ready at Martinique or Eustatia – however if the Honble Congress cannot supply themselves otherwise, we must let them have the Brigg and Cargoe upon the terms they request, with the addition that the State ought to be indemnified – We shall keep Martin a day or two in expectation of hearing from you again. for and on behalf of the Council I have the honor to be [&c.]

PURDIE'S Virginia Gazette, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 27, 1776

Williamsburg, December 27.

By a St. Kitt's paper, we learn, that the governour of St. Eustatia lately gave an entertainment for capt. [Isaiah] Robinson, commander of the continental vessel of war the Andrew Doria, to which all the American merchants and provincial agents were invited; also, that one of our privateers had taken a brig belonging to Dominica, and carried her into that Dutch free port.

Col. [Edward] Carrington, of the artillery, just arrived from Hampton, brings us the agreeable intelligence of a most valuable cargo being gone up to Baltimore from Cape Francois, which comes in a brig that was sent out by Congress, and has on board 800 stand of arms, 15 tuns of gunpowder, a quantity of sulphur, and a very large assortment of blanketing and coarse clothes for the soldiery. A number of French passengers came in the vessel, one of them an officer of rank. The captain of her says, that the French show the utmost civility and give every encouragement to the Americans, and have cruizers out to protect their trade; also, that a declaration of war was every moment expected from the French court, And that gunpowder, woollens, and almost every other kind of goods, were in great plenty at the Cape, and to be bought on good terms.

CAPTAIN THOMAS THOMPSON TO CAPTAIN HECTOR McNEILL ¹

[Extract]

Sir

Portsmouth Decemr 28th 1776

I am now going to ask your Opinion of an Affair which lately happn'd here; as it Concerns the whole Navy, I should wish to have it set in a proper light in case of future Accidents or Occurrences of this Nature. – One day this Week a Tender belonging to the Milford (late Burk's [William Burke] Schooner) having Cruized three Weeks in this Bay without Success, in order to meet the above Ship for which She was loaded with Provisions, Run on Shore in a By Harbour close to the mouth of our Main Harbour. – The manner was thus – Being close in with York Ledge, night coming on & a heavy Gale at N.E, thick of Snow themselves unacquainted – therefore in order to save their Lives, the Commander desired one Pinkum (who was then on board) to Run the Schooner into some safe Harbour & there take their Chance of being made Prisoners of War, rather than perish in the Storm. – In short; on Tuesday Morning [December 24] she was discovered high & dry on shore Close by a Fort – at the same time Pinkum appear'd in Town with the Officers that Commanded & three more belonging to other Ships, who were Passengers – I received the Information in the Street by Accident, immediately sent down Boats and Officers &c & order'd them to take Command of the Vessel & apply to the Officers of the Continental Troops to Assist & bring the Prisoners 50 in Number; but previous to my Lieut getting on board the Prisoners were Secured on Shore, & the Vessel was in possession of the Soldier Officers, who absolutely refused my Lieut taking the Command & was determined to Oppose at all Events – to prevent dispute, the Lieut joined by mutual consent Assisted to do what was necessary to Secure the [Prisoners and] lighten the Schooner, & get her afloat & safe moor'd [which] they effected, & she is now up at Town – This [Pinkum] conceives himself the Captor; The Officers & Soldiers conceive they are the Captors & I think my Authority [Su]percedes them both, & that we are the Captors, as [myself] being the only Commanding Officer in the Navy at this Port, in which department this matter certainly belongs & the dignity of which I shall Endeavour to Sup[port] In short Pinkum has libelled the Schooner on the [strength] of a Resolve of Congress,² which while it is in being I shall consider it as an Injurious Indignity to the Navy, 'tis on Page 12 where the Congress have wisely given the whole of Vesels & their Cargo's to Non-Comba[tant] Persons (which is always accounted Piracy) while at the same time they gave us but one third – This Resolve also includes detachments from the Army; on the Strength of which the Officers & Soldiers mean to establish their Claim – altho nothing is done in it yet, nor shall I, untill I have your Opinion & the other Gentlemen belonging to the Navy who are now in Boston, which I wo[uld] beg you to send soon as may be; – would have you make my Compliments to Mr [John] Adams & ask his opinion This Resolve must be done away, for as it now stands, if a Vessel by Accident was to be dismasted, & driving on the Shore (as 'tis possible some time may happen) I [pursuing] the Ship, & a fellow Living on the Sea Shore, see the Vessel at one & the Same time, but he being nearer the Ship than us, gets on board first perhaps a few minutes; by the Strength of that Resolve he holds the Vessel and deprives . . .³

Portsmouth, Decemb. 28 1776.

Extracts from the Log-Book of the George-Schooner, a Tender to the Milford (formerly the Warren commanded by Capt. Burke) which was run on shore in this harbour in the Snow-Storm the 26th instant.

Halifax, Saturday 26th October 1776. Weigh'd, sail'd in company with his majesty's ship Milford.

Saturday, Nov. 2, The Milford re-took a brig and sent her to Halifax.

Wednesday, Nov. 5, Took a schooner within Thatcher's island, loaded with wood, &c. were fir'd at from the shore by several people – return'd them great guns & small arms.

Thursday, Nov. 7, Stowed away what wood we could from on board the schooner – scutled and set her on fire – sail'd in company with the Milford.

Wednesday, Nov. 13. The Milford's boat came on board – weigh'd and work'd into Cape-Cod harbour – a boat came on board with two men, &c.

Thursday, Nov. 21, Took a schooner within Thatcher's island loaded with fish & lumber, put an officer and 3 men on board and sent her to the Milford.

Friday Nov. 22, Took a wood sloop in Ipswich Bay, and run down to the Milford; took necessarys out of her, & set her on fire – The Milford scutled one sloop and sent two schooners to Halifax.

Sund. Nov. 24, Fired two guns & brought a Brig too, which had been taken by a Marblehead Schooner – sent an officer and four men on board, the Milford took the Brig in tow. N.B. The aforementioned two Brigs, were prizes of the true Blue; The latter was from the Streights, said to be worth 30,000 l. Sterling.

Tuesday Nov. 26, Join'd the Milford, took the Brig in tow, parted with the Milford, bound for Halifax.

Saturday Dec. 1, Came into Halifax harbour – found riding here, his majesty's Ships Rainbow, Amerson [Amazon], Flora, Liverpool, Richmond, Lizard, Judo [Juno], Scarborough, with several other sail.

Friday Dec. 7, Received on board the Milford's provisions. Sailed hence the Amerson with a fleet of transports for New York.

Saturday Dec. 8, Weigh'd and came to sail out of Halifax harbour.

Friday Dec. 20, Saw a sail to the Westward – hoisted a boat out sent an officer and men on board a Sloop from Portsmo. bound to Sheeps Gut – Pinkum, master.

Saturday Dec. 21, Got the sloop's sail &c. on board and set her on fire.

The officers taken in the above schooner say, That the day before they left Halifax an armed Brig named the Independance was taken by [George] Dawson² and a transport ship and carried to fort Cumberland – The Brig engag'd Dawson some time, but the ship running up along side, having soldiers on board conceal'd, who instantly rose up and fired a volley of small arms into the Brig, oblig'd her to strike.

This schooner belonged to the infamous Henry Mowat, well known at the Eastward, who takes every cruel method to distress the good people of these states, in return for the many civilities he had formerly receiv'd from them – she was employ'd as a tender to the Milford, and was cruising in this bay in order to join the said ship which Mowat now commands.

and Newport Decemb. 28th 1776 –

Sir

I received your favour of the 24th instt – am glad that Care is taken to unload the Mellish, which by a Letter rece'd from Mr [Leonard] Jarvis I believe is done – I am extremely oblig'd to you for the favour done me by Supplying my Son with £30 – which was Sufficient for him – but am at a loss how you should think my Prize Money was Connected with the Companys – as the Congress have Settled my part at one twentieth of the Captors part –

I have applyed to Captn Whipple in Respect to Sending you a List of the Men Concern'd, but as the greatest part of the Officers and Men are now on duty onboard the Several Vessels in this Harbour the General Interest of the Country will not permit their applying in Person to the several Agents for their Money – So that if it can't be distributed to them onboard they must go without it – to Remedy which Captn Whipple, his Officers and People have Sent Mr [Joseph] Hardy Clerk of the Columbus to bring the Money onboard which I hope will be agreeable – You first taking out your Commissions & the Money you advanc'd my Son – and Mr Hardys Receipt will be your discharge – Capt Whipple would not have taken this Step if there was any other way to Satisfy his Officers and People – ²

Shall be greatly Obligated to you if you will take Care of my part of the other Prizes within your Jurisdiction untill you Receive my Orders to Send it me. I am with Esteem Sir [&c.]

Frost, and some Snow.

A boat with a Lieutenant and 5 men belonging to a Rebel Privateer Sloop of 10 Guns, came on shore this morning on part of Brenton's neck. They were immediately seized by some of the troops quartered there, and brought to Headquarters. The vessel They belong to is off the point of the Eastern Main, and they were sent on shore by the Captain of her to obtain intelligence of the British, but did not know the town was in our possession. Orders were immediately sent to The Cerberus Frigate, which lay off Fogland Ferry in the Seconnet passage, to go in quest of her; and accordingly she slipt her Cable and went to Sea.

As the Alfred and her prizes are daily expected in, orders have been given to hoist the Rebel Colours upon the appearance of any vessels. The Ships in the harbour have struck their Colours, and the Commodores their broad pendants.

. . . We have considered that part of your Excellencys letter of the 25th Inst to Mr Morris that relates to the Seamen in the Two New England Battalions, whose times expire with this Year, and shou'd any of them obstinately persist in being discharged from your Service on New Years day We think it adviseable to prevail on them to come down here & assist in getting the Frigates out, when they come we will make the best bargain we can with them & if nothing else will do, We will engage to send them home in one or two of those Ships – if they come on these terms we think Capt [Thomas] Read & his officers shou'd come with them that we may if possible get away the Washington as well as the Delaware, Congress are very anxious to have these Ships out & will be pleased if this measure is pursu[ed.] . . .

You cannot conceive how I am vexed & mortified to find after the deal of pains & trouble I have taken that the Randolph Frigate is still at the Pier & Ice making in the River but the Officers of that Ship show great reluctance to go away without being compleatly manned & that is not possible, She might have been at Sea before now had they exerted themselves for that purpose but they have had constantly in View to wait for more Men, this has its foundation in a Noble principle which has hindered me from complaining to the Marine Committee, altho I have scolded the Officers like a Buster-Whore for their dilatoriness: they say they wish to Fight & not to run. I tell them they must run untill they can fight --

There are a Number of Soldiers in the two New England Regiments now with Genl Washington whose time expire with this year & will not reinlist. they are chiefly Fishermen or Sea faring People, and I have wrote the General to prevail on all that will not Continue with him to come down here to Man our Frigates & they shall carry them home. MAJOR GENERAL PHILIP SCHUYLER TO JOHN HANCOCK¹

Albany December 30th 1776 –

Directions are given for repairing the Batteaus in Lake Champlain and Lake George and for building one hundred and fifty adapted to the Navigation of Hudson's and the Mohawks Rivers and Wood Creek.

Should the Enemy be able to force us from Tyonderoga, it will be possible for them, altho' we keep possession of Mount Independence to get into Lake George by drawing their Batteaus over Land from below Tyonderoga, for altho' the Task would be arduous yet it is feasible and ought to be guarded against. I therefore propose to build five or six flat Bottomed Vessels of considerable Force on Lake George, and shall begin to prepare the necessary Articles in the Beginning of February unless Congress should please to direct otherwise, and about the same Time I propose to begin the necessary Work of obstructing the Navigation of Lake Champlain between Tyonderoga and Mount Independence, which I hope to execute so effectually as not to leave a possibility for any Kind of Craft to pass whilst we keep possession of the latter place, and which I think we can do against any Force whatever, provided we have a sufficient Garrison properly supplied with Cannon, Ammunition & provision.

A considerable Quantity of Cordage and Oakham is wanted – If it cannot be supplied in this State, I shall send to the Eastern ones, and so indeed I must for many Articles that will be wanted – I wish therefor a Resolution of Congress, directing every State to comply with my applications in whatever they can.

. . . For three Weeks or perhaps a Month to come we have little to fear from our Enemy, but as after that Lake Champlain will be passable, it is probable they will make an Attempt as I am well informed, that they have two Regiments at St Johns, three at Isle au Noix, and a small Body, as an advanced post on Isle-la-motte, and I conjecture that they would hardly keep so many Troops at those places, if they did not meditate a Winter's Expedition – It is therefore of Importance that the Garrison should be strengthened and have therefore repeated my former application for assistance to the Eastern States.

[Baltimore] Monday, December 30, 1776

It appearing to Congress that it will be extremely difficult, if not impracticable, to supply the army of the United States with bacon, salted beef, pork, soap, tallow and candles, unless the exportation thereof be prohibited; therefore,

Resolved, That none of the said articles, except such as may be necessary for the crew of any ship or vessel, be exported from any of the United States after the 5th day of January next, until the first day of November next, or until Congress shall take further order therein. And it is earnestly recommended to the executive powers of the several United States, to see that this resolution be strictly complied with.

Resolved, That Commissioners be forth with sent to the Courts of Vienna, Spain, Prussia and the grand Duke of Tuscany.

That the several Commissioners of the United States be instructed to assure the respective Courts, that notwithstanding the artful and insidious endeavours of the Court of Great Britain to represent the Congress and inhabitants of these states to the European powers, as having a disposition again to submit to the sovereignty of the crown of Great Britain, it is their determination at all events to maintain their independence.

That the Commissioners be respectively directed to use every means in their power to procure the assistance of the Emperor of Germany, and of their most Christian, Catholic and Prussian Majesties, for preventing German, Russian, or other foreign troops, from being sent to America for hostile purposes against these United States, and for obtaining a recall of those already sent.

That his most Christian Majesty be induced, if possible, to assist the United States in the present war with Great Britain, by attacking the Electorate of Hanover, or any part of the dominions of Great Britain in Europe, the East or West Indies.

That to this purpose the Ambassadors be instructed to represent to the Court of France, that in Case G. Britain should succeed against America, a military Government will be established here, and the Americans already trained to arms will, however unwilling, be forced into the Service of his britannic Majesty, whereby his power will be greatly augmented, and may hereafter be employed to reduce to his Government the french and spanish Islands in the West Indies.

That, should the Independance of America be supported, Great Britain, on the Contrary, would at once be deprived of one third of her power and Commerce; that this in a great Measure would be added to the Kingdom of France, whose Territories in the West Indies would be less liable to Molestation from G. Britain and probably enlarged.

That the Commissioners be farther impowered to stipulate with the court of France, that all the trade between the United States and the West India islands shall be carried on by vessels, either belonging to the subjects of his most Christian Majesty, or of these states, each having free Liberty to carry on such trade.

That the Commissioners be likewise instructed to assure his most Christian Majesty, that should his forces be employed in conjunction with the United States to exclude his Britannic Majesty from any share in the cod fishery of America, by reducing the islands of Newfoundland and Cape Breton, and ships of war be furnished when required by the United States to reduce Nova Scotia, the fishery shall be enjoyed equally and in common by the subjects of his most Christian Majesty and these states, to the exclusion of all other nations and people whatever; and half the island of Newfoundland shall be owned by and subject to the jurisdiction of his most Christian Majesty: provided, the province of Nova Scotia, island of Cape Breton, and the remaining part of Newfoundland, be annexed to the territory and government of the United States.

That should the proposals already made be insufficient to produce the proposed declaration of war, and the Commissioners are convinced that it cannot be otherwise accomplished, they assure his most Christian Majesty that such of the British West India islands, as in the course of the war shall be reduced by the united force of France and these states, shall be yielded in absolute property to his most Christian Majesty. And the United States engage on timely notice to furnish at their expence, and deliver at some convenient port or ports in the said

United States, provisions for carrying on expeditions against the said islands, to the amount of two millions of dollars, and six frigates mounting not less than 24 guns each, manned and fitted for the sea, And to render any other assistance which may be in their power as becomes good allies.

That the Commissioners for the Court of France and Spain consult together, and prepare a treaty of commerce and alliance, as near as may be similar to the first proposed to the Court of France, not inconsistent therewith nor disagreeable to his most Christian Majesty, to be proposed to the Court of Spain; adding thereto, "that if his Catholic Majesty will join with the United States in a war against Great Britain, they will assist in reducing to the possession of Spain the town and harbour of Pensacola, provided the citizens and inhabitants of the United States shall have the free and uninterrupted navigation of the Mississippi and use of the harbour of Pensacola, and will, provided it shall be true, that his Portuguese Majesty has insultingly expelled the vessels of these states from his ports, or hath confiscated any such vessels, declare war against the said king, if that measure shall be agreeable to and supported by the Courts of France and Spain.

That the Commissioners for the Court of Berlin consult with the Commissioners at the Court of France, and prepare such a treaty or treaties of friendship and Commerce, to be proposed to the King of Prussia, as shall not be disagreeable to their most Christian or Catholic Majesties.

That the Commissioners at the Court of France be informed of the designs of Congress to send Commissioners to the Courts of Vienna and the grand Duke of Tuscany, to cultivate the friendship of those princes, and to form such treaties of commerce as may be beneficial to those countries and the United States, and directed to acquaint the Ambassadors from their courts to that of France with this design; and in the meantime to solicit thro' those Ambassadors the interference of the Emperor and the Duke of Tuscany, to prevent G. Britain from sending foreign troops to this Country, and to procure a recall of such foreign troops as are already here.

Honble Gentlemen

Baltimore 30 Decemr 1776

You will be pleased to receive herewith copies of our letter of the 21st instant, and of it's inclosures, which we recommend to your attention – Since that letter was written, General Washington, having been reinforced by the Troops lately commanded by General Lee & by some Corps of Militia, crossed the Delaware with 2500 Men, and attacked a body of the enemy, posted at Trenton, with the success, that you will see related in the inclosed hand bill – We hope this blow will be followed by others, that may leave the enemy not so much to boast of, as they some days ago expected, and we had reason to apprehend –

Upon mature deliberation of all circumstances, Congress deem the speedy declaration of France and European Assistance so indispensibly necessary to secure the Independence of these States, that they have authorized you to make such tenders to France & Spain, as, they hope, will prevent any longer delay of an event, that is judged so essential to the well being of North America – Your Wisdom, we know, will direct you to make such use of these powers, as will procure the thing desired on terms as much short of the concessions now offered as possible; but no advantages of this kind are proposed at the risk of a delay, that may prove dangerous to the end in view – It must be very obvious to the Court of France, that, if Great Britain should succeed in her design of subjugating these States, their Inhabitants, now well trained to arms, might be compelled to become Instruments for making conquest of the French Possessions in the West Indies; which would be a sad contrast to that security & commercial benefit, that would result to France from the Independence of North America –

By some accident, in removing the papers from Philadelphia to this place, the Secretary of Congress has mislaid the additional instructions formerly given you, by which you were empowered to negotiate with other Courts besides France – We think it necessary to mention this to you, lest the papers should have got into wrong hands, and because we wish to have a copy sent us by the first good opportunity –

We observe that Mr Deane sent his dispatches for this Committee open to Mr [William] Bingham, but, though we have a good opinion of that Gentlemen, yet we think him rather too young to be made acquainted with the business passing between you and us, and therefore wish, this may not be done in cases of much importance –

The next opportunity will bring you the determination of Congress concerning the persons, that are to be sent to the Courts of Vienna, Prussia, Spain, and the Grand Duke of Tuscany – In the meantime, it is hoped, that, through the medium of the Ambassadors from those Courts to that of France, you may be so fortunate as to procure their friendly mediation for the purposes proposed by Congress – Our Andrew Doria of 14 Guns has taken a King's Sloop of War of 12 Guns after a smart engagement – ² In our last we say, the Enemy made near 3000 Prisoners at Fort Washington, but the number is fixed at 2634 – The West India-men, taken by our Cruisers, amount to 250 Sail –

The Scarcity of Ships here is so great, that we shall find much difficulty in making the extensive remittances to France, that we ought, in due season, and therefore it will, in our opinion, be an object of great importance to obtain the consent of the Farmers General to send to Virginia & Maryland for any quantity of Tobacco, they may chuse, or to the State of North Carolina for any quantity of Naval Stores, which may be wanted for publick use, or to supply the demands of private Merchants – The terms, both as to quantity & price you will endeavour to learn and let it be made known to us with all possible expedition, that you may receive an answer thereon –

The Captain of the Armed Vessel, that carries these dispatches has orders to deliver them himself to you in Paris, and his vessel will expect his return in a different Port from the one he arrives at – He will take your directions about his return, and receive your letters, but the anxiety prevailing here to know your success, renders it proper, that he should return with all possible dispatch – ³

Wishing you health, success, and many happy years we remain Honble Gentlemen [&c.]

Annapolis -- December 30th 1776

Considering the State of Maryland to be embarked in the same cause with the Honble Congress, we readily and chearfully agree that you should have the small armed Schooner now in your Port,² which we hope, will answer the Purpose intended, nothing more will be asked for her in Point of Price, but what she cost the State; we expect not to gain, nor would you wish, we are persuaded, that the State of Maryland should loose any thing by the vessel. -- We let you have her in the public cause to oblige Congress. -- be pleased to notify this to the Commander, and direct him to return a Schedule or Memorandum of Guns and other effects on board, the Price we will send hereafter. -- Blankets we have none, but we will furnish Mr Griffin with Cotton to make them, which may be easily done, 'tis the shift we are forced to make for our own Hospital, as also enough to make two for your servant, which may be returned in kind, when convenient. We are Sir [&c.]

Remarks on Monday 30th Decemr 1776 [St. Pierre, Martinique]
 Pleasant weather employd in fixing our Vessel part of my Crew demanded their discharge I told them it was not in my power to discharge them in a Foreign port. they told me they would desert. I acquainted them that if they did I should do all in my power to catch them & should confine them until I was ready to leave the port & then take them on board. they apply'd to the Continental Agent ² to enter on board his Schooner Privateer he refus'd them. they then apply'd to the Intendant, he told them they wer Subject to their Captn & none else and that there Capt was not Subject to any body but the Council of the State of Massachusetts Bay. therefore he advised them to repair on board & do their duty. they told me that they would not do their duty that they had no Officers & they were very troublesome and made much uneasiness on board

The Freeman's Journal, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1776

Portsmouth, Dec. 31, 1776.

Last Wednesday night, in a severe storm, by the skill of Capt. Pinkham, was steer'd safe into this harbour, the schooner George, of about 80 tons, being the Milford's Tender of 8 carriage guns, having a considerable quantity of provisions on board for her. - Captain Pinkham, the 19th instant, sail'd from this port for the Eastward, after having deliver'd a Load of Wood; the 20th he was taken by the above Tender, the 21st they burnt his vessel, with about 100 l. in stores on board, and kept Capt. Pinkham and his two men he had with him, in pursuit of more prizes, but by reason of the violence of the above storm, they begg'd of Pinkham to take the helm at York ledge, and save their lives if he could, & he should be welcome to the vessel, which he at first steer'd into Little Harbour, and is now at Moffatt's wharfe - She had 51 officers and privates on board, who are all safe under guard in this town. - The above was a continental vessel, and commanded by Capt. Burk, as a privateer,¹ but now by one Richard Willis.

ADAM BABCOCK TO JOHN BROWN¹

Sir

Bedford 31st Decr 1776 –

This informs You of the arrival of the prize Brig Countess of Eglinton, from Glasgow bound to Antigua, her cargo amounting Pr Invoice to 4582.17..6 Sterlg mostly in Check Linnens, Thread Hose Shoes &c also 200 Firkins Butter &c 160 Bbls Bread &c &c The Brigantine of about 160 Tons is full She was taken by Capt Wm Dennis in the privateer Sloop America. Your Privateer Retaliation Capt. [Isaac] Jones, was in sight, when the Brig struck. Capt. Dennis's prize Master Mr [Noble] Wood delivered me the Brig papers & I have libel'd the prize in the Maritime Court of this District – at which time Your Claim must be settled — on board of this prize it appears by a letter from both Captains of the privateers, they agreed to Share in each others Captures equally whether Seperate or together for the whole of the Cruize for the future does this meet with your approbation, In other Words are you content to share equally with us in all prizes that both Privateers take after that Agreement – the one half to go to the owners & officers & men of your Privateer the other half to the owner officers & men of the Other — To prevent all disputes hereafter I should be glad of your Answer hereto, in behalf of myself & the other owners of the Privateer Sloop America –

You have a Copy of the Libel inclosed & shall have a Copy of the Invoice; the Cargo appears to have been all shipt by one House at Glasgow — but Capt Wood in his haste gave me the first & third Sheet but the Second I suppose is still in his Chest — when he returns which will be in a Day or two I will Send You a Copy — there is also an adventure of the Cpts amounting to near £200 Sterling—I think it best to have the Goods immediately unladed, as doubtless Some of them may be wet, by bad Weather on a Winters passage – The whole I shall deposit in a Safe Store till the Court have decreed the Prize to Some one or both & the Proportion – which I dare Say will meet with your approbation I am

NARRATIVE OF MAJOR GENERAL HENRY CLINTON¹

[November 26 to December 31, 1776]

On the 26th of November Sir William Howe delivered to me his final instructions, to proceed to Rhode Island "and in conjunction with the officer who should be appointed to command the naval part of the expedition, to make a descent on that island in the most effectual manner for the full possession of it, and for the security of the town and harbor of Newport; and to take such other posts as should be necessary for its preservation, and for other purposes I might judge expedient for the advancement of His Majesty's service and for distressing the enemy."

Accordingly we sailed from New York on the 1st of December with two brigades of British and two of Hessian troops, under convoy of a squadron of His Majesty's ships commanded by Commodore Sir Peter Parker; and on the evening of the 7th we anchored in Weaver's Bay on the west side of that island. The Troops being disembarked the next morning without the least opposition, Major General Prescott [Richard Prescott] with the grenadiers and light infantry, was immediately sent forward with a view of intercepting a body of rebels who had fled from the works in and about Newport toward Bristol Ferry, and Lieutenant General Earl [Hugh] Percy followed at the head of the heavy battalions to sustain him; but the rebels, who retired with precipitancy, had abandoned their fort at the ferry and crossed over to the continent before the King's troops could overtake them, so that only two pieces of cannon and a few prisoners fell into our hands. A battalion had been also detached to take possession of Newport, where we found some artillery and stores which the rebels had not time to remove. But the most material prize unluckily escaped us, as the rebel privateers under Hopkins, consisting of three large ships and several other armed vessels, had run up Providence River on the first appearance of our fleet.

The facility with which we had obtained this important acquisition might have tempted me to have proceeded further. But I was aware of the great risk I should run should I place large waters between divisions of my little army at that time of year in so rigorous a climate, wherein a violent snowstorm or frost, catching me suddenly in the midst of a move, might have put it out of my power either to advance or fall back. For, though report magnified the number of the rebels collected at Providence and Bristol to several thousands, yet, as I knew they were mostly militia except two or three artillery companies, no apprehension from them would have withheld me had the season been less critical. These considerations induced me, therefore, to lose no time in putting the troops under cover and laying in magazines of fuel, which the severity of the cold began already to make necessary.

[New York, November 29 to December 31, 1776]

Here commences the most agreeable time I have experienced during my servitude as a midshipman, as I was in possession of almost every luxury of life, without one anxious care, one unhappy moment to embitter it. I had a most elegant cabin with a comfortable stove, and the additional happiness of seven messmates who was in some of the other prizes, where, solely clear of all the little snubs we are so accustomed to in the navy, we smiled at fortune and defied its frowns.

The 29th, the Orpheus sent in a sloop with cordage and canvas; December 2nd, one with sugar and rum; the 5th another with flour; the 10th, a schooner with pepper and sugar; the 12th, a brig with tobacco; and on the 14th ² arrived with two sloops with bread and flour. Several of my messmates were immediately ordered on board, while from great good fortune I remained with the charge of the prizes; and as some of our orlopian manoeuvres were not a little various, I shall mention a few of them.

Among the innumerable good things I was in possession of, there was on board one of the prizes three cases of the best Bordeaux claret, which Captain [Charles] Hudson ³ had directed to be sent to him and Captain [St. John] Chinnery of the Daphne. We were keeping as usual Christmas Day, and were desirous to drink good wine; we therefore drank the three cases out, and the following day filled them with claret of a very inferior sort out of the casks, corking them with the same long corks, and sealing them all over with a deal of attention and care; which answered every purpose, as the captains, on drinking the wine, observed, 'It might be very good claret, but for their parts they found very little difference in that and the cask claret.' The second business we performed was taking the limes out of sixteen casks, and after heaving water and rotten limes among the stuff they were packed in, reported them all unfit for use to the captains, who, lamenting the loss, observed, 'It was generally the case with fruit that had remained any time in the ship.'

Thus we passed our jovial days, till in an evil hour our summons came to join the ship, and I do not remember a greater change than to be transported in a second from those luxurious scenes to a cold, distressed midshipman's habitation, and to be subject to the variety of causes that make them lead an unpleasing life.

Philedelphia December 31st 1776 –

I wrote you on Tuesday last, and since that time the greatest part of the people I brought here is inlisted in the Land Service for the sake Of the Twenty dollars Bounty, and gone to the Camp. those who were Sailors have enter'd in Merchantmen Wages being Extravagently high – Since our Arival here have been helping to fitt out the Deleware two days past, Mr Morriss [Robert Morris] desired we should repair on board of one of the row Gallies & follow that part of the Army thats gone into the Jerseys. We made the Attempt but the Ice prevented us from proceeding, upon which we were oblidge'd to return, I have used every persuasive Argument in my power to keep them together but they Complain of the want of Cloths and off their time being Expir'd, I have not over twelve men with Officers that is now willing to go to Camp; I informed Mr Morriss a few days agoe. of my Peoples [e]ntring and going off, as there was no Immediate Call at Philedelphia, I wanted permission to return to the Ship with what men I had left,² he did not approve of it but signifies what did not return to Advertise, I shall at my return give you a list of those who are gone and those who returns with me – I confess had I Known we was to have had a Winters Campaign I would have provided Cloths for them – all that I Expected was to have done what was in my power for the present occasion, & to have return'd to the Ship in a Short time; agreeable to your Instructions I wait the Pleasure of the Congress or Marine board to return, or your orders for that Purpose, yesterday there was 950 Hessens come to this Town, Prissoners Exclusive Commissioned Officers & it is reported since there being taken there is about 300 men with a Hessi[a]n Brigr Genl made Prissoners. NARRATIVE OF CAPTAIN ANDREW SNAPE HAMOND¹

[Roebuck, off New York and in Delaware Bay,
November 25 to December 31]

Novr 25th

The Rebel army being in a manner broke up & dispersed, The two Forts in the North River taken, and Lord Cornwallis in the Jerseys driving the Enemy every where before him, The service for all the Ships in the North River became unnecessary: The Roebuck was therefore ordered to join the Admiral at New York. This was a measure so perfectly agreeable to me after so long a confinement in the River (wch became intolerably tiresome after the Army left us) that no time was lost in obeying the order; and except stopping to sound the channel where the Enemy had sunk their Vessels & Machines, and just taking a look at the Forts that had so much annoyed us on our passage up the River, I delayed not a Moment untill I dropped my Anchor close to the Admirals Ship at New York; and having hitherto defered heeling the Ship, least the Enemy should have imagined they had done us much mischief, I took the opportunity of doing it the next day, when to my great astonishment I found two Shot had pierced the Ships side full four feet under water. This had been done from the Jerseys side, where the Guns were 32 pounders placed full 300 feet above the Water.

New York

The great success the Rebel small Privatiers had met with last winter, flattered the congress so much that they began to conceive ideas of becoming formidable at Sea; and Mr Adams [sic], in his pamphlet of Common sense, having shewn the Americans how easily they might establish a Navy, orders were given as early as March last for building 13 Frigates of 32 Guns each, which were to be immediately followed by as many to carry 44. The first Number were actually built in different Ports on the Continent, and some of them being said to be nearly fit for sea, the looking after them became now An object of the Admirals attention, and therefore stationed his Ships in the way he thought most likely to fall in with them in case they should put to sea. Several of them being said to be ready to sail from Philadelphia, and General Howe not having entirely layed aside the design of attacking that place this year; but was pushing his Troops on to the banks of the Delaware, in order to see how such a measure would operate on the Minds of the Rebels when they saw their principal City in danger; Lord

 Delaware Bay.

Howe gave me the Command of 5 Ships to cruize off that Port; as well to intercept their armed Vessels & supplys, as to be ready to cooperate with the General Lord Cornwallis in the Delaware in case he should resolve on crossing the River & Attacking the Town of Philadelphia. I recieved this honorable mark of his Lordships kindness to me on the 1st of Decr and after waiting a few days to take in Stores & Provisions I left New-York the 5th and arrived on my Station the 7th following; where I placed the Ships in the way I thought most proper for blocking up the Port: which having two channels into it, was guarded chiefly by the Falcon in one, & the Roebuck in the other; while the other Ships were cruizing off at a little distance on each side. By this disposition it was scarcely possible for any Vessel to get in or come out: nor did I hear that any more than 2 Vessels escaped us during the whole time we continued there which happened in a fog: So that not withstanding positive orders had been given from the Congress for three of the Frigates to sail; and being Short of seamen they had directed the Captain of the Frigate at Baltimore to bring all his Men over land to put on board the ships at Philadelphia, where they actually arrived; yet, upon finding the Port was stoped up, they gave over their design, and ordered the Baltimore Captain & his Men back again.

Soon after my Arrival in the Delaware I began a Negotiation to establish a Cartel for the exchange of Prisoners, which although I did not effect untill the 3d Jany Yet as I frequently sent my boat ashore with a Flag of Truce on that business, I was not at all dissatisfied with the delay; as it not only gave me an opp[o]rtunity of distributing the Commissioners proclamations among the People of the lower Counties (who I found were at least three to one in favor of Government, of which I gave the Admiral & General the fullest information) but it also furnished me with the News of every thing that the Rebels were doing at Philadelphia.

All the month of December passed without hearing any thing from Lord Cornwallis or from General Howe, but from my other intelligence I learnt that the former was gone to his winter Quarters at Brunswick: and that a Brigade of Hessians which he had left as an out guard near Trentown on the Delaware, under the Command of Colonel Rhole [Johann Rall], had been surprized by the Enemy; and that 700 Men, with all their Baggage Camp Equipage & several Feild Pieces had fallen into the Rebels hands. A most sad blot! This unfortunate piece of misconduct of the Hessian Colonel's, being the only circumstance in favor of the Rebels during the whole Campaign, General Washington published an account of it, which, though much embellished, yet was not greatly exaggerated; any further than by saying it had been effected with much fewer Men on his part than was actually there. The circumstances of the Number taken Prisoners, and the artillery & stores which had fallen into their hands, was pretty fairly stated, in order to regain a credit with the Publick, which they had before entirely lost: For as the Press at Philadelphia is altogether in the hands of the Congress, the news papers had constantly related the great successes their army had gained over the British & Foreign Troops in every action in which they had been engaged during the whole summers Campaign: and when at the end of it they found how much they had been deceived, & kept in ignorance, and that General Howe was marching on towards the City, Parties run so high there, that it was with the utmost difficulty they could keep the inhabitants quiet: and nothing can be more convincing of the general consternation they were in, and the danger they thought themselves exposed to at that time, than the Proclamations they published, and the rewards they offered for Men that would enlist only for one Month to defend the city, assuring each Man that he should be provided with a Blanket & shoes & stockings: at the same time giving authority to the officers to press for those articles wherever they could be found. To which I may add, the abdication of the Congress, who all retired to Baltimore, where they kept a ship ready to carry them off. It is therefore much to be lamented that this favorable moment had not been embraced, which in all probability would effectually have put an end to this terrible war; or at least prevented their ever raising another Army; and nothing I believe prevented the General from doing it but the difficulty of crossing the River so late in the Season.

Sir,

We received two Letters from you, one by Mr S: Steward the other by Mr [John] Crockett. — 'tis very well, that you purchased the Brigg,² two thirds of her belongs to the State of Maryland, as also two thirds of all the other money the Prizes sold for, and so you may inform the Marshall, therefore we have sent only 2,000 Pounds Currency for her loading and Outfit, we do not expect Congress will want her, as they have wrote only for a Small armed schooner, which we have let them have. —

Get the Brigg ready, as fast as possible, and let her be loaded with best Flour, some bread, and thirty or Forty Hogsheads of Tobo, if to be got on tolerable Terms; your militia we hear are marching, but we think you ought to be excused, as you are much engaged in the Service of the State; should you go, you will leave our business we expect in good hands. —

 Germain dated St Christophers 31th Decr 1776.

I have the honour of forwarding to your Lordship Copies of my Letters to the Governor of St Eustatius, his answer and my reply, with Copies of Depositions taken in this Island, respecting the flagrant Indignity offered to His Majesty's Colours, in the Publick Honour paid by the Principal Dutch Fort to an American Privateer, and the notorious assistance afforded in that Island to His Majesty's Rebel Subjects. With regard to the specifick Charge of the British Brigantine [taken] by an armed Sloop fitted out at St Eustatius, I must beg leave to refer your Lordship to the representation which you will, I presume, recive from Governor Shirley, who sent down a Letter to the Dutch Governor on this subject by Mr Forster McConnell, the Proprietor of the Vessel and Cargo; and altho I had no direct positive Evidence on Oath laid before me of the Ownership of the Privateer by Dutch Subjects, nor of the specific nature of the supplies daily sent from St Eustatius to North America (the Difficulty of obtaining which will, I flatter my Self at once suggest it Self to your Lordship) yet I hope that my Zeal for His Majesty's Service will not be found by your Lordship to have transported me beyond the strict Line of my Duty; and that as the Capture of the Brigantine was seen from this Island, the Identity of her clearly established to my Satisfaction, and the Fact of the almost daily unrestrained Commerce between North America and St Eustatius too notorious to be contradicted, I shall not fall under His Majesty's Displeasure for making my representation and remonstrance to the Dutch Governor so full.

EUROPEAN THEATRE

From October 6, 1776, to December 31, 1776

SUMMARY

American privateering ventures in European waters increased markedly during the closing months of 1776. The spiralling number of captures being made by these "rebel pirates," and their use of French and Spanish ports, deepened the concern of government and the mercantile community in Britain. All was not one-sided, of course, and newspaper accounts from the port cities also told of American privateers being taken and of numerous prizes recaptured.

The Admiralty ordered more Royal Navy ships to anti-privateer patrol duty, and convoy coverage was extended. Naval officers registered not unfamiliar complaints about the difficulties they were experiencing getting masters to conform to convoy discipline, and preventing the merchant ships from wandering off on their own.

The eagerly awaited word of the success achieved by the King's arms at the Battle of Long Island was joyously received in Britain. And, no time was lost through diplomatic channels in attempting to exploit the victory as a sure indication that the revolution would soon be crushed. In effect, Britain was cautioning her continental neighbors that it would be folly to back a lost cause either openly or covertly.

Meanwhile in Paris, Silas Deane naturally played down the impact of the American defeat on Long Island as he continued to seek munitions and all forms of material assistance. He likewise prepared articles for a proposed United States alliance with France and Spain.

The Continental brig Reprisal, Captain Lambert Wickes, came to anchor in the Loire River with a distinguished passenger on board, Dr. Benjamin Franklin who would join Deane at Paris. Wide acclaim and equally wide speculation about the nature of his mission greeted Franklin's arrival in France.

Across the Channel, England was watching with intent interest the sizeable French fleet assembled at Brest. George III opened the Third Session of the Fourteenth Parliament, and the North Ministry asked that "45,000 seamen, including 10,129 marines, be employed" for the next year. To meet the manning needs of an expanding sea service, the Royal Navy put a massive impressment effort in motion.

News of the destruction of the American fleet at the Battle of Valcour Island on Lake Champlain was greeted with an elation tempered by realization that the action had come too late in the season for Sir Guy Carleton to pursue his advantage this campaign.

"EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM BILBOA, DATED OCTOBER 6, 1776" ¹

By this time we judge the capital events of the American armies are over, and from the silence observ'd in the court of London every body imagines the King's troops have been worsted: all Europe is in expectation of what has happen'd on your side, and we in hourly hopes of some arrival, may God Almighty bring it soon and to our entire satisfaction, is the hearty wish of those that are and will be with true esteem.

We are now on the 14th inst. and your favour 22d. Aug. per Lee is come to hand, after 39 days passage, in which he took five prizes, so that he will make a fine voyage if they get in safe.² On his arrival one Mr. Gomez who receives some Newfoundlanders, applied to the Commissary to stop the vessel on account of her being an illegal privateer, and said Commissary granted it, and order'd the master to present his commission, which we had him comply with, with a proper protest and petition, insisting on his being set at liberty; upon which it was order'd that the vessel should remain until his Majesty should give instructions how to proceed about it – As soon as we heard of it, we drew out a fine petition for his Majesty and dispatched an express for the purpose, and notwithstanding the power and activity of the British Ambassador, we have obtain'd a charming order from his Catholic Majesty, a copy whereof you have herein translated into English, by which you see the point is now settled for the future, and all American vessels are allow'd to enter into our ports without distinction, whether privateers or merchantmen; on sight hereof our commissary releas'd Capt. Lee's vessel immediately, and is now getting things in order to proceed home. Some great news are just come to hand – in consequence of the express sent to Madrid we find the Commissary has receiv'd orders from his Majesty to inform Capt. Lee and all other Americans, that all their vessels, viz. privateers, and prizes will have all manner of assistance in the Spanish ports, to say they will be safe and unmolested and will be provided with every thing but the articles prohibited in such cases; in short that a strict neutrality will be observ'd by his Catholic Majesty, so that you may henceforward be quite easy and send your vessels freely, as well as prizes from any quarter whatsoever; you ought to improve this fine opening, and your worthy rulers ought to send over some body, or empower some person – We are with joy but in haste.

A true Copy of His Catholic Majesty's Order wrote by the Marquis of Grimaldy prime Minister in Spain, to d'Manuel de Mollinado, Commissary of Marine, translated into English.

By your letter of the 4th inst. and the testimony that accompanied it, his Majesty is acquainted with what has occurred respecting the American schooner Hawk, Capt. John Lee, from the time of her entry to the time of your laying her under a formal embargo by obliging her to deliver up the tiller—all at the instance of Gomez de la terre, inhabitant of your place; his Majesty has likewise seen the protest of said American captain against all the damages that might ensue:

In consequence of which, says to you, that whereas his Majesty from the great friendship he professes to his Britannick Majesty maintains a perfect neutrality in the present war – not giving to the Colonists any of those aids prohibited in like cases, so likewise it corresponds to the same neutrality not to deny them the entrance into his ports which they have always been used to enjoy, so long as they respect the territories of his Majesty in proper terms; besides the above his Majesty thinks Mr. Gomez an unqualified improper person to solicit a proceeding of the like nature. You will therefore be pleased immediately to put said American in full liberty, restoring him all his papers, and permitting him to purchase what provisions and goods he needs to return to his own country, but without assisting in any prohibited thing.

Signed,

Marquis of Grimald[i].

The King having learned by Your Lordship's letter of 19 June past of the news it communicates about the events and deployments of English Armed Forces and of its Insurgent Colonies in New England, according to information received from various vessels of that nation navigating along the [Mississippi] River there to its settlements: His Majesty has approved the precautions and provisions taken by Your Lordship to investigate the intentions and plans of both parties, by the present method to prevent any happening.

On Saturday advice came from Liverpool, that two of their homeward bound vessels, which sailed without convoy, are taken by an American privateer, viz. the Isaac, Craig, from Tortola, and the Lancaster [sic Lancashire], Jones, from Jamaica, both laden with sugar and rum. The Captains were put on board a French vessel.

LORD GRANTHAM, BRITISH AMBASSADOR TO SPAIN, TO LORD WEYMOUTH ¹

[Madrid] 7th October 1776.

The last advices from Galicia and Sir John Hort's intelligence to His Majesty's Consuls in this country bring an account of the progress and boldness of the American privateers who have ventured so far as the coasts of this and the neighboring kingdoms; a circumstance which affects, and ought to alarm every commercial nation in Europe, and to induce a general opposition to it. There is now at Bilbao, as I am informed by letters written in the instant of the post setting out from thence, at anchor in the river there, a Captain [John] Lee, with an American armed schooner, named the Hawke, mounting eight carriage guns and sixteen swivels, who had landed there two captains of vessels which he had taken and sent to America; it is added that this vessel was fitted out even at Bilbao itself. The English vessels now there are detained for fear of this active privateer.

I have communicated these circumstances to M Grimaldi, who has promised to make the strictest inquiry, which I likewise do by this night's post, concerning it. I did not fail on this occasion to represent how absolutely necessary it was to convince the masters and captains of such vessels that they were not to expect the least countenance in the ports of this Kingdom. It does not appear that this privateer had come into the harbor, but only that it is at anchor in the river, which being the case, M Grimaldi could not be induced to take any direct measures against it.

Whenever he communicates to me the answers made to his inquiries on this head, I will again endeavor to bring him to some fixed point, but at present, being on my side much averse to meet with any refusal, and he unwilling to take anything upon himself, I cannot presume to promise how far any explicit measures may be avowed, tho' I think I can answer that no protection will be afforded, or even entrance allowed to a vessel manifestly armed against us.

The Ann, Capt. Duncan, from Dominica for London, that was taken by an American privateer in August last, was decoyed in the following manner: When the privateer saw Capt. Duncan mounted eight guns, and was able to cope with her, they hoisted out their boat, and said she was one of the Isis man of war's attendants, and they must come on board to see her papers; and as soon as they got on board, they told Capt. Duncan he was their prize, and shewed him their commission from the General Congress.

“EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM GUERNSEY, OCT. 8.”¹

Advice is received here from L'Orient, that a vessel is arrived there, which had been boarded off Cape Finisterre, by a large schooner privateer of 14 guns, who put on board her the crew of two British vessels she had taken, one loaded with oats, the other with cod-fish; and that the said privateer had an engagement with one of our outward-bound transports, which mounted 10 guns, and obliged the privateer to sheer off, having had two men killed and 10 wounded.

In the memorial presented to the States General by the English Ambassador, Sir Joseph Yorke, on the 11th of this month [sic], his Excellency after setting forth that the prohibitions made by their High Mightinesses in the Placart, which is just expired, were very badly kept up to, as their subjects had publicly loaded ammunition and warlike stores, and sent them to the rebels in America, &c. That he therefore requested, in the name of the King his Master, that the States General would renew the Placart, and take the most efficacious methods to prevent their subjects from furnishing the rebels, either directly or indirectly, with any thing; that their vessels be forbid entering into any of the ports of the Republic; and that if any should appear to want to come into any port under their government, they might not be permitted to enter on any account whatever. This memorial being communicated to the States of Holland, who renewed their deliberations this morning, we have reason to believe a new publication on that head will soon be issued.

SILAS DEANE TO THE COMMITTEE OF SECRET CORRESPONDENCE¹

Gentlemen:

Paris October 8th 1776

Your Declaration of the 4th of July last has given this Court, as well as several others in Europe reason to expect you would in form announce your Independency to them, and ask their friendship, but a three months silence on that subject appears to them mysterious, and the more so as you declared for foreign alliances. This silence has given me the most inexpressible anxiety, has more than once come near frustrating my whole endeavours, on which subject refer you to mine of the 1st instant. Employ must be found for the forces of Great Britain out of the United States of North America. The Caribbs in St Vincent if set a going, may be supplied through Martinico with Stores. The Mountain Negroes in Jamaica may employ a great number of their Forces. This is not employing Slaves, which however the example of our enemy authorizes. Should there arise troubles in these two Islands, which a very little money would effect, the consequence would be that Great Britain, which can by no means think of giving them up, would be so far from being able to increase her Force on the Continent that she must withdraw a large part to defend her Islands. I find every one here acquainted with Bermuda is in my sentiments, and by the officiousness of the treacherous Hopkins² the ministry here have got it by the end, this makes me the more solicitous that the Island should be fortified this winter if practicable.

Tobacco in Holland is at the enormous price of 7 Stivers, and will soon be as dear in France, Germany &c I have promised that you will send out twenty thousand Hogsheads this winter, in payment of the articles wanted here; Let me advise you to ship the whole to Bordeaux, after which it may be shipped in french Bottoms to any other port, the price will pay the convoy therefore I would recommend the Vessels in which it should be shipped, be armed, and that each ship shall sail under Convoy of one of your Frigates, which may also ballast with it, this will be safer than coming in a Fleet. On your [sic their] arrival, Messrs [Samuel & J. H.] Delap, whose zeal and Fidelity in our service is great, will be directed by me, or in my absence by Mr. B. M. [Beaumarchais], or ostensibly by Messrs Hortalez & Co, where to apply the money; Eight or ten of your Frigates, thus Collected at Bordeaux, with a proper number of Riflemen as Marines, where they might have leisure to refit and procure supplies, would strike early next season a terrible blow to the british Commerce in Europe and obtain a most noble indemnity. The appearance of american Cruisers in these seas has amazed the british Merchants and insurance will now be on the war establishment, this will give the rival nations a great superiority in Commerce, of which they cannot be insensible and as our Vessels of War will be protected in the ports of France, and Spain, the whole of the british Commerce will be exposed. I hope to have a liberty for the disposal of prizes here, but dare not engage for that. The last season the whole coast of England, Scotland and Ireland has been and still remains unguarded; three or four Frigates arriving as they certainly might unexpectedly would be sufficient to pillage prt Glasgow or other western Towns; the very alarm which this would occasion might have the most suprizing and important effects, and in this method it might be effected with the utmost certainty if entered upon early next spring, but should that be laid aside, the having five or six or more of your stoutest Ships in these Ports, where you may every day receive intelligence of what is about to sail from England, would put it in our power to make great reprisals.

I wrote for blank Commissions, or a power to grant Commissions to Ships of War, pray forward them, as here are many wishing for an opportunity of using them in this way; they will take a cargo in an armed Vessel for america, and if they meet with any thing in their way take it with them. The granting Commissions against Portugal would insure the friendship of Spain. Grain will bear a great price in this Kingdom and the south of Europe, and I have made application to the Minister of the marine to supply masts and spars from America for the french Navy; pray inform me how, and on what terms the british Navy formerly used to be supplied from New England. I am fully of opinion that a War must break out soon and become general in Europe. I need say no more on the situation I am in, for want of further instructions. I live in hopes, but should I be much longer disappointed the affairs I am upon as well as my credit, must suffer if not be absolutely ruined, my most respectful compliments to the Honorable Congress. I am, gentlemen [&c.]

NEWS ITEMS FROM ITALY¹

Genoa, October 7. On advice received by the Company of Assistance in this city, that some American privateers had made their appearance in the Portuguese seas, they have declared that they will insure no ships for those seas, under the rate of 4 per cent, above the former charge.

Naples, Oct. 8. We have received advice here that the American privateers have appeared off Cape St. Vincent's, one of which has taken a ship destined for this city, with a very valuable cargo, which will be a great loss to several merchants and other persons belonging to this place.

San Ildefonso, 8 October 1776

. . . It is certain that now more than ever it behooves us to foment that war and incite those Colonists to extend their privateering and capture Portuguese vessels. Regarding admission to our ports, I have already expressed to Y. E. [Your Excellency] what the General thought. But if they were to capture Portuguese vessels in South America, from where we have information that the Colonists sail there to fish, there would be no objection to admitting them to sell and dispose of their prizes if they were accommodated, in view of our present relationship with Portugal. . . .

JOHN MARSH TO LORD GRANTHAM¹

Malaga 8th October 1776.

Notice has been given me in the most secret and confidential manner, that our Deputy Governor has received instructions from M de Grimaldi to protect, in case of necessity, any American vessel that may arrive in this Port, but on no account to publish his having such orders, except he should at any time find it absolutely necessary. This notice, My Lord, Your Excellency may be assured is without doubt, as the person from whom I had it, read the order, at the same time earnestly requested that in case Your Excellency should make any use of this information, it may be done in such a manner as to prevent its being suspected to have been divulged at this Port. I suppose the order has been general throughout the Ports of this Kingdom.

I have likewise heard from this same person under equal secrecy, that about a month or six weeks since, the Spanish Minister desired to be informed if American ships came here, and ordered the Deputy Governor to form his reply conformable to the tenor of a paper which was transmitted to him by the said Minister, who hinted that Your Excellency had made application on the subject of those vessels. The answer was, that if any such vessels came here, they hoisted English colors, and that the real property could not be known.

Most Confidential

Paris Octr 9. 1776

The almost universal Partiality of the French to the Rebels makes it as difficult for me to collect information of what relates to the american Agents as it is to get Intelligence in an Enemys Country. I have however learnt the following Particulars: viz Mr Deane and a Doctor [Edward] Bancroft who resides in London but is either come or coming hither for a short time at the Desire of Deane with whom he is much connected receive their Letters under Cover to Messrs Germany and Girardot with whom Deane dines frequently: He, Deane, is likewise directed to sometimes by the Name of J. Jones and Dr Bancroft by that of Monsr Bierda at Mr Philips Charing Cross. I am assured that Deane was much displeased with Dr [Hugh] Williamson, and among other Things reproached Him for the Visit he made me. I mention this the rather as thinking it possible that Williamson who I imagine is returned to London and who appeared to Me to be well enough calculated for being a double Spy might be of some Use now that he finds himself Obnoxious to His Countrymen.²

Deane is intimately connected with a Monsieur le Roy of the Academy of Sciences whom I know very well but he has no suspicion of my being privy to his Connexion with Deane. He has long been in Correspondence with Doctor Franklin, but in former Times their Correspondence turned only on Philosophical Subjects.

The House of Benson at Bourdeaux is much confided in by the Americans. The Congress lately passed a Remittance for sixteen thousd Pounds Sterling thro' their Hands on London and Glasgow. But it is said My Lord that this House of Benson have scruples about the Part they have been acting and are now inclined to be useful to Government. They or any considerable Mercht at Bourdeaux that would secretly give Exact and regular Information of all that is doing there in favour of the Rebels might certainly be of no small Utility.

I am likewise informed that a Ship is now loading at Dunkirk for Nantes which is a very unusual Thing. Mr Bordreu who has made so much Noise of late from the violent Part he took against Monsieur de Guines and several other English Merchants are it is said, to be freighters in Part. And there is some Reason to suspect that some Military Implements from Lisle will be put on board this Vessel, all ultimately intended for Philadelphia.

Deane has for some time talked of going to the South of France, but he is still here. He was at Germany's this Morning. He certainly goes frequently to Versailles, and chiefly as I am told to the Bureau de la Guerre. . . .

Yesterday two French traders arrived, the Captains of which had both been chased by three American privateers in the Channel, and off Cape Finisterre, the one of 18 guns, and the other of 16, which last two came up with them.

Mr. Deane was a conspicuous Member of the Congress: He is a Man of very liberal Abilities. In the Letter abovementioned he desires his Respects to be presented to a Mr. Corbiere in London, and speaking of some American Seeds he sent that Gentleman, says, in Allusion to the Spirit and natural Courage of his Countrymen, "La bonne terre nourrit les plantes."

Capt. Wilson, of the Union, arrived here this day from St. Kitts, says, on his passage he was boarded by an American privateer on the 7th of September, of 10 six pounders, and 103 men, called the Sally, Capt. [James] Munro, of Rhode Island, in lat. 33.9. lon. 55.13, who took out his cargo of ivory and Malageta pepper. The above privateer had taken the Blaze Castle, Smith, of Bristol, from Barbadoes, and the Agnes, Mather, of London, from Antigua, a little before the privateer put on board the Union 24 prisoners, and some provisions. On the 9th ditto, in lat 33.25. long. 55.13. they were boarded by another privateer, commanded by Capt. [Isaac] Field, of two four pounders, and four two pounders, and 34 men. On the 8th ditto they were boarded by a third privateer belonging to the Congress, of 14 six pounders and 130 men, in lat. 39.16. long. 43.55. called the Cabot, Capt. Hinman, who ordered him to stand to the N.W. After searching him, and steering that course a while, Capt. Wilson saw a fleet of ships heave in sight (they could count 35 sail) to the S.E. of them, when one of the large ships gave chase to the privateer, which Capt. Wilson supposed was a frigate, for about two in the morning they saw a firing of guns, and think the privateer must be taken. He supposed the ships he saw to be the Jamaica fleet.

"A LETTER FROM BRISTOL, DATED OCT. 11." ¹

Capt. M'Kennon, of the Kitty, from Jamaica, having arrived here this morning, I have thought proper to send you the news he brings.

Capt. M'Kennon says, that he sailed from Jamaica on the 9th of August, in company with 118 sail of shipping, under convoy of the Pallas and Maidstone frigates, who saw them through the gulph, and then the Maidstone returned to Jamaica, and the Pallas was to see them to England. Captain M'Kennon left the fleet in lat. 30, long. 77, when he counted from the topmast-head 80 sail.

The reason for the detention of the fleet so long at Jamaica, was owing to an insurrection of the negroes in different parts of the island, which they had planned to put in execution as soon as the ships sailed; but it was happily discovered by a boy belonging to Mr. Chambers, of the parish of Hanover. Thirty of the ringleaders were accordingly taken up and executed.

The great number of captures, raised the insurance on vessels homeward bound from the West Indies, to twenty-three per cent.

SILAS DEANE TO VERGENNES ¹

Sir

Paris October 13th 1776

The inclosed extract of a Letter, from a Friend of mine, of undoubted Credit, at Bilboa, occasions my Troubling your excellency, at this Time. As the congress have no Agent at present, at the Court of Madrid, I am apprehensive that the British Ambassador will endeavor to take advantage of this Circumstance, to obtain some resolution respecting this Vessel, not so much, to operate as by way of reprisal, as by way, of precedent, for future proceedings, & by the report of any decree, or decision against this Vessel to discourage any future adventures of the Armed Vessels of America in these seas against British Shippes – The Facts are indisputably these, That The Shipp was Commissioned by the Congress of the United Colonies or States of North America, – That in her passage to Europe, She made seve[r]al prizes of Shippes belonging to Great Brittain, with which sd States are in open Warr– That depending, on the supposed Neutrality, of his most Catholic Majesty, the Captain peaceably entered, one of his Ports, And that the Agents of Great Brittain laying a Charge of Piracy to the charge of the Captain & having procured a detention of the Vessel, are laboring to have her proceeded against & confiscated – ² Were the Value of the Vessel, all that depended on the Resolution, I would hardly Trouble Your Excellency on the subject, but leave the Captain & his Owner to console themselves for their Loss, out of the reprisals they have made, but when so much depends on this determination should it be unfavorable to the Captain, I can but be anxious to have every thing Necessary, and prudent done, and I conceive my Application to Your Excellency is not improper, for advice and direction, for which would have done myself the honor of waiting on You, in person, but for Prudential motives, and that probably, a Line from Your Excellency, might give Me all The Direction Necessary – meantime I beg leave to suggest, that as the line of Conduct Towards The United Colonies or States of N. America, will undoubtedly be uniformly the same by this Court & that of Spain, and as the Eyes, & Hopes of the united Colonies are on those Two Kingdoms, as their most Natural Freinds, & Allies, it might be extremely prejudicial, to take so discouraging a measure, as that of excluding American Cruisers entirely from these ports, at so Critical a Period of their Affairs, and that undoubtedly, the Court of Spain will not proceed in this Affair, without a previous Consultation with the Court of France – I have the honor to be with the most profound Respect, Your Excellencys [&c.]

"EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM PORT GLASGOW, DATED 14TH OF OCTOBER."¹

Yesterday the Speirs, from the Bay of Honduras, with mahogany, arrived here, under the command of Mr. William Carmichael, formerly the Mate of the said vessel.

She sailed from the Bay on the 15th of July last, and on the 6th of September long. 56.13. lat. 40.50. fell in with the Eagle schooner of Rhode Island, an American Privateer, commanded by Elijah Freeman Payne, burden about 50 tons, mounted with six carriage guns and ten swivels and 50 men, who took the master of the Speirs (Lamont) all the papers belonging to the vessel, and some bales of dry goods on board, putting her under the command of a Mr. Hall, in character of a Lieutenant and Prize-master.

The schooner had then under convoy the Caledonia, M'Kinlay, bound from Grenada to Clyde, loaded with sugar and rum, which sailed from Grenada on the 3d, and was taken on the 30th August, long. 50. lat. 40. – On the 28th of August, she took the Venus, Collins, from the Bay of Honduras, with logwood and mahogany, and on the 29th of the same month the Nancy, Tuckley,² a brigantine from Virginia, with 300 hogsheads of tobacco, having a pretended clearance from Lord Dunmore for London, and another from the Congress for Dunkirk, and sent both vessels to some port on the continent.

The mate of the Caledonia and one Mr. Williamson of Dundee, a passenger from Grenada being suspected of concerting a scheme for carrying off the vessel, were taken out of the Caledonia and put on board the Speirs, with another passenger and three hands, also part of the crew of the Venus and Nancy, making in all twenty seven people, and the better to secure her from the least attempt of an escape, allowed them only 150 lb. bread and two barrels of beef for provisions.

On the 15th of September long. 66.23. lat. 41.33, by favour of a fog and a gale of wind springing up Mr. Carmichael took command of the Speirs, parted from the schooner, and steered directly for Clyde.

When he found himself clear, he ordered a spar to be cut in pieces which he shaped into wooden guns; and tho' several American armed vessels appeared for the first three days after, yet none of them attempted to come near him, taking her to be a vessel of force.

They were put to allowance of provisions, which ran so short, that they carefully caught rats by traps, which proved to them most delicious morsels; when on the 25th of September they espied a sail making for them, to which they gave chase, long. 47.17. lat. 44.32. and coming up with her, found her to be the John, Alex. Simes master, from Plymouth, who supplied them with bread, beef, and potatoes; and off Tory, spoke with the Mercury, Holmes master, from Newfoundland for Clyde, who supplied them with fish butter, beef, bread, and every other necessary article.

We hear the Speirs was insured at London, and we make no doubt of the insurers rewarding Mr. Carmichael's merit in this lucky adventure.

BEAUMARCHAIS TO VERGENNES ¹

Monsieur le Comte

Paris, 14th October 1776.

I have the honour to recommend to you the contents of the enclosed letter. We are not aware for what reason the Customs officers in charge at Bilbao have detained the American vessel in question. It would be very serious if it were to be known in America that the Court of Madrid had ill-treated one of their privateers. Then they would think it very certain that they had nothing to hope for from France and Spain, a view which the English do all in their power to propagate, and that alone would be capable of making them accept either a truce or an open negotiation, and perhaps an entire reconciliation with England, which, profiting by such a gross fault on the part of Spain, would not fail to magnify still more its consequences, and make all sorts of concessions to the Americans, to re-unite them to the mother-country. The remedy for this evil is to promptly send a courier to Madrid, and there to recommend that, without any regard to the reason, just or unjust, which may have caused this vessel to be detained, the Court should release it, or at least should not give any decision against it, until a complete success of the Americans at New York shall teach that Court that it can without risk offer its help to a brave nation, which will no longer have need of it, or until the ill luck of their arms shall cause that Court to make of that privateer a cowardly trophy to the Court of England, as the weak Cleopatra offered to the victorious Caesar the head of Pompey, who had placed himself in her hands. Let them shuffle if they like, abandon the Americans to their own courage, and not help them to crush our only enemy. People may suppose that we are preparing to do so, and that partly saves the honour of our judgment. But to arrest a brave privateer! to tear away the veil which at least made the intentions of the Spaniards doubtful! truly it is enough to turn one's head with sorrow or fury!

Pardon me Monsieur le Comte, if I give way to the vexation which this causes me. Poor France! A thousand years will not give thee back the moment which thou lovest. And the moment lost, thou wilt be the fable and the laughing-stock of all the sensible people who will take up the pen in Europe to relate this event to our children! Write, I conjure you, Monsieur le Comte, to those cruel Spaniards! – Good Heavens, if they will not serve the cause, at least let them not damage it. Is this too much to require of them?

Whenever I reflect that we hold in our hands the destiny of the world, that it only depends on us to change its whole system, and I see so many good things, such glory, and such advantages ready to escape us, I much regret not having more influence on the resolutions of the Council of both Courts, and not being able to be in two places at once, in order to prevent evil on the one hand, and to co-operate for good on the other. I know your patriotism too well to fear to offend you in giving vent here to my great uneasiness.

I expect to be at Fontainebleau on Thursday at the latest: From now till then, I shall not sleep until I have finished the paper on finances, which I have promised M. de Maurepas. No bankruptcy! it would be infamous during perfect peace. A better system of tax-gathering should in a short time furnish the means of making a war which events render indispensable, and which we avoid perhaps only through fear of not having the wherewithal to keep it up.

Accept my respect and my devotion.

The Devonshire, Fisher, from Antigua, which is arrived at Corke, was taken by the Americans, and re-taken by the Liverpoole Man of War, after being Six Weeks in Possession of the Provincials.

The Nev[is], Capt. Coffin, from Nevis to London, that was taken by the Provincials last August, was retaken, and arrived on Sunday Night off Gravesend.

According to Advices received from Lisbon, dated the 20th of September, the Rover American Privateer, commanded by Capt. Simon Forester, hath taken an English Vessel richly laden, and destined for Salerne [Salerno], Naples and Messina. The Rover hath also taken six other Vessels, the Crews of which she has put on Shore, some at Faro in Algarva.

The above Simon Forester told the Commander of a Portuguese Vessel, that he hoped soon to have the Honour of seizing some of his Master's Vessels, as War either was or soon would be declared by the Congress against Portugal. The Portuguese Commander not understanding him, one of Forester's Crew interpreted what he had said, when the Portuguese Captain immediately made answer, "Your Congress be d——d; come hither, and I'll declare War across thy Shoulders." Forester replied, "I fight only with Gentlemen."

The Merchants and Underwriters begin to be in great Pain for the Jamaica Fleet, as they were seen safe through the Gulph, but have not been heard of since; and Accounts daily arrive, that there are many Provincial Privateers waiting to intercept some of them.

A Vessel under Dutch Colours, loaded with Gunpowder and warlike Stores, was taken by one of our Transports, and sent into Falmouth last Thursday Evening. She proves to be the Two Brothers belonging to Philadelphia, and was taken by the General Conway.¹

It is reported, that a Portuguese Man of War, of 40 Guns, had been taken at the Mouth of the Tagus by two American Privateers.

1. This item was corrected in the Public Advertiser the next day, with the statement: "On the 12th inst. was brought into Falmouth by the Conway Transport, Capt. Thorsby, bound for Quebec, the Two Brothers, Henry Van Dis Horst, from Rotterdam for St. Eustatia, laden with Bale Goods, Gunpowder, &c. She was met with 30 Leagues West of Scilly."

My Lord — I am to acknowledge the receipt of your Lordship's private letter of the 7th of August, and have the happiness at the same time of congratulating you upon the very great and successful outset of your campaign, from which in this part of the world we all form to ourselves the most pleasing ideas of what is to follow.

You may be assured that everything within my department that you can suggest as likely to give additional force to your measures shall be supplied, with as little delay as possible. You mention your wish to have 15 two-deck ships; but I apprehend you do not think so many will be wanted in the winter, and by the spring I hope we shall be able to give you the number you mention, though as things are circumstanced in Europe (with great preparations going on both in the French and Spanish ports, where they are putting a very large number of capital ships into readiness to receive men) it is much to be wished that all our line of battle ships should be kept at home; and I imagine I am right in supposing that 4th-rates and 40-gun ships will answer your purpose as well, if not better than two-deck ships of a higher class. Of these there are only two now in any forwardness, namely the Warwick [50] and Panther [60]; therefore, if you adhere to your opinion that 15 are necessary, I see no way of supplying that demand but by sending one or two 3rd rates, to which I am sure you will see the objection in as strong a light as I do. However, at all events you may depend that the important service on which you are employed shall not be cramped, let what will be the consequence.

There are two new bomb vessels lately launched. Does your Lordship advise their being sent out to you in the spring?

Twelve frigates are now on their way to join you, most of which I hope are with you before this time; these, with what you had under you when you wrote last, and those that I conclude will come to you from the River St Lawrence before the winter sets in, will I hope enable you to make such a disposition as will render it difficult for the rebel cruisers to do so much mischief as they have hitherto done. But, while almost the whole American fleet is necessarily taken up in attending the operations of the army, other services must of course in some degree give way to the principal object.

The necessity of sending the ordnance stores in ships of force, which your Lordship mentions with so much propriety, has been fully attended to; and I understand that all the ships that have lately been taken up by the Board of Ordnance are either old Indiamen or other large ships that will be armed with upwards of twenty guns, and manned with a proportionate number of seamen besides parties of recruits, which will make them stronger than any rebel cruiser I yet have heard of. This in my opinion is the most judicious and indeed the only method of conveying these valuable cargoes with safety; for I can by no means concur in opinion with the Board of Ordnance that their stores might be carried in men of war, as your Lordship well knows that, when a ship is fitted for a foreign voyage, her own stores leave no room for anything that does not belong to herself; indeed there are so many objections to this measure that I am persuaded will occur to your Lordship as well as to me that it would be taking up your time unnecessarily, was I to enter further into the subject.

I find by your Lordship's letter and by one from Lord Shulldham that he is coming home in the Bristol: every part of your behaviour with regard to his return is exactly conformable to what I took the liberty to suggest to you in a former letter, and requires my particular acknowledgements for your attention to what fell from me on that occasion.

That your Lordship and your brother may reap fresh laurels in the great cause so properly entrusted to your management, and so successfully begun, is the very ardent wish of your Lordship's most obedient [etc.]

. . . a Vessel with a Commission from the Honble Congress detained in Bilboa as a Pirate, and complaint carried to the Court of Madrid, I have been applied to for assistance, and though I am in hopes, nothing will be determined against us, yet I confess I tremble to think how important a Question is by this step agitated, without any one empowered to appear in a proper Character and defend, could I present your Declaration of Independance and shew my Commission subsequent, empowering me to appear in your behalf, all might be concluded at once, and a most important point gained, no less than that of obtaining a free Reception and Defence or Protection of our Ships of War in these Ports, a determination which must eventually ruin the Commerce of Great Britain. . . . P.S. . . . The Vessel referred to is commanded by Captain [John] Lee of Newbury Port, who, on his passage, took five Prizes of value and sent them back, but brought on two of the Captains and some of the men Prisoners to Bilboa, where the Captains entered their Protest, and complain against Captain Lee as a Pirate, on which his Vessel is detained, and his Commission &c sent up to Madrid; this instantly brings on a Question as to the legality of the Commission, if determined Legal a most important point is gained, if the reverse, the consequences will be very bad and the only ground on which the determination can go against the Captain, is that the United States of America or their Congress are not known in Europe, as being Independent States otherways than by common Fame in Newspapers, &c on which a serious Resolution cannot be grounded; the best therefore that the Captain expects will be to get the matter delayed, which is very hard on the brave Captain and his honest owners, and will be a bad precedent for others to venture into the European Seas. I have done everything in my power, and am in hopes from the strong assurances given me, that all will be settled to my satisfaction in this affair, but cannot but feel on the occasion as well for the Captain as for the public; I have been told repeatedly I was too anxious, and advised "rester sans inquietude;" but I view this as a Capital affair in its Consequences, and though I wish to, cannot take the advice.

Warlike preparations are daily making in this Kingdom and in Spain, in the latter immediately against the Portuguese, but will most probably, in its Consequences involve other powers. I need not urge the importance of immediate Remittances towards paying for the large quantity of Stores I have engaged for, and depend this winter will not be suffered to slip away unimproved. . .

Since receiving yours of the 4th and 5th of August last I have wrote you repeatedly, and have no doubt of your receipt of them, to which refer you. You are in the neighbourhood of St Vincent, and I learn that the Caribbs are not contented with their Masters, and being an artful as well as revengeful People would undoubtedly take this opportunity of throwing off a yoke, which nothing but a superior force can keep on them, my request is, that you would Enquire into the state of that Island by proper Emissaries, and if the Caribbs are disposed to Revolt, encourage them and promise them aid of arms and ammunition. This must tear from Great Britain an Island which they value next to Jamaica and to which indeed they have no Title but what rests on violence and Cruelty. at any rate they will oblige Great Britain to withdraw part of her Forces from the Continent. If any thing can be effected then inform me instantly, and I will order to your Care such a Quantity of Stores as you shall think necessary.

The enclosed Letter I desire you to break the seal of, and make as many Copies as there are Vessels going Northward, by which some one must arrive. A war I think may be depended upon, but keep your Intelligence of every kind secret, save to those of the Honorable Secret Committee.

You will send also a Copy of this, by which the Honble Committee will see the request I have made to you and the reason of their receiving several Duplicates in your hand writing, I wish you to forward the enclosed to Mr Tucker of Bermuda and write me by every vessel to Bordeaux or Nantz. LORD GEORGE GERMAIN TO VICE ADMIRAL RICHARD LORD HOWE ¹

My Lord,

Pall Mall Octer 18th 1776.

I take the Opportunity of Major Cayler's return to New Yorke, to assure your Lordship of my constant Regard and best wishes. The glorious Success of His Majesty's arms ² gave universal Satisfaction to every good Subject, as they were sensible that after your humane Endeavours to restore Peace, had met with so unfavourable a Reception, no alternative was left but the proving the Superiority of the British Troops over the Army of the Rebels. Your Brother's Conduct is seen in the Light it deserves, and We have Reason to flatter ourselves with the happiest Consequences from the joint Efforts of the Fleet & Army, since there can be no misunderstanding between the two Commanders, united by Friendship & Affection. I have troubled the General with a long Letter the Contents of which I need not repeat, as I conclude it is the same as if I had addressed them to Your Lordship.

The Congress is using every possible means to induce France to espouse their Cause, and the Naval Preparations making there must raise Suspicions here as if their Agents met with too much Encouragement. What Effect the late Victory will have upon the French Councils, We have not yet heard, what We perceived here was that the Spanish Ambassador shewed the greatest Satisfaction, at our Success, whilst the French Minister looked disappointed and dejected.

The declaration of Independency has staggered many of the former Advocates for America. Among others I hear Lord Cambden says, there is no supporting the Americans upon their present ground. Indeed the Leaders of the Rebellion have acted as I could have wished, & I trust that the deluded People will soon have recourse to your Lordship for Mercy & Protection, leaving their Chiefs to receive the Punishment they deserve.

I shall be happy if you will honour me with any Commands, as I shall have the greatest Satisfaction in obeying them.

M. GARNIER TO VERGENNES ¹

[Extract]

London, 18 October, 1776

The English islands are suffering more and more from scarcity and the cost of victuals, as from the multiple takings of the American corsairs. The news of three new ships taken on their return from the West Indies was received this week, and the most moderate calculations place the value of losses during this year by English commerce at 600 thousand pounds Sterling.

People are even more alarmed today by the taking of the vessel Susanne coming from Oporto. It was taken near Cape Lizard in the Channel by a corsair of 8 guns. The English vessel carried between 60 and 70 thousand pounds Sterling, but the Corsair which took it is, we are assured, itself held at Bilbao, where it had put in.² It had also taken a transport vessel from Cork, and three other vessels. What is certain is that the Government does not know what to do to protect its transports everywhere and also the national commerce from which it has however, great interest in not raising a clamor. Since almost all the frigates and corvettes are already at sea for this reason, the British are of necessity beginning to use ships of the line, although they are less appropriate for this kind of service.

. . . And Y. In addition to this, as almost all its frigates and smaller war vessels are off the American coast, they [English] must make use of ships of the line here to protect the merchant ships going to our seas and into Italian waters, where Americans are constantly capturing vessels. Perhaps this is the reason orders have been issued to cruise the English Channel in the three 64-gun ships Exeter, Ardent, and Somerset, which are among those guarding the Ports and carrying a crew of 500 and six months provisions. . . .

[Extract]

London, 18 Oct 1776

. . . It is however beyond doubt that the Americans continue to capture many English ships both in American seas and European waters, as frequently there is news unfavorable to this place. Three more ships having fallen into Colonial privateer hands, according to latest reports, notices are anxiously awaited on the fate of a ship departed from Lisbon with a considerable sum of money; also unknown is the whereabouts of a packet which left Lisbon a few weeks ago, on board which was Mr. de Horta, Minister of the Portuguese Court to Holland. For this reason these merchant ships, hopefully expecting some relief from the government, are in the meantime increasing their crews and installing some guns to resist the privateers they may meet on the voyage. These precautions have lowered the cost of insurance somewhat, and the English government order issued to commission a number of 12-gun and 14-gun corvettes to escort merchant convoys bound for Spanish and Portuguese ports, and inbound from them, may not reduce the premium rates of such insurance very much. . . .

My Lord

19h October 1776

I had the honor to receive on the 28h ultimo by Mr Robarts your Lordships Letters of the 28h of July, 8h and 14h of August, and on the 10h instant by Major Cuyler, two of the 31st of August, and one of the 3d of September giving an Account of your arrival at Staten Island, of your being joined by the Commodores Sir Peter Parker and Hotham, and of your proceedings from the date of your Letter off of Halifax All which, with their several Inclosures were immediately laid before my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty; and in return I have the satisfaction to acquaint you that their Lordships very well approve of the whole thereof, but more particularly the judicious measures your Lordship took for landing the Troops with so much expedition on Long Island, and the disposition you made of the Fleet for co-operating with the Army.

My Lords have great satisfaction in the Account your Lordship has given of the Abilities and diligence shewn by Commodore Hotham and Captain Davis of the Repulse, in conducting to your Lordship the Transports under their respective Convoys: and their Lordships are well pleased with the Spirit and perserverence of Captain Parker and the Small Squadron which had been sent up the North River under his Conduct at the request of General Howe.

Their Lordships are glad to find that you have concurred in a Proposition that has been made to you for an exchange of Prisoners: and they have no doubt that the measures your Lordship has taken to prevent the decrease of the Complements of the Ships under your Command, will have a good effect.

My Lords will confirm the Appointments your Lordship has made not only of Officers to the Ships under your Command, but those of Agent Victualler, Master Attendant and Agent to Transports; and as Captain [Alexander] Scott, late of the Experiment was under the necessity of quitting her to return to England on account of the Wounds he received in the late attack upon the Fort on Sullivan's Island, their Lordships are pleased to dispense with that restriction in your Instructions, respecting the appointments of Officers to which your Lordship alludes, and to leave it to your Lordship to confirm in such manner as you shall judge proper the appointments made by Sir Peter Parker in consequence of Captain Scotts Resignation.

No time was lost in transmitting to the Board of Ordnance an Extract of so much of your Lordships Letter of the 14th of August as relates to the want of ordnance Stores, and I have the honor to acquaint your Lordship that in consequence thereof three Storeships are now laden in the River with a supply for the Fleet under your Command, and nearly ready to sail for Spithead, from whence they will be conveyed to your Lordship by the Thames, Captain [Tyringham] Howe, who will likewise take under his Convoy the Elephant laden with Naval Stores and a Victualler laden with the Sour Krout mentioned in my former Letter.

I have only to add that my Lords approve of your Lordships permitting Lord Shuldham to return to England in the Bristol, and to repeat the assurances of the great regard with which I have the honor to be &c

Whereas we have received undoubted information that His Majestys Rebelious Colonies in North America do find a means of carrying on a Trade to the Islands of St Croix & St Eustatia & of supplying themselves with Gunpowder; Arms & Ammunition from those Islands; And Whereas His Danish Majesty, by his Edict of the 4th of October 1775 has forbid His Subjects to send, for the purpose of Traffic either for their own account or that of others, unto His Islands or Colonies in America on board Ships carrying His Flag or provided with His Sea passports any Ammunition or other Commodities whatever serving for Warlike Ammunition & considered as Articles of Trade; And Whereas their High Mightinesses the States General by their Proclamation dated the 28th of August 1775, have prohibited for the Term thereinmentioned all exportation of Ammunition Gunpowder, Guns & Shot by Ships belonging to the Dominions of Great Britain & have enacted that no Gunpowder, Guns, Shot, or other Instruments of War, shall be embarked on board any other Ships, whether Foreign or belonging to that Country to be transported Abroad without permission of the College of Admiralty, (Copies of which Edict & Proclamation are herewith enclosed); You are hereby required & directed to have a particular attention to the suppressing the practices abovementioned, which are so contrary to the Declaration of the abovementioned Powers and so

"EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM MR. ANDREW RAY, MASTER OF THE Anne of Burntisland, TO HIS OWNERS, DATED ON SHIPBOARD AT DOVER, OCTOBER 19."¹

We left Cork on the 27th September, and on the 5th of October had the misfortune to be taken by an American privateer of eight guns and twelve swivels, two or three leagues from Burlins, at ten o'clock forenoon. At six o'clock the same day, they took a brig belonging to London; and, having made prisoners of us all, with a fresh gale of wind, run right out to sea with both ships, till the 7th, being better weather, the privateer lay to, and having ordered us to hoist out our boats, the men belonging to the privateer fell to plundering the prizes of provisions, and all the ships stores they could take out of them. They then put on board my ship one Capt. Strutland, from the Mediterranean for Dublin, and twelve of his men, whom they had taken three or four days before; one Captain Ray, from London, for Lisbon, with six of his men; and the Portuguese pilot, whom he had got on board two or three hours before he was taken; and myself with my men. The Captain of the privateer had previously given a letter to Capt. Strutland, making a present of my ship to the two captains and me, equally amongst us, a copy of which letter I have sent you, as they would not trust me with the original. I know this disaster will surprize you as much as it did me, having no notion that any American privateers were so far to the eastward. Captains Strutland and Ray insisted to have the ship carried to London, and we are now off Dover, with the wind at S.W.

1. Whitehall Evening Post, October 31 to November 2, 1776. An item in the same issue reads: "On the 5th instant, the Anne of Burntisland, Andrew Ray master, was taken near Lisbon, by an American privateer called the True Blue. The same day, she took the Betsey belonging to London, Matthew Ray, Master; and, some days before, another ship from the Mediterranean, bound for Dublin, commanded by Isaac Strutland."

LORD SANDWICH TO LORD NORTH¹

Sunday morning, 20th October 1776.

My dear Lord – Sir Hugh Palliser came to me this morning by appointment that we might consider what steps are necessary to be taken in the present alarming situation. The accounts of the French armaments multiply so fast that I must tell your Lordship that every hour is precious, as the French are certainly greatly ahead in their preparations, and I dread the consequence of their being at sea before us. I enclose some fresh accounts I have just received from Lord Weymouth, as also one paper sent me by your Lordship's order, by which you will see that there can no longer be a doubt that everything is going on in the French ports with the utmost alacrity; if you will give Sir Hugh Palliser and me leave, we will wait on your Lordship presently to talk the matter over and to consider what is advisable to be done. If we have not our Cabinet meeting till Thursday, we shall lose four or five days, which as we have lost so much time already is a matter of great importance.

Your Lordship will find Sir Hugh Palliser's examination of a master of a ship which has been taken and carried into Bilbao, from whom it appears that several American privateers are actually arming in that port, as also that one of the Treasury victuallers of 16 guns has suffered herself to be surprised by a privateer of 8 guns and 60 men. Public Advertiser, MONDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1776

London [October 21].

The Friendship, Nastel; the ———, Moulpied, and the ———, Ahier, from St. Croix, bound for Guernsey, are all taken by the Americans.

The Charming Mary, Halliday, is taken by an American Privateer, between Newry and Dublin, where she was going to join the Convoy, which was intended for the Protection of the Linen Ships, on the News of some Americans being on the Coast. The above Ship is valued at Seventy thousand Pounds.¹

The American Vessel, which put into Bilboa, was detained by Order of the Consul there. She mounts only eight Guns, and says, when she left Rhode Island, she had 50 Men; but having taken a Transport that mounted 14 Guns, and a Ship (the Susannah) from Oporto, with 300 Pipes of Wine, and a very valuable Cargo in Specie, besides three other Ships, she has put all her Men on board except 14, the Number she brought into Bilboa.

Fourteen Sail of the Fleet which sailed from Jamaica, consisting of 118 Vessels, are arrived at the several Ports.

The above Fleet, like most others, left the Men of War when they thought themselves out of Danger; in Consequence of which we have already received Advices, that one of them was taken in Lat. 36, and it is feared we shall soon hear of several more.

1. Public Advertiser in the October 22 issue corrected this report and noted that Charming Mary had arrived safely in port.

London Chronicle, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19 TO TUESDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1776

London [October 21].

A letter received from a Midshipman on board the Lady Keith, armed schooner at Jamaica, gives the following account:

Our Admiral seeing the necessity there was (from the number of small American privateers hovering about the Islands) to fit out some armed vessels to cruise against them, I was therefore, with another Midshipman, a Lieutenant, and 50 men, put on board a schooner which was purchased for government, and in compliment to the Governor called after his Lady. She is a swift sailer, and we have been very lucky in her, having taken in the first three weeks of our cruise two prizes, one of them laden with gunpowder and other stores. We chased another American vessel (a rich one I believe) into St. Domingo, where, luckily for her, she got shelter. As we are always at sea, we have taken seven prizes, which we have carried into Kingston, to the no small satisfaction of the Island, four of them being laden with provisions, which fetched us a very good price from the great scarcity; the rest of the prizes we have turned into money, which is quickly done here, and as quickly spent.

Confidential No. 11
Most Excellent Sir:

Escorial, October 21 1776

In a letter dated the 10th of the current month in your own hand, Y. E. informed the King of the conversation you had with Vergennes regarding the help which the Court there has disposed to have shipped to the rebellious Colonies of America, and that the mentioned Minister let you read a note stating all the articles and their amount, and having received a copy, you enclosed it in the mentioned letter.²

I have brought it all to the attention of H. M. It is sure that the objective can be vital and our common aims very useful; that the King desires to contribute to its achievement. But as we spoke only of a million pounds, and as Vergennes' first proposal did not plan to extend more, there cannot be, at least for now, any further contribution by us beyond that already delivered, and it is what was offered. Y. E. will easily be persuaded that at this time of such exorbitant extraordinary expenditure as we have incurred in the past year, we must economize to face the present and the immediate future.

In the mentioned memorandum copy which Y. E. sends me there is at the end the question of whether the Americans would be allowed to take to our American ports the vessels they might capture from the Portuguese. On this point the King tells me to say to Y. E. that since our Law of the Indies prohibits access by foreigners to the dominions of H. M. except for cases of emergency, we cannot therefore order that as a general rule privateers of the Colonies be admitted with their Portuguese prizes; but they will be welcome in case of need, and there will be that much less difficulty affecting Portuguese prizes as the Marquis of Casa Tilli has orders to seize any Portuguese Ship he meets in the seas of America, to compensate for and in reprisal for what the Portuguese have practiced against us. Y. E. may say such to that Minister [Vergennes] so he can make the American Insurgents understand it in answer to their question.
God keep etc.

Last week arrived here the crews of seven ships captured along the Coast of Portugal. The few Captains of this Country who still are in this Port, prefer to refuse all cargoes instead of exposing themselves on the open seas.

"EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM BRISTOL, OCT. 23."¹

Yesterday Capt. Carter arrived here, who was taken by the American privateer that engaged the Africa, Capt. Baker, of this port, on the coast of Portugal, which blew up (as mentioned lately).² He says the names of the three persons who were saved belonging to the Africa are Richard Smith, James Linsey, and James Taylor. Capt. Baker fought the privateer six hours, and they were so close together as to converse with each other. Baker declared to the Captain of the privateer, that he would not be taken whilst he had a man to fight. What is very extraordinary, not one of the hands on board the privateer was either killed or wounded.

Public Advertiser, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1776

London [October 24].

A Correspondent has desired, through the Channel of our Paper, to inform the Public, that it has appeared from the Account received of the several Captures, which have of late been made by Rebel Cruizers, that their Success has been owing to the following or such-like Stratagem:- On coming in Sight, the Cruizers always hoist English Jack, Ensign and Pendant; and on being hailed, pretend to be King's Vessels, charged with Dispatches going to or coming from America. Their appearance favouring those Pretences, the Ships against which they have Design, are generally put off their Guard, and are then immediately boarded and taken. But when the Attempt has been on a Ship, whose Commander could not be so easily imposed on, but on the contrary has shewn Intention of making Resistance, the Cruizers have always sheered off.

The Captain of the Bristol Man of War says, that on crossing the Banks of Newfoundland he learnt, that the American Privateers had been very troublesome on that Station; that they pillaged several Vessels, and that some had run on Shore to escape being taken.

The Rachel, Henry, from Granada, and the Hope, Quince, from St. Vincent's, were re-taken by the Galatea Man of War the 26th and 29th of August, and are carried into New York, and would sail for England under Convoy of the Bristol Man of War.

By the Mary's Goodwill, Capt. Lawrance, we have the following advices: - That he sailed from Jamaica with the Fleet on the 9th of August; that they were becalmed on their Passage upwards of three Weeks; that he quitted the Convoy with several other Ships, and on the 20th of Sept. spoke the Galatea Frigate, in Lat. 37. Long. 60, who left New York four Days before, and was then out on a Cruize after the American Privateers that swarmed in that Latitude; he told Capt. Lawrance, that he might expect, in less than 48 Hours to be taken, and that he had already retaken two ships one from Grenada, and the other from St. Kitts, and sent them into New York; and further, that New York was in the Hands of the King's Troops on the 15th of Septembér. It blew hard at this Time, and Capt. Lawrance therefore could not hear any Thing further from her . . .

Capt. Lawrance, after meeting with the Frigate, was chased by an American Privateer, but it blowing very hard he outsailed her, and got clear.

Public Advertiser, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1776

London [October 25].

The Americans call the West India Islands their Plantations, and it appears, by the Number of Captures which have been taken within these six Months, that they can call them so with as much Propriety as Great Britain; for as many of their Ships are carried to North America as are brought to England.

Two American Privateers are taken and carried into St. John's, Newfoundland; and by Letters from thence of the 20th of Sept. a large Fleet sailed a few Days before for a Market under Convoy of a Man of War, and another Convoy would sail in October.

The Catharine, Oram, and Polly, Elford, were taken by an American Privateer in Sept. last on the Banks of Newfoundland.

Letters from Faro mention, that several American Privateers, carrying 12 and 16 guns each, have been seen off the Coast, and that they had taken two or three Prizes.

Advice is received, that the Galatea Frigate, after retaking two of our homeward bound ships, sailed for Bermuda, to release a vessel which was blocked up there by the American privateers.

"EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM LIVERPOOLE, OCT. 26." ¹

In a Letter which was brought by one of our Jamaica-men, which arrived this Week, I have an Account that two Days before this Letter was wrote there arrived in Montego Bay his Majesty's Sloop of War Pomona, with two American Prizes; the one a large Ship of 700 Tons, mounting 22 Guns, bound from Cape Francois to Boston with Bale Goods. She has on board 12,000 Pair of Shoes, and several Medicine Chests, which the Provincials are greatly in Want of. The other a Brig, with Flour and Lumber, bound to Guadaloup. These two make 23 Prizes which this Vessel has took since the Commencement of this unhappy War.

On Wednesday the 23d inst. arrived here the Ship Hereford, Captain Walker, from Granada, who says, in Lat. 39 N. and Long. 49 W. from London, on the 29th of September, at Daylight, he discovered a Sloop in his Wake giving him Chace; he was steering E. N. E. at the same Time he saw a large Ship upon his Bow hauling up towards him, and came along Side, and sent her Boat on board.

She proved to be the Unicorn Frigate of 28 Guns; at the same Time the Sloop still kept on, and came so near that he could discern her Colours to be the American 13 Stripes. The Sloop came up along Side the Frigate before he discovered who she was. The Frigate, in five Minutes, had every Sail set, and Top-gallant Yards up, and kept firing Volleys of small Arms into the Sloop, she making an Attempt to get away, but the Frigate fired a Broadside into her, and laid her on board and struck the Colours, the Americans having quitted the Decks. Captain Walker then run up and spoke the Frigate; they told him she was a Sloop of 12 Six Pounders, two Cohorns, and full of Swivels, and he supposes about 170 Men, had been out of Boston about six Weeks; that there was a Schooner of 16 guns bore E. S. E. from them, and desired Capt. Walker to mind to shape his Course so as to keep clear of her. He further told him that the Fleet was all well in Soundings, with the last Division of Hessians designed for New York.

The Privateer got over the Bar, but the St. James ran on shore, and was burnt by the Man of War. The Mate, who brings this Account, came to Bordeaux in the Dolphin loaded with Rice and Indigo. Five others were loaded, and bound for the same Place, and were to carry back Powder and Ammunition. . . . On Board the Privateer who took the Blaze Castle was the Boatswain, Carpenter, and several Seamen, all Volunteers belonging to the Anna Maria, Pringle, from Barbadoes, who was taken by the Americans, and carried into Rhode Island.

“EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM MORLAIX, OCT. 26.”¹

On Friday last two American vessels, (brigs about 150 tons each) arrived in the port from Williamsburg, in Virginia, loaded with tobacco; a kind of Merchant or Supercargo came in one of them, who is gone to the King's Commissioners (the Farmers of the Revenue of Tobacco) in order to dispose of the cargoes, as no one can purchase it but them. The crews are very shy in speaking about America, &c. for fear, I suppose, of offending the French Laws. I asked one of them how they dared venture into the English Channel? when he told us there was work enough cut out for the British navy in America if it was, double the number it is; and that therefore they did not expect to meet with any ships of war so near their own ports.

London [October 28].

Only 23 out of 118 sail of ships, which came under convoy from Jamaica, are yet arrived at the different ports in England, which gives great pain to the merchants, there being such a swarm of American privateers out to intercept them; and the underwriters act with so much caution, that they cannot get one of them re-insured without a very large premium.

Letters from Newfoundland bring advice, that many of the ships which are loaded for England are detained there for want of convoy, for they dare not stir out on account of the number of American privateers; which privateers are supplied by the French with what fish they want. Some of them take in large cargoes, carry them to foreign markets, and are convoyed (out of the reach of the English men of war) by the French men of war.

London [October 30].

Monday Night upon the Flood Tide, about twenty Boats properly mann'd and officer'd came up the River from Deptford and Woolwich, when a General Press began, and every Man was taken on board the several Ships they boarded, except the Master, Mate and Boys.

The Number of Men impressed as above is variously reported: some say 1500, others 2000, but it is most generally thought that it did not exceed 8 or 900.

Monday Night Press Warrants were sent down to all the Western Ports to impress as many Seamen as possible for the Service of the Navy, and, it is supposed the Press will be general through all England.

A private Letter from Jamaica says, there is a very great Plenty of Seamen at that Place, many of whom leave the Merchant Ships soon after their Arrival at Kingston, and enter on board the Men of War, armed Cruizers, and Privateers, to act against the Americans, on account of the great Success they meet with in taking Prizes. The Crew of a Privateer fitted out at Kingston, it is said, has already shared upwards of 70 l. a common Sailor, Prize-Money.

31 Oct.EXTRACTS FROM PARLIAMENTARY DEBATES ¹

This led his grace [Duke of Richmond] to that part of the speech,² which says, "I still hope that all misunderstandings may be removed, and Europe continue to enjoy the blessings of peace; I think it nevertheless necessary, that we should be in a respectable state of defence at home." This, he said, was a most alarming piece of information. If any explanation was wanting, the press-warrants lately issued would serve as the best comment; they justified our apprehensions; they confirmed our fears, and the more so, when we recollected, that the greatest part of our only sure bulwark, our navy, was on the other side of the Atlantic.

The Earl of Sandwich said, he should not have troubled their lordships, had not the noble duke, who spoke last, alluded to some matters, which, as connected with the office at which he had the honour to preside, he looked upon himself particularly called upon to explain. The noble duke asserted, that the greatest part of our force was on the other side of the Atlantic, and that we were left defenceless at home. The first of these assertions was not founded in fact; for out of 28,000 seamen, with one of the most formidable fleets this country ever beheld, 15,000, including the marines who were doing duty on shore, as well as on board the ships of war, and two line of battle ships, were only on the other side of the Atlantic: and as to the other assertion, that we were left in a defenceless state at home, it was equally ill-founded; for we had a naval force at this instant ready for sea, fully sufficient for our defence and protection. We had the most ample assurances from those courts, of their pacific and friendly dispositions; if they should turn out otherwise, we are prepared for the worst. He said, he looked upon it to be his duty, as an official man, to take care, that the navy, which was our only national defence, should be in the best condition in his power. He was happy to inform their lordships, that it was so, and he was determined that this kingdom should be prepared for any event that might happen.

The Earl of Sandwich said, he could assure the House from his own certain knowledge, that before any late preparation was made on our part, we had a naval force sufficient to cope with any now at Brest, fitting out there, or preparing to depart. The armament alluded to was but a small one, consisting only of six ships of the line; but if it had been greater, we were sufficiently prepared.

[Earl of Shelburne] why dispatch your press-gangs in every quarter of town? why let loose so many bands of ruffians, to enter by force into people's dwellings, to drag the unhappy master of a numerous family from them, aboard a tender, where perhaps the first account they hear of him is, that he died of grief and vexation, or of the cruel usage he received before or during his passage to, or being aboard at the Nore. His lordship, however, was proud to find, that by the spirited conduct of the lord mayor of London (Mr. Sawbridge) a stop had been put to those horrid outrages within the limits of his jurisdiction. He had refused to back press-warrants, though it was insinuated by those that applied, on his refusal, that the request was merely complimentary, for that the press would be carried into the city. He said, if any proof were wanting of the unpopularity of the present barbarous war, that honest magistrate's conduct, as expressing the sentiments of the inhabitants of the first city in the empire, perhaps in the world, was the most irrefragable and conclusive.

Mr. Wombwell said, no press was better conducted than the present. He approved of the Address, and disapproved of the Amendment. He censured the Americans as a bragging, cowardly banditti.

Mr. Wilkes. The hon. gentleman who spoke last endeavours to mislead the House. It is certain that no pressing has at this time been carried on in the city of London, or its liberties. No press-gangs have dared to make their appearance in that jurisdiction. Those lawless bands of cruel banditti very prudently chose other scenes of horror and bloodshed of less danger to themselves. The city has hitherto remained in perfect tranquillity, by the vigilance, intrepidity, and noble love of liberty, which are conspicuous in its present worthy chief magistrate. The conduct of administration, Sir, in the late issuing of press-warrants, before they had tried the operation of the high bounty, is totally unjustifiable. The speech now in your hand, Sir, is so very pacific, that the large bounty of 5*l.* for every able, and 50*s.* for every ordinary seaman, promised in last Saturday's Gazette, might safely, for a short time at least, have been trusted to, the emergency not being thought very critical. From the minister's own state of public affairs there was no danger in the experiment. Much cruelty and bloodshed had been avoided, many valuable lives preserved.

[Mr. T. Townshend] As to the state of the navy, there are one or two very striking features in it, that differ much from what we saw last war. We had 12 or 13,000 Americans in our navy. It is unnecessary to say where they are now. They are making reprisals upon our defenceless trade. We have besides, about 15,000 seamen in our fleet in America. What a draught from the general naval force of this country! We have, as you are told, a very fine fleet of ships of the line: but can ships of the line protect your trade, or alone prevent an invasion? Where are your frigates and sloops? Almost all in America. I have been told, and by men who sat many years at the board of Admiralty, with, perhaps, the greatest officer this country ever saw at the head of its navy, that in times of an apprehended invasion, fifty, sixty, seventy of these frigates and sloops were constantly and necessarily employed. What proportion of them can you now command?

Lord North. It has been said, that we are stripped of our home naval defence; that though we should procure seamen, and have a sufficient number of line of battle ships ready for sea, the absence of our frigates would prevent us, for some time, at least, from carrying on any effectual naval operations. To this, a very short answer will suffice: we have several frigates at home; there are some building; and if it were not so, we could procure a sufficient number to answer every purpose we want, or wish at present to effect. The armament going on in France, which has been this night so mightily magnified, is but a small one. It consists of six ships of the line and four frigates. They are, it is true, putting their navy on a respectable footing; they have made a demand on the registers. These preparations import nothing directly hostile; their assurances of their pacific disposition towards us are as strong as words can make them: but I repeat once more, that his Majesty's ministers have thought proper to advise him to the present armament, by way of precaution.

Admiral Keppel said, that things had an extreme disagreeable appearance. He asserted, from the most authentic information, that Spain had 25 ships of the line, but believed them to be ill-manned with marines. In respect to France, it was otherwise. Their registers commanded seamen, and their military force was known to be sufficient to furnish any number of men they might want, to serve on board their ships of war. He concluded with lamenting, in case of a rupture with France or Spain, the absence of that useful and necessary part of our naval force, our frigates and sloops of war.

London [October 31].

Yesterday a full Board of Admiralty was held at the Admiralty Office, Whitehall, at which the Right Hon. the Earl of Sandwich was present, and several other Lords, when the Returns of the Number of Men pressed into his Majesty's Service on Monday, as near as could be made out, were laid before the Board, which proved to be 1100. Two Hundred fresh Impress Warrants were signed at the Board, and fresh Instructions sent off by Messengers to Portsmouth, Plymouth and Chatham relative to the forwarding the Shipping at those Places.

By Letters received by Yesterday's Post, we learn, that the Press for Sailors was as hot on Monday in all the Sea-ports in the Kingdom, as in the Thames; and by Accounts received of the Number already got and entered, they amount to about 5000, which is Half the Number that is wanted.

It is said Lord Howe has ordered all the Cruizers to carry those Ships they may take from the Provincials, loaded with Lumber, to the West India Islands to be disposed of, on Account of the great Scarcity there.

A correspondent who has kept an account of the ships taken by the Americans, which come to his knowledge, says they amount to ninety-three.

By a letter from Lisburne [Lisburn], dated October the 15th, we learn that an American privateer came to anchor in the harbour of Newry on the 13th inst. and demanded provisions, for which payment was offered. She mounted 18 carriage guns, had 125 men on board, and is a new vessel well built. She remained but a few hours, then weighed anchor and sailed to the northward. Those who observed her under way think her a remarkably swift sailer.

As a result of a proclamation by the King on October 16, which promises a bonus to anyone who will enlist as sailor on board Royal ships, rendezvous have been opened in the ports of the three kingdoms for those who volunteer their services with good intentions. This proclamation seems to have been intended to assure that there would be no coercion. Two days later there were issued from the Admiralty orders requiring all citizens of appropriate qualifications, and especially merchant seamen, to enlist.

These orders, which were necessary to speed up the arming of several ships, required the signature of Lord Sandwich, who has always been opposed to any kind of coercion, and caused disturbances in several places.

The Admiralty received a letter from Lord Howe which was published in the Extraordinary Gazette of the Court, giving details of what the Sea forces did in the capture of New York by His Majesty's troops.

MARQUIS DE NOAILLES TO VERGENNES ¹

[Extract]

London, 1 November 1776

We now know, My Lord Count, the reasons for the impressment. It is a question of manning an observation force of 27 ships of the line whose rendez-vous point is off Spithead. It is reported that the force will be under the command of Admiral Keppel; however, he has not yet been appointed. The Admiralty's order, sent out the evening before the opening of Parliament, states that full complements will be assigned to those ships making up this force, independently of nine other ships which it had been decided previously to bring up to fighting strength.²

This tremendous build up which is presently going on and which will be completed in less than a month, no longer makes it possible to predict how long peace will last. . . .

As for the military operations in America, it is announced that the campaign in Canada is finished. General Burgoyne had another plan to carry out, for he was to cross the Lakes and move to the center of the rebellious colonies where he would join forces with General Howe. What do the latter's successes amount to? When the awaited news is received concerning the seizure of the island of New York, it will still only be the capture of an island less than six miles wide by thirteen miles long. More than 1,500 miles of coastal areas to an undetermined depth will remain to be captured. An agreement must therefore be quickly made on the necessity of another campaign to subdue America. His Britannic Majesty says officially that his subjects must prepare themselves for any eventuality. It remains to be seen whether it will be a final campaign in America or the first one in Europe. . . .

You will see, My Lord Count, by the attached report the necessary number of men to man the observation fleet, amounts to 17,400 men. You will have noticed by the last report on ports that the total of crew members on board the guard ships does not amount to more than 7,000. The press gangs on the Thames have not produced 1200 men. Most of the men withdrew into the city for protection; progress was slow after the first instance of surprise. Every trick was used for the success of this operation. The Admiralty had previously announced to the traders of the West Indies that a convoy was being readied to escort their ships. The Admiralty had also put up posters to the effect that the Worcester, which, still in Portsmouth, would be leaving Spithead on 25 October to escort loaded ships to Spain, Portugal, and the Mediterranean. Finally, the Secretary of the Treasury was not afraid to assure the President of the India Company that the Government, at this time, had no thought of using press gangs. With these assurances, ship owners hastened to assemble their crews to sail their ships; while, without knowing it, they were promoting the Government's objective, i.e., to find the right moment to make a good showing. The sailors of the India Company fought back, as well as sailors of some privately owned ships. A naval lieutenant was killed, and there were about thirty men drowned or wounded. We are informed from Portsmouth that the press gangs were out on the nights of the 30th and 31st; however, results were meager. . . .

On Wednesday the Lord-Mayor gave strict orders to his Officers to make a search after the Officers of the two press gangs who violated the liberties of the City, by impressing near 50 hands at Billingsgate, which put a stop to the fish being unloaded. If they can take them they are to be carried before his Lordship.

Two Lieutenants of the navy waited on the Lord Mayor on Wednesday night, intreating his Lordship to back their warrants for impressing men in the city. His Lordship told them, that during his Mayoralty he would not back a warrant; and if they pressed a man in the city, he had ordered his Officers to take them into custody. The Officers alledged, that they could not pass the streets without being insulted by the sailors.

Yesterday 50 Captains of ships waited on the Lords of the Admiralty for protections for their sailors, which were immediately granted them.

The press warrants, we hear, will be suspended this day till further orders.

GABRIEL DE SARTINE TO ADMIRAL LOUIS CHARLES DU CHAFFAULT, BREST ¹

Versailles, 5 November 1776

I am sending you, Sir, the general instructions relative to your campaign and the particular instructions which will determine your line of conduct in the various circumstances which might occur while you are cruising off the Windward Islands and with regard to the orders you will give to the ships and frigates that you will detach from your Squadron and direct to cruise off St. Domingo. His Majesty's intentions are clearly explained in the instructions I have been instructed to send you and I need not enter into further details with respect to the object of your mission. I will only observe to you that with regard to the American vessels belonging to the Insurgents which you might meet at sea or in the Ports and Roads in America, His Majesty will approve that you help them secretly as much as circumstances will permit without, however, granting them open assistance and protection except in the event that they would have asked for the protection of the Flag whose authority you will heedfully enforce in all cases without ever compromising the forces entrusted to you. I am convinced, Sir, that you will feel all the importance of the mission which the King has given you and that you will use the greatest circumspection in all your movements and avoid carefully anything that may cause objections on the part of Great Britain.

His Majesty counts on your caution as well as on your firmness and the King is sure that, according to the circumstances, you will use one or the other fittingly in order to support his views and justify his confidence in you.

His Majesty also expects from your zeal in his service that you will give the greatest attention to the expenditures on board the ships and frigates of your Squadron. You cannot recommend exactness with enough insistence to the captains and officers in charge of provisions and stores as to the expenditures and replacements. They cannot help but feel the responsibilities imposed by the King's confidence and the dictates of their personal scrupulousness. The least negligence on their part could not be tolerated. You will please to acquaint them with the items concerning them in this letter and in the General Instructions and give a copy thereof to each captain.

By giving you the command of his Squadron His Majesty could not show you, Sir, a more distinguished proof of his satisfaction with regard to your zeal and services. You may remain assured that in all occasions I shall endeavour to bring these under the eyes of the King and I sincerely hope that circumstances will soon enable me to solicit for you the marks of gratitude which you may rightfully claim.

I have the honour to be with sincere attachment etc.

Admiralty, 6th November, 1776.

... In my former private letter, your Lordship will observe that I have promised you every reinforcement you think necessary to be with you in the spring, and you may depend upon my adhering to that engagement; but the conduct of France and Spain is so mysterious that it is impossible to say what demands we may have for line of battle ships in the course of the winter; however, as I have already said, the important service in which you are employed shall not be starved, and as I shall know all your wants time enough, you may trust to me that they shall be amply supplied. If we had more 40- and 50-gun ships, it seems to me that they would answer your purpose better than 3rd-rates, on account of their smaller draught of water; for I apprehend what you principally want the larger ships for is their great complement of men and number of boats, and this might in some degree be supplied in the 4th- and 5th-rates by allowing them additional boats and a large number of supernumeraries; however, in all this matter, I shall rely on your superior judgment, and get to know your sentiments by the next opportunity.

Nothing can be more proper than what your Lordship proposes in wishing that some mark of honour may be conferred by his Majesty on Captains Parker and Wallace. I heartily wish you had suggested what particular mark of favour from the King you had in view for those meritorious officers, that I might have been certain of gratifying them to the full extent of their wishes, and in such a manner as to raise a spirit in the fleet to emulate their merit and to deserve equal marks of distinction. However, after turning it over in my thoughts, I can see nothing suitable at the present moment but the honour of knighthood, which, being conferred in consequence of your Lordship's recommendation of them in time of actual war, will I think reflect great credit on them and add double weight to the honour conferred. Your Lordship may also add further to the favour in the manner of conveying it to them by letting them know, in as public a manner as you may think proper, that I have the King's particular command to inform them that he is greatly pleased with what he has heard of their behaviour during the whole progress of this unfortunate war, and that he sends them this proof of his gracious approbation of their conduct. Before I quit the subject of Captain Wallace, I must mention that long ago, upon Admiral Shulldham's having wished he might have a larger ship, the Admiralty sent out a commission for him to command the Experiment [50], but we still find him in the Rose [20] and have never heard what is become of our commission. . . .

My Lord

6h November 1776

I had the honor to receive by Captain Balfour on the 2d Instant your Lordships Letters of the 18h and 25h of September last, and immediately communicated them to my Lords Commrs of the Admiralty; In return I am commanded to acquaint you that their Lordships have the greatest satisfaction in the accounts you have therein given of the further successful Progress of His Majesty's Forces against the Rebels in the province of New York.

The repeated notice your Lordship has taken of the abilities and distinguished Resolution of the Captains Parker and Wallace does great honour to them and is highly pleasing to their Lordships, as are the meritorious Services of the other Officers particularized in your Lordships Letters. My Lords have also a just sense of the Merit of the Masters and Crews of the Sea Transports your Lordship mentions

The sudden departure of the Pacquet Boat, by which I send this will not admit of my adding more than that I have transmitted to the Board of ordnance an Extract of so much of your Lordships first-mentioned Letter as relates to the want of ordnance Stores, to the end that they may provide a proper assortment to follow the supply mentioned in my Letter of the 19th ultimo which supply it is hoped will very speedily sail under Convoy of the Thames (now waiting for them at Spithead) a specification whereof is herewith inclosed for your Lordships previous information. I have the honor to be &c

The Shark sloop of war has carried into St. Kitt's, a large ship from Port au Prince, which she took under Spanish colours; she is laden with cloathing chiefly, and has besides about five tons of gunpowder, and 2000 musquets; she was bound to Salem. The cruizers on that station have been exceeding fortunate, one sloop of 10 guns having shared near 100 l. sterling each man.

The Queen of England, Arnaud, from London to America; the Mary and Elizabeth, Bruce, from Barbadoes to Halifax; the Georgia Diana, Rigan, from Grenada to London; the Carolina Packet, Fowle, from Antigua to London, the Anna, Dudfield, from the Leeward Islands to Great Britain; the Charming Sally, Steel, from ditto to Bristol; and a ship from Jamaica to London, which sailed with the Pallas, with 372 hogsheads of sugar, 82 puncheons of rum, and 42 pipes of wine, are all taken by the rebels, and carried into New-England.

SILAS DEANE TO THE COMMITTEE OF SECRET CORRESPONDENCE ¹

Paris 6th November 1776

Gentlemen The only letters I have received from you were 4th and 5th of June last five months since, during which time Vessels have arrived from almost every part of america to every part of France and Spain, and I am informed Letters from

Mr Morris to his Correspondents dated late in July. If the Congress do not mean to apply for foreign alliances let me intreat you to say so, and rescind your Resolutions published on that head, which will be but Justice to the powers of Europe to whom you gave reason to expect such an application. If I am not the proper Person to announce your Independency and solicit in your behalf, let me intreat you to tell me so and relieve me from an anxiety which is become so intolerable that my Life is a burthen. Two hundred pieces of brass Cannon and arms, Tents and accoutrements for thirty thousand men, with ammunition in proportion, and between twenty and thirty brass mortars have been granted to my request, but the unaccountable silence on your part has delayed the embarkation some weeks already. I yesterday got them again in motion, and a part are already at Havre de Grace and Nantes, and the rest on their way there, but I am hourly trembling for fear of Counter orders. Had I received proper powers in Season, this supply would before this have been in america, and that under the Convoy of a Strong Fleet; The disappointment is distracting, and I will dismiss the subject, after taking the liberty to which a Freeman and an american is entitled of declaring, that by this neglect the cause of the United States of North America has suffered in this, and the neighbouring Courts, and the Blood that will be spilt through the want of these supplies, and the devastations, if any, must be laid at this Door.

Captn Cochran being arrived at Nantes I sent to him to come to me, he is now with me and by him I send this with a packet of Letters. He can inform you of the price of american produce in Europe, the very advance on which will pay you for fitting out a Navy. Rice is from 30 to 50 Lives pr Ct Tobacco 8d and 9d pr lb, Flour and wheat are growing scarce, and rising, Masts, spars and other naval Stores are in demand, and the more so as a War with Great Britain is considered as at the Door.

. . . Enclosed you also have the plan of a French Naval Officer for burning Ships, which he gave me and at the same time shewed me his draughts of ships, and rules for constructing and regulating a Navy, of which I have the highest opinion; he has seen much service, is a person of study and Letters as well as Fortune, and is ambitious of planning a Navy for america, which shall at once be much Cheaper and more Effectual than anything of the kind which can be produced on the European system. He has the Command of a Ship of the Line in this Service, but is rather disgusted at not having his proposed Regulations for the Navy of France attended to. His proposal generally is to build Vessels something on the model of those designed by the Marine Committee, to carry from 24 to 36 heavy Guns on one Deck, which will be as formidable a Battery as any ship of the Line can avail itself of, and by fighting them on the upper Deck a much surer one. Had I power to treat with this Gentleman, I believe his Character and friends are such, that he could have two or three such Frigates immediately constructed here on credit, and manned and sent to america, but the want of Instructions or Intelligence, or Remittances, with the late check on Long Island has sunk our Credit to nothing with Individuals. . . .

Beaumarchais has hired L'Hotel de la Tour du Pin Veille Rue du Temple to establish his Bureaux there for what is called le Commerce des Piastres. Those Bureaux are to be opened on New Years Day. Three Millions of Livres have been advanced him to carry on this Commerce. I mean, My Lord, that that is the Pretence, the Secret Reason is to enable him to execute His american Commissions He has actually agreed with a great Cloth Merchant at Paris for Cloth, Lining, Buttons &c for Ten thousand Men, and He is now in Treaty with a M. Gerard a rich armateur at L orient and Brother in Law to M. Vincent a Banker at Paris to freight Two Vessels for america loaded with twenty thousand Stand of arms, and a large Quantity of Warlike Stores This M Gerard refuses to undertake unless the whole Value is paid Him beforehand.

Beaumarchais intends soon to return to England, one of the objects of his Journey is to purchase for the Navy of France a large Forest in the Neighbourhood of Colchester that is exposed to public Sale. This his Intention being known I hope, My Lord, that it will be easy to find Means to defeat it. . . .

The Friendship, Jones, from Grenada to London, is taken by the Provincials, and carried into Providence.

Capt. Smith, of the Unity, who arrived at Liverpool last Friday from Bilboa in Spain, and left that place the 24th ult. says, that two American schooner priva-teers of 8 guns each sailed from thence the day before; the commanders names were Lee and Fletcher; one of them has taken five prizes, and the other was fitted out at Bilboa, to whom the Spaniards shewed every favour and indulgence possible; one of the five prizes was a transport of 16 guns, called the Nancy, bound from London to some part of America, which they took by stratagem, the Captain pretending his vessel to be a packet with dispatches for our Court, and invited the Captain and his officers to come on board, whom he immediately put in irons. Several vessels besides Captain Smith were at Bilboa, wanting freight, which they could not take on account of the privateers, the Captains having declared they would not touch vessels in ballast.

The General Advertiser. Liverpool, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1776

Recent accounts arrived at Cork, from the different sea-ports of France, confirm the great warlike preparations making in all the maritime provinces, by order of the court. Each province has been enjoined to send 3000 sailors to Brest and other Royal Ports. The single town of Havre furnishes 2400, Dunkirk 1000, and other places in proportion.

There were six or seven American vessels in Bourdeaux the 8th inst. two of which brought rice and indigo from South Carolina; and another discharged masts from Piscataque. They are even suffered to trade openly in the French ports.

Capt. Fletcher, of the Clayton, who is arrived here from Jamaica, saw in lat. 41, long. 54, a brig bearing from him E. the wind then at S. W. by S. she stood for the Clayton, with her larboard tacks on board, on which Capt. Fletcher imagined her to be a privateer, and immediately thought of a stratagem to keep his course, hawl'd up the ports, and let the people put their heads through, having first fixed pieces of white paper on their hats, to represent the muzzles of guns, and by this scheme the Clayton appeared like a 20 gun ship, and had the desired effect; the brig came within a mile and a half, and then bore away to the northward, with all the sail she could carry. Capt. Fletcher saw no other vessel like a privateer.

DR. EDWARD BANCROFT TO SILAS DEANE¹

London Novr 8th 1776

. . . I have procured an Account from a Certain infallible Source; a Source from which a great part of the Contents of this Letter is derived, & from which most useful intelligence may be hereafter obtained, if we do not imprudently use what is given to us so as to lead to improper discoveries – you will recollect what I have before mentioned about a certain Ministers private Secretary – he says the Project is upon the arrival of Six thousand Hessians & near 3000 Recruits then hourly expected at New York to Detach a Considerable part of the Army to take Possession of Rhodeisland, make it a Station for a Considerable part of the Fleet next Winter, and a kind of Marine Arsenal (Hallifax being too remote), and to send thither such a body of Land Forces as will be Sufficient to divide Genl Washingtons Army & perpetually to allarm & harass the Towns in the Coloney of Rhode island & Massachusetts Bay; another part of the Fleet is to Winter at Oyster Bay (on the East end of Long island), which is to be fortified; & a third is to be sent to Antigua, & from thence to be employed in Cruising against the American Vessels sailing to & from the French Islands –

Another part of the Fleet under Lord Howe (consisting altogether of 89 Frigates and Sloops with two line of Battle Ships) being in want of considerable repairs, is to return to England – A Knowledge of this allotment of the Navy may be of infinite Service in regard to your Projects; you will easily perceive that all approaches to New London, between New Port & Oyster Bay, must be dangerous – any where to the North ward will apparently be safe, as little or no force will be left at Hallifax; & I do not find that there will be any on the Coast of America, South ward of New Jersey – Two American Privateers having for some time Blocked up an English Sloop of War at Bermudas Lord Howe in Sept^r Dispatched the Galatea Frigate thither to release her, & it is said that one or two others would be sent to Cruise in that Latitude, as the American Privateers made it their Station, & as the Congress have in an especial manner exempted the Inhabitants of that Island & their Effects from Capture, &c. . . .

The Sudden Press here was intended to intimidate France & partly to Obviate the Clamours of opposition respecting the defenceless situation of the Kingdom – but few Seamen are however collected by it, & of those the greatest part will be sent to Lord Howe who complains much of the Deficiencies of his Fleet – no such number of Ships as is given out, can be in any readiness for Service. . . .

The Betsey, Crosthwaite, from Jamaica, is arrived at Liverpool. She engaged a Provincial schooner off the Banks of Newfoundland; the Betsey had only six four pounders.

The Perkins, Capt. Jenkins, who sailed from St. Augustine the 24th of July, bound for Bristol, was taken off the Capes of Virginia the 4th of August, by the Hancock privateer, Capt. Tucker, and the Franklyn, Capt. Seymour [John Skimmer], each mounting eight guns, and carried into Boston.

The Lucy, Watson, from New-York, arrived at Corke the first inst. she sailed on the 26th of September, and on the 30th retook the Suffolk, of London, laden with rum and sugar, which had been taken by the Boston privateer.

We hear from Lancaster, that the James, Higgins, arrived there last week from Antigua. She was taken by an American sloop, burden about 25 tons, near the lat. of Bermuda, but was afterwards retaken by the crew (assisted by some other seamen which were left on board her by the rebel sloop) after wounding the prize-master and some other provincial seamen. The under-writers on this ship have generously rewarded the captors with 5 per cent. on the premium insured.

The Batchelor, Barclay, from Granada to London, was taken by some American Privateers the 5th of September off Georgia. The Captain and a Boy are arrived at the Sound in a Danish Vessel from the West Indies.

A large Ship, from Jamaica to Liverpool, Name not mentioned, was taken by an American Privateer soon after she got through the Gulph.

There are now 44 Sail of Ships arrived in different Parts of England, being Part of the Fleet of 118 Sail, which came under Convoy of the Maidstone Man of War and Pallas Frigate; and it is feared that a great many of them are fallen into the Hands of the Americans, as Advice is received that a great many Privateers were cruizing to intercept them.

It appears by Lloyd's Books, that since the Commencement of the War with the Americans, they have taken ninety Sail of our Merchant Ships.

The Charming Sally, Steele, from the Leeward islands to this port, and the Anna, Dudfield, from ditto for Great Britain, are both taken and carried into New England.

Capt. Thomas, of the ship Hector, arrived here from Jamaica, spoke on the 28th of September with the ship Leghorn Galley, Capt. Macdonald, from Jamaica to Liverpool, which in a hard gale of wind carrying away part of her sheathing in the bows, sprung a leak, and was obliged to pump to keep her free. About noon the same day, says the Captain, saw a schooner wearing round and standing towards us; but, finding we gained on her fast by the compass, (we keeping our ship up, that our sails might draw) instead of bearing down on us, hauled his wind for the Leghorn Galley, (which was now four miles astern) and at half after one P.M. was along side of her; he immediately fired 3 guns, and hoisted his colours at the main-mast head; upon this the Leghorn Galley hove to, as did likewise the schooner under a foresail; we saw no more guns fire, but traced the vessels as long as we could from our main top gallant mast-head, and at six in the evening lost sight of them.² Next day, the 30th, saw two schooners, supposed to be privateers, one of which at 10 P.M. was close under our lee close hall'd; as soon as she perceived us, she kept away before the wind. I imagine as we appeared a large ship, she was afraid to bring us to; and at eleven we lost sight of her.

On the 25th ult. Capt. Carr of the Parnassus parted with the Pallas frigate in a hard gale of wind; on the 28th and 29th following he fell in with three American privateers of 10 guns each, who engaged him two hours and a half; and though Capt. Carr had but 12 guns, he gave them such a warm reception as made them sheer off. – The Suffolk West Indiaman, Capt. Delamere, and two schooners, were taken by the same privateers in sight of Capt. Carr; he has been 13 weeks on his passage from Jamaica.

“EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM DOVER, NOV. 11”¹

Arrived the Georgiana, Kentish, from Bluesfields, in Jamaica, after a passage of 13 weeks and four days, under convoy of the Pallas frigate, the Hon. Capt. Cornwallis, with a fleet of about 100 sail of ships. On the 18th of September, in lat. 31. 47. long. 75 [sic], the Pallas made sail, and was out of sight of said ship 17 days after. On the 5th of October the Georgiana was chased, and taken by an American brig of war, called the Cabott, Capt. Hinman, mounting 14 six-pounders, as many swivels, and 150 men. After being plundered of all their arms, powder, and as much sugar, rum, cotton, &c. as the Americans could conveniently get out, they put on board the officers and seamen belonging to the undermentioned ships, prizes which they had taken; viz the Westmoreland, Hore, from Jamaica to London; the Lowther, Cowman, from ditto to ditto, on the 27th of September, in lat. 41. 30 N. long. 45. the Esther, Harvey, from ditto to ditto; the brig Watson, Pearson, to Liverpool; and the Clarendon, Denniston, from ditto to Glasgow, on the 2d of October, in lat. 41. N. long. 45. They sent on board for the maintenance of the people three barrels of pork, 200 weight of bread, and two puncheons of water; which were not sufficient, as they have been at very short allowance ever since parting from the American pirates, which was the next day. Capt. Kentish spoke with the Betsy, Angus, from Jamaica, off Scilly, who spared him some bread and water, or they must all have perished.

A passenger who came home in the William, Moore, from Boston, says, “that there were three privateers, pierced for thirty two guns, ready for sea at Marblehead, and only waited for guns to sail on a cruize.”

Two Dutch ships were expected at Marblehead with ordnance stores, and which were to bring guns for the above ships.

The Provinces of New England have reaped most of the benefit accruing from the prizes taken from us since the rupture; more than three-fourths having been taken by their privateers, and carried into their ports.

BEAUMARCHAIS TO VERGENNES¹

[Extract]

Paris, Tuesday 12 November 1776

Monsieur le Comte de Vergennes:

Friday at 8 o'clock I shall be at Your Excellency's.

If I were not certain that I agree with your views in desiring that you lift as many as you are able of the obstacles which are holding up my business, I would not have the indiscretion to point [it] out, since it seems that I need only submit myself. But I know that you are as vexed as I am about what is being written about me: this idea consoles me and makes me take these mortal displeasures of an uncompensated task with patience, were there not the advantage of pleasing you. For I am still very far from achieving, with the feeble help I have received, the purpose that I set out to achieve, to bring together by all means possible the A — [Americans] with ourselves, to tie them by the inducements of an advantageous trade, to have them find in France all of the agreeableness that they renounced from the English on separating themselves from them. Truly this great purpose inflames me! But how far away it is! My Heavens, how far what I am doing is from what needs to be done for that. The Spanish ambassador might well say here: “The Lord is a Bourbon, etc. . . .”

Do not consider, Monsieur le Comte, my impatience, my vexations, as signs of insubordination; they are nothing other than zeal, and do me the favor of remarking that if I must go to Santo Domingo, it will be of very little use to transport the artillery at Dunkerque to Brest, while the ship that is awaiting it is hove to at Le Havre.² Isn't it just as much in France in this Port as it would be in Brest; and isn't this a waste of time and money to leave me with a ship tied up when it is expressly loaded, not knowing what to do next, unless before you leave Fontainebleau you would be so kind as to have M. St. Germain issue an order to deliver to me in Havre and Nantes two thousand quintals of powder, with which I shall depart in the safekeeping of God and your tiny fleet. All of the magazines are filled to overflowing, and the Minister of War is still rather far from having taken from the stewards the quantity of powder coming to him. As much at Marseille and here I am somewhat consoled; because at least I am not altogether useless, and because my ships will have on board the necessities to pay for their fitting-out. . . .

Why, then, is not a little more confidence accorded me? Is there any one more sincere than I? Have I not acquired the reputation of a man of good sense, who extends himself to the first interesting objective that I seek to establish? Believe me, Monsieur le Comte, my heart is wrung on seeing how everything goes, or rather how it does not go.

Fontainebleau Novr 13. 1776.

Beaumarchais Connexions with the Rebels begin now to be very generally suspected by all those who have any opportunities of secret Information. Since I wrote last to your Lordship I have had the following Intelligence which I think it My Duty to mention tho' I consider it as less authentic than what I have already sent you. The Intelligence is this: Beaumarchais has engaged to furnish the Rebels with two hundred Pieces of Cannon Sixty thousand Stand of arms, and a very large Quantity of ammunition, all which is now assembling at Havre de Grace and is to be shipped from thence for North America on board Vessels of different Nations. This My Intelligence expresly says, but I think it very doubtful, and am inclined to believe that it will be shipped on Board American and french Vessels only, and that the latter will clear out for the french West India Islands.

as I think it of importance to raise in M. de Vergennes a Suspicion and Mistrust of Deane I contrived this Morning to drop some obscure Hints of a Negotiation, begun by Lord Howe: I did it in such a Way as carried no appearance of Design and made such an Impression as I wished upon M de Vergennes who began with eagerness to ask me Questions to which I avoided giving a Direct answer.

SUMMARY OF A CONFERENCE BETWEEN LORD STORMONT AND VERGENNES ¹

Summary of my conference with Lord Stormont
13th November 1776.

Lord Stormont confirms the news of the advantages gained at New York, and reports some still more important

General Burgoyne, having made all his arrangements, should have embarked on the 2nd October with ten thousand men on Lake Champlain; Colonel [John] Johnson with a corps of light infantry and some Canadians is to enter the River Mohawk by Lake Ontario, in order to arrive in Albany at the same time as General Burgoyne, and take the rebels in the rear, unless a reconciliation prevents the danger which threatens them.

Lord Stormont affirms that he has private information that there is a tendency towards a pacification

The English Ambassador has reported to his Court the satisfactory manner in which the friendly assurances which he had orders to give, have been received here, in announcing the arrangements which his Court could not help taking; he is commissioned to renew and confirm them. He is to observe, at the same time, that his Court has learnt that the squadron which is being prepared at Brest is intended for Martinique and St Domingo, and that it is feared that its object may be to favour the contraband trade which is carried on in these two Islands.

I do not know, I replied, whether this squadron is intended for the Islands, I am not aware that the King has yet fixed the destination, but if it were sent there, it would be much less with a view to encourage that commerce than to restrain it, if it exists, which we do not know — but many vessels carrying the French flag leave here for America, whither they take munitions of war — at sea each one hoists what flag he likes, and in order to decide whether they are really French, some would have to be stopped. It is not the King's intention that his subjects should sail to North America. Has anyone been captured who can justify this complaint — not that I know — How then prevent the abuse of the flag, if there is not a maritime force to watch over it — Your commanders are so active that they can see to it — very well on land, but beyond that they are without authority; besides we may have reasons to watch over ourselves; there may be excitement in our islands; you are aware of their state of suffering; our commerce also may require precautions. It is obliged to pass along the coasts of America. The Americans, after having taken from the English, may be tempted to take from us; how save ourselves from this, unless we have the means of restraining them. Besides, you are very powerfully armed in that region — The armament cannot cause any uneasiness, we have only two vessels of the line; the rest, which consists of frigates, cannot undertake anything important. But the number of them is so prodigious that it constitutes a real force, especially when there are no obstacles; but then, what are six vessels, divided, as you say yourself, between two stations. It may very well be a protective force, but never one to cause uneasiness — but this squadron is to be reinforced by some vessels leaving Rochefort and other places. — I do not know whether this squadron is to depart, and where it will go, but on my honour, no armament is being prepared either at Rochefort or Toulon or anywhere else to join it — Fresh assurances of the desire of the King of England for peace, and that if it is only to be disturbed by him, we shall enjoy it for a long time — Reciprocal assurances on my part, founded on the love of order and justice belonging to the King's disposition and principles. Confidence in the knowledge that we have of the honourable and virtuous sentiments of the King of Great Britain: we do not allow ourselves to be deceived by the declamations of the opposition; neither should England allow herself to be deceived by the detractors of the ministry. The present conduct is blamed, but this blame does not change the principles of Government — A few more words about the contraband trading — it is impossible to prevent it, the trader wishes to gain, and perhaps more is done by England than by France.

Nothing new from Portugal.

Fontainebleau, 14 November 1776

As yet I have only been able to skim through, Milord, the extract of the debates of the House of Lords which you sent me. The King has read it in its entirety. I shall pay particular attention to the two speeches which you recommend. What I notice in general is that they expect the hostile intentions from us that they show toward us. However, one must be on his guard when one sees 41 ships of the line placed in commission and 45,000 sailors or marines voted. It is something admirable, and something to behold, this ease with which the nation, or rather its representatives, proceed to such frightening expenditures. We have apparently, more real resources than does England, but we must be certain that the action be as easy. That holds to an opinion which can not become established in an absolute monarchy as in a mixed monarchy.

It only remains to speak to you, Milord, of a conversation which I had yesterday with Lord Stormont, after having conveyed to me the news from America, about the happy hopes they have over it, and renewed the strongest assurances of friendship and good understanding. He remarked that they were convinced at Court that our armaments at Brest were destined for Martinique and for Santo Domingo, and that they were afraid that its purpose was to encourage the traffic in contraband which is going on there. Since I had no knowledge that the King might have yet fixed the destination of that squadron, I took refuge in my ignorance, and I remarked that its supposed sending might well also have as its purpose the restraining of this traffic, if it exists, rather than to encourage it. The ambassador answered that many ships leave these islands, hoist the French flag, and set out for America whence they carry munitions of war. I did not argue that it could not be, but at sea each one hoists the flag of his choice, and in order to know if they are French, one would have to stop them. Lord Stormont answered that if there had been any seizures, he did not know of them. I retorted that were an abuse so contrary to the intentions of the King to exist, in our islands, a naval force therefore would be sent there to prohibit it; the ambassador did not agree; he claimed that the vigilance of our commanders ought to be enough. That is altogether impossible; their power can not extend beyond the shore. Moreover, other considerations might require us to keep watch over our islands; they might take part in the general ferment. We have a vast commerce to protect; we can fear that the Americans might be tempted to use upon us the same depredations that they allow themselves against the English. Moreover, England is well in force in those parts for us not to have to be on guard there. . . .

MARQUIS DE NOAILLES TO VERGENNES¹

[Extract]

London, 15 November 1776

The ship Romney, commanded by Admiral Montagu, arrived from Newfoundland to Portsmouth on the 12th of this month. The Admiral left two small schooners on that island in order to protect it from incursions by American privateers. Impressment continues in the interior with the greatest animation, but all of the seamen are hiding, and they are abandoning the ships to the point where they are obliged to make use of French seamen for the navigation of the Dover-Calais packets. Last night they impressed a kitchen helper of the Spanish ambassador, to whom they had already given a choice of serving as a sailor or as a soldier. You can well imagine that this man was given up only with difficulty, and I only make mention of this incident to show you that they are seizing without exception anyone whom they can find. The sloop of war Hornet set sail for the port of Pool so as to impress the sailors arriving from Newfoundland. The Exeter, of 64, set sail from Portsmouth to cruise off Portland and to impress the sailors of the English ships which were re-entering the English ports. The Sommerset, also of 64, left Plymouth on 10 November for the same purpose. This ship, which has with her several lighters, has 599 crewmen, among which are 255 marines. We assert that the sloop of war Ranger, sailed from this latter port, had as her destination to reconnoiter what is going on at the port of Brest. They are increasing the number of workers in all departments of the different shipyards.

Recently the American privateers took 5 English ships off the coast of Portugal, bound for Lisbon or the Mediterranean. The government received today the news from General Howe dated 10 October. The army still occupied the same positions, and there had occurred nothing of interest from 15 September until that date. The ship's captain claims only to have heard a very lively cannonade the day of his departure from New York. Burgoyne's light horse regiment had arrived, and they were awaiting the other troops from day to day, comprising 5,361 men, about 2000 recruits, 100 horses, as much artillery as remounts for Preston's regiment, and a large quantity of wagons. . . .²

London, 15 Nov 1776

. . . About 16 thousand [seamen] will continue to be employed on duty with the Fleet in America. The Observation Fleet off Spithead has 27 warships; allowing 550 for each, another 14,800 men will be needed; also 4,200 for vessels on guard duty in the ports of this Kingdom. This makes up the total of 35,000 seamen requested by the Ministry, and granted by the House of Commons for next year. Supposing therefore that the entire 15,000 assigned last year to the Fleet in America are on board; that all those men were able to withstand the hardship, fatigue, and poor nourishment; if one duly reflects on the number of dead in combat, or those captured by the Americans, and computes the 6,689 already on board vessels on guard duty, this Admiralty needs to find 13,311 seamen to man said ships. This does not appear easy to provide since two weeks of impressment, not including in Ireland, recruited only 3,500 for this kind of duty. For this reason the Court published a proclamation on last Saturday asking all English seamen serving other nations to return to the ports of this Kingdom by the end of December, in order to serve in the ships of the Crown. . . .

By letters from Jersey, of the 12th instant, we have the following account from Isle Madame: "On the 21st of September, a number of armed men belonging to the Providence,¹ an American privateer, with 14 guns, came in a shallop to Arichat, and took possession of the vessels and storehouses. On the 24th, they went off with the Alexander, Luce, having 2200 quintals of fish on board. On the 25th, they burnt the Adventure, and plundered the storehouses. This privateer took the Success, Balliene, with fish; it is supposed the Alexander, Luce, and Success, Balliene, are retaken by the Milford man of war, and carried to Halifax, with the Providence privateer."

The Sarah and Elizabeth, Foot, from Jamaica to London, was taken by an American privateer the 23d of October last.

The Elizabeth, Figtree, from London, is arrived on the Coast of East Florida, after having taken an American schooner laden with 4000 barrels of flour.

My Lord

I am very secretly and, I am afraid, authentically informed that a Treaty or Convention is not only agreed upon by M. de Vergennes and Mr Deane, but is actually drawn out Article by Article . . .

In this State of Things with these Secret Treacherous Projects against Us Your Lordship sees how very improbable it is that any Thing I can say should prevent the sailing of M. du chaffaults Fleet; which every friend to Great Britain that I meet with here earnestly wishes may be constantly watched by a Superior British squadron. Indeed, My Lord, after all we know of the present Insidious Policy of this Court, it is impossible to place the least Dependence upon their Friendship or Good Faith We can operate upon Nothing but their Fears, and trust to Nothing but our own Vigilance and superior Naval Strength. . . .

CAPTAIN WILLIAM CORNWALLIS, R.N., TO PHILIP STEPHENS¹

Sir

Pallas at Spithead 21st Novr 1776.

I shall enclose by the next Post another Copy of the Trade that left Jamaica under Convoy of his Majesty's Ship Pallas under my Command wherein I have set off the time of their parting against the Names of such as we knew, but they chiefly parted in the Night; I hope their Lordships will be pleased to consider that it was totally impossible for the Officers of a Man of War to tell the Names of all the Merchant Ships, particularly as there were not above Eight or Ten out of above a hundred Sail that kept in their Stations or behaved tolerably well.

During the time the Maidstone was in Company, I wrote to Capt. [Alan] Gardner to beg that he would oblige the Ships in the Rear to pay attention to my Signals, notwithstanding which when we were off Cape Antonio, between Twenty and Thirty Sail brought too to buy Turtle, the Maidstone being at that time in Chace; when she came up the Masters of the Merchant Ships acquainted Capt. Gardner that their Passengers were on shore purchasing Turtle, and they could not make sail, this Capt. Gardner informed me of before he parted Company and that many of them gave him impertinent answers when he hailed them, and that it was impossible for him to make them attend their duty.

After we got through the Gulf and the Maidstone had parted Company, in the Evening it was Squally with Thunder and lightning, we close reefed our Top-sails and they were lowered down, so that the worst sailing Ship in the Convoy might have kept her Station as the Pallas sailed very ill, we steered during the Night the same Course that we had done several hours before it was dark with the Wind aft, in the Morning there were not above Fifty Sail to be counted from the Mast-head, and not above ten in their Stations the rest being an amasing distance to the Eastward of us, and upon our Starboard Beam and Bow, upon which as I had a great desire to preserve the Convoy I altered my Course and steered after them, though I apprehend it to be the duty of the Convoy to steer after the Man of War, not she after the Convoy. Many of the Masters of the Merchant ships acquainted the Officers of the Pallas that they thought it intirely owing to our steering so much to the Eastward after those Ships that we met with the Calms which occasioned the long passage.

From this time to the 24th of Sept'r the Weather was such that any Ship might have kept Company that chose it, that Morning there were only nineteen Sail in Company, during the day it blew very hard and we brought too under a reefed Mainsail, the next morning there were only six Sail in sight, which joined us, the Suffolk parted Company the 27th by request, the Anne, Northside Planter, Hereford and London hoisted their Colours in the Morning of the 30th, and parted Company steering a different course; the Alexander kept Company 'till the Evening when we retook the Anne, she then hailed us and desired to part Company, I told them we had just retaken a Ship, and that there were a number of American Privateers about, upon which he said he would keep Company, but left us in the Night. I believe the Masters of the Ships thought their only danger was in going through the Gulf, and that if we had not altered our Course and steered after them, none of those that were at a distance would have joined us again, I was informd by one of the Masters of the Ships, that the Sarah and Elizabeth, Foote, one of the Ships that parted as soon as we were through the Gulf, hoisted his Colours which occasioned some of the other Ships to go away with him, but he was at such a distance I could not see him. I have already in two letters explained to their Lordships why I put into Newfoundland, therefore shall not trouble them again upon that head.

I see they have got it in the Papers that the Pallas has brought a great Freight from Jamaica, I beg leave to inform their Lordships that although her sailing was advertised in the Kingston Papers a considerable time before she sailed, the Merchants chose to send their Remittances home in their own Ships. BEAUMARCHAIS TO VERGENNES ¹

Paris, 21st November 1776.

I am not fortunate in anything coming from your Department. Since the reply from M. de St. Germain which you showed me, I have obtained the most exact information as to the quantity of powder lying in the King's magazines, and I have found that there are nineteen millions two hundred and odd thousand pounds weight. You will confess that a very malevolent demon must meddle with my affairs, to cause the modest surplus over the nineteen millions to be inexorably refused me! When I made my calculation of the number of naval tons that I wished to embark, I had then, besides the trading goods, all the artillery agreed to and its adjuncts &c The whole mass required six vessels. I reduced them to five, two of which are at Havre, one at Nantes, and two others at Marseilles. From the uncertainties and counterorders, I presumed that, in lieu of the artillery which is withheld by prudence, I should at least not be refused the powder. You know what consideration prevents me from applying to the administration itself. If the Minister for War were really in want of powder, it would be still better for him to demand a supplementary supply from the administration, than to expose me to see too many people, and to allow my secret to be discovered by all the contractors. But with nineteen or nearly twenty millions of powder, is there the slightest reason for leaving me with vessels lying idle without a cargo, and costing me enormous sums in current expenses.

Is not the King of our affair also the King of the artillery? and are not all these difficulties between Departments calculated to vex him who is obliged to act, to conceal himself, to go forward, and to receive no help from anyone? If I were asking a personal favour I would have patience. But I shall lose it, if you do not come to my aid. Believe me, that you will never hear of me in matters in which your help is not absolutely necessary to me.

I have the honour to send you a letter from Nantes the news in which appears to me to be certain. I annex thereto the French translation, begging you to return them both to me after you have read the French, and M. de M. . . . [de Maurepas] the English.

We are not then so badly off as they say in London, since we are fighting well, and causing heavy losses to our enemies, who are obliged to hide them. All their art is used in trying to impose on France, and to lull her to sleep as to her true interests, by false news.

I beg you, M. le Comte, to confer effectively with M. de St Germain respecting this powder.

Lord G. Germain has received no Dispatches or Letters from General Carleton or any of the King's Officers or Servants in Canada, but there is an Account by private Letters from Quebec of the 23d of October & from Montreal of the 17th

(& this account is confirmed by two Gentlemen passengers on board the Ship that brought those Letters, who left Quebec the 25. of Octr & have been this afternoon at Lord G. Germaines office) that General Carleton in passing Lake Champlain had three several Engagements with the Rebel Naval Armament consisting of 16. armed Vessells, the Result of which was that the whole of that armament except one or two Vessells were defeated & destroyed & that Genl Carleton having taken possession of Crown point which was abandoned by the Rebels was proceeding to the Attack of Ticonderoga

The passengers further say that Lieut Dacres who commanded one of Genl Carletons armed Vessells, had taken his passage to England with Dispatches from Genl Carleton, on board the Stag Frigate which sailed from Quebec the day before they left it.

MARQUIS DE NOAILLES TO VERGENNES ¹

London, 22 November 1776

You recall, Your Excellency, all that occurred at the time of the naming of Lord Howe to command the fleet in America. That of Admiral Keppel brought down a new affront on the part of this officer who was summoned to the King last Monday. His Britannic Majesty told him that he would be given command of the fleet which was being formed, that he was asked not to stand aside and to keep himself ready to leave at the first order. The admiral replied that he owed his services to the King, but that he could not accept the honor which His Majesty accorded him except on the condition that he would have no dealings with Lord Sandwich, and that he would not correspond at all with this first Commissioner of the Admiralty, which was agreed upon. This officer, who belongs to the opposition party, believed himself bound to point out to the King of England that, not being able to abandon his principles concerning the American affair, he would not voluntarily take command of a fleet destined to take action against the Americans, and the King assured him in reply that the fleet which he was to command would not leave European waters . . .

I have just learned that at noon today Lord Germain received a letter from General Carleton, dated at Quebec on 23 October, which sends word that the English flotilla having engaged the American flotilla in combat on the 16th and 17th of the same month on Lake Champlain,² the latter were almost entirely destroyed. Of the 15 ships which it comprised, only 3 escaped, which they imagined to be able to overtake soon. The English army was supposed to arrive a few days later at Crown Point, where they did not expect to encounter resistance, seeing that the fortifications are destroyed, and since the Americans have removed the artillery from there. The latter's army is positioned at Ticonderoga.

I am not certain, Your Excellency, if I am a proper judge, but this defeat appears to me to be of little importance, for the season in which we are we ought to expect it, since Lord Germain had stated to the Spanish ambassador that Charles Gravier Comte de Vergennes.

Ministre et Secrétaire d'Etat.

General Burgoyne had left with such a superior fleet that it was almost in a condition to engage that of France. But the American flotilla, before being destroyed, had accomplished its purpose, since it obliged the Army of Canada to remain at the head of the lakes from May until October, and that there is no indication that for this campaign it will be able to effect its junction with General Howe's army. Winter is coming on rapidly and with it the close of military operations, which appear to me up to the present to be of scant yield for this country.

I must not omit telling you, Your Excellency, that the impressment is at the point where it is beginning to snatch away servants from behind their masters' carriages. Not since the reign of Queen Anne has one witnessed the commission of such excesses.

The army on landing marched to Crown Point, which they found reduced to ashes; they then proceeded to Ticonderoga, and were besieging the place when the accounts came away.

SILAS DEANE'S PROPOSED TREATY ARTICLES ¹

Memoire

[Paris, November 23, 1776] ²

It is to be premised, that the following proposed Articles are simply the Result, of the Thoughts, of a private individual, on the subject of a proposed Alliance between the Kingdoms of France and Spain in Europe, and the United States of North America – he conceives the contracting parties, to have two great Objects, in View, in their Alliance, which the Concurring Events, of the present Time, have put it in their power to obtain, – On the part of France, and Spain; To exclude Great Britain, from any future Connection, with America, its Islands, or Seas, – Thereby, at once, to reduce, her enormous Naval Power, secure their own Possessions, and increase their Commerce, and marine, to the highest degree Conceivable –

On the part of the United States of North America by such exclusion to secure, to themselves, Peace, Liberty & Safety, in their possessions and Commerce.

Enough has been said, on the Subject, of This dispute, to convince every one, unprejudiced in favor of Great Britain that these Objects, great as they are, are attainable in the present Crisis, which unattended To for a few Months may be out of the power of either party, United or Separate hereafter.

Proposals.

1st The Thirteen United Colonies, now known by the Name of the United States of North America shall be acknowledged by France, & Spain, and treated with as independent States and as such, shall be guaranteed, in the possession, and Dominion of all that part of North America on the Continent, which by the last Treaty of Peace was ceded, and Confirmed to the Crown of Great Britain

2. The United States shall guaranty and confirm to the Crowns of France and Spain, all and singular their Possessions and Claims and every other part of America, whither North or South of the Equator, and of the Islands possess'd by them in the American Seas.

4. The Fisheries on the Banks of Newfoundland, of Cape Breton & parts adjacent commonly called and known by the Name of the Cod Fishery, shall be equally free to the subjects of France, Spain, and the United states of North America, and to the subjects of no other State or Nation. And the Islands of Newfoundland & Cape Breton equally free to either for curing, and carrying on, such Fisheries under such Regulations as may prevent the almost possibility of any misunderstanding on the subject.

Sir Pallas, Portsmouth harbor 24th Novr 1776.

I beg you will be pleased to acquaint their Lordships that I have heard Clamours have been raised against my Conduct in bringing the Convoy from Jamaica, and that it hath been said I parted Company from them and bore away for the Coast of America the 18th of Sept; I beg leave to observe that a light breeze springing up on the Night of the 17th to my great surprise in the morning I observed above half the Ships that had been in Company the day before steering away to the Eastward, upon which I made the Signal for them to come into my wake, which they paid no attention to, as it will I believe appear upon my Journal which I transmitted for their Lordships Inspection. if that Wind had continued I certainly should not have gone to any Port, but I thought in the situation that we were in, it would be proper to keep pretty well to the Northward, and as there were a great Number of Men of War employed in America I thought keeping along the Coast would be much safer for the Convoy as the Privateers would naturally keep at a distance to be out of the way of Men of War; the other Ships parted at different times, some of which hailed us, but none of them enquired whether we were going into Port.

I beg you will also be pleased to acquaint their Lordships that as I am not conscious of having failed in any point of duty, if there remains any doubt of my conduct, I beg they will be pleased to order it to be enquired into I am [&c.]

Paris 26th November 1776

This serves only to inclose and explain the within State of the Commerce of Leghorn, which was given me by the Envoy of the Grand Duke of Tuscany, a Gentleman of universal Knowledge and a warm friend to America, and indeed to all mankind; I have the honor of his acquaintance in an intimate degree, and having communicated to him a memoire setting forth the particular state of the Commerce of America, with the History of its rise and increase and its present importance; it being a copy of what I delivered this Court; he marked the articles in demand in general and those in particular as you will see in the inclosed, after which he enumerates their articles for exportation which in my turn I marked and observed upon as before you.

I have only to add that the Grand Duke has taken off all duties on the american Commerce to give it encouragement. This indeed is done rather privately to prevent Complaints of other Powers of a seeming partiality; when I add to this, that it is agreed on all hands Ships of War may be purchased at Leghorn ready fitted for sea cheaper than in any port in Europe, I think a good acquaintance ought to be cultivated with this state. In a former Letter I mentioned a Naval Enterprize which might at first appear Romantic, but the more it is considered the less danger I shall be in of being taxed on that score. Admiral Montague lately returned from the Banks where the Fishermen have had a wretched season of it, in consequence of the american privateers. He left two small Sloops of War there of 14 and 16 guns. In common years they leave six or seven thousand of their Labourers or Fishermen there as in a Prison through the winter employed in taking of Seals, repairing of Boats, Stages &c these are unarmed and ever dissatisfied to the last Degree with their Situation; two Frigates arriving early in February would destroy the Fishery for one if not two years, and obtain an acquisition of a fine Body of Recruits for your Navy. I have conferred with some Persons here on the subject, who highly approve the enterprize, but I submit it to your opinion after urging dispatch in what ever is done or attempted on that subject.

The Resolution of the Court of Spain in the case of Captain [John] Lee at Bilboa gives every encouragement to adventurers in these Seas where the prises are valuable, and where you have constantly Harbours at hand on the Coast of France and Spain to repair to and refit in, and where constant and certain Intelligence can be had of the situation of the british ships of War as well as of Commerce; I need not add on a subject so plain and at the same time so important, but will only remind you that the Dutch, in the space of two or three years after their first Revolt from Spain, attacked the Spaniards so successfully and unexpectedly in every Quarter of the Globe, that the Treasures they obtained thereby enabled them to carry on the war. Let me repeat that if you empower me or any other Person here, you may obtain any number of Ships of War on Credit from Individuals on paying Interest 5 per Cent until paid. The King will probably have use for his, and besides to let this go would be the same as a Declaration of War, which in form at least will for some time be avoided.

I write on different subjects in different Letters as they rise in my mind, and leave you to use as you judge best my Sybil Leavey and am Gentlemen &c

LORD STORMONT TO LORD WEYMOUTH¹

Paris Novr 27th 1776.

My Lord As my Yesterdays Conversation with M de Vergennes was a long one, a particular account of it, would swell this Dispatch to too great a Size, I must therefore content myself with giving Your Lordship the Substance.

I began with telling him – that since we parted at Fontainebleau, I had received Letters from my Court, in which, I was enjoined to express the great satisfaction with which the King had received the positive assurances of Friendship, which his Excellency had given me, by his Most Xn Majesty's express order, and in his Name – To such assurances we gave entire credit, had a thorough dependance upon them, and had no doubt that they gave equal credit to our professions, which were as sincere as possible, and which I solemnly renewed, after he had made a handsome Compliment in answer to this; I went on to say, that we saw with surprize, and Regret, that notwithstanding these friendly intentions, they were going to take a Step, which had a very unfavourable appearance, and was of the greatest Importance to us, for the Reasons which I had given his Excy at large, in our last Conversation. I repeated those Reasons, as shortly as I could, but so as not to lessen their force, and omitted nothing my Lord, that tended to shew the Consequence to us, of a French fleet being sent to the West Indies, in the present critical Moment. I spoke of the General Appearance it carryed, the hopes the Rebels would conceive, of drawing advantage from it to that Trade, which they certainly carried on with the french sugar Islands, and which was as beneficial to them, as it was prejudicial to us – In a Word my Lord, and not to dwell upon the Arguments with which You yourself furnished me, I spoke as Strongly, and forcibly as I could, upon the Importance to us of this Expedition, if it did take place, and of the Attention which it must necessarily draw, I did not however drop the least Intimation, of what we should be forced to do on our part, but spoke of it, only as a Step which appeared to us, inconsistent with that friendship which this Court professes for us, and on which we love to rely – A great part of his answer was the same in substance, with that which he gave me the last time I saw him. He said, that he as yet knew nothing positive as to the destination of this fleet – that the King his Master's final Resolution, with regard to it was not taken, unless it had been taken last night, which he did not believe, that if this small Squadron did go to the french West Indies, as was probable, there was nothing that could give us the least cause of Jealousy; that it was inconsiderable in itself, consisting only of six Ships, and four frigates, and would probably be divided into three parts, and stationed at st Domingo, Martinico, and Guadeloupe – that we had a great Naval force in North America – that Every Nation must think of it's own security, and defense, and that as to the Trade I had mentioned, it would as he had already observed to me, be checked, and not countenanced by this Fleet.

To this my Lord, I replied in general – that M du Chaffault's fleet would in Effect be a greater force than any we had in America, as I knew it was the opinion of the ablest Sailors, that six ships of the line, well conductd, as these would be, were more than a Match for any Number of Frigates, that could be brought[t] against them: He interrupted me here to say, that I might be very sure that France had no hostile Intention – I said I was convinced of this, and was the more astonished at this expedition, as I could not discover a sufficient motive for it, I added, that there were no arguments, which Ingenuity could not combat with Specious Reason, but that I always loved to deal frankly, and speak out, and therefore must say, that it did seem to me, totally impossible that so able a Ministry, as the present Ministry of france certainly was, should not see, should not be convinced in their own Minds, that a French fleet, sent to the West Indies in the present Moment, was an important, and a disagreeable Thing for Great Britain. Without discussing this, He so far changed the Subject as to say in his answer, that besides the Reasons he had given me, it was essential to the King his Masters dignity, and Honour, to prevent all Insults to his Ports, which had been notoriously insulted of late, on many occasions, by our Men of War, who when they were pursuing an enemy's Ship, followed it into a french Port, just as they would into Portsmouth, or Plymouth: He added, that they had made many little complaints of late, on no one of which they had as yet received Satisfaction – He said this My Lord, with a very firm, but not an Angry Tone – I expressed my surprize, and put him in mind, that this was the first time he had ever spoke to me upon the subject, that as I knew no particulars, I could only answer in General, that the King was too Jealous of his own Honour, not to respect that of every other Sovereign, that nothing could be more foreign to his Majesty's Intentions, than to offer the least Insult to france, nothing more positive, than the orders given to all our sea Officers, to respect her Pavillion and Territory, according to those known Laws which are universally received – He said, that he did believe those orders were given, but that they certainly were not obeyed, and added, that if a french officer dared to offer a similar Insult to our Ports, his Head would pay for it. He entered into no particulars, of the Violation of Territory he complains of, said that it was true, that he had never spoke upon the subject to me, that he had purposely avoided it as a disagreeable one, and had sent all those Complaints through the french Minister, which was the natural channel – He then added, that he hoped M de Noailles had told your Lordship, as he was instructed, that the Attention France has to complain of every little disagreeable Incident as it arises, is a Proof of her sincere Desire, to preserve Peace, had we not that Intention said He, we should let these Grievances accumulate, put 'em all in a Bag, was his expression, and form a Mass, to be produced at once when they were wanted, to give a Colour to some unfriendly design. After I had answered in General Terms, that we should always be Ready to do Justice, and redress every Real Grievance; He changed the Subject a little, and said, you cannot expect us, to treat the Americans, with the same Rigour that You do, our Trading Vessels are forced to come near their Coast, in their way to, and from Europe, their privateers would if provoked, attack us, we should have nothing to gain in such Combats, and every thing to lose – To this I replied My Lord, that what I had expected, was the performance of that Declaration his Excellency gave me many months ago, “that the Americans should not be supplied, with Arms, or Ammunition,” I observed to him, that those orders had certainly been eluded in France, on more occasions than one, but had been totally neglected in the french West Indies, from which it was notorious, that the Rebels had received great supplies of this kind – I spoke of this as a thing past all doubt, and again observed to him, that a French fleet sent thither at this time, would certainly carry the appearance of favouring that Trade – He never would admit this, but after combating it as before, he repeated what he had said at the beginning of our Conversation, that he did not know, that the King his Master had fixt the destination of M du Chaffaults fleet (he said the Same thing to another foreign Minister yesterday Morning) He then myLord, hinted at our immense Preparations I told him that he knew the object of them, and that they were calculated only for our own Defense. I am persuaded answered he that they are more for ostentation than use, c'est moins pour L'Employ que pour L'étalage de vos Richesses was his Expression, I am likewise persuaded continued he, notwithstanding all the Intimations we receive to the contrary, that Your Professions are sincere, and Your Intentions pacific, Your Situation certainly does not call for a foreign War, so that all that is said tending to create an Alarm, does not affect me. – I answered, that the Picture he had drawn of his own Situation, and feelings, was an Exact Representation of ours, that we were persuaded, the present french Ministers, were too wise, not to know, and value, the blessings of Peace and therefore were not affected with those constant Rumours of War, which he well knew, were to be met with, in every Corner of Paris. – I purposely added, what was true, that that very morning, I had heard in the King's Antichamber, that M du Chaffaults departure was deferred for some little time, that his fleet might be augmented – he held up his hands at this, put me in Mind of what he had said to me upon his Honour, at Fontainebleau, and repeated the Same assertion, but then added, I do not Say what we may do in the Road of Brest; we may very probably have a Fleet there as you certainly have a very formidable one at Spithead. He said this with a forced Smile – I answered, that our Armament was considerable, and ought to be so, that whilst france was only preparing in her Ports, and putting good Locks to her Doors, we had not meddled with ours, but when she began actually to arm, it was our Duty to take those precautions that Prudence dictates. I added that I never held one Language at Versailles, and another in England, but that I always had thought, and always should say, whenever I was called to give my opinion, – that a British Ministry who did not Put the Navy of England upon the most respectable footing, when our Neighbours were arming all around us, was highly culpable, I ended with saying, that I knew the Activity, and Wisdom of the present Ministers too well, not to be sure, that they never would incur that blame. I said this My Lord in the politest Manner, but with the Tone of a Man, who speaks from th[o]rough conviction – He answered, that his opinion agreed entirely with mine, that no wise Nation would rest her security, upon anything but her own Vigilance, and proper Attention to put herself in a posture of Defense, I credit entirely Your Professions, You I hope, equally credit ours, but La volonté de l'homme est ambulatoire, besides events arise in Politics, that force a change of Conduct, and for these Contingencies every wise Nation will be prepared: He ended with saying, as we do not credit what is said by your opposition, do not you Credit what You hear from les Detracteurs du Ministère

He seemed My Lord to intend that the Conversation should drop here, but as he had not answered me with regard to M du Chaffaults fleet, in the Manner I wished, I determined to return once more to the charge, and that I might give an air of Novelty to what I said, which would make a repetition of the Arguments I had used more attended to, it occurred to me, that I might take an advantage of his having repeatedly mentioned the Opposition; (one of the principal Members of which I had presented to him that Day) I therefore told him My Lord, that besides the real Mischief that would arise to us from the Destination of M du Chaffaults fleet, if it was what the public supposed, there was a great deal in the Alarm it would give, and the appearance it would carry. I asked him, what he as an English Minister would answer to a Speaker in opposition who should say – France sends a Considerable fleet to Her Islands; What force have you in yours? what precautions have you taken for their Defense? do you mean the french Fleet should go unobserved, with no british Squadron to watch its Motions? is our security then, to depend upon the Sincerity of a Rivals Professions? &c &c

I worked up those, and similar Topics as well as I could. My Lord as it struck me, that this was a way of saying Strong things, without the possibility of their carrying an Air of Menace, or Insult.

He smiled at some parts of this little speech, then combated my Arguments, with many he had used before, but said at last after a short Pause. “I will give the King my Master an account of our Conversation, as he has a sincere friendship for his Britannic Majesty. The uneasiness you have conceived at the Destination of this little fleet, will naturally weigh with Him. I do not at all know what his Resolution will be, but if he should determine, to leave his Ports in the West Indies, without a fleet to protect them from insult, I cannot but expect, that You my Lord, will be authorized to give, the most positive assurances from Your Court, that our Ports, and Territory, shall be respected as they ought.”

I answered, that I knew the most positive orders had been given, to all our Navy, and was persuaded they would be renewed.

If the Destination of this fleet should be changed, or its Departure deferred, which I am not yet sanguine enough to expect, In this case my Lord, I humbly hope that I shall be authorized to give the Assurances M de Vergennes desires; and indeed there seems to me every reason of Policy, for our being particularly attentive not to offer France any Insult, or give her the least just Cause of Complaint at this Time

I have this Moment received the Honour of Your Lordships Letter No 60: and am excessively happy to find that my Conduct has met with his Majestys gracious approbation I am with the greatest Truth and Respect My Lord [&c.] Stormont.

All this is done in Concert with this Court who chuses to keep behind the Curtain for the present but has agreed to assist Spain with Eleven Millions of Livres . . .

Mr Deane was at Versailles all Monday and Yesterday he has I am told obtained a promise of a french Vessel to carry to America a Number of officers, ammunition, Cloths &c but from what Port that Vessel is to sail, I have not yet been able to learn The Secret assistance the french Ministers give the Rebels is no longer a Mystery it is pretty well known to those who are at all informed, and is much blamed by sensible Men tho no friends to Great Britain They say that it is weak narrow Policy, and that what is done is either too much or too little. . . .

SILAS DEANE TO THE COMMITTEE OF SECRET CORRESPONDENCE ¹

[Extract]

Gentlemen

Paris November 28th 1776

Your favor of the 7th August last covering Copy of yours of the 8th July I received tho' the original never came to hand. — this Letter also inclosed the declaration of Independency with instructions to make it known to this and the other Powers of Europe, and I received it the 7th Instant, though the Vessel which brought it had but 38 days passage from Salem — this Letter was very far from relieving me, as it inclosed what had been circulated thro' Europe for two Months before, and my pretending to inform this Court would be only a matter of form, in consequence of your Orders which were expressed in the stile of any common affair — I certainly prefer, and must on all occasions, simplicity of stile as well as manners, but something is due to the dignity of old and powerful States, or if you please to their prejudices in favor of long accustomed form and etiquette, and as the United States of America by this, introduce themselves among the established Powers and rank with them, it must, of course be expected that at the first introduction or the announcing of it, some mode more formal, or if I may say respectful would have been made use of than simply two or three lines from the Committee of Congress in a Letter something more apparently authentic, not that either your power or the reality of your Letter could be doubted — I mention this as something deserving of serious consideration whether in your applications here and your powers and instructions of a Public nature it is not always proper to use a Seal. This is a very antient custom in all public and even private concerns of any consequence . . . As the Copy was dated the 8th of July I took occasion to observe that [“]the honorable Congress had taken the earliest opportunity of informing this Court of the declaration of their independency and that the variety of important affairs before the Congress with the critical situation of the Armies in their Neighbourhood and the obstructions of their Commerce had prevented that intelligence which had been wished for but the present serve to show the early and principal attention of the United States to this Court, and as their Independency was now in form declared, the queries I had formerly put in consequence of my first instructions might now be resolved, and I hoped favorably” — to this I was answered [“]unless France by a public acknowledgment of your Independency makes War on Great Britain in your favor what service can such acknowledgment be of to the United States? You are known here, our Ports are open, and free for your Commerce, and your Ships are protected in them, and greater indulgence allowed than to any other Nation — if France should be obliged to make war on England, it will be much more just and honorable in the Eyes of the World to make it on some other account; and if made at all it is the same thing to the United States of America and in one Important view better for them to have it originate from any other cause, as America will be under less immediate obligations — further, France has alliances and can not resolve a question which must perhaps involve her in a War without previously consulting them, meantime the United States can receive the same succors and assistance from France without as well as with such an open acknowledgment, perhaps much more advantageously” . . . inclosed I send you the size of Masts and Spars with the price, which, if it will answer may be a certain article of remittance, as may other Naval Stores, but I dare not contract with the Marine as I have no Powers therefore, and am unacquainted with the rate at which they were usually exported to England – a wide field is opening as the American Commerce is to be free and I have had many applications from many parts on the subject tho' few are disposed to venture until the close of this Campaign, and if it is not decisive against us, our wants will be supplied another season at as cheap a rate as ever, but I trust never more on the old terms of long Credit. – I am well nigh harassed to death with applications of Officers to go out for America. Those I have engaged are I trust in general of the best Character, but that I should engage or rather take from the hands of some leading Men here some one or two in a number not so accomplished cannot be surprising, and may, considering my situation, be pardonable, but I have no suspicion of any such in my department of consequence – I have been offered Troops from Germany on the following general terms, Officers to recruit as for the service of France, and embark for St Domingo from Dunkirk, and by altering their rout land in the American States – The same has been proposed from Switzerland, to which I could give no encouragement, but submit it to your consideration in Congress whether if you can establish a Credit as I have before hinted it would not be well to purchase at Leghorn five or six stout Frigates which might at once transport some Companies of Swiss, a quantity of Stores and the whole to be defended by the Swiss Soldiers on their passage, or if you prefer Germans which I really do not, the Vessels might go from Dunkirk. I daily expect important advices from the North respecting Commerce at least having sent to the King of Prussia in consequence of a Memorandum he ordered his Agent here to show me, and to propose some queries to me, a state of the North American Commerce at large. . . . In expectation of your sending over Frigates to convoy your Ships and of your giving some instructions on what I have wrote you of operations in these Seas, I design being at Bordeaux in March when I shall be able to give you the needful directions in any such affair but at any rate send out a number of blank Commissions for Privateers to be fitted out in Europe under your flag, the prizes must finally be brought to you for condemnation, and the principal advantage will remain with you. . . . As to Sea Officers they are not so easily obtained, yet some good ones may be had and in particular two, one of whom I have already mentioned – the other is quite his equal, with some other advantages, he was first Lieutenant of a man of War round the World when Captain Cook sailed that Voyage and has since had a Ship, but wants to leave this for other service, where he may make a settlement and establish a family. These two Officers would engage a number of younger ones should they embark. I send herewith the Plans of one of them for the burning of Ships . . .

LORD WEYMOUTH TO LORD STORMONT¹

St James's 29th Novr 1776

His Excellency Lord Viscount Stormont

My Lord I am to confirm to Your Excellency by His Majesty's command, the instructions given You by Lord Rochford for obtaining my means of pecuniary reward any important secret information whenever such an opportunity may offer.

In the present instance, if such a treaty has really been entered into by the Court of France, with the Congress; as stated in Your Excellency's letter to Me of the 20th Instant; a copy should be purchased if possible, at any price. And even if a copy can be procured of such a draught as has been made in concert by the French Ministers, with Deane, would be desirable even at some considerable expence. It is not however possible to mention to your Excellency what Sum it would be proper to give, as that must necessarily depend on the means by which it is obtained, and the rank of life of the Agent employed for that purpose, and His Majesty has no unwillingness to leave this matter wholly to the discretion of your Excellency who is so well apprised of the importance of such an acquisition if the authenticity can be well ascertained. I am &c.

. . . I should never have completed what I have but for the generous, and indefatigable and spirited exertions of Monsr Beaumarchais to whom the United States are on every account greatly indebted, more so than to any other Person on this side the Water, he is greatly in advance for Stores, Cloathing, and the like, and therefore am confident you will make him the earliest and most ample remittances . . .

A particular account of the Stores shipped may probably not be ready by, this Vessel but may go by the next or some succeeding one as several will sail after this on the same errand. Let me by every Letter urge on you the sending in Season a quantity of Tobacco, of Rice, and of Flour or Wheat. These are articles which cannot fail and are capital ones, lesser are not to be omitted – Twenty thousand hogsheads of Tobacco are this instant wanted in France, besides the demand in other Kingdoms. . . . I have advised these stores being shipt for some of the New England Ports North East of Newport first, and if failing of making a Port there to stand for the Capes of Delaware or for Charlestown So Carolina as the most likely rout to avoid interception. – I cannot in a Letter do full justice to Monsr Beaumarchais for his great Address and assiduity in our Cause. I can only say he appears to have undertaken it on great and liberal principles, and has in the pursuit made it his own. – his interest and influence which are great have been exerted to the utmost in the Cause of the United States, and I hope the consequences will equal his Wishes. . . .

BEAUMARCHAIS TO THE CONTINENTAL CONGRESS ¹

[Extract]

Paris, December 1, 1776.

Gentlemen: With regard to me, gentlemen, my sincere attachment to your cause and my respectful esteem for your persons has not suffered me to hesitate and to wait till vessels loaded by you should arrive in this country with the produce of your own in exchange for our merchandise, but the faith of the powers of your commissioner (a duplicate of which he has left in the hands of our ministry) have procured from our manufactories all what I have thought might be useful to you in your present situation, and I have begun to send supplies to you by the ship that carries this letter, with a brief account of what it contains for your use, as I expect to send you my invoices in good order, attested and signed by M. [Silas] Deane, by another ship, that will carry you a fresh supply of ammunition, and the invoices of which I shall send by a third ship, and so for all the others.

But, gentlemen, however warm may be the zeal that animates me, my friends will never be sufficient to double and treble my advances, if on your side, you do not send me on my ships and on your own remittances in country produce in proportion as you receive my supplies.

What I call my ships, gentlemen, is some French vessels hired for freight, according to a bargain agreed to between a merchant and myself, in presence of M. Deane, for want of your own vessels, which we had been long expecting, but did not arrive. Here inclosed you have copy of the agreement.

Now, gentlemen, I beg you will send me my remittances either in excellent Virginia tobacco, or in indigo, rice, etc. My advances in this expedition must be soon followed by a second as considerable. It amounts to about one million tournois.

[Madrid] 2d December 1776.

By my last advices from Alicant I have learnt that a French vessel was arrived there which had been met on the 14th November, off the Rock of Lisbon, by a North American armed vessel, and forcibly obliged to take on board eleven Sailors, part of the crews belonging to two British ships taken on the 12th, about twenty five leagues to the westward of the said Rock. The pirate is a sloop called the Union, belonging to Cape Ann, mounting ten carriage guns, eight swivels and forty men, commanded by Isaac Soams, and had taken three other ships.² Incidents like these ought surely to convince every commercial nation of the necessity of preventing such interruptions to their trade.

"COPY OF A LETTER FROM MR. JAMES BIER, OF THE BRIG Watson, DATED DUNDALK, DEC. 3, 1776."¹

On the 2d of October, in lat. 41, long. 45, I was taken by an American ship of war, called the Cabott, a brig of 14 guns, commanded by Capt. Eleazer Hindman [Elisha Hinman], who had just before taken five large vessels. I was carried on board the privateer, where I applied to the Captain for leave to continue on board my own vessel, which he refused; however, after some conversation about privateering, he consulted his Officers, and then told me I might go on board. They took all my men, except the Captain, one boy, and a passenger, putting eight of their own men on board. We were to proceed for New London or Rhode Island. In about three weeks we got into soundings of Boston, but that night I had determined to retake her, having brought over to my party two of their people, by promising them 100 l. Accordingly, at eight o'clock, they sent me a pistol by the boy, on which I jumped on deck, clapped it to the prize-master's breast, and demanded him to surrender the vessel, which he complied with; at the same time the Captain and boy secured the Lieutenant of Marines in the cabbin. We then secured the hatches till I got all the arms, which completed the business. I bore away for Halifax, but the wind being fair, stood on for Ireland, where I struck soundings in 27 days. We ran in here in a hard gale of wind, where we lie in safety, having received no damage, except one boat washed overboard, with studding-sails and some spare ropes.

Dear Jay

Paris Decr 3d 1776

If my Letters arrive safe they will give you some Idea of my situation, – without Intelligence, without Orders, and without remittances, yet boldly plunging into Contracts, Engagements, & Negotiations, hourly hoping that something will arrive from America – by General Coudry I send 30,000 Fusils – 200 pc of Brass Cannon, Thirty Mortars, 4000 Tents, and Cloathing for 30,000 Men, with 200 Tons of Gunpowder, Lead, Balls &c, &c, by which you may judge we have some friends here – a War in Europe is inevitable; The Eyes of all are on you, and the fear of your giving up or Accommodating is the greatest Obstacle I have to Contend with – Mons Beaumarchais has been my Minister in effect, as this Court is extreme cautious, and I now Advise you to Attend Carefully to the Articles sent you, I could not examine them here, I was promised they should be good & at the lowest prices, & that from persons in such station that had I hesitated it might have ruined my affairs but as in so large a Contract there is room for imposition, my Advise is that you send back to me samples of the Articles sent you – Cannon, Powder, &c Mortars &c are articles known, but of the Cloths the Fusils &c by which any imposition may be detected – large remittances are Necessary for your Credit & The enormous price of Tobacco, of Rice, of Ham & many other Articles, gives you, an Opportunity of making Your remittances to very great Advantage, 20,000 HHds of Tobacco are wanted immediately for this Kingdom, and more for other parts of Europe – I have wrote you on several subjects some of which I will Attempt briefly to recapitulate Tho I have but a Drop of Ink having received none from your Brother – The distruction of the Newfoundland Fishery, may be effected, by Two or Three of your Frigates, sent there early in February, and by that means a fatal blow given to G Britain I mean by distroying the Stages Boats &c & bringing away the People left there as Prisoners – Glasgow in Scotland, may be plundered & burnt with ease, as may Liverpool, by two or Three stout Frigates, which may find a shelter and protection in the ports of France & Spain afterwards – Blank Commissions are wanted here to cruise under your Flag against the British Commerce This is a Capital stroke & must bring on a War hasten them out I pray you – France, and Spain, are Friendly, & you will greatly oblige the Latter, by seizing the Portuguese Commerce, Wherever it is found – I have had overtures from the King of Prussia in the Commercial Way & have sent a person of great Confidence [to] his Court in person, with Letters of Introduction from his Agent here with whom I am on the best terms – A Loan may be Obtained, if you make punctual remittances for the sum now Advanced, for any sum at five Pct Interest perhaps for less – The Western Lands ought to be held up to View as an encouragement for your soldiers, especially Foreigners, and are a good fund to raise Money on – you may if you judge proper, have any number of German, & Swiss Troops, They have been Offered me but you know I have no power to treat – A Number of Frigates may be purchased at Leghorn, the Great Duke of Tuskany being zealously in favor of America, & doing all in his power to encourage its Commerce – Troubles are rising in Ireland & with a little assistance, much work may be cut out for G Britain there, by sending from hence a few Priests, a little Money, & plenty of Arms – Omnia Tentanda is my Motto, Therefore I hint they playing their own Game on them by spiriting up the Caribbs in St Vincents, & the Negroes in Jamaica to revolt – on all these subjects I have wrote to you – also on Various particulars of Commerce, Our Vessels have more Liberty in the ports of France, & Spain, & Tuscany, than the Vessels of any other Nation & that Openly – I presented the Declaration of independancy to this Court after it had indeed become an Old storey in every part of Europe, it was well received, but as you say you have Articles for Alliance under Consideration any resolution must be deferr'd untill We know what they are – The want of Intelligence, has more than once well nigh ruined my affairs – pray be more Attentive to this important subject, or drop at once all Thoughts of a Foreign Connection – I must mention some Trifles – The Queen is fond of parade, & I believe wishes a War, & is our Friend, she loves riding on horsback, could you send me a fine Narragansett Horse or Two the present might be Money exceedingly well laid out – Rittenhouses Orrery – or Arnolds Collection of Insects – a Phaeton of American make and a pair of Bay Horses – A few barrells of Apples – of Walnuts, of Butter Nutts &c would be great Curiosities here where everything American is gazed at and where the American Contest engrosses the Attention of all Ages, Rank & Sexes – had I Ten ships here I could fill them all with passingers for America – I hope the Officers sent will be Agreeable they were recommended by the Ministry here, and are at this instant really in their Army but this must be a secret, – do you want heavy Iron Cannon, Sea Officers of distinction or ships Your Special Orders will enable me to procure them – For the situation of Affairs, in England refer you to Mr [Nicholas] Rogers Aid De Camp to Mons du Coudry. . . do not forget, or omit, sending me blank Commissions for Privateers, under these, infinite damage may be done, to the British Commerce, & as the prizes, must be sent to you, for Condemnation, the eventual profit, will remain with you . . .

[Nantes] 3rd December 1776

Since writing the above² have heard the disagreeable news of an American Vessel being taken a going out of Bordeaux River, by an English frigate, who was laying in wait for her, One reports she is worth about Twenty thousand pounds Sterling, being loaded with Dry Goods, It is thought by most people here that information was given of her by some of our ennemies who knew the particular time of her Sailing, as no one before heard of any frigate being in the Bay, We are much surprised to hear of so many American Vessells arriving at Bordeaux for two reasons, first the dangerous River they have to enter and mount, Second the great concealmt our ennemies have to lie, in wait for them Vessells, almost at the mouth of the River; we think it one of the most dangerous ports in france, on account of the last reason just given, and we are much surprised to hear that near all of them Vessells adress themselves or are adressed to a certain Irish house there who had the name of being great Tory's, before they did any business for the Americans, Mr Dean has likewise put his Confidence in that house; who we surmise, have dispatched the Vessel taken, for Account of sd Mr Dean. It is thought here in general that our greatest Ennemies in this place and elsewhere in france are the Irish, Cats, which makes us very carefull before any of them people –³

We likewise can inform you that a very large fleet sailed from Cadix the 17th October last, but is not known as yet for where. There is also a small fleet sailed from Brest very lately, for the french West Indias, which things we hope will all turn out for the best advantage of the Americans – we just now heard that there is an American privateer lying at the entrance of this River, with an English prize that she took off Bordeaux –⁴ We are in the mean time Gentlemen [&c.]

Martinique, at the same time, that it is no less necessary, in order to prevent alarm & to obviate every inconvenience which the appearance of this Squadron might occasion, that you should be informed that the Court of France has in the most express terms, disavowed all hostile Intentions and declares that the Sole object of that Armament is to protect the Commercial Interests of her Subjects from those Inconveniences to which they must be unavoidably exposed, during the Existence of the American Rebellion

Notwithstanding however this pacific declaration of the French Court the honour of this Nation & common Prudence render it expedient that we should be provided against all possible Events, and you may rest assured that if the French fleet sails, a British fleet of at least equal force, will soon sail for the Security of His Majesty's Islands.

I am therefore commanded by their Lordships to acquaint you that it will be a necessary & useful Part of your duty, to be particularly attentive to the Motions of the French Armament & to signify their direction to you not only to take the earliest Opportunity of transmitting all material Intelligence together with your remarks thereupon to me for their Lords Information, but also to communicate the same with all possible expedition to His Majesty's other Governors within the Limits of your Commands, who have received the same Information, from Lord George Germaine, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, and similar directions with respect to communicating the same to you. The Brown Hall, Austin, from Port Medway, a missing ship, is arrived at Ramsgate, after being taken and plundered by the Americans.

A letter received from the Mate of a man of war belonging to Admiral Gayton's squadron at Jamaica, who at present commands a schooner of eight carriage guns (six pounders) and 30 men, says, "I am just returned to Port Royal harbour, from a cruise of three months off Cape Francois; have met with no success, but had a very near chance of being sunk, for in chasing an American snow, which ran into the above port for protection, I stood too far in after, and was fired at from the battery; yet, notwithstanding they fired several shot at us, not one hit our vessel."

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN TO SILAS DEANE¹

Auray in Brittany, 4 December 1776.

I have just arrived on board the 'Reprisal,' Captain Wickes, a small man of war belonging to Congress. We lie in the bay of Quiberon, awaiting a favourable wind to go to Nantes. We left the Cape on the 29th October and have only taken 30 days from land to land. I staid on board three days after we anchored, hoping to be able to proceed to Nantes with the vessel; but, the wind continuing contrary, I have come here to proceed by land to that place.

Congress, in September, nominated you, and Mr [Thomas] Jefferson and me, to negotiate a treaty of commerce and of amity with the Court of France. Mr Jefferson, then in Virginia, declined; whereupon Mr Arthur Lee, at present in London, was nominated in his place. Our vessel has brought indigo, upon the account of Congress, worth about £3,000 sterling, which is to be at our orders for payment of our expenses. Congress has assigned us £7,000 sterling besides, for the same object, which the Committee will transmit as soon as possible. I am as near Paris here as I shall be at Nantes; but I am obliged to go there, to obtain money for my journey and to get my baggage, which remained on board ship; but I will try to be with you as soon as ever I can. I intend to preserve the incognito with regard to my character so far and until I know if the Court is willing to receive ministers of the United States. I have several letters from the Committee for you, which I do not send, because I know that they contain matters of consequence, and I am not sure of the safety of this conveyance. Moreover, as I reckon to take the post at Nantes, I imagine it will not make three or four days' difference. At sea we met with two brigantines, one Irish and the other English, which we captured and are bringing to Nantes.² I know not whether the Captain will obtain permission to sell them there, because that might possibly be contrary to existing treaties between the two crowns. They are worth about £ 4,000 sterling. We had a rough passage and I feel myself shaken by it; but I hope the fine air which I breathe on land will soon restore me, and that I shall be able to travel with speed, to join you in Paris and to find you there in good health.

P.S. It would be well done if you could by some safe way acquaint Mr Lee of his nomination. Perhaps the best way would be through the Department of Foreign Affairs and the French Ambassador; that of the ordinary post would not be safe.

I beg you to obtain a lodging for me.³

Bristol 5 Decr 1776.

The various Conveyances by which I wrote you with Accounts &c arrived, I hope safe, though I have not had the pleasure of hearing from you. I have the greatest hopes of it, because they were sent, before this unnatural War had arisen to the heighth which wholly has separated this Country from yours, and deprived us of an Empire, which was our Glory and our Boast. May God grant that the Authors of this War, whose tyrannical Behaviour have driven a brave People, jealous of their Rights, to the necessity of throwing off a Government, which had first deprived them of its Protection, meet with their just deserts! This is poor Satisfaction for the melancholy Scenes, which attend a civil War, but is, I fear, all that this Country can receive.

It is a melancholy Consideration, that all the Connexion we can now have with each other, is to solicit good offices in behalf of those who have the Misfortune to be taken Prisoners in this unhappy War. I have to entreat that in favour of Capt Isaac Pocock, who commands a Vessel belonging to me called the Marquis of Rockingham, if he should have the Misfortune to be taken. She is bound to the West Indies. As she could not be in time for the Convoy, and it will be a very great Inconvenience to me, not to have her in the West Indies, to bring home my remittances, I put a few Guns aboard her, as a means of defence only, for I can never consistent with the principles I have always professed, act offensively against a People supporting their Rights, and therefore can by no means think of taking a Letter of Marque. I solicit your friendship to procure the release of Capt Pocock and permit him to depart with the first ship for Statia or any port of the West Indies, he may want to go to. Any little Supplies of money you will be so good as to let him have, and I will repay it in the manner you shall chuse, in the West Indies I apprehend most convenient to you. If he is carried into any port of New England, he will send this to you, and you will be so good as to grant him your good offices.

If Capt Wm Innes Pocock of my Snow Champion, laden with Herrings from Gottenburgh to Statia, should have been also taken I beg the same indulgence to him.

I shall be always happy in having it in my power to render you Services for I truly am Gentlemen [&c.]

[Endorsed at a later date by Captain Isaac Pocock]

I Pocock having the Misfortune of being taken by the Sturdy Beggar of Maryland, has the good luck of being passenger in her for Martinico, therefore hopes he may get to Tortola in a few days – any favour which Messrs Willing Morris & Co may shew his Mate, Mr Thomas Good – I Pocock will Esteem a Service done himself, as his mate is deserving – I Pocock Cannot omit this opportunity of giving a public testimony that he is used on board the Privateer with the greatest Civility & has every Indulgence that Can possibly be shewn to any.²

MARQUIS DE NOAILLES TO VERGENNES¹

[Extract]

London, 6 December 1776

. . . Lord Suffolk stated to the Prince of Masseran [Masserano] that our intentions may not be turned toward war, but that England could not look upon a departure of our [Brest] Fleet for America without being perturbed; that they are persuaded that France will not at all support the insurgent Americans, but that the confidence these same Rebels will gain at the sight of foreign forces in their vicinity would only harden and prolong the unfortunate quarrels dividing the Homeland and the Colonies. . . .

The Fleet assigned to the West Indies must have departed last evening from Portsmouth outer harbor under escort of the frigate Glasgow and the sloops Beaver, Fly, and Hornet. The frigate Thames must have departed at the same time with the vessels destined for New York . . .²

2. The Ambassador's information about the sailings was correct. Williamson's Liverpool Advertiser, December 13, 1776, reported: "This morning the following men of war sailed from Spithead, with all the outward bound ships under their convoy, viz, the Glasgow, Hornet, Fly and Beaver, for the West Indies; the Worcester with the ships bound to the Straits; and the Thames, with the outward bound, for New York, and, as the wind continues easterly it is expected they will get clear."

"EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM EXETER, DEC. 6"¹

The circumstances of the retaking of the Elliot, Squires, from Oporto, arrived in this port, deserves, I think, to be made public: – When the above vessel was made prize, the Provincials took out of her the master, a passenger, and five seamen, leaving only the mate and one hand more on board, and put in a prize-master and five others to navigate the vessel to Salem. The mate getting acquainted with one of the privateer's men (who is a Londoner), they agreed to retake the vessel, which they did in the night, and confining the prize-master and the other hands, brought the vessel safe into Topsham. What is extraordinary, all the weapons they had were a cutlass and an axe, though the Provincials had fire arms.

Yesterday a fire broke out in three different parts of the new rope-house in the Dock yard. It began about half after four in the afternoon, and raged with great violence till about nine o'clock, when it deadened a little, but was not quite extinguished till this morning.

The building is supposed to have been wilfully set on fire, as the men never work in it by candle-light, and had that day left off by half after two o'clock.

One of the carpenters was taken out of a window hanging by his leg and arm; and put under confinement on suspicion.

Capt Wicks did every thing in his Power to make the Voyage comfortable to me; and I was much pleas'd with what I saw of his Conduct as an Officer, when on suppos'd Occasions we made Preparation for Engagement, the good Order & Readiness with which it was done, being far beyond my expectation, and I believe equal to any thing of the kind in the best Ships of the King's Fleet. He seems to have also a very good Set of Officers under him. I hope they will all in good time be promoted. He met and took two Prizes, Brigantines, one belonging to Cork, laden with Staves, Pitch, Tar, Turpentine & Claret; the other to Hull, with a Cargo of Flaxseed and Brandy. The Captains have made some Propositions of Ransom, which perhaps may be accepted, as there is yet no Means of condemning them here, and they are scarce worth sending to America. The Ship is yet in Quiberon Bay with her Prizes. I came hither from thence 70 miles by Land. I am made extreamly welcome here, where America has many Friends. As soon as I have recovered strength enough for the Journey, which I hope will be in a very few days, I shall set out for Paris. My letter to the President will inform you of some other Particulars. Lord Viscount Weymouth one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, having transmitted to us a Copy of a Letter which he had received from the Lord

Lieutenant of Ireland in which it is represented that it would be of particular service to the Trade of that Country if the Commanders of His Majesty's Sloops and Vessels were directed, when they sail, to take under their Convoy any Merchant Vessels bound for Great Britain that are ready to put to Sea; And Lord Weymouth having, at the same time, signified to us, His Majesty's Pleasure that we should give such orders as we should judge expedient for accommodating the Merchant Ships from Ireland to Great Britain with Convoy whenever it shall be consistent with His Majesty's Service in other respects; You are hereby required and directed, in pursuance of His Majesty's said Pleasure whenever you come from Ireland to Great Britain to take under your Convoy all such Merchant Ships and Vessels bound the same way and willing to accompany you, as may be ready to sail, and see them in Safety as far as your way and theirs may be together. "EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM BRISTOL, DEC. 9"¹

This day the cargo of the snow Dickenson, from Philadelphia, was sold (under a commission issued by the Court of Admiralty) at the Exchange coffee-House. 1345 barrels of American flour sold upon an average at about 13s. and 861 barrels of ditto damaged sold for 8s. to 10s. per hundred weight. About 1½ ton of American bees-wax was sold at ten guineas per cwt. About 44 boxes of spermaceti candles went very high, altho' they were very indifferent, unsizeable, and only fit for melting down. Near 200 boxes more, all of which either broken or caked together so as not be separated, were sold upon an average at about 22½ d. a pound; such being the infatuation of the buyers, that they bid a higher price for ordinary damaged candles than they might have had the very best for, perfectly well made, of the makers in Bath and Bristol.

Arrived this day from Quebec his Majesty's ship Isis, Commodore Douglas, with General Burgoyne, his Aids de Camp, Sir Francis Clerke, and Capt. Gardner, as also Mr. Alexander Davidson, and Mr. Thomas Ainslie, and bring accounts of our army having returned from Crown Point, to go into winter quarters at St. John's, Montreal, Chamblé, and Quebec. They also bring accounts of the rebels at Ticonderoga having put a 20 gun ship on the stocks, and are making great preparations for another engagement on Lake Champlain next spring. The Isis left Quebec the 8th of November, when General Carleton was expected there hourly. Sailed from Quebec at the same time the Blonde frigate, Captain Pownall, who is ordered to cruize on the Banks of Newfoundland for a few weeks. Left at Quebec the Triton frigate, the Garland, and the Viper sloop of war, which are to winter there, as are also about 20 transports. On the 7th inst. spoke with the Thames

Most Exc. Sir:

I have informed the King of the contents of your letter of the 22nd of last month and he is happy to learn that some assistance is on the way; for after the advantages which English arms have obtained in those parts the assistance may be even more urgent and necessary in order to encourage the insurgents and preserve them in the system they have adopted; the King and all his cabinet believe it is so important to ensure that the war is prolonged that a means is being contemplated here for us to furnish fresh assistance directly to the colonies in revolt; when the method has been resolved and determined you will be informed. May God keep you many years.

The Commander in Chief having by yesterday's post informed you of my Arrival here, with this His Majests Ship under my Command, and her Acting 2d Lieutenant Mr Stone, being (with his Consent) on the road with my farther Dispatches; I beg you to move My Lords Commissioners, to indulge me with leave of Absence for nine or ten Days, my private Affairs requiring my presence in London - In the mean time; and with regret; I find myself under the necessity of desiring, that you may be pleased to observe to the right honorable board, that with Amazement I have read in a Newspaper, the Copy of a letter from Captain [Thomas] Pringle of the Lord Howe (Armed Ship) late Senior Sea Officer on Lake Champlain, by me detached; dated at Crown Point October 16th whereby without either the license or knowledge of me his Commanding Officer, And by my Messenger too Lieutenant Dacres, he has presumed to trouble their Lordships with his Account of the late Actions with the Rebel Vessels.

As I conceive so ridiculous a Step, to be a breach of discipline so very enormous, as to be hitherto unprecedented in the Naval Annals of Great Britain; I farther request: that My Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty may in due time be pleased to Order such public Cognizance thereof, to be taken, as the matter may deserve – which I confess leads me to suspect there having been some mystery, in the Lieutenants Schank, Butler & Starke, not having had sufficient time given them, for Writing to their Friends, after battle, previous to the Departure of Mr Dacres from Crown Point. Particular No 119

Paris Decr 11: 1776

I learnt Yesterday Evening, that the famous Doctor Franklin is arrived at Nantes, with his two grand Children; They came on board an American Privateer, which took several English Vessels in her Passage. Some People think that either some private Dissatisfaction or Despair of Success have brought him into this Country. I cannot but suspect that He comes charged with a secret Commission from the Congress, and as he is a subtle artful Man, and void of all Truth, He will in that Case use every Means to deceive, will avail himself of the Genl Ignorance of the French, to paint the Situation of the Rebels in the falsest Colours, and hold out every Lure to the Ministers, to draw them into an open support of that Cause. He has the advantage of several intimate Connexions here, and stands high in the General opinion. In a word My Lord, I look upon him as a dangerous Engine, and am very sorry that some English Frigate did not meet with Him by the Way.

By a letter from Capt. John Forristal, of the brig Dispatch, belonging to Waterford, dated Lisbon, Oct. 22, we are informed, that the great bustle made both at London and Lisbon, about American privateers cruising off the latter, is principally calculated by the masters of the Dutch and French ships, in order to raise their freights, as scarce a ship of those nations arrives there but reports having seen one or more of them, although they remain invisible to two English frigates now cruising off there, and suffer our merchantmen to pass unmolested.

[London, December 13, 1776]

. . . This has been a day of Fasting & Prayer for the Subjugation of America – I have however in defiance of the Royal Proclamation been dining at Mr [Horace] Walpoles with some well disposed Friends & making merry. – I am however very uneasy at the Long delay of the Masts Spars & Lumber; as it certainly has given Administration an Opportunity of advising Ld Howe of the Matter, & preparing for intercepting it – & indeed you may be assured that it is no Secret here any more than in Paris where I hear it is a Topic of general Conversation: Letters from Ld Stormont were brought last evening which announce that Mr Du Coudra had Sailed with some others for America & that he is certainly to go by the circuitous way of St Domingo – I hope in God that his Lordship is mistaken respecting the latter part of his News. Genl Burgoyne is lately arived from Quebec which he left about the 9th of Novr – he says that Carl[e]ton had discovered two or three Provincial Vessels (which escaped after the late Action) drawn on Shore in a Secluded Bay & Covered over with Bushes & that he set fire to them – that he afterwards attempted Repair a part of Crown Point designing to Leave [Simon] Fraser with 4000 Troops to Winter there – that this project was afterwards abandoned & all the Troops brought back to Canada where they are gone into winter Quarters from Isle aux Noix to Quebec – that Carltons Fleet is all to be drawn on Shore for the Winter at Isle aux Noix, where some works are erected and a Garrison is left. I think however that the Provincials must be very negligent if they do not attack & burn the vessels when the Ice becomes sufficiently strong. – Burgoyne says that the Provincials had a Considerable Force on Lake George (consisting of two Bilanders of 14 Guns each, & three Schooners of 10 Guns each with several Gundoloes &c) & that they have so filled up one of the Narrows between the two Lakes, that it will be impossible for them to Transport their Vessels out of Lake Champlain into Lake George without taking them to pieces & reconstructing them afterwards. & indeed the impossibility of ever doing any thing against the Colonies by the way of Canada becomes every day more evident. All Kinds of Flesh Provision was becoming Scarce in Canada and there was but little prospect of the arrival of the Ships sent from hence & from Ireland. The Richmond Frigate with two transports was met in the mouth of the River St Lawrence endeavouring to get up but from the Ice and violence of the Northwest wind, there was no prospect of her being able to do it – one of the Transports was filled with Clothing for the Troops in Canada & several of them had bore away for Halifax particularly one commanded by a Capt Hamilton, which had on board 60000 Portugal Johannes for paying the Troops.

Administration here still flatter themselves that nothing is to be feared from France. They Pretend that the French Ministry have promised not to send any fleet to the West Indies Provided Great Britain will Solemnly engage not to increase her Force in that Quarter, & to recall & disband her Armaments as soon as the dispute with the Colonies is Settled. & as our Ministry are willing to enter into such Engagements they Confidently assert that the Brest Fleet under Mr du Chaffault, will not sail on its intended Expedition. I do not Credit these Pretences, but they may shew you upon what Grounds our great Folks are proceeding. . . .

... The Bill to authorize the [British] Admiralty to issue letters of marque to private ship owners who want to make raids on American ships has given us the same reaction as they have to you. The King and his counselors consider it as an act of desperation which will undoubtedly interfere with commerce of other nations and subject the general tranquility to the greatest dangers; I will explain it to M. Stormont in this sense in the first conference I have with him, and I shall not refrain from telling the Ambassador that the Bill in question was adopted by parliament, it could put us in a position of taking steps to protect our commerce from the rapacity of English shipowners. If British ministers should give occasion for an interview on the subject you will not keep from their own way of thinking and you will repeat the reflections and the fear which I propose to communicate to Lord Stormont. You will take care, sir, to express your thoughts with caution so that your proposals cannot be taken as threats or as a result of obstinacy. Moreover the English might modify their Bill in such a way as to take away any apprehension on the part of other nations. For example if they restrained their corsairs from running down Americans by forbidding them to visit or harrass ships of another flag when they are assured by inspection of the papers that they belong to the flag by which they are covered. . . .

My Lord

Decr 15 1776

I have this Moment recd authentic Information that M. de Coudray and above a hundred french officers of Artillery and Light Troops sailed from Havre de Grace the 12th Inst on board a french Frigate called L'amphitrite Mounting Eighteen Guns. At least My Lord I know for certain that they were to sail on that day. A Chevalr Tort who is one of the officers on board and who has, he says a Conge for two Years from M. de St Germain wrote a Letter from Havre de Grace dated the 11th Instt in which there are these words Nous partons de mais pour Notre Destination.

as there seems to Me a possibility of this Ship being intercepted I thought it my Duty My Lord not to lose a Moment in giving You this authentic Information and have therefore despatched this Messenger and Have ordered Him to make the greatest Haste and take an Extraordinary Packet

I am persuaded that all the Papers of this frigate will shew that Her Destination is for St Domingo, but think it very probable that She will make directly for some port in North America.

I have some Reason to believe that Monsr de Viemonil a General officer in this Service of distinguished ability who was sent into Poland to assist the Confederates will be sent to North America to take the Command of the Rebel Army.

I am assured that Franklin who offers France the exclusive Trade of North America is much listend to and there are indeed but too many Indications of the insidious Designs of this Court and too much Reason to apprehend that in a few Months they will pull off the Mask and change these Secret Succours to the Rebels into open assistance.

M. Du chaffaults fleet is still in the Road of Brest, but I am authentically informed that Six More Ships of the Line are ordered to be armed immediately I mean My Lord two besides the four I have already mentioned These two which are 74 Gun ships were put into Commission on Thursday last and the Command of them given to Messrs La Motte and Bougainville I am with great Truth & Respect My Lord [&c.]

. . . Lord North flattered himself that the most recent instructions sent to Gen. Howe would prevent any sort of involvement by America with other powers. Many persons assert that there is a willingness to permit the Americans to trade with other nations. But nobody yet dares to say that they are thinking of recognizing their independence. Nevertheless nothing would be more to the point, and be more advantageous to the Americans than general permission to trade. For the restrictive laws which the homeland enforced on them were always America's essential complaint. . . .

Three officers were arrested yesterday in London for having impressed sailors very close to the Stock Exchange. As they refused to post bail bond they were jailed. There you have the first example of resistance by civil authority since impressment began in the city against the orders of municipal officers. . . .

Admiralty Dec: 18. 1776

I am exceedingly obliged to you for the favour of your letter, which brought us the first particulars of what had lately passed at New York; for as the Fowey which has the dispatches on board is not yet arrived, we were totally in the dark about the motions of the armies, the Captain of the Active not having told us a single word of the state of things at the time of his sailing; & I think I never remember more impatience than there has been for some time on this subject. You will have recieved your leave of absence before this reaches you, therefore I hope I shall soon have the pleasure of seeing you in town I am with great truth & regard [&c.]

This day arrived here the Fowey man of war, from New York. She has brought some dispatches from Lord Howe, among which, we hear, are the letters sent by General Washington to the Congress at Philadelphia, which were intercepted on the road, and brought to General Howe.

BARON DE KALB TO SILAS DEANE ¹

Havre 18 December 1776.

. . . I sent you in my last news of the departure of the Amphitrite on Saturday the 14th at midday. She might have left sooner if M. Du Coudray had not had many letters to write, which detained him from 10 o'clock at night when he went on board, and made her lose several hours' favourable wind. As nothing has been heard of her since, it is to be hoped that she has got out of the Channel. It is very lucky that she has left; for two days later she could not have done so, an order of the Court having arrived on Monday at 10 o'clock at night to detain her until further orders; but she was under weigh. The Romain is detained by the same order and if M. Beaumarchais does not have it revoked we may yet stay a long time here. I suppose that M. Monthieu will propose to you, in case these difficulties should continue, to charter here, for 8 or 10 louis, a bark to take to Nantes the officers who are waiting in order to embark them in the vessel which is there ready and which cannot be subject to the same countermand having no artillery on board, which could prevent its departure. If you order me to embark at Nantes, I will forward my baggage and will proceed thither post by way of Paris; but just as you please.

I was not able to impart to M. Du Coudray the unfavourable opinion which has been conveyed to you of the muskets, because he had left. But if it is well founded, as I fear it is, it should prove a monstrous rascality on the part of some one or perhaps of several persons. It is to be feared also that some of the carriages of the train of artillery are not worth the freight. M. Monthieu has agreed with me, or rather has avowed to me, that the shovels and other implements of that kind are not worth the freight. He says so perhaps because it was not he who supplied them, for I have not seen any of them. I only see much jealousy on all sides.

St James's 20th Decr 1776

The sailing of M. de Coudray, and of the officers who accompany Him cannot be prevented, unless We had Sufficient proofs to produce that their destination is for the continent of America. The taking a Frigate of War would be Such an act of Hostility, as nothing could justify, but the most irrefragable evidence of the want of truth in the professions of the French King's Ministers; more especially as Your Excellency believes that the capture of the Ship would furnish no papers that would indicate any other destination than to the Islands.

The state of the French Navy, and that of their finances are strong circumstances to incline them to preserve a Peace that is so essentially necessary to Them at this moment. The means they have used to prevent a breach between Portugal and Spain would Seem to confirm their desire of avoiding a war; and the clear and precise declarations They have so often made, exclude Them from a reasonable pretence for interrupting the tranquillity of Europe. Yet My Lord His Majesty is aware that specious appearances of great wealth from an exclusive trade to America; The certainty of the Support of Spain if They require it; and the flattering hopes of recovering what They lost in the last war, may induce Them to disclaim the ties of solemn declarations, and They will not find this Country unprepared.

The Fowey is arrived but brings no dispatches to Government. The facts stated to your Excellency in my letter of the 18th are confirmed by many private letters; but this Ship with the Active was sent to convoy the Transports to Europe, and General Howe was engaged in the pursuit of the Rebel army. . . .

The immense Trade which the Congress is now carrying on with France, is by no means a secret to our Cabinet, but administration are resolved not to make any remonstrance upon that head, having adopted an easier and more effectual plan to defeat the designs of that subtle court, without giving the least cause for any bickering between them and us at so critical a moment. In consequence of this determination, proper measures are already taken to intercept, and make prizes of the American ships now loading at Nantz and other French ports, and so turn the intended injury to a national advantage.¹

1. PRO, Admiralty 2/102, 90-92. This order appears to have become essential after a year of volunteer recruiting had failed to produce the required number of men. The order book contains many instructions to officers to set up recruiting offices in all the principal seaports of the kingdom; apparently with inadequate results. This order to Captain Allen of the Albion is printed in full in the order book because, alphabetically, the Albion led the list of British Naval vessels in home ports.
2. The list totals sixty; from Albion, Ardent, Augusta, Active, Ariadne and Alderney, to Worcester, Wolf, Weazle and Wasp. Similar orders went to eight cutters, twenty-two tenders and sixty-nine captains and lieutenants on recruiting duty, PRO, Admiralty 2/102, 92-94, 96, 97, 99-102.

and were confined all together in the common goal, but on a demand being made for them by the Captain of the Fox, they were immediately delivered up. There were in the Bay of Cadiz 12 sail of the line and eight frigates, ready for sea. Likewise arrived several transports from New York and Quebec.

JOURNAL OF SAMUEL CUTLER, MASSACHUSETTS PRIVATEER BRIG Dalton ¹

Dec. 24 [1776]. In latitude 44 No., long. 14 West. Light Breeze. At 2 P. M. saw a sail. Beat to quarters. At 10 P. M. she gave us a gun, Then another. Ordered us to surrender, which we thought best, as she proves to be the Raisable, of 64 guns, Thomas Fitzherbert, They boarded us sword in hand, and sent us all on board the ship without suffering us to take our clothes. All except the captain, 2 lieutenants, master, surgeon, capt. marines, 1 prize master, myself and 2 boys were indiscriminately turned down in the cable tier to sleep on the bare cables, as Capt. Fitzherbert would not suffer them to bring their clothes, but let his own people rob us of what they thought proper.

The brig Dalton sailed from Newburyport, November 15th, 1776, and from Portsmouth, on the 26th of the same month, and on the 24th of December following, about nine o'clock in the evening, we were taken by the Reasonable, man-of-war, of sixty-four guns. As her cruise was over, she was bound to Plymouth, England. The first lieutenant of the ship was the first man that boarded us, and he ordered us all on board the ship as fast as the boats could carry us, and would give us no time to collect our clothes, promising us, however, upon his word and honor, that we should have them all sent on board the next day. Some of our company trusted to this assurance, but I thought it not best to do the like. I was stationed upon the main-top when we were taken, and had not so good an opportunity to save my clothes, as those below; yet I saved more than any of the foremast hands; for as soon as I found that we were taken, I made all speed from the top down to my chest. I broke it open and shifted myself from head to foot — putting on two shirts, a pair of drawers and breeches, and trowsers over them; two or three jackets, and a pair of new shoes, and then filled my bosom and pockets as full as I could well carry. Afterwards, I found it was well for me that I did so; for when the clothes were brought on board, we found that all the best of them had been culled out, and nothing but a few rags and a dozen old blankets were sent to us.

After we came on board, we were ordered upon the quarterdeck, and from there down into the cable-tier, where we found very disagreeable lodgings, having nothing but the bare cable to lay upon, and that very uneven. Besides this, we were almost suffocated with heat. Being, however, very much fatigued, I slept about two hours, as soundly as if I had been upon a bed of down. When I awoke I crawled aft upon the cable, where was the sentinel, and spent the remainder of the night in conversation with him.

Sir,

Whitehall 24th Decr 1776.

It appearing by the Representation of the Naval Officer onboard the Lord Amherst Ordnance Transport, now at Portsmouth, (Copy of which is enclosed) that the said Ship is so well armed & manned, & in all respects so capable of defending herself against any Naval Force of the Rebels which there is any probability she may meet with, that Lord George Germain thinks it unnecessary to detain her for Convoy, especially as the Stores she has onboard are much wanted at the Places of her Destination; and I have accordingly, by His Lordship's Directions, acquainted the Board of Ordnance that she is to proceed immediately to Sea without Convoy: And altho' the Lord Townshend is also a stout Ship, and there would be but little Hazard of her meeting with any Rebel Vessels of superior Force; nevertheless, as there can be no immediate Want of her Stores at New York, & a Convoy will sail for that Place in a short time, Lord George Germain thinks it proper for her to wait for it; and I have, by His Lordship's Directions acquainted the Board of Ordnance that she is to do so; of which you will be pleased to inform the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty.

His Lordship has further directed me to desire you will acquaint their Lordships, that, understanding the Lord Amherst is engaged by the Board of Ordnance for Eighteen Months, and conceiving she may be usefully employed in the West Indies, after she has delivered her Stores, either in Cruizing, or as a Convoy to the homeward bound Ships from Jamaica, or Pensacola; I have by his Lordship's Directions desired the Board of Ordnance to instruct the Master to apply to Rear Admiral Gayton, before his Departure from Jamaica, for Orders for his further Proceeding, after he shall have delivered the Stores at Pensacola, and to direct

On 24 December 1776 [Nantes]

Appeared Mr James Pratchell former master of the brig LaVigne, of Hull, England, 150 tons burden, at present in this city, who declared to us that he had embarked at Rochefort in all 5 pipes, 47 puncheons, and 11 casks of brandy, 6 casks of wine, 1024 bags of flax-seed, and various other articles, which were placed on board his vessel there by Messrs. Ranson and de la Main, Hennesy, and Saul, and Hebre de St. Clement and Co., merchants of Rochefort, and P. Prioux Son and Co., destined for Hull, England; that he left Rochefort with the said merchandize on 22 November last, that on the 27th of the said month of November, being at that time 16 leagues to the S. W of Belisle, he fell in with a British-American vessel which sent her boat with an officer and several sailors to board him, that they asked to see his papers, bills of lading, &c., which the declarant showed to them, and after inspection the said officer of the North American vessel re-entered his boat in order to return to his vessel with declarant; after which he returned on board the said vessel of the declarant and took with him the second officer of the said brig, La Vigne, and 4 men of her crew and conducted them on board his own vessel, leaving on board two officers and 4 men of the crew and they set sail together; that they anchored the next day in the Palais de Belisle, but that contrary winds having compelled them to put out the next day in search of Quiberon, he learned that it was the ship Reprisal, from Philadelphia, commanded by Captain Lambert Wickes, armed with 16 guns, 128 men, and fitted out by the American Congress, and that Mr. Francklin was on board; that during their sojourn at Quiberon he noticed that Mr. Rumsey, who had come from Nantes, was on board the North American ship, that he, the declarant, does not know what they have done with his vessel, that he knows and saw that at Quiberon they removed 21 small casks of brandy from his ship and placed them on board the said North American vessel, and that he learned later that they had sold the remainder of his cargo to private parties of Basse Bretagne; that all his clothes and those of his crew were left on board the said vessels, that he did not know if they will return them to him, that otherwise he was pleased with the treatment and humanity of the said Captain Lambert Wilkes, that they arrived at Painboeuf on the 18th of this month on board the said American vessel, the captain of which gave him his liberty.

The King has been apprised of how much information Your Excellency has provided in documents for Dispatches numbers 181 and 184 of the 7th and 30th of September, concerning the American Englishmen's intentions – supported by General Charles Lee, a major general and second in command of their military, and commander-in-chief of the Southern District, and by his agent Mr. Gibson – which, in general terms, are to establish regular trade with us, and to learn whether, in the event that they should capture Pensacola, as they intend to do, His Majesty would deign to recognize the seizure; the reply which Your Lordship gave to General Lee concerning these matters has won Royal approval, and His Majesty commands me to advise your Lordship in strictest confidence that should the Americans persist in their proposed plan to seize Pensacola and the other English installations on the right bank of the river, Your Lordship should make known to them with utmost discretion and secrecy that the King will rejoice if they succeed; and that once their independence is assured, the relinquishment of Pensacola, which they have promised Spain, can be taken up.

In order to help accomplish both ends, Your Lordship will continue to receive by way of Havana or by any other possible means, assistance in the form of arms, munitions, clothes and chinchona bark which the English colonists need, and Your Lordship will have available the most effective and secret means to have these supplies delivered secretly making it appear that they are being sold by private merchants; to which end the appropriate confidential instructions will be sent to you, as well as a merchant who will serve as a decoy.

By this same post similar confidential instructions are being sent to the Governor of Havana, advising him that in the monthly mail and by means of merchantmen he will receive various supplies, arms and other items which he must send on to Your Lordship without delay; and that he must also immediately send you whatever surplus powder he has in the magazine of the factory in Mexico, and whatever surplus muskets he has in his own magazine, with the assurance that they will be promptly replaced.

I am informing Your Lordship of all this by order of His Majesty for your knowledge and guidance, charging you especially to take advantage of as many opportunities as may present themselves to continue to send news concerning this important affair so that I may transmit it to His Majesty.

You are hereby required and directed to put to Sea in the Ship you command with the very first opportunity of Wind and Weather, and proceed to Cape Ortegál; and, after making that Cape, you are to cruize North from it, between the Latitude of 45° and 47° for the protection of the Trade of His Majesty's Subjects, and to use your best endeavours to intercept, seize or destroy any Cruizers or other Vessels belonging to the rebellious Colonies of North America which you may be able to come up with.

You are to continue on the above Station, 'til it may be proper for you to leave it so as to arrive at Cork by the 6th of February next, at which time you are to take care to be at that port, from whence you are to send us an account of your arrival and proceedings, and where you are to use the utmost dispatch in completing your provisions and Stores to the proportion mentioned in our order to you of the 17th of October last, and having so done hold yourself in constant readiness for sailing. One of the richest transports sent to America this year, is taken and carried into Boston. She was commanded by Capt. Bell, and was laden with 16,000 suits of cloaths for the army in Canada; 30,000 shirts, 30,000 pairs of shoes, 30,000 pairs of stockings, &c. &c. all for the same; valued at upwards of 80,000 l. sterling.¹ This loss will be severely felt by the army in Canada; but it is a lucky circumstance for the contractors. The Union, that sailed some time ago for Quebec, with 70,000 l. in specie, and a large quantity of camp equipage, could not get up the river St Lawrence; and has put into Halifax, where she must remain till next spring. The want of this vessel also, must prove likewise a severe loss to the army in Canada.

In answer to your letter of the 23d instant relative to the Evidences against Mr Willm Platt ² having made their escape, I beg you will be pleased to acquaint their Lordships that I intended to send them on board a Guard Ship before we went into the Harbor, it was late in the Evening when the Pilot came on board and we had no Oppertunity, the Men had been detained a long time and turn'd from Ship to Ship, I therefore thought it rather hard to put them in Irons as they had always behaved remarkably well and I had not the least reason to suppose they intended to get away, I believe they made their Escape in the Night. The Philippa, [Richard] Maitland, the Merchant Ship they were taken out of is now in the River I apprehend it would not be difficult for him to procure Evidences. I did not give them leave to go ashore, nor do I think they had leave from any of the Officers. I am Sir [&c.]

Mr. Beaumarchis is now at Havre, fitting out three vessels with clothes, guns, bullets, &c. for the Americans; one of them sailed 12 days ago, and has on board some French officers, engineers, gunners, &c. There are 200 more people to follow in the other two ships; they are bound for St. Domingo. There are two English frigates cruizing off Havre, supposed to be waiting for the sailing of the two last; they cannot touch them, but it is imagined they will follow them.

A letter from an officer on board his Majesty's ship Milford, stationed in America, says, “It is astonishing what great success our frigate has met with in taking prizes; it is computed our foremast men will share upwards of 140 l. each.[’]”

New York abounds now with prizes brought in by the cruisers, and prize goods sell at a great rate; so that the captors are likely to get a good deal of money.

MARQUIS DE NOAILLES TO VERGENNES¹

[Extract]

London, 27 December 1776

. . . I had an opportunity to see Mylord Sandwich Sunday past. He did me the honor of coming to dinner, and I found the proper time to ask him if it were true that when Parliament reconvenes there would be a Bill to give commissions to privateers operating against Americans. Mylord Sandwich confirmed that there is such a Bill, and this is how he explained it.

The future enactment to grant private commissions has only the object of individual usefulness for English trade, without inconvenience to that of other nations. It is not really a matter of having privateers. It is proposed only to authorize arming of merchant vessels whenever they have cargo, to assure a safe voyage between ports. Without this they would go to sea only in convoy, which would be extremely costly for the State: further, the Government itself being unable to tend to all the needs of merchant shipping, commerce would necessarily suffer in several respects. There is no other remedy but to encourage private shippers to protect their own interests. However this encouragement cannot truly be effective unless the captures will belong to those who take them rather than under present conditions, where those made by private individuals not commissioned are for the benefit of the King and the Admiralty. Therefore to establish a more just order, and so that the risks are not all one-sided and the advantages all on the other side, merchant vessels only will be granted commissions which will allow them to provide for their own defense, with the added attraction of captures for their own profit. . . .

Most secret

I have authentic intelligence, that there are at Present, at Nantes, the following American Ships, viz the Ship that brought franklin, mounting sixteen Guns. A fine Brig mounting the same Number, a Merchant ship, that is waiting to take cloaths, and ammunion, Another of two hundred Tons, called the William and Mary, that is just arrived, and brought Rice, and Tobacco, and means to load with cloaths, arms and Powder, for the Rebel army, but it will be some time before her loading is Ready.

My informer, who seems Zealous in our Cause, is persuaded, that a frigate stationed off Nantes, would easily take all these American Vessels . . .

REPORT ON THE CONDUCT OF CAPTAIN FRANCIS DE MONTEIL¹

[Versailles] 28 December 1776

M. de Monteil, commanding the frigate la Renommée stationed at the Mole St. Nicolas, reports on what happened and what he did from the beginning of his cruise until 1 October last. The following details are found in his correspondence and the documents attached thereto.

On 5 September, M. de Monteil encounters the English frigate Squirrel chasing an American schooner near the coast.² He sends information to the Commanding Officer (Captain [Stair] Douglas) to the effect that he will oppose any form of hostility against the ships which are within reach of the Mole. This statement is not opposed. The English frigate abandons her pursuit of the schooner and sails away from the coast.

On the 14th of this same month of September, M. de Monteil was anchored in the harbour of the mole in order to unload stores which la Renommée had taken on in Port au Prince. At six o'clock in the morning, he hears a few shots fired successively between the Tortue [Turtle] and the North point. He gets under way in haste and sees the boat of the English frigate Squirrel approaching an American schooner near land. He fires his gun in order to enforce his colors; but the schooner is too far away to be protected by him and falls into the hands of the enemy which takes her and disappears. Then, M. de Monteil receives on board his ship the Insurgent Captain who had escaped in his boat with three sailors, takes his statement and sails towards Jamaica in the hope to intercept and capture the Schooner. He finally decides to go and ask for the restitution of the captured vessel, convinced that celerity would add weight to this request, and sends the boat Victor in order to inform M. D'Ennery.

On the 17th, la Renommée puts into the road of Port Royal (in Jamaica). M. Gayton, Admiral, was in the country. M. de Monteil sends his Lieutenant, M. de la Voltiere, to him in order to claim the American schooner which had been brought to the harbor. The Admiral declares that the capture was justified on pretext that the North point had neither displayed the flag nor fired in order to enforce the colors, and that the schooner had been discovered and seized within a reasonable distance; he ends his reply saying that it is not within his power to return the schooner and that he can only inform his Court. Furthermore, he criticizes the word protection used in M. de Monteil's letter, saying that it is contrary to the assurance of neutrality given by the French Court. This word truly meant sanctuary and this explanation was found satisfactory. Moreover, M. de Monteil has received many marks of courtesy on the part of the Admiral and all the English officers and he appears to be convinced that the schooner is sequestered and that she will be returned if we insist.

These facts present three points worthy of examination: the manoeuvre towards the English frigate Squirrel by M. de Monteil on 5 September, the pursuit and the plan to recapture the American schooner seized on the 14th of the same month, the trip to Jamaica in order to claim the said schooner.

The instructions given to the Commanders of the frigates stationed in the Colonies, and which were known to M. de Monteil, stipulate that in the event that some Insurgent vessel or any other neutral vessel having sailed from the European or American ports and chased by English frigates, would come and request the protection of the King's flag, the said Commanders would not tolerate that these vessels be captured or visited; but the same instructions give express orders to the effect that they are not to approach the aforementioned vessels and to wait without favoring their manoeuvres until they are close enough to request the flag's protection.

In view of such positive provisions, M. de Monteil contravened his instructions by sailing toward the boat pursued by the English frigate Squirrel on 5 September. However, this manoeuvre could be justified by one clause of the same instructions which specifies that Commanders will maintain their cruise at fairly good distances in order to keep the English frigates away and to prevent that they come too close to the French Islands, and it seems that at the time when M. de Monteil went toward the insurgent boat and declared to Captain Douglas that he would oppose any form of hostility, the English frigate was very close to the coast of the Mole. Moreover, this declaration was deemed fair by the English officer who sailed away, and in this respect, M. de Monteil can be blamed only for displaying a somewhat too active zeal.

The same cannot be said with regard to the event that took place on 14 September. M. de Monteil himself declares that the flag was not displayed at the point of the mole and that the guns had not been fired in order to enforce the protection of the coast. He further admits that he could not manoeuvre fast enough in order to protect the boat pursued by the English frigate. After this double confession, it is surprising that he conceived and put into effect his plan to go after the captured vessel and to seize it. Had his plan been as successful as he had expected, he would have committed without doubt the most formal act of hostility and compromised the nation. In spite of his declaration to the effect that the vessel was seized within one mile of the coast against the respect due to the King's possessions, distances have not been determined among nations and when protection is not enforced by the display of the flag or by the gun of some fort or ship, the sea is completely free outside the roads and coves whose sanctuary cannot be violated. Furthermore, assuming that distances had been determined there would have been ground only for a claim, not the recapture of the vessel, which, again, would have been an act of violence and a clearly marked form of hostility.

After his more than careless pursuit, M. de Monteil committed another fault equally serious when he went to Jamaica in order to ask for the return of the captured vessel. He should not have left his station without express orders, and assuming that the claim was justified, only the Governor should have made it. Active protection was the object of M. de Monteil's mission; thus, he disregarded the King's orders by leaving his station and he failed in his duty to the Governor's authority by taking upon himself the responsibility of a measure which did not concern him.

Moreover, M. de Monteil behaved well in Jamaica and the form of his request would deserve some praise if the request itself were not inconsiderate. The English Admiral's reply was also fair and reasonable. It is not deemed necessary to carry any further M. de Monteil's request which compromised this officer only.

It must also be noticed that M. de Monteil pretends in his correspondence that he was authorized to act on his own. This pretention is against all principles and would present the greatest inconveniences; the interests of the nation would then be entrusted to each officer commanding a frigate or a schooner and the variety of opinions would cause contradictory undertakings. It is the Governor's responsibility only to defend the interests of the nation with respect to the Colony where he is in command. The Commanding officers of the frigates can only act on the spur of the moment in order to stop illegal actions and outside this eventuality they must merely report what they see and learn.

By order of the Minister a dispatch was sent to M. de Monteil on 28 December 1776 commanding him to discontinue his cruise and one to M. d'Ennery to acquaint him with the orders given.

We took Shipping at Lisbon the 6th inst. for Leghorn, being in number 35 Souls, including Passengers. We had not sailed above 14 Hours before we were attacked by an American Privateer, carrying 18 Ten-pounders, 12 Swivels, and 90 Men. I forgot to mention that our Vessel was from Dartmouth, called the Indian Queen, and was making a trading Voyage up the Straits; she had only 24 Hands, the rest were Passengers. Our Captain (M'Pherson) a bold and resolute Scotchman, would give them Battle, though the Numbers were so unequal. After an Engagement of Three Quarters of an Hour, our Vessel struck, having seven killed and nine wounded, and her Rigging much shattered: The Americans behaved with great Humanity to us, and set us on Shore within 15 Miles of Gibraltar; to which Place we travelled on Foot, and sailed the next Day (9th) in the Charming Molly for Venice, which Place we reached, after a quick but stormy Passage, the 16th instant, all well.

Lord North has received the honour of his Majesty's note. Lord Sandwich, who is just gone to London, has in his possession a letter sent last night from Bushy, which Lord North received from Mr. Robinson. It is from L'Orient, & confirms the report of the French Frigates being appointed to convoy the American Ships out of the Bay. From hence it appears that there is such a report in France, & that it is believed by others than Mr Wentworth. As the intelligence sent by this Gentleman is not of the most pleasant kind, Lord North is sorry to recollect that, as he was the first, so he has always been the most important, & truest informer we have had. Almost every thing that he has told us from the first fitting out of the Amphitrite at Havre has been confirm'd, either by Van Zant, or Leesjournal[?], or the papers deliver'd by Hynson, or by some event. In the present instance, He relates what he receives from others, & Lord North believes truly; Perhaps he may himself be deceived. However, in one of the most material points the convoy intended for the ships bound to America is confirm'd by the letter in Lord Sandwich's hands, which was sent to Mr Robinson by Mr Jonsson a merchant in the City, who has no correspondance or connexion with Mr Wentworth or his friends. As this is a case to which the orders given to Commodore Hood will not apply Lord Sandwich intends to take the opinion of the Cabinet upon it tomorrow.

SUMMARY

Weathering cold and gales during the severe winter months of the new year, Royal Navy cruisers kept blockading stations at the entrance to Delaware and Chesapeake Bays and off major harbors. Some inward and outward bound American ships escaped their vigilance, but many others were sent as prizes to New York or Halifax.

Robert Morris, encouraged by John Paul Jones' capture of the Mellish and his other successes, prepared detailed plans for a naval operation designed to draw British warships away from the Atlantic coast. This grandiose scheme, which never came to fruition, envisioned a Continental fleet under Jones striking at shipping and raiding enemy positions in the West Indies and at Pensacola and St. Augustine.

British marauders without authority or privateer commissions from the Crown were operating out of Antigua, capturing American ships and causing no end of grief for Vice Admiral James Young, commanding on the Leeward Islands station. The French vehemently complained to Young about the actions of these freebooters in the waters around Martinique.

To forge a tighter control over shipping and exports, Massachusetts declared a temporary general embargo prohibiting sailings from that state's ports without permission. Requests for permission and exceptions to the embargo flooded the General Court, and seem to have been almost universally granted.

Crew members left on board Lexington after her capture by H.M.S. Pearl rose, overpowered the British prize-crew and brought the Continental brig safely into Baltimore.

Philadelphia-built Randolph, Captain Nicholas Biddle, was the first of the new Continental frigates to get to sea. The other twelve frigates still needed cannon and men, or were otherwise not ready. Those at Rhode Island and in the Hudson River were securely bottled-up by a British fleet.

MAJOR CHARLES STUART TO HIS FATHER, THE EARL OF BUTE ¹

[Rhode Island, January 1, 1777] ²

This is so critical a juncture that tho' I am no Politician, yet I can not help sending you my opinion of the present state of affairs in this Country; we have remitted home such extravagant accounts of very trifling advantages and have gloss'd over with such art our errors, that I hope our Leaders wrote more for the Eye of the Publick than for the information of the Minister. Unless these accounts have been corrected by their private Letters, you doubtless must have expected ere this that our Arms had brought America to obedience, I am sorry to inform you that as yet we have effected nothing; the greater part of our Army are encamp'd where they were cantoon'd in the Jerseys, forming a Cordon along the Raritan River; our Piquets and outposts are sometimes attack'd by the Enemy, and tho' they seldom fail to suffer in these skirmishes, yet in the end they will learn to be enterprising and acquire bravery.

Some ships are cruizing in different Latitudes, and the remainder are station'd at N. York, Rhode Island, the Delaware, and one in Chespeak Bay; some censure these stations, and if we judge by the consequences there is certainly some error in the arrangement, for independent of the Cruizers, the number of Ships unemploy'd in the above mention'd Ports have furnish'd the Rebels with an opportunity of carrying on an extensive and almost uninterrupted trade with the West Indies and many parts of Europe by which they have imported every kind of military store, besides every necessary article to supply the wants of the people; and I am credibly informed that they have employed themselves with such success to the Southward that they have collected the means of prosecuting this diabolical war for three years.

General Howe confines himself to the Military Department, while His Lordship the Admiral presides over, or rather takes entirely to himself all civil arrangements.

Every proposal he has hitherto made to negotiate with the Rebels they have entirely disregarded; he therefore has published different Proclamations, in order, I suppose, to undeceive the minds of the people and to set clearly before them the advances Great Britain wou'd make towards a reconciliation. But this intention by no means succeeded, for whether from being unaccustomed to write, or from those about him being unacquainted with business, these performances were so clouded with mystery that they seemed more calculated to impress the minds of the People than to give them information.

It is strange that Commissioners invested with such amazing powers shou'd employ themselves in writing Papers which are only ridiculed and laughed at by those they are endeavouring to negotiate with; instead of plainly proclaiming to them that Great Britain wishes to prevent the miseries that are likely to overwhelm her Colonies, and in order to effect that laudable intention requests that Delegates shou'd be chosen from each Colony to lay before the Commissioners their several causes of complaint. If the complaints are unreasonable, or the terms they request improper, offer them those that Great Britain can grant with honour!

If they receive them the point is gained, and a permanent accord settled between the two countries; if not, the minds of everybody will be opened, they will see the aspiring and ambitious views of the factious Leaders, and many wou'd, I am convinced, leave these scenes of Anarchy, and return to the protection of that free and wholesome Government under which they lived so happily. After such a conduct no-one can complain, and the sword must fall upon the guilty. . . .

I have not the honour of being acquainted with Lord Howe, but I have been studious to observe his public Character, and I am concerned to find that instead of searching into the minds of the people and consulting with those Europeans who have borne respectable offices under the Crown, and whose abilities have gained them weight and interest in this country, he disregards them, and seems rather to wish to remain uninformed than be obliged to request information. . . .

AMBROSE SERLE TO THE EARL OF DARTMOUTH ¹

My Lord,

New York Janry 1st 1777

Though my Time is exceedingly taken up in making out Pardons for Rebels, who are coming in for them by Hundreds; I cannot omit the Opportunity of Lord Shuldham's sailing without congratulating Your Lordship on the repeated Successes of our short Campaign. Every Particular of Importance Your Lordship will read in the public Dispatches; and therefore I will only say, what is the general Sentiment here, that the Power of the Rebellion is nearly broken, and beyond any apparent Probability of Resource or Recovery. The most intelligent of the Rebels themselves are of this Opinion, as we learn both by intercepted Letters and by other Channels of Communication.

We hope, early in the Spring, to be in Possession of Philadelphia. The Ships, &c in that Harbor, will be an Acquisition to us, if we can save them; but their Destruction will be an irreparable Loss to the Rebels. Their other armed Ships, under Hopkins, are blocked up at Rhode Island: And we have two or three Ships of War at the Mouth of the Delaware. There is Reason to believe, that the Business, at least the hostile Business, will be settled in the next Campaign.

The Remains of the Congress are gone to Baltimore in Maryland. They have sent off their Records, &c into the interior Country.

The Difference in the Appearance of the King's Affairs, and especially the Revolution in the Professions of many Persons in this Country, are both very great. The People of Connecticut, among others, have lowered their Tone; and though their late Advantage in surprizing a Post of Hessians will undoubtedly flush them with a Sort of Triumph (for of all vain Men I believe the People of this Country are the vainest); yet their Satisfaction, as I understand, is likely to be very short-lived, and we may soon expect to hear of their being rewarded with a proper Chastisement.

I have the Honor to be, with the greatest Respect and Truth, My Lord [&c.]

Ambrose Serle

P.S. [Charles] Lee, since his Captivity, behaves with the Meanness of Spirit expected of him.

Gentlemen,

Lewistown, Jan. 1st, 1777.

This will be handed to you by Captn Daniel Murphy, who I gave the command of the armed Barge to, upon her first coming down here, and has behaved very well in that Station, as it now appears to me that she is in some danger of being either taken from us or burnt, is the Reason of my sending her up to you, and as Mr. Murphy has only my word for his Wages, I must beg that you will amply satisfy him, as he has devoted himself to the Service, & been of real advantage to your Trade.

He brings up with him a number of Prisoners out of different Vessels taken by his Majesty's Pyrates who were put on Shore here last Night in great Distress. If you think proper to send the Barge back, please to give Captn Murphy a Commission² with orders to man her properly, and any service that I can render, shall not be wanting on my side.

Capt. Hallock³ can inform you something of a very extraordinary Nature respecting our Torsys here. I am in haste, Gentlemen [&c.]

2. Murphy was commissioned to command armed boat Eagle, which was the "armed Barge" referred to by Fisher, but the commission was not received until March 1, 1777, Pennsylvania Archives, 2nd series, I, 302.

3. Hallock, of the Continental brig Lexington, was one of the prisoners landed at Cape Henlopen and sent to Philadelphia in Murphy's boat.

CAPTAIN ANDREW SNAPE HAMOND, R.N., TO VICE ADMIRAL RICHARD LORD HOWE¹

Roebuck off Cape Henlopen the

1 January 1777.

My Lord

I should have had great pleasure in informing your Lordship, that the Lexington Brigantine of War commanded by Captain Hallock of 16 Guns and 86 men fitted out by the Congress, had fallen into our hands, was it not that her being secure is extremely doubtful: Captain [Thomas] Wilkinson in the Pearl fell in with her a few leagues to the Southward of the Capes, and altho' she is an exceeding fast Sailer, Yet from a very strong wind that then blew and being to windward, The Pearl overpowered her with sail and came up with her on a Short chase; Soon after it came on to blow so very hard, added to the accident of Staving a Boat, that Captain Wilkinson had it not in his power to take out of her any more of the Prisoners than the Captain and Nine officers, which were replaced by about as many of the Pearls Men. They continued together all the remainder of the day, but Lost company in the night in very bad weather, and she has never since been heard of. The Lexington had been sent to Cape Francois in October last in Order to Convey Letters to the French Government from the Congress, and also to bring back some Goods the Rebels were in want of as appears by the Captains account and his Orders which together with His commission, by desire of Captain Wilkinson I have the honor to forward to your Lordship.

Captain Hallock informs me that on account of the recommendation he carried with him from the Congress he was exceedingly well received by the Governor at the Cape, that he Saluted the Fort with 15 Guns and received 7 in return; but that although the Harbour abounded with American trading Vessels he did not perceive they enjoyed any other Priviledges than formerly: He adds that the Governor told him that he daily expected the arrival of a Squadron of Men of War from France, and that he himself saw several Transports arrive with Troops, but could not tell whether it was more than the common relief of the Garrison, or not. Upon being asked if from what he saw and heard, that it was his opinion that the French were about to assist the Americans, he answered, no, that he had not the least Idea of it, but that he was informed that a War between France and Russia was much expected, and that Insurance at the Capes was at 25: P Cent:

I have allowed the Captain to be set ashore on his parole in Order to be exchanged for any officer of the Rank he claims, that either is or may be taken Prisoner from us by the Americans; as well as the other officers.

All the Prisoners that were on board the Ships under my Orders here, that were taken in trading Vessels and were natives of the Country, who did not chuse to enter into His Majesty's Service, I have also Set on Shore upon the promise of the Council of Safety at Philadelphia, to return me the same number when they shall have it in their power; which resolve is also enclosed.

Captain Linzee of the Falcon has just informed me that an Armed Brigantine, which he has reason to believe is come from Cape Francois, in attempting, a few nights ago to push into the Delaware thro' the Cape May Channel ran ashore upon one of the Shoals and to all appearance will be entirely lost. I have the honor to be &ca &ca &ca

P.S. The Pearl did not join me early enough for me to comply with your Lordships commands Signified in your Letter of the 14th of last Month, Respecting the Capes of Virginia, and as I conclude Captain [Hyde] Parker [Jr.] is long ago upon that Station; It is now, I apprehend, become unnecessary.

I learn from all the Prisoners I have taken that they had the fullest confidence that the Men of War would not be able to guard the Delaware at this late Season, on which account most of the Vessels in the West Indies had Orders to attempt getting in there, for which reason I intend staying at least a week or Ten days longer than I otherwise should have done, and wish it possible that it might not be left without one Ship at Least all the Winter.

My dear Hewes

Baltimore Jan'y 1. 1777

I was favoured with two letters from you by Capt Alton. I lament your hard fortune, and unless some measures are immediately taken to prevent the infamous practices of the Privateers, America will soon be in a state of general confusion – One Part warring against another, and the defenceless Southern colonies become a devoted prey to their more formidable Eastern neighbours. I laid your letter relative [to] the Capture of the Brig Joseph before the congress without any embellishment or reserve.² The New England Gentlemen, felt the force of the Imputation but considered it as too general. I have an order that our President should write the President and Council of Masstts requesting to make an immediate enquiry after the Vessell and the Pirates who have taken her, secure her and them, & report immediately to congress -- I have also procured a reference of your letter to the marine Committee, who I hope will take some spirited resolves to avenge the Injury done you and to prevent the repetition of such unjustifiable depredations. [Robert] Morris is not here, but I have requested him in a letter which I wrote him yesterday inclosing yours to correspond with me upon the subject and exert his utmost endeavours to interest Congress in favour of your Application -- by a publick epistle to our Honours -- This is all which can be done at present, when I hear more particularly from you I shall prosecute every expedient to improve such information to your benefit.

The Congress upon Part of G Howes' Army advancing within 9 Miles of Cooper's ferry, by the advice of [Thomas] Mifflin and [Israel] Putnam removed to this dirty infamous extravagant hole, where with all possible Oeconomy we live at the rate of 50/ per day, Every necessary of life being double what they cost us in Philadelphia -- & before we left that everything was enormous --

By Andrew Snape Hamond Esquire
Captain of the Roebuck and Senior officer of His Majestys Ships employed in the River Delaware

Having reason to believe the communication by the Delaware with the Town of Philadelphia from the State of the weather will soon be entirely prevented; It is therefore my intention to remain cruising off this River with the Squadron under my command in order to prevent supply's getting in, as well as to prevent their Armed Vessels now fitted out at Philadelphia from putting to Sea, untill the 10th instant, after which, I shall proceed Southward to the Island of Antigua: Should therefore any accident happen to separate us before that time; You are hereby directed to cruize with His Majesty's Ship under your command in the Trail of the Vessels coming from the West Indies, in such manner, and for so long a time as you shall judge necessary; taking care if possible to be at English Harbour by the end of this Month in Order that the Pearl may be hove down and refitted.²

It is recommended that all possible caution is used to prevent the Rebels from being informed of the movement of His Majesty's Ships, and in Case of making any Captures, that they may in future be sent to the Island of Antigua.

COMMITTEE OF SECRET CORRESPONDENCE TO CAPTAIN LARKIN HAMMOND¹

Sir

Baltimore, 2 Jany 1777

You are to proceed with all the dispatch in your power with the schooner Jenifer under your Command to Nantes in France; on your arrival there, you are to apply to Mr Thomas Morris, if he should be at that Port; if he should not, your application must be to Messrs Pliarne, Penet, & Co, who will furnish you with necessary Cash for your Journey to Paris, for which place you must set out immediately, and deliver your dispatches to Messrs Deane, Franklin and Lee, & wait their orders; when they discharge you, you are to return with the utmost diligence to America, and put into the most convenient Port to the Southward of the Delaware; we think Chincoteague or some other on the back of the Eastern Shore the most likely for avoiding Men of War, and would therefore have you attempt getting into one of those Ports; when arrived, you must leave the Schooner under the Command of your Mate, and bring the dispatches yourself to Congress, wherever it may be sitting.

You are, before you set out for Paris, to consult with Mr Morris or the above Gentlemen, whether your vessell will not be most likely to escape the enemy by sending her to some other Port to meet you on your return; if this should be their opinion, you are to give orders to your Mate accordingly; you are also to deliver your Pigg Iron to the order of those Gentlemen, and take from them such a quantity of Military Stores as will ballast your vessell – The safe delivery of the dispatches, with which you are intrusted & the obtaining answers to them, are matters of such immense consequence to the Continent, that we can not too strongly recommend to you the avoiding all vessels that you may see, either outward bound or on your return – You are also to avoid as much as possible falling in with Headlands and Islands, as it is most usual for Men of War to cruise off such places –

The Dispatches will be delivered to you in a Box, which you must put into a Bag with two Shots, that, in case of falling in with an enemy, from which you cannot escape, you may be prepared to sink them, which on such an event's happening, we earnestly insist on your doing – We wish you a good Voyage and safe return and are [&c.]

B. Harrison R. H. Lee

P.S. When you arrive at Nantes, enquire & get directions from the Gentlemen there to whom you are recommended, for Cash to carry you to Paris, where Dr Franklin, Mr Deane, or Mr Arthur Lee lodge in Paris, and above all things take care not to let it be known at Nantes, from whence you come, your business, or where you are going, except to the above Gentlemen –

We hear from Georgia, that a small armed vessel, commanded by one Kebly, and fitted out at Augustine, lately came into an Inlet near Sunbury, under Pretence of being a trading Vessel from Cape Francois, and decoyed Capt. Woodruff, Commander of a Row Galley stationed there, and two of his Crew on board. They afterwards landed some Men on Sapello, and robbed Mrs. Mackay's Plantation of several Negroes, &c. The Deceit being discovered, the Alarm was given, and a Party of the Row Galley's Crew, landed, pursued them, and took 7 of them prisoners. The Pirate, finding she was discovered, put out to Sea, but not without receiving several Shot from the Galley, from which, having a favourable Wind, she soon got clear.

Three Prizes (two Schooners and a Brig) taken by the Northern Cruisers, have arrived here since our last.

WILLIAM WHIPPLE TO JOHN LANGDON ¹

My Dear Sir,

Baltimore 3d Jany 1777

I some time ago desired you to look for two, fast sailing vessels of about 60 to 80 tons to send here for iron and flour for the use of the Navy since which I am instructed by the Marine Committee to desire that you will immediately send two vessels to this place for those articles, I hope there will be no difficulty in chartering them, this will be a considerable advantage to the State of New Hampshire as great part of the flour may be disposed of if it should be wanted as undoubtedly will be the case—You'll address these vessels to Messrs Saml and Robert Purviance, merchants here who will give them all possible dispatch, you have liberty to ship in each of them from two to three thousand dollars value in such articles as will best suit this market of which you will be informed by the Price Current inclosed by [for] your govt.

By this conveyance, you'll receive directions from the Secret Committee, to load a ship with masts for France if you can purchase one suitable for masts — this is an article that will be very acceptable there at this time, as in all probability that nation is at the eve of a war — You will also be desired to send two small vessels to St Peters if you can procure suitable cargos for that market. I am apprehensive you'll want money by the time you get through this business, which will be sent you so soon as you let me know what sums you'll want. I wish to be constantly advised of your proceeding and of your wants that I may keep them supplied — the last letter I rec'd from you was of the 25th Novr

Since my last the Lexington arrived here from the Cape — she was bound to Philadelphia but was taken by the Pearl frigate of 32 guns off them Capes, who took out all the officers and put on board 7 or 8 men but the roughness of the weather prevented their taking out the people which were about 70 in number who under cover of the night brought her off and arrived safe here with a very valuable cargo of powder, arms, woolen goods &c — there is also another brig arrived here from the same place and same sort of cargo amounted to 200,000 livres: the last account from the army was 29th ulto — they were then following the enemy and hope they'll not stop till they have either destroyed them or drove them out of Jersey: — the whole number taken at Trenton was about 1100 — among which were 7 field officers – a few more such day's work as that of the 26th will cause our stocks to rise. It's now between 2 and 3 o'clock A M and I can hardly see – you'll therefore excuse this scratch. Your friend &c.

Sir

The Secret Committee request that you immediately put a Trusty Officer from the frigate Virginia on board the Lexington with orders to have her directly moved up to the place most fit for unloading her and remain with the Brig until further orders.

You Sir Will be pleased to take proper measures for landing, storing, and securing the Lexingtons Cargo. Let an Inventory thereof be taken and returned to us.

As there is no Officer on board the Lexington that is acquainted with the business it will be the more necessary to have a very careful person to attend her delivery, that all kind of peculation may be prevented, and the business conducted with the greatest propriety.

If a Guard is wanted, may not Capt. [Samuel] Smith be applied to for the purpose. –

You will please to give Capt Ayres a receipt for them mentioning their rank and Condition that he may proceed with it to New York and procure a like number of our People but in case you should

“EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM AN OFFICER ON BOARD HIS MAJESTY’S SHIP Camilla, TO HIS FRIEND IN LEITH, DATED NEW YORK, JAN. 4, 1777.¹

The 26th of September we set sail for the island of Bermudas, in order to cruise there for 28 days; during that time we took the following ships; on the 26th of October, after a chase of four hours, we made a prize of the schooner Independence privateer, commanded by John Gill, which carried six guns, 14 swivels, and 28 men, fitted out at Salem by the Congress, in order to intercept our West India ships, but she proving a very insignificant prize, we took out all her provisions and ammunition and sunk her. The 7th of November we retook the snow George of London, from St. Kitts; she had been taken by the Defence privateer, and they were carrying her to Maryland, but luckily they fell into our hands. She separated from us that night in a gale of wind, and we suppose our prize-master had bore away either for England or the West Indies. The 15th of November we took the Admiral Montague, from Hispaniola to Rhode-Island; she is about 105 tons, loaded with molasses and coffee; I imagine she will turn out a good prize; 22d of November we took the sloop Chance, from Philadelphia to Georgia, loaded with rum and biscuit; 17th we took the brig Polly, from Surinam to New York, he had nothing but ballast; so much for our first cruise; we arrived at New York the 29th of November. On the 9th of December we set sail in company with the Roebuck, Perseus, and Falcon sloop, in order to cruise off the river Delaware, we shortly after parted company, and took a French ship of 300 tons loaded with wine, rum, molasses, cloathing, and arms for the Rebels, from Hispaniola for Philadelphia, she is estimated at 12,000 l. sterling. The 13th fell in with the Perseus, gave chase and took a schooner loaded with sugar. The 14th took a French snow loaded with wine, sugar, and field pieces for the Rebels; she sailed from Hispaniola for Philadelphia. 23d, in company with the Roebuck, we took the Two Friends, a brig from Hispaniola to Philadelphia, loaded with gunpowder, molasses, and dry goods for the use of the Rebel army.

Pennsylvania Packet, SATURDAY, JANUARY 4, 1777

Philadelphia, January 4.

Lately was launched at this port the fourth Continental Frigate, called the Effingham, in honor of the patriotic Earl of that name, who nobly refused to draw his sword in support of British tyranny and usurpation.¹

Tuesday se'ennight [December 24] arrived here the Continental brig Andrew Doria, Capt. Robeson [Isaiah Robinson] from St. Eustatia and Martinico, laden with gun-powder, arms, and some woollen goods. On her passage she took two prizes – One a sloop of ten guns,² fitted out by the Antelope man of war at Jamaica, and commanded by Lieut. [William] Jones, of the Boreas frigate, who engaged Capt. Robeson near three glasses, in which he had two men killed and one wounded, and the sloop seven men and her commander wounded; the number killed unknown, as they were thrown overboard during the engagement. The other prize a brig mounting six carriage guns and six swivels, commanded by one Nicholson, bound from Jamaica to London; her cargo unknown.³ Capt. Robeson took fifty seamen out of the above vessels.

1. The Effingham, named in honor of Thomas Howard, 3d Earl of Effingham, was launched November 4, 1776.

2. H.M. Sloop Racehorse.

3. Snow Thomas recaptured by H. M. S. Perseus, Captain Elphinstone. Lieutenant Joshua Barney the prize master, taken on board Perseus relates the following in his autobiography:

they carried me with him [sic them] off Charles-town. S. C. & there they wished to land me, they sent in a boat as a flag of truce to request a pilot boat might be sent out to take the prisoners on shore, which was accordingly done, on arriving on board there (were) some English prisoners sent by the Governor Pinckney, by way of exchange, when they came on board the purser of the Perseus began by making enquiries how they were treated &c; on one of the men's saying they had been used very ill, having received nothing to eat but bad rice mixed with sand, the purser without any further ceremony turned round & struck me a sm[art] blow with his fist. I instantly returned it & knocked him over one of the Quarter-deck guns & from thence down the after Hatchway – all was in confusion for a moment but when Capt. Elphinstone was informed the manner that the purser behaved, he called him & myself down into the cabin & there ordered the purser to go down on his knees & beg my pardon for the injury done me, & for the disgrace he had caused to his majesty's service but this the purser absolutely refused, when he was ordered under arrest, in which situation we left the Perseus having recd the most polite & gentlemanly treatment from Capt. Elphinstone & his officers (the purser (a scotchman) excepted).

SECRET COMMITTEE OF THE CONTINENTAL CONGRESS TO ROBERT MORRIS ¹

Sir,

Baltimore the 4th of January 1777

We have thought the expence of an Express warranted to carry you the inclosed, some of the contents, demanding the most serious attention, & the quickest possible change in the situation of things, that made those observations necessary. It is very true that we have exerted ourselves, but in some instances we have been unfortunate and the difficulty of getting ships and seamen is certainly very great. However, you will see that ballances are against us, and considerably so, both in the West Indies, and in Europe. That in consequence of this, our credit is hurt, at least with Mr Schweishauser [John Daniel Schweighauser] who seems unwilling to go an inch beyond what he has in hand. Good often springs out of evil, and so, by the Friendship loosing her topmast, she made for Chesapeake and is safely arrived here with her cargo, which might have fallen into the enemies hands if the Brig had kept on for Delaware. We shall take care of this Cargo here, but the Vessel we wish your advice & assistance about. We are agreed to charter her again if this can be done on terms that you approve, and here she may be immediately loaded, with Tobacco at least, and ordered to the place where you judge remittance to be most wanted. Will you Sir do, and advise us in this, what you think best. The Captain of the Friendship will wait here until the return of this Express – You will see the advance made by our Agent for arming the Brig. The books of the secret Committee are not here, nor any of the papers, so that we are illy fitted for conducting the business properly.

Mr. [Alexander] Gillon having imported into So Carolina, on his contract, 37,559 lbs of Gunpowder 500 stand of arms & 620 bushels of salt, we have paid him for the present £3500 this currency, for his part, upon account. We learn from Colo [Benjamin] Harrison that a Ship sometime loaded by his son in James River remains for want of seamen.

Richard Henry Lee Fra: Lewis W^m Whipple

P.S. We inclose you an order on Meade & Co for £481.7.11 Pen. Cury –

The Post coming in just now we shall send these dispatches by her. The great prospect we have of most valuable importations coming to Delaware, makes us very anxious, and we wish for many swift sailing Vessels without to give notice The Lexington will sail hence in a few days for this purpose –

SECRET COMMITTEE OF THE CONTINENTAL CONGRESS TO JOHN LANGDON ¹

Sir, In Secret Committee Baltimore 4th Jan 1777

We some time ago desired you to purchase two or three Ships and send them to Virginia, or South Carolina, since which we have not had the pleasure of hearing from you, but hope that business is in good forwardness. We have now to desire you to purchase another ship and send her to France if a cargo can be procured at your place suitable for that market – No doubt masts will answer very well and perhaps some other articles of greater value may be procured – however of this you are a much better judge than we can be. Our wish is that the cargo may be valuable and that the ship may be dispatched as soon as possible.

Many articles that are much wanted in the army, we imagine may be obtained at the Islands, St Peters Newfoundland – we therefore desire you would charter two small vessels (which should be very fast sailers) if cargoes can be procured proper for that market and order from thence canvas for tents, or any sort of woolen or linen goods suitable for soldiers clothing – Your drafts on this Committee will be duly paid, for whatever sums you may want for the execution of this business at the Islands of St Peters and Mequelon. We are with great respect [&c.]

CAPTAIN HENRY BARNS TO A CORRESPONDENT IN ENGLAND ¹

A letter from Capt. Henry Barns, of Whitehaven, dated at Rhode Island, Jan 5 [1777], says, "A few days ago we had a letter from Capt. Hare, one of our fellow-sufferers. He was at Providence when the King's troops arrived here, and has since been detained there. He tells us, that the inhabitants of Providence, on the first approach of the King's ships, had determined to burn all the prize ships; but a strong S. W. wind blowing upon the town, they could not do it with safety. – In the three days delay which this occasioned, they agreed to haul them up into Seaconk River, and defend the town, but neither destroy it nor the shipping. The frost setting in, no attempt will be made on Providence for these three months. – Below you have an account of the provincial army in this quarter. – The King's forces on this island amount to 7000.

Sir [Philadelphia] Jany 5 1777 –

We embrace the opportunity of Mr Leman & Mr Penrose two gentlemen of the Lt Horse to forward seven packets that came to our hands from Congress last night, these packets contain Sundry Resolves of Congress and a Number of Blank Commissions.

The uncertain rumours of your Excellencys Success between Trenton and Prince Town and at the latter place, have us in a most anxious State of Suspence hoping every moment to be relived therefrom by Express with dispatches from You. We informed Congress of your Situation on Thursday evening at Trenton and prepared them to expect Some important event consequently they will have an anxious interval of Suspence as we now have.

The Continental Brigt Lexington Capt [William] Hallock was taken by the British Frigate Pearle Capt [Thomas] Wilkinson but the wind blowing hard, and the Sea running high they could only take out Capt Hallock his Lieut, and Other Principal Officers, and in lieu of them the[y] put on board an Officer and Eight Men with Orders to Keep Company untill Morning before that Came our People on board the Brigt rose upon the British bore away and having carried her safe into Baltimore, by which means further Supplys of Military Stores and Cloathing are Secured, as there is on board Powder, Lead, Muskets, Blankets Cloaths &c, the Andrew Dorias Prize is also arrived safe here, we suppose her late commander Capt [William] Jones Must be given up for Capt Hallock who is come up from the Pearle under Parole.²

West River January the 5th 1777.

I hear inclose you Lux and Bowley's letter, you will thare observe the Congress has taken the cable I had maid for the Galley. at this rate it is impossible for me to tell when I shall git the Galley to you. That Cable was a grattle to large, for Capt Hamond [Larkin Hammond] jud[g]ed it must half fil'd the Schooner up.² the Brigg Brothers Mr [Jesse] Hollingsworth bought for you I think has three Cables two Bowers and a stern Cable. She may do very well without the Stern Cable, it is of no use to them in the Westinges, and if she gos to any part of old France they must have more with their two Bowers, and thare is plenty of Cable to be got there, the stern cable will sut Captain hamond if you will order it so I shall then git a cable for the Galley, thare was many things might bin taken out off the Brigg by a hand thats a proper Judg. that would be of grat servis to the States navy and she go well found to sea. I am Gentellmen [&c.]

HENRY TUCKER TO ST. GEORGE TUCKER¹

[Extract]

My Dear St George.

I reced Your Letter from Turks Islands & was glad to hear you was well & had got so far on your Voyage, it wou'd afford us inexpressible pleasure to be inform'd of your safe Arrival in Virginia, which I hope wont be long before we have that agreeable News. If you meet with no interruption in your Voyage we have reason to expect you will have a considerable Surplus besides loading the Sloop in which case, as from our last Accounts from America things were in a very critical Situation there, we think it wou'd be adviseable to secure what effects you may have there in the best manner . . . we think rather than leave the Money in the Government hands or take Continental money, you had better purchase new tobacco & let it remain in the Ware houses, as it will be a more certain thing than the paper currency, shd things take a bad turn against America. . . . As in all probability (if there is not a conquest before) the Coasts of America will be all crouded with Cruizing Vessels early in the Spring, wch will make the trade very dangerous & precarious, you must therefore consider if you arrive safe in the West Indies whether it wont be most Adviseable to secure as much of our Interest there as you can, only reserving a Sufft Sum to load the Vessel in America, for unless a method can be fallen upon to get the money from thence, the proffitts perhaps will be sunk, so that we had better be contented with the first proffitt than by attempting to carry into America large Cargoes With a View of their turning out to greater gain lose the whole, which will certainly be the case if the Provincials are obliged to Submit, for their currency will imediately be sunk & I Suppose the Public Credit intirely destroyed. I wish our fears may be in Vain; the reports are various, all we know for certain is that Genl Howe was wthin 20 Miles of Phila, Genl Washington & Genl Lee both in the Jersey's. what has since happen'd or what will be the event God knows. Perhaps you are uninform'd that Capt Jerh Morgan had the Misfortune of being taken by a Man of War in his passage to Phila — he is now confin'd onboard the Admirals Ship at New York. Lord Howe it is said is much exasperated at him & resolved to make an Example of him, as he is a Bermudian and of course a Subject of G Britain. I am really sorry for the poor Man's Situation, but I think his life is not Legally in danger, what power may do I wont pretend to say. The Nautilus, Galatea & Repulse Men of War are order'd to Cruize about this Island for some time, after which the two latter are to go to the West Inds the former to remain here. last Eveng one of them appear'd off on the South side & I believe is gone into St George's, so that our harvest in all probability is over, but we are happy in having a Sufft Supply for many Months. The Galatea Sent in here two prizes she took on the coast of America. — We dont hear of any of our Vessels being taken.

I am My Dr St Geo. Your truly Affectionate Father

Your Several favo'rs of the 4 & 5 Dcemr P Mr [William] Turnbull & [Abraham] Livingston Iv'e Just Recd to which I beg leave to Answer, that it was not Possable to purchase the least Article of Clothing in this State, as every thing of that Sort, which has been bro't in, or made, in this place, has been bought up for the use of the Soldiers Raised for the Service of the Continent I find by your's of the 5th that you have not Recd my letters, as I find no mention made of them, but rather that you have not heard from me. – which Confirms me in what Iv'e been much afraid of that my letters have miscarried In letters Iv'e inform you that no Uropean Cargoes were to be had, except masts, that the Betsey Frigate had Saild, the 15th Day last month with masts Spars & planck &c for Bourdeaux, and shoud have sent one or two more agreeable to order but, the want of Cord[a]ge and Sail Cloth, only prevented as the large ships which are Suitable for that business have been Striped of their Sables [illegible] for Vessells of war, and its impossable to Replace it at any price, – Agreeable to your order I shall immediately endeavour to procure the Vessells for Virginia and Carolina, but the grand Deficuly is what you mention, that of getg good Trusty men for the Service, every Master mate and Sailor almost being taken up in Some Service, – they generally fear Coasting along to Virginia more then going off to France, I see at Present but little Prospect of getg men, –

The ship Royal Exchange which I bo't very low, on Acct of the Continent would do very well, tho she would wan't some Rigg and Sails but if can get hands at any rate shall immediately Dispatch her, Agreeable to order either to Virginia or Carolina, as the case may be when she is ready there is no prize vessells here now for saile, those which have Sold lately have been high as £1500 L my some £2000 – there will be very fine vessell [a] Transpt of abt 250 Tons sent in here few days ago by a privateer belongg to this place, should she sell low shall purchase her either for Virginia, Agreeable to order, or Load her with Lumber some masts for France –

I shall make it a point to Exert myself in every way to do the business on the best terms, Possable in one of my former Letters to the Honbl Committee as also Several which Iv'e wrote to Colonal Whipple, Iv'e informd them that, I'm in want of money, not haveg any belongg to the Continent in my hands, but have Advanced what little of my own which I had by me – I hope before this Comes to hand money will have been sent off by the Honbl Marine Committee for me, to furnish and pay off the Raleigh's Demands and to Carry on the buildg of Capt Roches ship,² otherwise must stop my hand, as nothing is to be had unless prompt pay. – the Honbl Secret Committees Acct I shall forward soon, as good Opportunity Offers, with Considerable ballance due to me – the Honbl Marine Committee's Acct in the Same way almost as Iv'e not Recd any Prize money only for Royal Exchange, amtg to abt £5,600 L my which is almost expended for Provision Stores &c for the Raleigh and what I have Advanced, for Timber [illegible] for Capt Roches ship which is now in hand – If I hear of none Comg soon shall send on purpose for money to go on with – Iv'e paid the Captors their Prize money as soon as the Sales were Compleated, and they applyi[ed] for it – With the greatest Respect I am [&c.]

The Petition of Solomon Davis

Humbly Sheweth,

That last Year he imported from Holland by way of St Eustatia a considerable quantity of Duck & Card-Wire, – the Duck he sold this State for the Public Service, & as the Card Wire was very much wanted for the Use of the Inhabitants he sold it among them. – That at the time he sold the Duck it was recommended to him, by several of the Members of this Honorable Court to import a further quantity of that Article, and some others which this State was in great want of, he accordingly sent to Holland an Invoice of sundry Articles, among which are German Steel, Card Wire, & Nails for the Cards, but as the Trade between Holland & this continent was prohibited his Correspondent in Holland was obliged to Ship those Articles to St Eustatia from thence to be sent here, and Your Petr has lately received Advice from St Eustatia of their Arrival there, and that they are ready to be Shipped him; Your Petr has accordingly purchased a small Brigantine which is a remarkable swift sailing Vessell, and she now lyes Loaded at Plymouth with Dry & Pickled Fish & ready to put to Sea.

ROBERT MORRIS TO JOHN HANCOCK ¹

[Extract]

Dear Sir,

Philada Jany 6th 1777

I am favoured with yours of the 2d Inst and had much joy indeed, when I found the Lexington was arrived, because she would be a mischievous Enemy, altho a very good Friend in proper hands.

I have directed the Captain & Officers to proceed down to Baltimore immediately judging they will be wanted in fitting her out again. Captain Hallock can also distinguish the Goods that are for Account of the Public from those of other Account, I thank you for the promised care of those that are for me which I suppose to be the property of Mr. [Stephen] Ceronio at the Cape, I would have them delivered to Mr. David Stewart to whom I give orders respecting them. Capt Hallock & his officers are under parole and I judge the Capt of the Pearle wou'd agree to release them from that Parole on giving him back his Midshipman and Seamen from the Lexington, if this is approved I will send on board the Roebuck & propose it [to] Capt Hamond from whom I rec'd a polite letter copy whereof I transmit to Congress. The Sloop Race Horse, (Prize to the Andrew Doria) is now come in. I mentioned in a letter to Congress some time since a desire to fit this vessell out in the Service & I wish you wou'd procure such an order & that Lieut [Benjamin] Dun[n], whose birthright it is, be appointed to command her. He is the oldest Lieut in the service of Capt Biddle & Capt Isaiah Robinson w[ith] whom he sailed gave him the Character of a good officer. This Prize being an armed & commissioned Vessell of War belonging to King George the Officers and Seamen of the Andw Doria are entitled to the whole as also to a bounty on the Guns & Men which I will see to have justly settled and if the Congress order the Sloop to be fitted I will order the purchase of her when condemned. No Tidings of the Sachem yet, I fear she will not escape the Enemy for they are very thick on our Coast and have already taken several good cargoes from us. They are so post[ed] that Capt Biddle cannot possibly get past them and as this place seems now pretty secure I am not so anxious for him to run the Risque, as formerly, but had they come here with the British army I was determined to have made a bold attempt to push out every Vessell we had here & so give them the chance that was left. However we shall not get time to finish the whole whenever our Tradesmen return but at present we cannot go on for want of them and I have sent [torn] Boats of our whole Fleet up the River to be ready to assist our Army in crossing thither should any misfortune happen them. I wish most sincerely that our Tradesmen was [torn] we might finish the two Gallies & send them to molest the Roebuck & her Companions in the Bay, however we cannot perform all we wish let us do what we can & when Genl Howe is got the better of, we will turn our thoughts again to Marine affairs at present the Land Service affords us ample employment & will do so untill something decisive happens . . . I am perfectly satisfied to have Alderman [William] Lee joined with my Brother in the Continental business being convinced it will promote the Public good but at the same time such Commission or Compensation should be allowed as will be sufficient for two instead of one, and I am confident they will both earn what they are to receive. The quantity of Tobo we should ship to France ought to have no limit & sorry I am, that the vigilance of our Enemies, the scarcity of ships & seamen with many other causes keeps us from making the necessary progress, but our difficulties in this respect are almost insurmountable. I think we shall be in debt in every quarter, we must owe money in Martinico, St Eustatia & Cape Francois and I wish to remit to these places instantly if possible we must be heavily in debt in old France, if Mr. Deane succeeds & whether he does or not we shall otherways be in debt if the Goods ordered are shipped. As things are now circumstanced the chance of getting out Merchant Ships is against us, but I wou'd propose sending the Lexington & all our small cruizers into the West Indies with orders to carry their Prizes into the French Island & send proper powers to Mr. Bingham & to sell there in all cases that are clearly within the Laws of Congress, and in all probability these vessells will pay of[f] your Debts & provide fresh Funds for further importations. If [torn] you approve of this idea get the Congress to grant Mr. Bingham a Commission or to empower the Marine Committee to give him instructions suited thereto, it may be very useful & cannot hurt us in any [way] I hope

CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE IN PHILADELPHIA TO GEORGE WASHINGTON ¹

Sir

[Philadelphia] Jany 7th 1777 --

I was this day honoured with your favour of the 5th instant which arrived in time to forward the enclosures by Post. We waited with impatience to learn the consequence of your late movements and have been highly gratified at the Same time we See plainly Some important event is Still to happen, the Enemy must mean to evacuate the Jerseys or to give you Battle the latter may be ruinous in its consequences to either party and therefore its probable will only be sought for by those that have the superiority this we fondly hope will fall to your lot. If joined by General Heath and Genl McDougall and the Jersey Militia as we are taught to expect will be the case should they loose a Battle or evacuate Jersey, surely they cannot afterwards make out a decent Paragraph for [Hugh] Gaines infamous Paper after being out Generald and obliged to abandon the Country they thought themselves securely possessed of.

Your Excellency will find enclosed a paper herein, drawn up by a Captain [William] Gamble lately a Prisoner on board the Fleet in New York, he declares that the treatment of both sea and Land Prisoners in that place is shocking to humanity. This man deserves Credit, and his Account of their ill usage is confirmed by all the Prisoners that come from thence, as to the information he gives at the Bottom of his paper he Says he will forfeit his life if every title of it is not as near to the truth as possible for an inquisitive man in his Situation to come at.² We think this would be a good time to remonstrate to Genl Howe and Ld Howe against the base usage our people meet with and to threaten immediate retaliation on the British Prisoners in Our possession if they did not alter their conduct. It is probable Genl Howe may Say it is Contrary to Orders and not with his Knowledge if our people Suffer but this is not Sufficient our poor Soldiers and Sailors are perishing for want of food, fresh Air and Cleanliness, whilst those of theirs in our possession are feasting on the fat of this Land. They have Said we treat them well through fear. It is time to convince them we are not afraid, although we are actuated by principles of humanity, but these principles now dictate the necessity of Severe Usage to British Officers in particular that they may here after make it a point for their own Sakes to see proper care taken of those that fall within their power. depend on it good sir we do not write in this state to gratify any feelings of our Own, they are all repugnant to what we propose.

Lieut [James] Josiah has just called on us and confirms the Account of Ill usage &c he Says he was exchanged for Lieut [George] Ball and that no person has been given up for Lieut [Richard] Boger now in New York.³ There is a Captain Bourke [William Burke] that was formerly Capt [John] Manl[e]ys Lieut in his Successful Cruizes. Bourke succeeded to the command of Manlys Vessel, was taken by the Liverpool Frigate to which Mr Boger belongs and Capt Bellew Sent Bourke to New York for the express purpose of having him exchanged for Boger, and as he is Said to be a very good officer has been ill used and Suffered a good deal We dare Say your Excellency will demand his release by the first Flag.

We have the honor to be Your Excellency [&c.]

WILLIAM RICHARDS TO THOMAS WHARTON, JR., PRESIDENT OF THE PENNSYLVANIA COUNCIL OF SAFETY ¹

Sir,

Philada. Janry 7th 1777.

Many are the regulations that are wanting in the Fleet that must come from your Board, if you Expect they will be attended to.

In the Painting the Vessels there is great waste for want of a Painter which should be a man on Pay that must follow your Directions in a general manner, I think Every Vessels Bottom ought to be pay'd up to the Bend with Turpentine, Brimstone & oyl, which is a fine Coat for fresh water, and not part of the Bottom to be pay'd with White Lead, and that to be put on by People who do not understand it, is a very great waste, the inside to be painted with Spanish Brown, Venetian Red, and black, the Cabins to be a stone Colour, the Barge to be the same colour as the outside of the Galley is Except the stern sheets, that to be painted red and blue. This regulation will save a deal of monies.

I beg that as soon as the Vessels are laid up the Commodore may be desir'd to fix a general Indent for the Boats, that to be Printed with orders that when any thing is wanted by Gunner, Boatswain, and so on to Every officer, that he shall make it plain to said Commander, what is become of it, or how expended. as those matters occur to me I will mention them. remain your [&c.]

THOMAS WARNER TO VICE ADMIRAL JAMES YOUNG ¹

(Copy)

Sir,

Saint John [Antigua] January the 7th, 1777

Sometime in the beginning of the last Month the Owner of an Armed Sloop laid a State of a Case before me for my opinion, and as the duty of my profession, and the Solemn Oaths I have taken in Conformity to the Acts of this Island, oblige me to give my Clients my Opinion according to the best of my knowledge and learning in the Laws of Great Britain, and the Laws of this Island, I therefore answered the Case, which was laid before me, and I now presume to lay that Case and Opinion before you, and I am extremely Concerned to be informed that the Sentiments which I entertain with regard to Captures and Re-Captures made by Armed Non Commissioned Vessels are so very dissatisfactory to, and So much disapprov'd of by you, but I hope when you Consider the Reasons, which I now give in Support of that Opinion, they will remove that displeasure and dissatisfaction. -

In Answer to the first Query made in the Case, I have given it as my Opinion, that an Armed Non Commissioned Vessel has a right to take the Ships and Vessels, which are found trading contrary to the 16th of his present Majesty, Intituled, an Act to prohibit all Trade and intercourse with the Colonies of New Hampshire &ca, for that all His Majestys Subjects have a right to Annoy his Enemies, and to take from them their property, and by the Laws of Nations such Property became theirs, who took it, but the Law of Nations is now altered, and the property of the Enemy so taken becomes expressly forfeited to his Majesty by the first Clause of the said Act, and whatever Shares the proprietors of Non Commissioned Vessels may be intitled unto in Captures made by such Vessels proceeds entirely from his Majesty's bounty, as such Captures must be Considered as Droits of the Admiralty; but if there was not any such Act the property of the Enemy would belong to the King.

That it appears from Grotius book 3d Chap. 6th sec 2d That by the Law of Nations not only he that makes War for a just Cause, but every Man in a Solemn War acquires the property of what he takes from the Enemy without Rule or Measure, but the Law of Nations in this respect is intirely altered, and all Captures made from the Enemy belong to the Sovereign, or to the State that employed the Captors, and if such Captors have any share of the Prize the same proceeds from the Condescension, or Grant of the Sovereign, which may be enlarged or abridged as Occasion Serves. Molloy de Jure Maritimo & Navali Chap. 13th Sec. 10th And the Parliament of Great Britain have, for the Encouragement of the Officers and Seamen of his Majesty's Ships of War given them by the said Act of Parliament Sole property of all Prizes Seized, and taken by them, to be divided in such proportion and after such manner, as his Majesty shall think fit to order and direct by his Proclamation or Proclamations but neither the Act of Parliament nor his Majesty's Proclamation has taken away his Droits of the Admiralty, And I am of Opinion with very very great deference and Submission to you, that all Vessels and their Ladings taken trading Contrary to the said Act of Parliament by Non Commissioned Vessels are Droits of the Admiralty, and this appears Clearly by the first and third Instruction[s] among many others to be observed by the Receiver of the Rights and Perquisites of the Admiralty, for by the first of those Instructions it is expressly laid down, that all Ships and Vessels and Goods of all Enemies met at Sea, and Seized by any Vessel Non Commissioned are Droits Appertaining to the Office of Lord High Admiral, and by the other of those Instructions it also Manifestly appears, that any Prize taken by a Non Commissioned Vessel becomes entire Perquisites of the Admiralty. – And by one of his Majesty's Instructions to his Commanders in Chief of these Islands, he is expressly directed to be aiding and Assisting to the Receiver of those rights and Perquisites, in recovering the same, in which are included the Effects of Pirates; And his Majesty by that Instruction expressly orders his Attorney General also to be aiding and Assisting in Recovering the Same. –

I have also in my Answer to the first Query made in the said Case, given it as my Opinion, that if any Vessels and their Cargos are retaken from the Rebellious Subjects, by any Armed Non Commissioned Vessel, that the Recaptors of such Vessels and their Cargos so retaken, are intitled to one Eighth part of the true Value thereof, expressly by virtue of the said Proviso in the said Act, And I do with the greatest Submission to you, think, that this is most evident by the said Proviso in the said Act, which enables not only his Majesty's Ships of War to make Recaptures, but all other Ships, Vessels or boats under his Majestys Protection and Obedience

In Answer to the second Query made in the said Case, I have given it as my opinion, that if a Non Commissioned Vessel, takes any Ship or Vessel fitted out by the Rebellious Subjects as a Privateer, that such Ship or Vessel will be Considered as the property of Pirates, and will be forfeited to his Majesty, and such forfeiture must be Considered as Perquisites of the Admiralty, and that they are so, appears Clearly from the Copy of one of the Instructions from his Majesty to his said Commander in Chief, and also by the Ninth Instruction to the Casual Receiver, Copies of which Instructions, I now trouble you with. – That his Majesty's Rebellious Subjects, who have fitted out Privateers under Commissions from the Congress are Pirates, is plain from the Act of 11th & 12th Wm 3d Chap.

7th, Intituled An Act for the more effectual Suppression of Piracy, by the 8th Clause whereof, if any of his Majesty's Natural born Subjects or Denizens shall Commit any Piracy Robbery &ca against other his Majesty's Subjects upon the Sea under pretence of Authority from any person whatsoever, such Offenders shall be deemed pirates, Fellons & Robbers and being Convicted thereof shall suffer death and loss of Lands Goods &ca

In Answer to the third Query I have given it as my opinion, that if a Non Commissioned Armed Vessel should take any Ships or Vessels and their Cargos trading Contrary to the Act of Parliament, that such Capture immediately vests the property of the Prize in his Majesty as Droits of the Admiralty, and that a Subsequent Capture thereof by any of his Majesty's Ships of War, although made upon the High Seas, before such Ships or Vessels and their Cargos were brought by such Non Commissioned Vessel into any Port Creek or Road of Great Britain, Ireland, or the Colonies, or within Gun Shot of any Castle or Fort belonging to his Majesty, will not divest his Majesty of such right, but altho' I have lived in this Island ever since the Year 1742, I never knew an Instance, where this Question was ever litigated between his Majesty and his Ships of War. —

I do not look upon the prohibitory Act in the light of a solemn declaration of War between two Nations, but that the same is Calculated for the purposes mentioned in the preamble of the Act, Vizt For the more Speedily and effectually Suppressing the wicked, and daring designs of his Majesty's Rebellious Subjects in such Act mentioned, and preventing any Aid Supply or Assistance being sent to the Colonies mentioned in the said Act during the Continuance of the Rebellious and treasonable Commotions there, And I shoud apprehend, that any of his Majesty's Loyal Subjects might with Impunity contribute to the Carrying the Intention of the Act into Execution, by taking the Ships and Vessels of such Rebellious Subjects trading Contrary thereto, and bringing them into any of his Majesty's Colonies in America, in order to be proceeded against in his Courts of Vice Admiralty there as perquisites of the Admiralty, and Should his Majesty think that such Captures are illegal, he will withhold the bounty he usually grants to the Captors of the Rights and perquisites of the Admiralty, for their expence and trouble in taking the Same.

As his Majesty is intituled to all Vessels and their Cargos which are taken trading Contrary to the Act, there can be no danger, that such Captures are Collusive ones, so as to open the trade to and from the Rebellious Colonies, for it can never be Worth the While of the Inhabitants of those Colonies, or of other persons trading to and from the Same to throw themselves in the Way of being taken by Armed Vessels, for they can never expect any Emoluments from such Collusion, nor can the Captors be any way benefited by such Captures, further than from his Majesty's bounty. — I beg pardon for having trespassed thus long upon your time and patience, and humbly Submit the Reasons, which I have given in support of my opinion to your Consideration, and I shall think myself happy in Receiving Instructions from England how to Conduct myself for the future upon Occasions of the like Nature with the present, should you Condescend to represent this Matter to their Lordships of the Admiralty. And I am extremely Unhappy, that the duty of my Province, as his Majesty's Attorney General, and that of being the Deputy of The Honorable, and Reverend Robert Cholmondely, Surveyor & Auditor General of all his Majesty's Revenues arising in America, should oblige me to interfere with regard to the Captures of Prizes made under the Prohibitory Act by Non Commissioned Vessels. I have the honor to be with the greatest respect, Sir &c.

Sir Rainbow at Halifax 8th Jany 1777

I think it a Duty incumbent on me to represent to their Lordships that an empty Transport called the Tartar, whereof one Bussel is Master, was brought into this Port about five Weeks ago, by a part of the Crew, after She had been taken by a Rebel Privateer, in her way to Cork, from New York.

The Cowardice, & other very bad Behavior of the Master, appeared to every body in such a Light, as to induce me to write to the Attorney General of this Province upon it; who examined the Crew upon Oath; His Opinion resulting from the Examination, I have the Honor to enclose herewith, in the Copy of his Letter to me: (No 1)

The State of this Affair is likewise enclosed in No 2 for their Lordships to determine whether, or not, this Man is deserving to be entrusted again on the Account of Government: His Ship (which it seems is his own Property,) sails from hence for Cork, with the Convoy this goes by, for another Cargo of Provisions for the Army; agreeable to verbal Orders the Master says He received from one of the Agents at New York.

I have the Honor of sending this Letter to the Board, by the Transport, Two-Brothers, which Lord Howe ordered round here some little Time ago, for an Hospital Ship; with Permission to me to dismiss Her when She was no longer wanted: I have therefore (as the Hospital for Seamen is established upon Governors Island) directed the Master to proceed with Her to Spithead or the Downs immediately & remain there till their Lordships Pleasure is Signified to Him.

As I imagine Commissioner Arbuthnot (who as Lieut Governor is better acquainted with Facts) will give their Lordships an Account by this Opportunity of the imbecile Attempt of an inconsiderable Number of New England Banditti, against His Majs Garrison of Fort Cumberland at the extremity of this Province, I shall only acquaint their Lordships that I sent H M Ss Vulture & the Hope & Diligent armed Brigs up the Bay of Fundy, with Orders to co-operate with Colonel Goreham in every Measure for his Majesty's Service; & for the further Defence of the Fort, the Lizard sailed from hence shortly after, with all the Rainbows Marines, which together with her own Detachment, She has since landed at Fort Cumberland, on the Requisition of the Commandant, Colonel Goreham.

But as Major Batt in a Sally from the Fort struck such a Panic into the Rebels, that they fled with the greatest Precipitation, (& have thereby left this Province without further Apprehensions of being invaded again, for the Winter,) I have requested General Massey to send an Order to Fort Cumberland for the return of the two Detachments of Marines, which He has complied with; & as the Harbor of Cumberland is now frozen up, they are to return to this Place by Land.

I am sorry to inform their Lordships that the Union Transport with a considerable Sum of Money on board, & Cloathing for the Troops at Quebec, has not been able to make her Passage, & is gone to New York; the Nottingham India-Man loaden with Provisions likewise for Quebec, is now here, the inclemency of the Weather forcing Her to bear away for this Port; & the Mellish Transport with Cloathing for the Army in Canada, is taken by a Rebel Privateer calld the Alfred & carried into New England; I think it my Duty on this occasion to mention to their Lordships, that very lately when the Millford chaced this Alfred, She made the private Signal to the Milford, which the Admiralty has been pleasd to give to each of His Majestys Ships who were bound to America; the Rebels being in Possession of those Signals, I have given the enclosd ones to each of the Kings Ships upon this Station, a Copy of which, I take the Liberty to send herewith; (No 3) as I likewise have, to Lord Howe at New York.

Capt [John Lewis] Gidoin in the Richmond not being able to get up the River St Lawrence, came in here, about a Month ago; I have received on board the Ship I command, the Treasure (amounting to Eleven Thousand Pounds) which He had for Canada & shall take the earliest Opportunity of sending a Man of War up with it to Quebec (& likewise to convoy the Nottingham to the same Place,) as soon as the Season of the Year will possibly admit of their making the Passage. I am Sir [&c.]

I beg leave to add that the enclosd Intelligence in the Paper markd No 4 I believe authentic, & to be depended upon

DEPOSITION OF JAMES SEMPLE, A PASSENGER ON BOARD THE PRIZE BRIGANTINE
Countess of Eglington ¹

The Deposition of James Semple of Irvine in Great Britain, of lawful age is as follows —

That on the 25th Day of November 1776 being a Cabin Passenger on board the Brig Countess of Eglington Bound from Glasgow to Antigua. About ten in the Morning I saw two Sail off our Lee Quarter at such a Distance we could not see their Hulls after a while I discovered they stood after us & that they were both Sloops we varied our Course to get Clear of them but perceived the small Sloop came fast up with us, particularly so after she got into our wake it was my own opinion & likewise heard them men belonging to the Brig say they thought the large Vessel did not set so much Sail as the other did in the Chaise. the little Sloop still gain'd on us. between four & five she was so nigh us as we could see she was an armed Vessell at or about five we could number her Guns from the Deck & see her men we hoisted our Colours & I myself fired three Swivell Guns as I was going to fire the fourth the Capt of the Brig looking thro' his Glass saw them on board the America hoist their Jack to the Mast Head & saw the Stripes very plain being vexed at the Sight he called to fire no more now they had shewn their Colours (and struck the Glass on the Taffle rail which broke it) we hauled down Our Colours but still kept making all the Sail we could [but he] ([t]he small Privateer) came up under our Stern & fired a Shott which went thro' several of our sails we immediately hauld down our main Top Gallant & Royall sails likewise hove the Vessell too, the small Sloop came under our Lee haild us from whence come we answer'd Glasgow he then ordered us to back our main Top Sail afterwards to hoist our Boat out & send her on board his Vessel the Boat returned laden'd with their People a Leut & Prize Master stopt some time till the Capn of the Brig got his Papers & drank some Porter with the Leit & Prize master the Boat then took him on board the Privateer & returned with some more of their Hands to help hand the Brig Sails the Sails were Clued up & all I have mentioned done before the large Sloop came up with us & haild us at the Time she hailed us it was so dark we could not distinguish one from another on board of her & I often heard the Captain & People say belonging to the Brig (during the Chaise) that in the [ir] Opinion the large Sloop would not have got us & it is my humble oppinion she never would have troubled us had the small Privateer let us go on. the Distance I think the Retalliation was from us when We struck was about five or six Miles What Convinces me more in that Oppinion is the Work we did & the rate we was going at I immagine we were going 5 Nots at the Time we Struck if the large Sloop would have took us She must have been going quicker & I am Certain she was more than an hour of Coming up from the Time we hove too to Capt [William] Dennis & took in our Sail

James Semple

Questions asked by Joshua Babcock. } Did the Sloop Retalliation fire any Guns in the C[h]aise Answer No.
 Did you hear Capt Read say what distance he judged the Sloop Retalliation was off when he the said Reid struck to Captain Dennis –

Answer, Yes I think he said five or six Miles when the little Sloop was near enough to discover she was an American Vessell by her Colour & of force by her Guns he seemed much vexed & said had it not been for her he should have escaped the large Sloop.
 Quesn Have you heard the Boatswains Mate say any thing of his setting Sail on board the Privateer Retaliation during the Chase?

Ansr During the Passage Home I have heard Him relate the Story as follows. – That he went aloft of his own accord to sett Top Gallant Sail the Officers of the Privateer was much offended at him & asked what Buissness he had to set a Sail without Orders. he said he wanted to over take the Brigt they took hold of him & threatned to put him in Irons the people who were rowing took in their Oars & would not let it be done –

Quesn Was there any Dispute between Capt Hood the Prize Master & Mr Blevin the Mate about Command during the Passage home?

Ansr Not untill we came in with the Land & then they had a Dispute each of them Claiming the Command which rose to such a Height that Blivin told Hood he was his man at Sea or on Shore & mentioned something of his taking one side of the Binacle & Hood the other. –

The People on Board the Brigt belonging to the different Privateers were with difficulty kept from fighting some Blows did pass

Quesn Was there any Conversation between Blevin & you about the Owners of the different Privateers on board the Prize?

Ansr I heard Blevin as well as others of their People say that the Owners of the small Privateer were People of little or no Consequence & so many of them that their Shares would not be more than a Timber head a Piece & that they had but one Owner & he was one of the first People in the Country & a great Merchant –

Quesn Had you any Freight on board the Prize Vesell?

Ansr No, no concern with her only as a Passenger & my Cloaths on Board

Quesn by Jno Brown } What distance from the Brigg did Capt Reid enter in his Journal the Sloop Retaliation to be at the Time the small Sloop got a long side of him

- Ansr [None in document]
- Quest How was the Wind when you first saw the two Sloops & what Course was you Stearing?
- Ansr I dont know we was going large without stearing sails out –
- Question Are you used to the Seas, or so much as to know your Compass or Stear a Vessel?
- Ansr I have steared the Brig Countess of Eglington & know the Compass –
- Quest What Point of Compass did the Sloops Bear from you when you first saw them & or what Distance
- Ansr I dont know what Point they were off our Lee Quarter & I suppose about three leagues I took no particular notice of them for some time –
- Quest Did you or did you not alter your Course from the Time you first see the two Sloops to the time you was taken –
- Ansr Yes we varied our Course.
- Quest: What distance do you suppose the two Sloops was apart when you first see them –
- Ansr I could be no Judge they were both so far from us & the one being so much larger than the other that tho' the little Sloop had been nigher to us it would not have appeared so I paid so little attention to them at first I could be no Judege. After I saw they got into our Wake I kept looking at them every other minute –
- Quest Which Sloop did you understand first discover'd your Brig
- Ansr [None in document]
- Quest When you altered your Course in the Brig did it Carry you fartherest from the large or small Sloop?
- Answer In my oppinion fartherest from the large Sloop we altered our Course often
- Quest Was the large Sloop in sight all the Time from your first seeing the small Sloop till you struck?
- Ansr Yes –
- Quest by Joshua
Babcock } What Conversation did you hear had passed between some of the People on Board the Sloop Retaliation during the Chase –
- Ansr Get safe off –

“EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM ON BOARD THE Diamond, CAPTAIN FIELDING, DATED RHODE-ISLAND, JAN. 8, 1777.” ¹

We sailed for New-York on the 27th of November on a cruize. We put into Martha's Vinyard, and sent our boat on shore with a flag of truce. The rebels let the boat come within gun-shot, and then fired upon them and wounded one man in the boat; to revenge this insult, we landed our marines and a party of sailors under the fire from the ship; the rebels posted themselves on a hill, and fired very briskly from behind the rocks and bushes; however, we drove them off the island. We had in the action one man killed, and one wounded; the rebels lost four killed and many wounded. We got some plunder, such as oxen and poultry; then burnt their houses and barns, &c. From thence we sailed to Rhode-Island, where Sir Peter Parker commands, who sent us up Providence River to block up Admiral Hopkins and his fleet. We lay opposite a Point called Warwick-Neck. On the morning of the New Year, our ship riding at her anchor in bending to the tide run on shore; the rebels seeing our situation, opened a battery of five 24 pounders; at the same time we were attacked by a privateer of twelve guns; they continued a brisk fire for three hours, till night came on. We lay in a most dismal situation on our beam-ends, and could not bring more than two guns to bear upon the rebels; however, they did not kill one man, but drove seven shot through our bottom, three of which are five feet under water, which has done us much damage, besides cutting our rigging and topmast. We had the good luck to have the ship off in the morning, after lying 25 hours on shore. We came down the river yesterday to heave the ship down.

The Bristol, Adml. Lord Shuldham, sailed this Day for England. The Wind being fair, 'tis supposed she got out to Sea this Evening.

Many Prizes are continually sent in by the Ships of War; but the Captors have been much distressed for a Court of Admty for their Condemnation. The Govr. [Tryon] has often mentioned the matter to me, and discoursed of the Legality & Expediency of allowing the Vice admty Court of this Province to perform its Functions. Mr. Kempe, the attorney Genl., told me this morning, that he had drawn up & given his Thoughts to the Govr. [Tryon] yesterday, together with a proposed Clause to be inserted in some new act, for the proper Regulation of that matter. Mr. S[trachey]. to whom I mentioned this Circumstance, seemed hurt, that no Conference had passed with the Commrs on the matter, and said, that he had written Home upon the same Subject himself.

BENJAMIN HARRISON TO ROBERT MORRIS¹

[Extract]

Baltoe, Jany 8, 1777

I do not know that I have been so vex'd with myself for some time, as I am for not informing you that the secret [committee] has bo't a fast sailing vessel which is now ready to sail for Nantes, and is only detain'd for a certain acct of our General's success.² Faulty as I am you must give me some little credit when I tell you it proceeded from my not doubting your getting the information from the secret Commee who are not able to answer the letter they recd on the subject of trade without your assistance, they have received volumes from Pliarne & Compy who must think strangely of you if they do not get satisfactory answers to them which I am sure they will not do as the answer I saw deliver'd could not contain the tenth part of it, which lead to the enquiry whether you had been informed of the vessels going, or not. Besides the dispatches that will go by the above schooner we have others prepared for Buchanan's ship which it is expected will sail today or tomorrow. We have not heard a word of pirates on this Coast, if any appear, you shall be most assuredly advised as soon as the acct reaches us.

VICE ADMIRAL CLARK GAYTON TO PHILIP STEPHENS ¹

Sir./.

Antelope Jamaica January 8th 1777

Herewith you'll receive Duplicates of my Dispatches of the 16th November last. The 6th of Decr I had the Honor of receiving their Lordships Original orders for Employing the Racehorse & Badger as Sloops, instead of Cutters, and to use my best endeavours either to take or destroy such of the American Continental Frigates as might appear within the limits of my Station, duplicates of which I acknowledg'd the receipt of in my last letters. likewise your four letters dated the 5th & 7th Sept'r, the First, acknowledging the receipt of mine of the 13th & 14th June & 2nd July, with an Account of the proceedings of the Squadron under my Command and of its meeting with their Lordships approbation, which makes me very happy, as also their Permission to put the Florida Surveying Sloop on the same establishment as the Arm'd Schooners. The Second, signifying their Lordships directions to grant a sufficient Convoy to two Ships, laden with Ammunition & Goods suitable to the Indian Trade from hence to Pensacola, which I had before comply'd with from the Masters Solicitations, thinking it of the utmost consequence their safe arrival and beg leave to acquaint their Lordships that the 29th of Nov: the Atalanta Captain [Thomas] Lloyd, Sail'd with them, and a Vessel with Provision for the use of the Army & Navy.

The Third, informing me of their Lordships intention of appointing a Convoy to see the Trade to Jamaica the Middle of October, And the Fourth inclosing an Extract from the Log Book of one of the Ships, which Sail'd under Convoy of the Antelope the 17th June, signifying their Lordships directions to enquire [into] what is therein alleged, and to transmit an Account thereof to you for their information, which I have accordingly done, and beg leave to inclose Copy of Capt'n [William] Judds letter, with Copies of the Papers refer'd to in it, amongst which is the Affidavit of [the] Master of one of the Vessells, that Sail'd in that Convoy, from which & from the Accounts, I have had from the Officers of the Antelope, I am perfectly satisfied that Captain Judd, used every means in his power to keep the Fleet together, and that their Seperateing was entirely occa'se'd by the Inattention of the Masters of the Merchant Ships, who have always been remarkable for such behaviour. In the Course of my Service, I have been with many Convoys, and have always found them Refractory, and will beg leave to give their Lordships one instance of it. After the Reduction of Guadalupe, I came home with the Convoy, and form'd a Squadron of Four Leagues, with Men of War Station'd in the Van & Rear & in all Quarters to keep the Fleet together, notwithstanding which they Scatter'd, and in particular one Ship I hail'd, and order'd to keep a Stern of me, and told the Master, if ever I saw him again before my Main Chains, I would sink him, His Answer was "He wish'd I would, as his Ship was Old, and in Government Service, and they must give him another"

I beg leave to acquaint their Lordships that Lieut Edwd Egerton of the Marines onboard the Atalanta died a few days before she Sail'd, and that I have appointed Mr Wm Patten a Midshipman belonging to the Antelope, to Act in that Capacity, being inform'd their Lordships had promoted him to a Lieutenancy in that Corps, and am to beg they'll be pleased to give directions for his Commission being sent out to him.

In my letter of the 4th Nov. I inform'd their Lordships of the Badgers Sailing for Pensacola to relieve the Diligence. On the 31st of October in Latt. 24.30 No she met with a very hard Gale of Wind, which obliged her to return to Jamaica and on the 28th of November, with great difficulty, by constantly Pumping & Baleing got safe in I have had her Damages repair'd and she is now, in as good Condition as when I purchas'd her.

The Porcupine Schooner, arriv'd the 15th of last Month, from the Grand Caymans. Lieutenant [James] Cotes, having recover'd all the Sambla Indians Sold there, which gives great Satisfaction to the Merchants Trading to that part of the World, as those Indians had began to make Reprisals on them, for the loss of their Wives & Children, as the American Privateers are very numerous about here, I have added ten Men to the Porcupines Complement, the better to enable her to cope with them, which I hope their Lordships will approve.

When I received their Lordships orders respecting the Racehorse & Badger, altho' they were both out on a Cruise, I immediately appointed Captains [Thomas] Cadogan & [Charles Holmes] Everitt to them, with other Officers, the Badger meeting with the Accident in her Passage to Pensacola & returning gave Captain Everitt an opportunity of taking the Command of her, who otherwise was intended to have gone in the Atalanta to Join her.

The Racehorse is not yet arriv'd and I am too much afraid h[as] fell into the Hands of the Rebels, as Lieutenant [William] Jones, has sent in Three Prizes, which much weaken'd him, and when the last parted with him, he was chased by a Brig of 16 Guns, which was very near up with him, and which he had not sufficient Strength to oppose.² shou[ld] it be the case, I propose replacing her with another Vessel, which I shall appoint Captain Cadogan to, as the privateers are very numerous in those parts.

I have received a Letter from the Principal Inhabitants of the Bay of Honduras, informing me of their having no just cause of complaint against their Neighbours the Spaniards, But that of their continuing to inveigle away, and receive their Slaves, which I before represented to their Lordships, who inform'd me, they had communicated my Letter to the Secretary of State for the Kings information.

I beg leave to inclose for their Lordships information a Copy of an Agreement made between the Commissioners of the Victualling and John Straw, of London, und[er] the direction of my Predecessor Sir George Rodney, for Erecting a Watering Place, with a Wharf &c for the use of His Majestys Navy at Jamaica, wherein 'tis specified that the said John Straw, shall have Liberty at all times when the same shall be no Obstruction or Impediment to the Kings Service, to Ship off from the said Wharf, any thing he may think proper; without paying any Consideration for the same, and that he, or his Agents shall have the free & uninterrupt'd use of the said Wharf, and its Engines &c, for the purpose of shipping from thence Ballast, Bricks &c, and other equally cumbersome Articles, But if it shall appear that the powers & privileges given by the abovemention'd Article, shall any way impede His Majestys Service, or that the said John Straw, or his Agents, shall receive little, or no benefit by such privileges, & that the same shall be certified to the Commander in Chief, for the time being, & made duly appear that then another good, proper, & sufficient Wharf shall with all convenient speed be Erected at the sole Cost of the King, for the separte use of the said John Straw, for the purposes already mentione'd equally as Commodious or Convenient as the Wharf now built there, & the said Wharf to be for ever supportd and kept in repair at the expence of the Crown, Or that a Sum of Money shall be paid to the said John Straw, equal to the expence of Erecting such a Wharf.

Inclosed is also a Petition from Malcolm Laing, & Lewis Cuthbert Esqrs Attornies for Mr Straw, claiming the privileges granted them by the Agreement, But as they find it will be more to the Intrest of Mr Straw, to accept a Sum of Money, instead of having a Wharf built at the expence of the Crown, request that I would certifie, to my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty and the Commissrs of the Victualling, that the said John Straw, from the Articles of Agreement is well entitled to have a Wharf Erected for his separte use, at the sole expence of His Majesty, Or, to a Sum of Money that shall be deem'd Equivalent to the Expence of erecting such Wharf, and that the said John Straw, will immediately on receiving such Consideration relinquish all right & interest [to] the present Aqueducts & Wharf also to the Water, so that the same shall be held, for the sole use of His Majesty, his Heirs, & Successors for the purpose of supplying Water for the Navy. I therefore think it would be for the good of the Service (as Mr Straw is entitled to every thing mention'd in the Agreement) to give him a consideration to relinquish his right, rather than to build him a Wharf, which would always be attended with great Expence to keep in repair and at the same time be an Impedient to the Ships Wateri[ng] as it must interfere with the Wharf at present Erected, as being always in use, which I submit to their Lordships considera[tion] and have also by this Opportunity wrote to the Victualling Board on the same Subject.

With respect to the Ships & Vessells under my Command I beg leave to acquaint their Lordships that since my last, they have sent in Fifteen Sail, which makes in the whole Seventy Six.

The Antelope, in her last Cruize is so exceedingly shook, that w[ere] I to Employ her any more, in Cruizing, she would not be able to proceed to England, at the expiration of my Station, But to ease her, I have given directions for the Quarter Deck Guns, & the two Fore & Aftermost upon the upper Deck, to be return'd into Store, and intend her going to the Wharf in March, when I shall have her fitted in the best manner possible, to carry me Home.

The Boreas, having touched on Mayaguana Shoals, damaged her False Keel, and being upwards of a twelve Month off the Ground I have order'd her to be Careen'd.

On receiving information of the undermention'd Privateers vizt Two Briggs, One of Fourteen the other of Sixteen Guns, with a hundred Men, Two Sloops, one of Six, the other of Four Guns, and a Virginia Pilot Boat, with twenty five Men & Swivels, being Cruizing off the Isles of Vashe & Altevetta, to intercept the Convoy expected from England, I have order'd the Maidstone Captn [Alan] Gardner, to Cruize for them, to inform them of their danger, and to return with them to Port Royal, she was intended to have gone with the Convoy from hence, but on receiving this information, I thought it best, to send her, for the protection of that expected, but from the best Accounts I have been able to gain, from the principal Merchants, find there will not be above, two or three Ships at most, ready to Sail Before the latter end of next Month, so that she'll be able to perform both Services. The Winchelsea, arrived a few days since, I have given directions for her being fitted, with the utmost dispatch and propose sending her after the Maidstone for the protection of the Convoy. The Badger, & Porcupine both Sail'd the Latter end of last Month, with some Run Vessells bound to New York, for the Army, which they were to see 40 Leags clear of the Windward Passage, then to return & Cruize off Hennea[y] and the Little Caicos's, with the usual orders.

The 4th of last Month the Brig Thomas & Betsy Charles Edwards Master, from London bound to New York, with Provisions for the use of the Navy, arrived here, but was not ready on the 29th to take benefit of the Badgers Convoy, owing to the Masters Negligence he told some of his acquaintan[ces] that it was a bad time of the Year, to go upon the Coast of America, and that he thought himself very Snug, where he was. I have wrote to the Commis[srs] of the Victualling, in order that they may make a deduction from his Agreement, and that Government may not be imposed on, and as soon as I can spare a Vessell, will send [o]ne to see him through the Passage.

Inclosed is a List of Officers made, and am [&c.]

I have the Honor of inclosing to your Excellency a Deposition taken upon Oath before His Majesty's Chief Justice of Dominica and at the same time that I beg leave to recommend the Contents of it to your Excellency's Serious consideration, and have no doubt but the Complainants who accompany it will receive from your Excellency such protection and Justice as the Nature of their cause shall require. —

It is with concern Sir that I am obliged to take this opportunity to acquaint your Excellency that I am informed and in such a manner as I cannot doubt the truth of it, that Vessels are fitted out Armed and Commissioned from the Port of St Pierre's in Order to make Piratical Depredations upon the Coasts of this Island; This I am told is done by one of His Britannick Majesty's Rebellious Subjects now residing at St Pierre's in the Character of an Agent or Chargé Des Affairs ² from a Number of my Masters Rebellious Subjects in America who stile themselves the Congress; This proceeding I beg leave to acquaint your Excellency is matter of great concern and Alarm to His Majesty's Loyal Subjects here, looking upon this Piratical kind of War never made use of even at times when there was an open Rupture between the Two Nations, which is by no means the Case at present, and I hope your Excellency will excuse me when I beg leave to submit it to your Excellency's consideration whether this kind of proceeding and the great countenance and protection Shown in a Public as well as private manner to His Britannick Majesty's Rebellious Subjects may not have a tendency to interrupt the Peace harmony and good understanding which at present Subsists between the two Nations and which I am perswaded is the intention of both our Masters to preserve.

I have sent my Aid De Camp Major Grove express with this to your Excellency who will have an opportunity of explaining to your Excellency the particular reasons I have for Addressing your Excellency in this manner; I am sure I need not Recommend Major Grove to your Excellency's favour and protection while at Martinique and in his Return to this Island. Sir,

English-Harbour Antigua 8th January 1777.

I am just informed that an Armed Sloop has taken Two Vessels on the High Seas, and brought the same into the Port of St Johns Antigua; as I am intirely ignorant by what Authority said Sloop Acts, or how Armed Vessels can be fitted out to Act offensively against his Majesty's Enemies, without having Commissions to do so from those who are properly Empowered to grant such Commissions by his Majesty; and that I am confident no person in these Islands is Authorized to do. I likewise know that repeated applications for Arming Vessels on the above account, has been positively refused in England. I must therefore deem the Perpetrators and Abettors in the aforesaid Captures, Robbers on the high Seas; and therefore do in his Majesty's Name require you, as Attorney General of his Majesty's Leeward Charibbe Islands, to prosecute the above Offenders, and bring them to Lawful Trial for their said Offence; any Assistance you may want from my Department, to bring the Delinquents to Justice, You shall have; and I doubt not the Legislature of this Island, will cheerfully give you theirs: I presume, they as well as my self, will be sensible how detrimental all such proceedings must be; and would not wish to see their Country involved in Trouble, that the suffering such open and Illegal Acts of Violence will probably Produce; as the Men generally employed on such occasions, are seldom Scrupulous in what they do. Sir

After sending away my Letter to you, of this days date; I was favoured with, your Letter of yesterdays date; and the Inclosures accompanying it, and am sorry to say, that I find not sufficient reason to alter my first Opinion, Vizt that no Vessel has power to act on the Offensive without being properly Authorised to do so; I also must presume to differ with you, where you say, You do not look upon the present War, on the footing of a Formal declaration of War, with other Nations; I really think that though no Formal declaration has appeared, Yet, every Act of Government since, plainly demonstrates it to be the same; besides had the present proceedings been Legal; sure such Opportunity's would not have slipt Adventurers in the late Wars, where there was great probability of their being Considerable gainers; which reason confirms me, what is now done is illegal. I wont take upon me to say that there are any Sinister Views in those Concerned; but I still repeat to you, what is in my former Letter, that the irregular proceedings of those Vessels, may probably involve the Nation in very disagreeable disputes: I therefore think it the Duty of every Man that Wishes well to his Country, to put a Stop to it; for my Own part I will assuredly do so: and mean to appeal against any Sentence of the Court of Admiralty, that may give any part of the Vessels and Cargos now brought in, unto the Owners, and Mariners of the Sloop Reprisal, 'till his Majesty's pleasure is fully known; as I shall Certainly transmit to the Ministry an account of all the proceedings in this Matter, and request their directions. I am Sir &ca

CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE IN PHILADELPHIA TO GEORGE WASHINGTON ¹

[Extract]

Philadelphia January 9th 1777

. . . As you will have occasion to send in a flag to Gen Howe, we beg leave to suggest the propriety of writing to Lord Howe, respecting the Ill usage our prisoners meet with on board the Prison-Ships at New York, and particularly we could wish his Ld Ship to be informed that the officers and seamen taken on board British Merchant Ships have not been considered as prisoners of war in this place but have always been left at liberty to dispose of themselves as they thought proper without restraint and have very generally got passages to different parts of Europe. On the Contrary we find such of our people as are taken onboard Merchant vessels are either made to work onboard the Men of War or delivered on board the prison ships under intollerable ill usage and no distinction between Masters, Mates, foremast men & negros which is surely an unnecessary Cruelty On Men who are taken from an innocent pursuit of a Maintenance in they line they have been bred to, we don't know how they treat their Captives out of Merchant Ships carried into the Eastern States but imagine the same conduct is observed as here, and unless Ld Howe will do the Same by ours, it is time to retaliate by forcing some to work on board our Ships of War and committing others to Goal or putting them on bd Prison Ships &c There are now two very honest Masters that Sail out of this Port detained onboard the Whitby Prison Ship. Captain Thomas Bell & Captain Jacob Gesthins [Getsheus]. If his Ld Ship will not release them on the principles proposed Mr Morris will engage to send two British Masters for them if Sent here on Parole and will be much obliged to your Excellency to propose it. Bell has been very usefull heretofore and Should not be left to Suffer, therefore we hope you will excuse us for troubling you with this matter, —

Pennsylvania Evening Post, THURSDAY, JANUARY 9, 1777

Philadelphia, Jan. 9.

A just account of the usage the American prisoners receive from Lord and General Howe, and the officers under them. — Cpts. Lieuts. and other officers of private ships of war, masters, supercargoes, &c. of merchant vessels, with Indians, Mulattoes, and Negro slaves, are all put together between decks, and not allowed to go upon the quarter deck or forecastle, or even a swab or broom to keep the main deck dry. As to their provisions, the allowance is very small, and the quality unwholesome; the meat is served out about nine in the morning, immediately out of the pickle, and if it be not cooked by noon, the miserable prisoners must eat it raw, for the fire at one o'clock is commonly put out. Butter and cheese they have none, but instead of those valuable articles, they have oil, so rank that they cannot eat it. A gill of rum a day is given to them, which is not so strong as sailor's grog. They are often twelve or sixteen hours without a drop of fresh water, nay once they were for twenty-six hours deprived of that necessary supply to human nature; and at that time the prison ship had on board no less than two hundred and sixty unfortunate men, who experienced this cruel usage, and many of whom had formerly lived in affluence. What is still more shocking, this prison ship had neither Doctor or medicine chest.

“EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM JAMAICA, JAN. 10.”¹

Tuesday a tender belonging to the Antelope, Mr. Willet, commander, arrived at Port Royal; she brought in here a man whom she took up at sea, off the north side of the island, a few days since, who gives the following account of himself: His name, he says, is Thomas Cobham; that he was gunner of an American privateer, called the Lively, of 14 carriage guns, which foundered in a gale of wind, and all on board, except himself, perished. This poor wretch had floated on a piece of one of the masts four days and four nights, with two more, both of whom were washed off. When Mr. Willet descried the piece of the mast, and not knowing what to make of it, he resolved not to delay his time to look after it, until, by the help of his glass, he thought he discerned something alive; and he then ordered the boat out to see what it was. The poor man had lost his senses; so that when they came up to him he struck at them. It was sometime before he was brought to his right mind, and then he related the particulars of the above misfortune. Two evenings before the tender fell in with him, he was within hearing of a Dutch ship, but could not by his shouts make known his distress.

DEPOSITION OF FOSTER MCCONNELL¹

the Court of Common Pleas held for Dominica.

The Deposition of Foster McConnell of the said Island of Dominica
Merchant

This Deponent being duly Sworn upon the Holy Evangelists of Almighty God, deposeth and saith That in the Month of December now last past and which was in the Year of Our Lord One thousand Seven hundred and seventy six he the Deponent went from the said Island of Dominica to the Island of Saint Eustatius, upon the Subject of the Capture of a Brigantine called the May whereof one William Taylor was Master and her Cargo taken and seized by an Armed Sloop named the Baltimore Hero whereof one Ezekiel John Dorsey appeared or acted as Master on the Twenty first Day of November now last past, the said Brigantine and her Cargo at the Time of such Capture being owned by this Deponent in Partnership with his Brother Bendal McConnell and Messrs Benson and Postlewaite of Liverpool Merchants and Mr William Brown of Cork Merchant who are Subjects in Allegiance to His Majesty and under his Protection and being then bound to Saint Eustatius And on this Deponents arrival at Saint Eustatius he was informed by Governor DeGraaff the Governor of the said Island of Saint Eustatius, in the Presence of some of the Members of the Council of that Island That he the said Governor DeGraaff had seen the Capture of the Brig (meaning the Brigantine called the May whereof the said William Taylor was Master) by the American Privateer (meaning the said privateer or armed Sloop the Baltimore Hero whereof the said Ezekiel John Dorsey was Master) And that he the Governor also viewed the whole Transaction and stood looking at it for sometime And he also told the said Deponent that the Privateer was in his Port some time after the Capture of the said Brig was made And that he Governor DeGraaff has taken the Deposition of the Master or Captain of the said Privateer relative to the Capture of the said Brigantine And this Deponent further saith That the Capture afresaid from its being made so near to the Island of Saint Eustatius by His Majesty's Rebellious Subjects or Persons supposed to be Authorized by them made much noise in the said Island, as it was conceived to be the Governor's duty to interfere and compell the Captors to restore the Brigantine and her Cargo to the Proprietors thereof and when an Enquiry was made by Governor DeGraaff and the Council of Saint Eustatius in consequence of Letters from Vice Admiral Young and the Commander in Chief of the Leeward Islands and partly on this Deponents Application relative to the Ownership of the said Privateer or armed Vessel and the Capture made by her of the said Brig May and Cargo, upon the first Evidence being sworn the Deponent being present thought himself intituled inpoint of Justice to ask and accordingly he did ask the Evidence some Questions when the said Governor DeGraaff told the Deponent to take Care what he was about for that he the Deponent was not at Liberty to ask what Questions he pleased and at the same time the Governor addressed himself to the Deponent and sayed Sir, You must take care how you accuse Mr Vanbibbee [Abraham Van Bebber] (meaning Mr Vanbibbee at that time a Merchant in Saint Eustatius and suspected to have been concerned in fitting out and arming the said Vessel called the Baltimore Hero) for if you accuse him it may be of serious Consequence to you, upon which the Deponent apprehending Danger from the Governors Threats gave himself no further Trouble about the Matter of Enquiry as to the Ownership of the said Privateer or armed Vessel the Baltimore Hero And this Deponent saith he afterwards heard and saw several other Persons called in and a few Questions asked them the particulars of which was reduced into Writing And this Deponent further saith That Mr Vanbibbee was also called up and Governor DeGraaff told the said Vanbibbee the report that was circulated of his being the Owner & fitter out of the said Privateer or armed Vessel the Baltimore Hero upon which the said Vanbibbee declared that he only supplied a Man in the said Privateer with Fifty Johannes's and a Case of Gin And that upon the second day's Enquiry as aforesaid the said Vanbibbee was called upon to declare on Oath what he had sayed the Day before when the said Vanbibbee refused and would not declare on Oath what he had sayed the Day before And sayed the Law did not force a Man to Swear when he was accused That Governor DeGraaff told the said Vanbibbee his refusing to Swear what he has declared the Day before would cause a greater Suspicion against him than ever And that he the said Vanbibbee still persisted in refusing on which the Deponent was desired to quit the Room, in which the Examinations were taking, and afterwards the Deponent learnt that some Alterations were made in the Questions proposed to Mr Vanbibbee and that he then swore to his Answer to such altered Questions. But this Deponent saith although it was generally reported and believed in Saint Eustatius that the said Mr Vanbibbee was an Owner and concerned in fitting out the said Piratical armed Vessel the Baltimore Hero with an Intent to injure and distress His Majesty's good and loyal Subjects Yet this Deponent was not able notwithstanding the Letters and Representations from Vice Admiral Young and The Honorable Craister Greatheed the Commander in Chief of the Leward Islands to obtain any the least Satisfaction from Governor DeGraaff for the illegal and Piratical Capture of the said Brigantine May and her Cargo, whereby this Deponent is apprehensive unless he can obtain Justice by some other Means, he and the rest of the Owners will entirely loose their Property.

Gentlemen

Boston 11th Jany 1777 –

Since my Arrival here on the 15th Ultio I have from a variety of circumstances been unable to give you any Satisfactory account of the Situation of the Alfred. – The Council here have Amused me with unmeaning promises of taking charge of my prisoners from day to day – but have taken no effectual step 'till a day or two ago when they were escorted by land to be exchanged at Rhode Island – So that I am but now releived from the honorable Office of Jail-Keeper

I had the honor of receiving yours of 10th Ultio P Mr Brown the 1st Current – it gives me extreme concern to inform you that the Ship is from her construction in no fit condition for Sea Service as will Appear more at large by the within paper which, with becoming deference, I submit to Your inspection – The men who were entered at Rhode Island for the Alfred by the Commodore's Order were engaged only for a Cruise and those, a few excepted, who were with me in the Providence have Served out their term of Enlistment so that I have very few Men left – I shall now employ them to refit the Rigging – and wait Your further Orders – if Seamen can be engaged I can have the Ship in readiness for Sea within a Week after your final determination shall reach Boston – at present I think it unadvisable to have any thing done to the Hull. – I hope in my present disagreeable Situation to Stand Acquitted of Lukewarmness in the Service – I make no Boast of the past since Actions Speak best for themselves – but should you think proper to Order me out again with the Alfred even in her present Situation – I will Obey 'tho more than my life, my Honor may be the forfeit. ~~It is not for me to Advise but perhaps the Advantages might be greater to the Continent if the Alfred's Warlike Stores were put on Board of Another Ship for~~ the Alfred is much more complete for the merchant service than She can be made for War – being Well calculated for Stowing Tobacco She would make a good Remittance. – It remains that I give you a full and particular Account of my late Cruise – I think I can account to your Satisfaction for my Conduct. But as this Express is to set out immediately – and as I did not know of the Opportunity till very lately – I hope you will for the present be pleased to excuse a further Account.

I have the Honor to be with due Gratitude and becoming respect Gentlemen [&c.]

Providence Gazette, SATURDAY, JANUARY 11, 1777

Providence, January 11.

Undoubted Intelligence is received from Newport, that the Enemy consider the Inhabitants on the Island as Prisoners of War, and have absolutely refused to grant the Benefit of their boasted Pardons to a Number who made Application for the same.

We also hear that the Experiment, of 50 Guns, commanded by the infamous Wallace, sailed for England a few Days since; and that the Asia, of 64 Guns, was soon to follow, with General Clinton on board, his Baggage being already embarked.

It is said that the Enemy's Troops in Newport have received Orders to hold themselves in Readiness for Embarkation at a Moment's Notice, but whether on board Transports or their flat-bottomed Boats is not mentioned: A Number of Carpenters have been busily employed in repairing the latter.

Thursday last [January 9] 98 Prisoners, taken in several of the Enemy's Vessels by the Alfred, in her last Cruize, arrived here, to be exchanged.

The Eagle Privateer, Capt [Isaac] Field, and a small Privateer from the Eastward, have taken a light Transport Ship of 500 Tons, bound from New-York to England, and sent her into a safe Port.

A Prize Vessel, loaded with Rum, taken by the Game Cock Privateer, we hear has fallen into the Enemy's Hands at Newport.

The Sloop which was dispatched from hence to Block-Island the 13th of November last, as a Flag of Truce, with a Number of Prisoners, in order to exchange them on board one of the Enemy's Ships, returned here last Sunday: The Ship having gone on a Cruize, the Sloop, after waiting some Time for her Return, was brought into Newport by the Fleet which lately arrived there. The Officer who went with the Flag was detained as a Prisoner while at Newport on board the Commodore's Ship, and when permitted to return was informed that Lord Howe had sent a like Number of Prisoners to New-London; but it since appears that they were obliged to give their Paroles on leaving New-York. The Sloop was employed by the Enemy in carrying Provisions, &c. to the Shipping in the Harbour, and when delivered up was plundered of almost every Article on board.

COMMODORE SIR PETER PARKER TO VICE ADMIRAL RICHARD LORD HOWE ¹

Copy.

Chatham off Newport Rhode Island

My Lord

11th January 1777.

I am honored with your Lordships Instructions of the 22d, and also with your Letters of the 26th and 27th of last Month, and shall do my utmost to obey your Lordships Orders and fulfill your Intentions in every particular. The Senegal and Tryal arrived the 2d Instant in the Evening, and the next Morning the former returned to her Station; Captain [Roger] Curtis finding by Lieutenant Brown's Orders that the Dispatches he was charged with were of great consequence, and hearing that a Cartel Vessel had passed the Tryal bound for New London, he took them from Lieutenant Brown, and brought them to me.

I have delivered to Captain Caulfeild [Toby Caulfield] your Lordships Commission appointing him Captain of the Bristol, for which I must beg leave to return your Lordship my most grateful Thanks. Commodore Hotham has received your Lordships Order and separate Instructions: I have put the Brune under his Command, and shall send the Emerald after him, as soon as she can be spared. December the 14th a Consultation was held, at which the Generals Clinton, Lord Percy and Prescott, Commodore Hotham and myself were present; it was then determined that the Season was too far advanced, and the Weather too severe for the Troops to act. It therefore becomes me in the first Instance to provide against the Escape of the Rebels from Providence and Taunton Rivers; In the former I am told there are about Fifteen small Privateer Sloops, from Eight to Twelve Guns, besides all the Ships and Vessels mentioned in the List I had the Honor to transmit to your Lordship by the King's fisher, Except the Ship Jane of Twenty Guns, which I am informed is now at Swansey up Taunton River; and as from the several Services your Lordship requires to have performed many Frigates will be wanted, I shall keep as few here as the important Service of blocking up the Rebel Vessels will demand. And for this purpose, I think that three Frigates, besides the Three Fifty Gun-Ships will be necessary; which I would propose to station after the following Manner, as established Guards. Viz: One Fifty in the West Passage, One off Newport, and one to the Southward of Dyer's Island. One Frigate to be advanced to the Northward of Dyer's Island, another to the Northward of Hope Island, and the third in the Seakennet Passage.

When all the Ships intended to sail soon are gone, we shall then have only the number left that I beg leave to recommend for an established Guard. Those Ships will be for the present – the Chatham, Renown, Centurion, Diamond, Cerberus and Sphynx. The Diamond arrived the 14th of December and I directed Captain Feilding to place her in the best Situation for blocking up the Passage between Warwick Point and Patience Island. The 2d Instant it blowing hard at S E, the Diamond was obliged to veer to a whole Cable, and the Ship having hardly more than Room to swing from it, and the Wind shifting suddenly to SWbW, she tailed the Ground on the Ebb-Tide, the Anchor coming home a little, being in loose Ground. She got off the next Day without any apparent Damage, except from five Shot which hulled her, as by Account enclosed. The Sphynx is at present to the Northward of Hope Island, and when the Diamond has stopped the Shot-Holes under Water, and is ready to move from this place; she will be stationed to the Northward of Dyers Island, and the Emerald will proceed to join Commodore Hotham. The Rebels drew some Cannon down to Warwick Neck, and sent a Gally and a small Sloop² down from Providence, but these last did not venture within Gun-Shot. This Garrison being in great want of Wood, and the General having contracted for a Supply from Shelter Island, near Long Island, the Ambuscade sailed the 25th December for Shelter Island with ten Transports under Convoy. The King'sfisher has Orders to see the Tryal Schooner (Lieutenant Brown having Dispatches from General Clinton and myself to your Lordship and Sir William Howe) as far as Plumb Island, and then proceed to Shelter Island, and take under his Direction such Transports as may remain there after Captain [John] Macartney sails from thence with as many as are now loaded. As the Carysfort's Cruize is almost finished, should the Ambuscade arrive before the Niger, I shall send her off New London, and the Niger to block up the Ports in Buzzard's Bay.

I have dismissed Mr Stelle with the Cartel Sloop and he seems well satisfied with the Reasons for his De[tention] I have apprised him that the further Exchange of Prisoners on either Side hereafter will be conducted under my Direction. We have settled the Account of the Thirty six Prisoners enlarged by your Lordship, and the Balance is Thirteen due on the part of his Employers. In my Instructions to the Captains of the Cruising Ships, they shall be permitted to exchange Prisoners, agreeably to the Mode adopted by your Lordship. I shall use every Means in my Power to make known and explain to the Inhabitants of the Elizabeth Islands and the adjacent Coasts of the Continent, the Reasons for our Ships proceeding to such Severities on their unwarrantable Treatment of our Flag of Truce. I have from my first Arrival granted Licenses for Fishing; but the Weather has been so bad, that we have not as yet benefitted by them. The 6th Instant the Kingsfisher arrived with the Nine Victuallers mentioned in your Lordships Instructions; I have appointed Mr John Read the Purser of the Chatham Deputy Agent Victualler at this Port, and shall be particularly attentive to have the Ships unloaded and discharged here, or sent home at the Option of the Masters, as soon as possible. I have paid due regard to the Flat-Boats, and indeed every Care is necessary to keep them in order. Many of them suffered the Day after the landing; it blew hard at NW. They are hauled up on Goat-Island, and repairing under the Inspection of the Carpenter of the Chatham. They will all except Two or Three be soon I hope in excellent Order. I never saw a place so bare of Naval Stores of every kind. We have found Plank sufficient for the purpose, but are in Want of Tar, Nails and Iron-Work; the Tar cannot be procured as yet, tho' many Stores have been searched; but the Nails and Iron-Work we shall be able to make with two of the Ship's Forges, which are now employed for that purpose. Your Lordship knows how We are circumstanced with respect to Slops and Naval Stores.

I shall be glad of your Lordship's Instructions relative to the payment of Artificers, and also for any Naval Stores that may be got here. Your Lordship will receive herewith the following papers: Viz: Sentence and Minutes of a

Your favour dated paris 30th Septr last is the only one I have from you and from the tenor of it I judge that several of yours to me & mine to you must have miscarried. I have long been aware that you wou'd suffer vexations for want of remittances & have often told the Committee so, yet such has been our situation and Circumstances it was not possible to mend the matter, in a former letter I told you of the several Captures of ships & Cargoes intended for different parts of Europe to provide you with Funds, our Ports were shut the greatest part of the Summer & now again when we expected them certainly to be open, the Enemy are Cruizing at the mouths of our Bays and along the Coast with more industry than ever, I have told you in my other letter that the Eastern States had little fit for exportation to Europe, their Fisherys being prevented, there is no Oil, Fish, Whale Bone &c as formerly, they are not employed in making Pot & Pearl Ashes as usual & in short there is nothing for an European Market but Masts & Spars from New Hampshire, some little Bees' Wax & Flaxseed in Connecticut & Rhode Island. The Secret Committee gave orders to Mr. Langdon to Ship Masts & Spars on the Public Account & to John Bradford Esq at Boston to purchase Such Prize Goods as wou'd serve for remittance, they Commissioned Mr Shaw at New London to buy Flaxseed &c but all to little purpose. Mr Langdon has done something the rest have not, at New York nothing cou'd be done you must be sensible, indeed Genl Washington was obliged to stop for the use of the army some Cargoes that Mr Livingston and Mr Lewis had shipped there. here we were blocked up the best part of the Season and lost several Valuable Cargoes intended for you indeed the principal part of our Trade was obliged to be carried on in small Vessels & these were hardly sufficient to pay for the necessarys we imported from the West Indias, in Maryland & Virginia we have been buying much Tobacco & as fast as Vessels cou'd be got to carry it to market they have been sent off but they are very scarce in all the States to the Southward of this, and Seamen, Cordage, Canvass, & other materials still more scarce, to send them from one part of the Coast to another was extreemly hazardous whilst our Enemies Cruizers covered the Seas in their very track however we have been obliged to adopt this mode & buy or charter Prize Ships in N England to go in Ballast for Virginia, Maryland & Carolina whether they will get safe or not is very doubtfull but if they do, we hope you will still be provided in the Course of this Winter with satisfactory remittances for we have many thousand hogsheads of Tobacco ready, & that article of all others will make the best remittance from Carolina they had no trade at all untill very lately that some small vessells have gone from hence with flour & Iron to them, & some few French Men from the West Indias have Ventured thither, however the Committee have lodged Funds & orders with Messrs Levinus Clarkson & John Dorsius² to ship largely in Rice & Indigo, and if they can get Ships this will be done, the same from Virginia & Maryland, and from hence when we can but our River is now full of Ice & our Bay pestered with British Men of War, in short you may perceive clearly that it is absolutely necessary the French shou'd send us aid in the Naval line. A few Line of Battle Ships under our direction last Summer wou'd have totally destroyed Ld Howe's fleet & Transports & a few of them next Summer will command our Rivers & Bays so that Ships may get in and out when once at Sea they must take their Chance & that we are content to run, but whilst they can ride securely Masters of the Mouths of our Rivers & Bays it is next to impossible to escape and so we have found it. These Considerations induce me to wish you may have negotiated some loans with the French Court that they may become so interested as to send their Men of War, in order to Cover their own remittances. We did not find it necessary to direct remittances for you into Holland as France cou'd draw on Lisbon, Cadiz & equally well, but unluckily little has arrived for them to draw.

I am very sensible of your difficulties and I think those you are Connected with must be sensible of ours and that they will exert themselves to get them removed, however I wish you may have negotiated a loan & shipped the Goods and Stores you mention for the West Indias that we may get em from thence in small fast Sailing Vessells unless you cou'd send them out in Men of War of the Line. In the late Confusion and alarm at this place I sent all my Books & papers out of Town where they still remain so that I cannot at present have reference to what I wrote you the 5th June, but I am much concerned that you depend on Insurance being made here — this business has been totally dropped this Summer for altho the Underwriters might otherwise have been willing to Continue it, yet the ample employmt every body have found either in public or less hazardous business, induced them to lay it onside, and as things are now Circumstanced it wou'd be impossible to prevail on them to take it up again in this City. New York is in the Enemies hands, so that there is no place but Boston where there is the least chance of getting Insurance done & even there they are not fairly got into their geers again. I hope my Brother has Communicated to you what I formerly wrote him on the Subject of Insurances & that you will have got them done in France or Holland on whatever property you may have Shipped this way —

As yet nothing has arrived nor do I know of any thing you have shipped being taken — Capt Morgan was taken near Cape May & is but just discharged from the Man of War³ — he tells me he had but little Goods on board & that the dispatches were all sunk, — the Young Man that was passenger with him is still detained at New York a Prisoner — I suppose it was by him you wrote respecting the Loan I had mentioned &c. — Shou'd you have engaged in a plan of sending out Goods to the Value mentioned & we are tollerably lucky in getting them in, great things will be done, — they will sell for enormous prices and I will invest the Money in Tobacco Indico, Rice &c which shall be shipped back fast as possible. The things intended for your Family I suppose were on board Capt Morgan but have not come to hand. I shou'd have been proud to had an opportunity of sending them forward. I had the pleasure of seeing one of your Brothers here some time since who told me all your family were well —

Tobacco is to be sure a fine price in Europe and I hope we shall benefit thereby before long, both for the Public & in some degree for ourselves also. Shou'd you obtain a French Fleet to come out here, then will be the time to Speculate and I wou'd have you to charter & send out some Ships with Salt for Virginia — Maryland & this place to carry Tobacco back, — my Brother will Conduct the business & you and he must fix the Concern or Shares, but if no fleet, send no Ships — let us wait & look further first — The Congress give me too many employments & heap vastly too much on me for any Man living to do as it shou'd be, — if they had left me to manage their Commercial Matters & those only I cou'd have done great things, but instead of that all their active business is pushed on me, much against my judgement altho inclination prompts me to do what I can in any line that promotes the service of my Country.

I wish for time & opportunities to write you much oftner than I do and I am also very impatient to hear from you again being Dr Sir [&c.]

THOMAS WARNER TO VICE ADMIRAL JAMES YOUNG ¹

(Copy.)

Antigua 11th January 1777.

Sir, On the 8th Instant I was favoured with your first Letter of that date, and on the 9th with your Second Letter of the same date, and in the first of those Letters you are pleased to acquaint me, that an Armed Sloop had taken two Vessels on the high Seas, and brought them into the Port of St John in Antigua, and give me leave, Sir, to inform you that the Owners of that Armed Sloop (which is called the Reprisal) acquainted me therewith, as soon as She had brought in those two Vessels, and I did, with the utmost expedition in my power, proceed against them and their Cargo's as rights and perquisites of the Admiralty, by affixing Monitions up against them, and taking the preparatory examinations usually taken upon the like Occasions, And I am extremely concerned, that you should look upon the Captors of those Vessels and the Owners of the Reprisal, as Robbers upon the High Seas, as I do, with the greatest Submission and deference to you, think that they have not been guilty of the horrid Crime, which you lay to their Charge, and if they have been guilty of any Crime, it is at most only an infringement upon the prerogative of the Crown, but I do not even think that Crime imputable to them, and if it was, I humbly conceive his Majesty would be most graciously pleased to Overlook it, as he has by his Royal Proclamation for suppressing Rebellion and Sedition, dated the 23d of August 1775 thereby declared that not only all his Officers Civil and Military are obliged to exert their utmost endeavours to Suppress such Rebellion, and to bring the Traitors to Justice, but that all the Subjects of his Realm and the Dominions thereunto belonging are bound by Law to be aiding and Assisting in the Suppression of Such Rebellion, and as the King and Parliament of Great Britain have thought that the prohibiting all Trade and intercourse with the Rebellious Colonies would be an Effectual means of Suppressing that Rebellion the Act of the 16th of his Present Majesty was passed, whereby all Ships and Vessels with their Cargos trading contrary to that Act become forfeited to his Majesty as if the same were the Ships and effects of Open Enemies, and for the reasons I have humbly offered to you by my letter of the 7th Instant I do think any of his Majesty's Subjects have a right to distress the Rebels by taking their Ships and Vessels with their Cargos which are found trading Contrary to the Act, and therefore I must decline paying that Obedience to your first Letter, which you require of me of prosecuting the persons concerned in the Reprisal, as Robbers on the high Seas, and give me leave with all due deference to the Station with which his Majesty has honored you, further to add; that it does not lie within your Province to give Orders to me as Attorney General of his Majesty's Leeward Islands to Carry on the prosecutions, which you expect I should do, but that such orders and directions ought to come from his Majesties Commander in Chief for the time being if he should Coincide in Opinion with you, that the present Captures must be considered as Robberies on the high Seas, And if he should be of that Opinion and should direct those rigorous prosecutions to be carried on against the Persons concerned in the Reprisal, as you conceive they are liable to, I would with great Submission to the Commander in Chief absolutely decline being concerned in them, for if I was, I should expect Actions to be brought against me for setting on foot malicious and groundless prosecutions.

I know some of the Owners of the Sloop Reprisal, and from the Characters they have hitherto supported, they would detest the imputation of being looked upon as Robbers upon the high Seas, and if they have erred in fitting out an armed Vessel, such error has proceeded from their Zeal for his Majesty's Service in distressing his Rebellious Subjects by taking from them their property and delivering up the same into his Majesties Court of Vice Admiralty of this Island to be disposed of in the manner that he shall order and direct in case the same shall be adjudged to be Prize of War, and as it has been usual where Seisures have been made of the Enemies property by Noncommissioned Vessels or perso[ns] for his Majesty, to allow them a Bounty according to the trouble and expence they have been at in making them I do not doubt but the Owners of the Reprisal expect to receive such Bounty.

If the Owners of the Reprisal should apprehend that they have been guilty of any offence for which they are Subject to a Civil or Criminal prosecution and it should be thought adviseable to Set on foot such prosecutions against them I am Confident there will be no necessity of Calling in a Military power to make them pay proper Obedience to whatever Sentence or Judgement should be given against them upon such prosecutions. I most earnestly entreat you Sir to lay all those matters before the Commander in Chief of these Islands for his consideration, as he has the honor not only of being Appointed Commander in Chief thereof but also Vice Admiral of the same, by a Commission from the Commissioners for executing the Commission of high Admiral of Great Britain, and the Plantations; and should the Commander in Chief think it unlawfull for Armed Vessels to distress the Enemy he will in all probability point out a proper measure to restrain them from going to Sea But I confess I am at a loss at present what Steps to take for that purpose, and if those Vessels are permitted to go to Sea to Cruize upon the Rebels and the Commanders officers and Mariners belonging thereto should do any Injury or Damage to his Majesty's Subjects or to the Subjects of any foreign power they as well as the Owners of the Armed Vessels would be liable to make good those Injuries and Damages although they have not entered into any Security for that purpose, and the Securities which are given by Privateers upon the breaking out of an Open War between the Crown of Great Britain and any foreign powers are only given in Conformity to particular treaties which are subsisting between Great Britain and the other powers of Europe not at War, but the Prohibitory Act cannot in my humble Opinion be looked upon as a Denunciation of War, but as a merciful Measure to punish his Majesties Rebellious Subjects by the forfeiture of their Vessels and their Cargos which are taken trading contrary to that Act; and in order more effectually to punish them, all intercourse between them and all other Nations is cut off by making the Vessels and Cargos of the Subjects of the Nations confiscable if they are found trading Contrary to the Act. — As to the Legislature of this Island they have no Judicial power or Authorities whatever, and consequently cannot interfere upon the present Occasion and so tender has his Majesty been of the property of his Subjects that such Legislature cannot pass any Bill to affect such property without a Clause is therein inserted to suspend the Execution thereof until his Majesties pleasure is known.

I must again repeat to you Sir the Concern I am under in being obliged thus to interfere in the present Dispute, and I flatter myself that you will not impute my Motives for doing it to a want of proper respect to your Station and Person for both of which I have the greatest honor. I am with the greatest respect, Sir [&c.]

Thomas Warner.

CAPTAIN JOHN PAUL JONES TO THE CONTINENTAL MARINE COMMITTEE¹

Gentlemen

Boston 12th Jany 1777 –

I had the honor of writing to you yesterday – but as the express did not set out as was expected I shall now add what I there Proposed and give you a particular Account of my late Cruise – the inclosed copies of my letters will explain what preceeded the 16th of November – on the 18th we had a Gale from the N E with Snow – it could not be called a hard Gale – however to Prevent seperation I spoke with the Providence and Mellish and Ordered them to Lay too – but to my great Surprise the next Morning I found that the Providence had disappeared. Previous to this Step there had been an Unaccountable murmuring in the Sloop for which I could see no Just foundation And in Vain had I represented to them how much humanity was concerned in our endeavours to relieve our Captive ill treated Brethren from the Coal Mines. – Since my Arrival here I understand that as Soon as Night came on they Put before the Wind. – Being thus deserted the Epidemical discontent became General on Board the Alfred – the Season was indeed Severe and every one was for returning immediatly to port but I was determined at all hazards while my provision lasted to persevere in my first plan. – When the Gale abated I found myself in sight of the N E Reef of the Isle of Sable & the wind continuing Northerly Obligated me to beat up the South Side of the Island – After exercising much Patience I weathered the N W Reef of the Island and on the 22d being off Canso I sent my Boats in to Burn a Fine Transport with Irish Provision Bound for Canada she having run aground within the Harbour – they were also ordered to Burn the Oil warehouse with the Contents and all the Materials for the Fishery which having effected – I carried off a small fast sailing schooner which I purposed to Employ as a Tender instead of the Providence. – on the 24th off Louisburg, it being thick Weather, in the Afternoon I found myself Surrounded by three Ships. – Every one Assured me that they were English Men of War and indeed I was of that Opinion myself – for I had been informed by a Gentleman who came off from Canso that three Frigates on that Station had been Cruising for me ever Since my expedition there in the Providence – Resolving to sell my liberty as dear as possible I stood for and Took the nearest – I took Also the Other two 'tho they were at a Considerable distance Assunder. – these three Ships were Transports Bound from the Coal Mines of Cape Briton for N. York Under Convoy of the Flora Frigate – they had Seen her a few hours before and had the weather been clear She would then have been in Sight. – they left no Transports behind them at Spanish River but they said the Roe Buck man of War was Stationed there and that if there had been any Prisoners of ours there they had entered.²

I made the best of my way to the Southward to prevent falling in with the Flora the next day – and on the 26th I fell in with and took a Ship of Ten Guns from Liverpool for Hallifax. – I had now on Board an Hundred and Forty Prisoners – So that my Provision was consumed very Fast – I had the Mellish – the three Ships from the Coal Mines – and the last taken Ship under Convoy – the best of my Sailors were sent on Board these Five Ships And the number left were barely Sufficient to Guard the Prisoners – So that All circumstances considered I concluded it most for the intrest and Honor of the Service to Form the Prizes into a Squadron and proceed with them into Port. I was unfortunate in meeting with high Winds and Frequent Gales from the Westward – I however kept the Squadron together 'till the 7th of December on St Georges Bank – when a large Ship Gave us chace –³ as She came so neare before Night that we could distinguish her as a Ship of War – I ordered the Mellish (the Clothing Ship) and the rest of the Fastest Sailors to Crowd Sail and go a Head – I kept the Liverpool Ship with me as She was of some Force and her Cargo by invoice not worth more than £ 1100 Sterling – in the Night I tacked and afterwards carried a Top light in order to lead the Enemy away from the Ships that had been Ordered a head – in the Morning they were out of sight and I found the Enemy two points on my lee Quarter at the same distance as the night before. As the Alfreds Provisions and Water were by this time almost entirely consumed so that She sailed very ill by the Wind – And as the Ship I had by me (the John) made much less lee Way I ordered her to Fall a Stern to Windward of the Enemy and Make the Signal Agreed on if She was of Superiour or inferiour Force – that in the one Case we might each make the best of our Way – or in the Other come to Action. –

After a considerable time the Signal was made that the Enemy Was of Superiour Force – but in the intrim the wind had increased with Severe Squalls to a Hard Gale so that in the Evening I drove the Alfred thro' the Water Seven and Eight Knots under two Courses a point from the Wind – towards Night the Enemy Wore on the Other Tack – but before that time the Sea had risen so very high that it was impossible to Hoist out a Boat – So that had he even been near the John it would have been impossible for him to have Taken her unless they had Wilfully given her up and continued Voluntarily by the Enemy through the Whole of the very dark and Stormy night that ensued. –⁴

On the 14th Ulto in the Evening the wind blowing hard Northerly and fearing to be driven out of this Bay without Provision if a Gale Succeeded, I resolved to run into Plymouth – but in Working up the Harbour the Ship Missed Stays in a Violent Snow Squall on the South Side which Obligated me to Anchor immediatly in little more than three Fathom. she grounded at low Water and Beat considerably but we got her off in the Morning – and Arrived the 15th in Nantasket Road with a tight Ship and no perceptible damage whatever – I had then only two days provision left and the Number of my prisoners brought in equalled the Number of my Whole Crew when I left Rhode Island – I had the precaution to Order the Mellish, in case of Separation, to proceed thro'

Nantucket Shoals – as the Prize Master was Acquainted. this saved that Capital prize from being retaken by the Enemy at Rhode Island. –

Thus have I laid before you a particular and Faithful Account of all my proceedings My Success hath indeed fallen far short of my wishes – Yet all Circumstances considered I am perswaded that you will not blame my conduct which I do and shall always Submit with becoming deference to Your Censure or Aprobation – as my wishes lead me to the most Active and enterprizing Services I shall always be Ambitious to receive and Obey your Commands – I have the Honor to be Gentlemen [&c.] J.P.J.

CAPTAIN JOHN PAUL JONES TO JOSEPH HEWES ¹

Honored Sir

Boston 12th Jany 1777 –

Inclosed I send a copy of my last to you before I left Rhode Island with the Alfred and Providence ² Since, as I now understand, you were not at that time returned from Carolina to Congress so that the original hath not perhaps found it's way to your hands. – I would not wish the Sentiments in it to escape your perusal for tho' I have expressed myself with a freedom becoming an honest Man Yet every word is dictated from a Heart that Esteems you with Perfect Gratitude. – for the particulars of my late Cruise I beg leave to refer you to my letters to the Marine Board: I took a Prize which by the Within letters you will See I intended for No Carolina – but to My no small concern the prize-Master hath thought proper to break his Orders and to go into Dartmouth in this State Altho' he had on board a full Sufficiency of every thing to have enabled him to pursue his Voyage ³ – in like manner the Captain of the Providence thought proper to dispence with his Orders and give me the Slip in the Night which entirely Overset the Expedition – If such doings are permitted the Navy will never rise Above contempt! – the aforesaid Noble Captain doth not understand the first case of plain Trigonometry yet it is avered that he hath had the Honor and that his Abilities have enabled him to command a Passage Boat Between Rhode Island and Providence long before the War Begun – ⁴

There is a Fellow who calls himself a Commodore ⁵ and who keeps us at Awful distance by Wearing an English Broad Pendant – he had lately the Honor of being a Stick officer Vulgarly Called Boatswains Mate in an English Man of War and was duely Qualified for that heigh Station, if Fame Says true as appears by his not Deigning to Read English Besides among many evident proofs of his Abilities as port Captain that Might be enumerated – this notable one may perhaps be Sufficient – for it seems that in his Absence he directs the First Lieüt to take Orders from the Boatswain – Nay 'tis that on certain occasions he takes the Speaking Trumpet out of the Lieutenants hand on the Quarter Deck and delivers it on the Fore Castle to the Boatswain. – To be very serious, that such Despicable Characters should have Obtained Commissions as Commanders in a Navy is truly Astonishing and [might] Pass for Romance with me unless I had been convinced by my Senses of the Sad Reality. – I could easily enumerate many other characters as truly Original as Commission Officers but it gives me extreme pain to be Under the necessity of Attacking private Characters. – it is however some Consolation – indeed a great one that this depravity is not Universal – Among other deserving Characters that belong to the Fleet – I am happy from personal acquaintance to mention Captain [Hector] McNeill as a Gentleman who will do Honor to the Service – I have conceived a Very good Opinion Also of Captain [Thomas] Thompson from some accounts which I have heard – I need not therefore name this great Man this Commodore! tho' I will if call'd upon and in the Meantime I aver that he is Altogether Unfit to Command a Frigate of thirty two Guns. – As I will probably write you again Very soon I will add no more at this time I am with Gratitude and Esteem Hond Sir [&c.]

CAPTAIN JOHN PAUL JONES TO ROBERT MORRIS ¹

Honored Sir

Boston 12th Jany 1777 –

I am happy in this Opportunity of thanking you for the kind and favourable mention which Mr [Abraham] Livingston informs me you have made of my former letters, –

Should Mr H[ewes] be at present Absent from Congress I must beg you to look over the Inclosed letters for him before you forward them Should the expedition Spoke of in my last to you be put in execution, as it may take up eight Months or upwards and as the Season is now So far Advanced it will be most Advisable to Set out early in the Spring so that the Prizes may reach the Continent in the beginning of the ensuing Winter. –²

I need not observe to you that Secrecy is Above all things to be attended to in every expedition – None besides the Principle in Command ought to be made Acquainted with the plan or d[e]stination – the bounty Offered by the Artillery who are enlisting here being from 26 to £36 lawful Money for three Years Service induces all the Seamen to Enter. – the Seamen have been [very] ill used and the Navy hath been much hurt by [the cursed] Association for the Joint Share of Prize M[oney] [illegible] the Fleet whither present at t[he capture or absent] the Gentry who Set that Agreement on Foot and who Carried it thro' the Fleet at Reedy Island have taken Care to keep out of harms Way themselves ever Since our Grand Affair with the Glascow – Nay one of those Arch Patriots when Ordered to Philadelphia told the Commodore who repeated it to me, that if the other two were willing himself would Agree to be Broke if the Congress would Allow them half pay – the Same Gentleman kept his Ship Eight months in Providence River and then left her with a Fished Main Mast and only one Common pump that would work.³ – But we Surely never can have a Navy Under good disciplin or well Manned Untill Some effectual expedient is Adopted to induce the Seamen to enter for an Unlimited time – perhaps it might answer if the Seamen in America were Numbered and formed into a certain Number of Classes Subject to serve in their turns – but the most infallible method is to give them All they Take – I will add something more as I shall have Another Opportunity in a day or two I have the Honor to be with Grateful Esteem and Respect Sir [&c.]

J.P.J

N.B. If you please to – look over the inclosed copy of my letter to the Council here and of their Answer or rather Order to me you will See the treatment which I have had from that House – I wish to know [whether] they Ought or ought not to Assume Authority over the Navy.

ROBERT MORRIS TO JOHN LANGDON¹

Philadelphia Jany 12th 1777

. . . The letters I recd from you in answer to my proposals for speculating in prize goods &c &c are in the country with my other papers and such variety of business has gone through my hands since that I do not perfectly remember their contents, but think you had made some purchases which I very much approved at the time and wished you to proceed, being certain that goods bought with judgment at moderate prices must answer very well – I continue of the same mind and authorize you to proceed not doubting your utmost care and attention as to quality and prices as well as to the safety of the goods after bought.

I wish also that you would buy a good prize vessel, double decked and pick up a cargo for her suitable for France, dispatch her for Bordeaux consigned to Messrs Saml and J H Delap with orders to make sale of both vessel and cargo provided that vessel can be sold for a sum equal to her first cost which I am in hopes will be very reasonable, you'll put in a prudent, careful master and send her away soon as possible because I think the risk of the voyage inconsiderable during the winter. I do not particularize the articles to comprise this cargo because I don't know what you can get, but masts, spars, oak plank, beeswax, pearl and potash, fish, oil &c &c are wanted in that country and will answer well if laid in at moderate prices and unless this can be done, I would drop the plan altogether, but if it can be executed reasonably, the sooner the better and the value of vessel and cargo not to exceed three thousand pounds lawful money. you'll tell Messrs Delap to hold the proceeds in their hands subject to any orders and if they cannot sell the vessel to send her back to you with a cargo of salt. . . .

WILLIAM RICHARDS TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE PENNSYLVANIA COUNCIL OF SAFETY¹

[Extract]

[Philadelphia, January 12] 1777²

Should General Washington be so lucky as to drive the Enemy out of the Jerseys, will they not make a bold push to attack us by water, and that much Earlier in the Spring than we are aware of? Is not Billings Port by nature Capable of being made very Strong, so as to support the Cheveux de Frise that may be sunk in the Channel, that, with our other Force may be a means of keeping them back, with the help of the Fire ships and Boats? Suppose they should surmount all these Difficulties and get a breast of this Town, have we not a second Chance, and I think a very good one, namely, a Number of Fire Ships and Boats to be plac'd above and below this Town, with small Batteries on Every Wharf, with the men well Cover'd?

When the Ships get before your Town, they must stay; they cannot Slip and run off[f]; the Channel is so narrow that one of there largest Ships Cant Come to sail without keeping in the middle of the Channel, which is not to be done unless they are favour'd in a particular manner with Wind and Tide.

New-York, January 13.

On Wednesday last, the 8th Instant; the Bristol, Vice Admiral Lord Shulldham, sailed for England; and, as the Wind was fair, got out to Sea immediately.

Many Prizes have been sent into the Harbor in the Course of the last Week; and the Ships are playing Havock with the Rebel Privateers. Some of the Frigates with Copper bottoms outsail every thing they see; and the swiftest Privateers of the Rebels find it impossible to get away from them.

Capt. Hammond, of the Roebuck, has taken the Lexington Privateer, one of the swiftest Vessels the Rebels had fitted out, and converted her into a Tender for his Majesty's Service.¹

It is said, that the British Fleet is so disposed upon the Coast of this Continent, that it will be very difficult for any Ships of the Rebels in future to escape them.

Every Attention will always be paid here to the property of any of the friends of the United States and you may depend, that every thing has been done in this Affair, as far as is consistent with those regulations, that have been adopted for the Government of the Continent. Agreeable to your directions we have kept the Most of our Carpenters employd on the Ships,² but as there is not much carpenters work now to be done on board and we cannot employ them without great disadvantage to the Ships: would recomend to have them employed cutting Ship Timber to be rode down to some landing when the Slaying is good, which will be ready whenever wanted – Phillip Livingston Esqr informs Mr [Lancaster] Burling that had not this State been invaded we Should have had a Seventy four Gun Ship to build and from the Success of our Arms in the State of New Jersey gives us reason to think that the Timber wont be lost. If we keep the Carpenters on the Ships it will make them come much higher and be a disadvantage to this State in future. Mr. Burling the bearer one of our master builders can give you the fullest information.

There is not much above a week's work for all the Carpenters on the Ship Genl Montgomery. I am with great respect, Gentlemen, [&c.]

Dear Genl

Shrewsbury 14th Jany 1777.

I must beg you will immediately send me one Field Piece, I find the Kings Stores than we can get Wagons to carry off. I wish you would send forward all the Wagons you can collect.

I would advise a Company to be sent to the Court House in order to press Wagons and bring them down which they might also Guard up. I am Just now Informed that the Enemy have Landed a party at Red Bank to the Northward

CAPTAIN SIR GEORGE COLLIER, R.N., TO PHILIP STEPHENS ¹[Rainbow at Halifax] 15th Jany 1777

In Addition to the preceding Letter [January 8], Sir, I beg leave to acquaint their Lordships that H M S Lizard arrivd here on the 9th Instant from the Bay of Fundy, in a very weak State, as their Lordships will see by her weekly return, & by her Defects mark'd No 5.

Lord Howe was pleasd to signifye to me his Permission that I might send the Milford to England to be cleand, if Capt [John] Burr had resumed the Command of Her, & if She was not immediately wanted on this Station; but as Capt Burr is too ill at present to return to his Duty, & as the Milford is very fit to Cruize, I have thought it most for His Majs Service (& Commissioner Arbuthnot agrees with me) to continue the Milford on her former Station (i.e. off Boston,) & to send the Lizard to England in her Room; whose Frame is much out of Order from lying 8 Months ashore at Quebec, & whose other numerous Defects & Wants (particularly all her Masts & Boltsprit to be shifted) would make the giving Her proper Repair at this Yard (where we have very few Artificers) a Work of great Time, as well as considerable additional Expence to Government: I hope therefore the Measure of sending the Lizard home, will be approv'd of by their Lordships; I shall direct Capt [Thomas] Mackenzie to Convoy such Ships, &c., as are bound to England, or Ireland (from hence), so far, as their Way lies together, & then proceed to Portsmouth at the Request of the Merchants of this Place who have shipped a Quantity of Specie on board Her, for London.

My Friend

Portsmouth January 15. 77 -

This is only to inclose you Letter & to inform I've received yours of the 24th Ultimo from Baltimore, am much obliged for the Intelligence I find many of my Letters have miscarried; I shall be obliged to send some person &c for money to carry on the Business as I am entirely out and all my own expended I shall write you fully then am Cutting Timber for the 74 but no Snow to hall it am much afraid shall have but little this winter - Cap. Roche's Ship is raised but stand still for want of Snow to hall the Timber which has been cut six Weeks and hewed in the Woods the Weather has been such that neither Wheels nor Sled can pass

Two Days ago I received a Letter from the Honle [Marine] Committee that Capt [Thomas] Thompson was ordered to Sail immediately and to this order I find your name, which surprised me not a little as you must know by my Letters that we have not a gun nor the least prospect of one; those at Connecticut the Agent has let Mr Manly ² have them I understand tho' we applied first and as I understood from your Letters a recommendation went from the Honle Marine Committee that I should have them If its in the power of Agents Committees or Captains to Superseed all the Orders of Congress or Marine Committee I must wait till every Ship is served, it's an odd way of doing business to say that the first Ship by Six Months that was ready shall be by some unaccountable fatality the last to Sea, however if this is the pleasure of the Committee Ive no more to say, by you, by Capt Falconer & all my Letters for one Year last past I should have tho't the situation of my Ship was known Ive received a Letter from Governor Trumbull by a Man I sent to him, who Says he could not furnish the Guns at present as those which he cast were delivered the Agent Mr Dean [Barnabas Deane] for the use of the Ship ³ this I understand is the Case, Mr Manly goes after the Guns did not see Mr Dean at Connecticut, but when at Boston saw Mr Dean who agreed with him or Mr [Richard] Derby who was employed for to get the Guns, to let him have all the Twelve pounders he had for Cap. Manly at a certain Commission if these Guns belong to the Continent how they can be sold on Commission I know not unless the Continent is to pay for them twice in short nothing in all my Life has ever given me half so [much] the pain as the seeing this Ship lay here at Such an expence since June last and now not the least prospect of Guns all owing in my Oppinion to some unfair Dealing; why this Ship had not those Guns from Connecticut I know not unless because I could not afford to give a Commission on Guns which I tho't were the Continents If my business would admit of it I would Certainly go up myself & lay this matter before Congress such Damnable Conduct is not to be born with I shall get Capt. Thompson or one of his Officers to go to Baltimore about this Matter he is now at Boston seeing about the Guns, had I tho't of being Slighted so much in the Guns nothing should induced me to have built her under the Heavens – My Good Friend, my blood now boils and so must yours at such Conduct I'm getting Vessels ready for Virginia I am Standing Still for want of Thirty or Forty Thousand Dollars –

In a day or two after,³ I went over on a party to Capt. Nicholas Websters, to Rehobeth, while I was on this party Governor [Stephen] Hopkins & Com. [Esek] Hopkins sent over Capt. Henry Dayton to me, to come to Providence, immediately after, they informed me that they contemplated fixing out a Cartel, to send to Newport and for me to take out of the Sloop Providence 2 men to go with me, as there was some prisoners coming from Boston, and one Capt. Ayeres [John Ayres] of Boston was to go Captain of the Cartel, as he was not to know who we were, that was a going his men, from that time I began to let my beard grow so as to disguise me, I took 2 of our midshipmen from the Sloop Providen[ce] the time soon arrived when the British prisoners came with Capt Ayeres from Boston; we one and all disguised ourselves in the sailo[r] dress, and made sail for Newport, and came to anchor near the long wharf, when shortly a barge came from the ship Renown [Chatham], of 50 guns, laying outside the fort. I informed Capt. Ayers and the British officer, that our cable was so poor, we should be apt to go ashore, if we ware to go out side of the Fort-Island; by that means the barge went on board, and brought a Midshipmen, and some men with him to take charge of the Cartel, and the British allowed Capt. Ayres to go on shore, when the prisoners were landed, and he went to Mr: Thomas Townsends.

Very cold weather and the cove froze over, I had the pleasure of seeing the Diamond frigate lying on a crean [careen], below the long Wharf, stopping up her bruises we gave her the week before, at Warwick neck, and now I was contriving how I should get on shore, I says nothing to my 2 ship mates, but knowing we had but one gang cask of water on board, we had plenty of good rum and sugar, knowing that sailors liked a sling or can[t]hook, in the morning, such bitter cold weather, I stept into the hole [sic hold] in the night, and turned the gang cask bung down, so that in the morning we had no water on board. You must think I went by the name of Jack, by my shipmates; so as to deceive Capt. Ares.

At daylight, as I expected, our British officer wanted a sling, as Jack was very attentive, they says to me have you got any good spirits on board? I informed as good as Jamaica could afford, then they says, "make a sling, well to the northward," I immediately told my shipmate Tom (as that was the name he went by then) to get the water, whilst I would get the rum and sugar ready, Tom went into the hol[d] and soon returned swearing, and said, by some accident the cask had got bung down, and there was no water on board, this was a short time after daylight, the officer turns to me and says "Jack; do you know where you can get water handy." I informed him that I had sailed from this place some time before, and told him there was some good water near the long wharf, "Jack;" says this officer, ["step into the boat with 2 hands," (that was our midshipmen, Tom and William, them were the names we sailed by, then) and the officer gave us a strict charge, not to be gone more than 20 minutes. This was just what I wanted, I went into Mr. Philip Wantons dock, took out the gang cask, and my 2 midshipmen carried it up. I went with them into Mr. Wantons washroom, where they had a pump, with good water, who should I see there, but Mr. George Lawton, washing his hands, I asked him to lend me a funnel to fill the cask; he told me [he] had none, but told me Mrs Battey had one, on the long wharf, I saw Mr. Lawton looked hard at me, but I made myself scarce. I went to Mrs. Batteys and found her alone, making a fire, I knew her well. I asked Mrs. Battey to lend me a funnel; she answered very short, no! As no soul was near I went up to her & told her she should lend me one; She knew my mode of speaking, and says for Gods sake, where are you from? I informed her from Providence "how did you leave my son?" meaning Capt. Henry Dayton, I informed her, well. "now," says she, "speak low, for I have got over head several of the British officers boarders with me, and I expect Mr. Battey ashore this morning, as he is a pilot on board one of the ships of war, and if he sees you he may know you, here is the funnel, will you eat or drink any thing," I told her no. I must remark 4 or 5 months before, I took up this same Battey for a tory. I had the cask filled in a short time, and carried the funnel back, [w]e had considerable conversation, and before I left her, she said she was afraid her son, and I, would be hanged, for the British certainly would beat the Americans, I laughed at her, and said that can never be, and never saw her more.

I then went to the longboat and got in the gang cask of water, and then the tide was about half down. I says to Tom & Will, let the boat now ground, for I want to take a cruise round town, which they did. I then went to Mr. Peleg Barkers, where the Commanders of the Hessians quartered, I found Sentries at the front door, and likewise at the wharf, I went down across two wharfs below, and went into the back door, I found the kitchen full of Hessians, as I was well acquainted with the house, I shaped my course for the S.W. room, there I found Mr. Barkers family & likewise Deacon Peckham from Middletown whom I was very glad to see, although they were very much frightened to see me there, I soon got them reconciled and told them to make themselves easy, for I beleive[d] I knew what I was about, We soon got into conversation, I made an enquiry concerning the troops on the Island, and where they were stationed, I was much pleased to get this account, which I had no expectation of. After I got all the information I could get there, I went to Mr. Waldrons, there I found a small family dog, my father had left behind, moving away in such haste, I let him stay there until I went to Capt. Lilibridges on the Parade, then it was about 11 o clock. He kept a tavern, I went in and called for a sling, the room was crowded with British and Hessian officers, I immediately went into the Kitchen where the family were, knowing that Capt. Lilibrige had been treated ill by the British, and had no regard for them. I in a short time followed him out to the barn, and no one near, I made myself known to him, he immediately left the barn and we went into the east room by ourselves, he gave me what refreshment I wanted; and there I could see all the British officers and soldiers, and old refugee torys, walking about the parade, but he could not help shedding tears for my safety for fear of one of our townsmen that visited his house all times in the day. I was viewing the Parade when this, one of the worst of villains (his name was Will. Crosen) came running up the steps and came right to the east door where we were, he was not soon enough for I stepped to the door and put my finger on the catch and he supposed it was fast went immediately through the bar room into the kitchen. I never bade my friend Lilibrige good bye, but stepped out on the parade and direct before me was Mr. John Wanton, he spoke to me and called me by name, but I did not answer him, and went immediately down the long wharf, quick step. I went round the point to Mrs. Waldrons where my dog was. there I spent some time, got some refreshment, then it was about 3 o'clock I thought by this time our boat would be afloat. I then bid Mrs. Waldron and the family good bye, took my favourite dog, and went for the boat, just as I got near Mr. Jacob Richardsons, on the long wharf, I met the Midshipman just got on shore, he handed me out a few curses and damns. I informed him that our boat had got aground, he told me to go on board immediately, for says he, you have got some damn good friends here. I said but little, made the best of my way to the boat, found her afloat and my comrades waiting for me, we soon rowed off, but I must not forget I saw Mr. Peleg Barker and his son Peleg, going down the long Wharf and eyeing me and I well knew the anxiety they had to see me get on board the cartel, and as she lay off the head of the wharf, we very soon got on board. I had not been long on board, before Capt. Ares was ordered on board, as it was said I was at New Port, but few would beleive it. Capt. Ares said if it had not been for me, he could have staid on shore, I informed him I thought it must be a mistake, but the next day we took in some passengers and some American Prisoners, we were ordered for Providence the wind being partly ahead we were obliged to beat some before we got by a British Ship of war, that lay off from Prudence but as soon as we got by the upper ship I left tending the gib shee[t] and went aft. I says to Will. come now, take your turn forward, so I took the helm, I saw Capt. Ares eyed me, As I thought. it was not long before we got abreast of Patuxet, where our sloop lay. The barge came along side, I took 1 man in my room to work the Cartel up to Com. Whipples Ship, and I went on board the sloop Providence

I had then answered all, and more than all my expectation[s] for I had in my head all their ships of war and where they were station[ed] I immediately shaved and dressed myself in my sunday dress, I proceded immediately on board Com. Whipples Ship, where I found Capt. Ares; after Capt. Ares had gone through his conversation, the Com. turns to me and asked me what I had discovered. Capt. Ares looked at me and did not know me, after we had got through Capt. Ares turns to me and says, "I would not run the risk for the Cartel loaded with dollars," I told him I had answered all my expectatio[ns] and more than I expected.

Number 19.

Sir

Eagle New York

January the 15th 1777.

Being yet unable, from the Effects of a late Illness, to attend much to Business, I must hope their Lordships will permit me on the present occasion to refer them for Information respecting the State and Disposition of this Fleet, to the Returns and Copies of Instructions to the Commodores Sir Peter Parker and Hotham, herewith enclosed.

To those Papers I have added the Duplicate of a Letter I have lately received from Captain [Richard] Pearson, representing the present Situation and proposed future Employment of the Ships of War left to winter in the Saint Laurence.

Their Lordships will observe in the State of the Ships on this Part of the Coast, that the first Lieutenants are absent from the Amazon and Flora: The former having been appointed by Captain [Maximilian] Jacobs to command the Lord Howe Armed Ship, in the care of which the Lieutenant [George] Berkeley of the Isis (then on the Point of returning to England) had been placed; and the other by Captain [John] Brisbane to command the Liverpool, at Halifax; Captain [Henry] Bellew being by his ill State of Health unable at that time to proceed to Sea in the Ship. Thinking both these Appointments very unnecessary; And further, by weakening the Frigates destined to remain and be employed on Service abroad, as unwarrantable; I have judged it requisite to signify that Disapprobation to the two Captains concerned. I am, with great Consideration, Sir [&c.]

Dear Sir

Boston Jany. 16 1777

In my last of the 13 Instant P Express I wrote you that I had received your Favor of the 28 december last, & that I was oblidged to you for kindly offering to me the Care & management of Building the Two Ships, one for 74 Guns & the other for 36 Guns which the Congress had determined to build in this State & that I chearfully Accepted the offer & should endeavor to execute your orders with respect to the Building of them with dispatch and fidelity, as to the Terms I left it to your Honor & the Congress to determine what allowance they would make me for transacting this business being fully persuaded that they will do that which is reasonable and just - I have agreeable to your directions taken the advice of Council as to the most suitable pl[aces] for building these Ships & they upon Considering the Matter have advised me to build the 74 Gun Ship at Boston & the 36 Gun Ship on Merrimack River, I wish they had advised me to build both Ships in Boston for the sake of the poor people, Cannot the Marine Committee give me discretionary orders about this matter? The Council apprehended it woud be too great a risque to build both Ships at Boston & also thought they could not be built so Cheap in Boston as in Merrimack river -

I have sent a person into the Country to engage proper Persons to fell the Timber, I hope you will immediately send me the dimensions as they will be wanted directly in order to determine the size of the Timber & in what manner it shall be hewed, please also to send me drafts for each Ship - It will be extreamely difficult if not impossible to procure within this Government the necessary materials for the Ships - No Iron is to be had here, the last sold for the enormous price of Eighty pounds lawful money P Ton, pray send me fifty Tons of Bar Iron from Baltimore immediately, as many of our northern Vessells are there, you may easily prevail with some of them to take a quantity upon freight – It will certainly turn out vastly cheaper for the Continent, nay I do not see how I shall obtain it any other way – You may send some also from Philadelphia, I hope the Congress will also take Care seasonable to provide the Duck & Cordage for these Ships, Cannot the Hemp be sent from Baltimore or some part of Maryland or from Philadelphia, Cordage is got up to the Enormous price of Nine pounds P hundred & is Still Rising – As Capt Bradford & the other Agents cannot at present pay me any Money I have been obliged yesterday to draw a Bill upon you for Thirteen hundred Dollars in favor of Messrs S[amuel] White & Jo[seph] Cushing which I doubt not will meet with due honor – I hope dayly to receive from you some money to discharge [all] Bills relative to the Ships Hancock & Boston & that you w[ill] also furnish me with Cash to pay for the Timber & other materials for the Ship now about to be built. I remain with great respect [&c.]

CAPTAIN JOHN PAUL JONES TO ROBERT MORRIS¹

Boston Jan'y 16, 1777

As I am not well assured of your having received my first letter in the Providence – I have taken the liberty of inclosing a Copy. – I must here Assert that it is both Unjust and inimical to the intrest of the Service that any Person or persons belonging to the Navy should share in Prizes when they were themselves Absent and out of harms way when the Capture was made – by this ~~damned~~ Unprecedented Association² which was effected by Fellows who have consulted their Personal Safty ever since, the Navy hath received more real injury than the sum Total of all the benifit which hath Accrued from their past or which is likely to Accrue from their future Services – for prize-money is thereby become so very intricate and perplexed – that the greatest part of the Seamen deserted immediatly After their return from New Providence – And those poor fellows who have faithfully Served the term of their Enlistment Are deterred from Entering as they have not recd, nor is their any prospect of their receiving a Shilling of Prize Money – so that it makes my heart Bleed to See them half Naked at this Severe Season. – Such an Association was never known to be binding for more than a Single cruise therefore in the present Case it is hieghly requisite that it Should be Set Aside and Some happy expedient fallen upon to induce the Seamen to enter chearfully into the Service for an Unlimited Time.

I did not 'till a few minutes ago hear of this Opportunity by Mr Cumberland Dougall [Dugan] of Baltimore and As he is to set out immediatly I am obliged to curtail My letter otherwise I had considerably more to Add –

I Inclose in this Packet a Copy of my letter lately forwarded to the Marine Board with an Estimate of the Expenxe of Altering the Alfred – But I must repeat my Opinion, that She is now much better calculated for the Merchant Service than She can be made for War and as She is calculated for Stowing Tobacco She would make a good remittance to France. – My prize the Mellish Transport, as she was lately a Bomb in the English Service, would make a better Ship of War than the Alfred from the Ben[d]s downwards She is one Solid Bed of Timber She sails as well as the Alfred and is not near So Crank so that her lee Guns would be servicable when the Alfreds will not. – I understand that there is a Quantity of Nine Pounders to Spare at New London – and the Mellish would Mount 18 or 20 on one Deck – the Alfreds Guns are of such a Variety of lengths and Sizes that it is both difficult and dangerous to Fight them and the Nine pounders are all too long for Sea Service – should You resolve to convert the Mellish into a Ship of War I believe she may be fitted better here than at Dartmouth where she now is. – I will esteem the honor of hearing from you as soon as may be convenient – and it will Always give me pleasure to receive and Obey your Commands. – I understood by the report of Captain [Nathaniel] Falconer that I was Appointed to one of the Ships at Philadelphia – And Mr [Abraham] Livingston is Also of that Opinion. – Perhaps they have been mistaken – however I submit My Appointment as well as my Rank and destination entirely to You – As I am well Assured that if I have any Merit or Abilities they will not be Overlooked or Superseded – I have the honor to be with Grateful Esteem and Respect Sir [&c.]

JONATHAN JACKSON TO ELBRIDGE GERRY¹

Dear Sir

Boston 16th Jany 1777.

Having no Friends among the Gentn at Congress, Delegates from this Government, I can claim so much personal Acquaintance with, as yourself, I take the Liberty to call off your Attention a few Minutes from the more weighty Concerns in Politics, to ask your Friendship to one or two Friends of mine, who have a Veiw to some Appointments by your honble Body – Capt James Tracy a Friend of mine & Kinsman to Mrs Jackson, is desirous of being appointed to the Command of one of the Continental Frigates – he was bred up in the British Navy & is perfectly well acquainted with the Regulations of a Man of War – tho' not born in the Country, he is a warm Friend for it's Liberties; & discovered such personal Bravery & Coolness of Temper in the Action he so long & vigorously maintained against the Milford Frigate, in the Yankee Hero Privateer the last Summer,² (the Circumstances of which I suppose did not wholly escape you at Phila), that I believe few Men this way are better qualified for such a Command as Capt Tracy wishes for – I inclose you an Extract of a Lr to Genl Washington wrote by Council when my Bror Nat went to solicit an Exchange with Ld Howe of the Offrs & Men of the Y Hero – by it you will perceive the Opinion of the honble Board as to their Merit, while the Action was fresh in their Honour's Memory – Capt Tracy has declined several advantageous Offers to command sundry private Vessels of War & those the most respectable here fitting out – he has Ambition, & perhaps has formed some pleasing Veivs of a rising American Navy, in which Merit may be preferred – I refer you to my Bror Nathl Tracy, should he meet you upon his present Journey to the Southward, for any Enquiries you may please to make respecting Capt Tracy (who is his Companion in this Journey) & if you can satisfy yourself he has sufficient Merit, you will oblige me to give him your Friendship & Influence for such an Appointment as I have mentioned, & in him I think you will recommend a deserving, capable Man, & may thereby do a real Service to the Country –

My Friend Mr Martin Brimmer of this Town wrote some time since mentioning to his Friends at Congress that the Appointment of Auctioneer for all Prize Contl Goods bro't into this State would be acceptable to him – I know of no Man more capable of the Business or more deserving of it, if any Profit is annexed to it – permit me to ask your Friendship for him in this particular you'll please to excuse my Freedom in this & my other Request – I give you Joy of the favourable Turn in our Affairs – may our Success continue, & we learn to deserve it –

I write you not the State of Things with us, not only because I should not know where to begin or where to end, but because I suppose you have corresponding Friends here, who can in this Respect serve you much better – I am Dr Sir with regard & Esteem [&c.]

Boston, January 16, 1777.

We learn from Halifax, That the Brig Independence, in the Service of this State, commanded by Captain [Simeon] Sampson, was lately taken, by [George] Dawson,¹ in Company with a Transport Ship, after a smart Engagement, and carried into Annapolis Royal, in Nova-Scotia. — The Brig engaged Dawson for near Two Hours, when the Transport Ship, having 100 Soldiers on board, concealed, came up, and fired a Volley of Small Arms into the Brig, which obliged her to give over the Contest.

Captain Sampson, would undoubtedly have taken Dawson, before the Ship came up, had his Men stood to their Quarters; two or three of whom, he Shot for deserting their Post.

. . . Albany & all the Country round it is famous for Slays & Sleds, and we have no doubt but General Schuyler cou'd with ease collect a sufficient Number to carry 1000, or 1500 Men across the Lakes, with such Stores Provisions & Artillery as may be necessary, the quantity of these need not be very considerable because the Movement in Slays will be very rapid & the Sole object of this expedition shou'd be to burn all the Enemies Vessells in the Lake which we apprehend may be effected with ease & when once done, let them return. the Surprize of the Enemy will prevent their following We hope this matter may deserve attention & if the plan be adopted Some Sea officers might be found here that wou'd be usefull Congress will excuse us for troubling them with our thoughts, we shoud do it were we with them.

We have the pleasure to inform you of the safe arrival of the Sloop Sachem Capt James Robison from Martinico, but the letters are not yet come up, so that we know not what stores or advices she brings, You shall be informed soon as possible, the Men of War have been chasing her about the Coast for ten days past, but she slipt in at last & we believe is got into Morris's River from whence we shall order up her Cargo in Waggon.

You have herein the Copy of Capt Jones's Acc[ount] of his last expedition in the Alfred,² he is a fine Fellow and shou'd be constantly kept employed, If

Antigua 16th January 1777 –

Sir, I am to acquaint you, that certain Inhabitants of the Island of Antigua, have lately fitted out an Armed Sloop called the Reprisal, from the Port of St Johns; and without Commission or any Lawful Authority from the Crown, have caused her to proceed to Sea; and to Cruize for and make Capture of any American Vessels She can meet with; three such Vessels, She has already taken upon the High Seas, and sent them into the Island of Antigua to be prosecuted in the Court of Vice Admiralty as Prize of War; and it seems expect to be rewarded both by the Court of Admiralty, and by the King, for the making such Captures.

I am likewise informed that several other Adventurers belonging to the different Islands within your Government, Stimulated thereto, by what they think the Success of the Owners of the Sloop Reprisal; are Determined to fit out Several other Armed Vessels, in like manner; it is said, that Seven others will be ready to Sail from the Island of Antigua before the end of the present Week.

In the Course of my Service, I never before heard of any self appointed Cruizer; and am of Opinion the Measures these are pursuing, are not only illegal, but highly derogatory to the Kings Authority; and will be attended with many dangerous and Alarming Consequences to the Nation in general.

I likewise know that repeated application for Arming Private Vessels to act Offensively against the Americans, has been positively refused in England. – I must therefore request that you will be pleased to take such Measures for putting an immediate Stop, to these proceedings within your Government, as you may think most proper and Effectual. I beg to receive your Answer to this requisition as speedily as Possible, to enable me to transmit Administration a particular Account of these transactions. I have the Honour to be Sir [&c.]

Jam^s Young –

P. S. Captain [Henry] Bryne of His Majesty's Ship Hind, who lately returned here from Barbados, acquainted me, that, Governor Hay of that Island, had assured him, He had directions from England, on no account to Suffer any Armed Vessels to be fitted out within his Government to Act offensively against the Americans.

SURVEY OF THE CAPTURED PRIVATEER Putnam ¹

Pursuant to an Order from James Young Esqr Vice Admiral of the Red, and Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Ships and Vessels, employed & to be employed, at Barbadoes, the Leeward Islands, and Seas Adjacent, dated the 13th Instant.

We Andrew Anderson, Master Shipwright of His Majesty's Yard at English Harbour, Charles Owens Master Shipwrights Assistant, William Tauranac Carpenter of His Majesty's Ship Seaford, John Newsam Master of the said Ship, and Domingo Figarella Boatswain of His Majesty's Yard at English Harbour; have been on board the Brigantine now lying in English Harbour, (Called the Putnam lately an American Privateer, taken by His Majesty's Ship Portland and Condemn'd as Prize in a Court of Vice Admiralty at this Island) and there taken a Strict and careful Survey, of the said Brigantine and thoroughly examined the condition of the Hull, Masts, Rigging, Sails, and other different Stores, belonging to her (an Inventory and Condition of which is here after inserted,) and having Measured the Tonnage, We have also set a Just and Equitable valuation on the whole to the Best of our Judgement.

The Vessel is new and in good condition the frame of Oak, the Outside of the Bottom and the ceiling Planked with Oak, the Masts, Yards, Boom and Gaffe are in good order and she is of the following Dimentions – Vizt

Length of the Keel for Tonnage	Fifty One feet.
Length of the Gun Deck	Sixty four feet, Two Inches
Breadth Extreme	Nineteen feet, Nine Incs
Depth in the Hold	Seven feet, Nine Inches
Burthen in Tons	One hundred Tons –

And it is our opinions that by some little Additi[ons] and repairs the said Brigantine will be capable of Carrying Ten three Pounders, and that she has Conveniencies sufficient to Stow forty five Men –

JOHN BRADFORD TO THE SECRET COMMITTEE OF THE CONTINENTAL CONGRESS ¹

Gentlemen

Boston 17 Jan'y 1777

I have the honour to inclose you an Account of goods sent forward to the Army six weeks since, out of the Livelys Cargo. On the Arrival of Messrs [Abraham] Livingston & [William] Turnbull we consulted on the most Eligible method of furnishing them Gentlemen with the remaining part of that Cargo wanted by the Army, and concluded to sell at Auction, Accordingly we began the publick sale – Mr Turnbull attended it – Mr Livingston being out of town and on a declaration made by Mr Turnbull that what he bought was for the Army – such was the generosity of the people that no one bid upon him, excepting one of the Captors once or twice – Mr Turnbull it seems got a large quantity of Check shirts at six shillings – a large quantity of shoes at 6/. – this occasion'd a noise among the Captors and I saw an impending storm – I talk'd to Mr Turnbull on the subject & give him my opinion that it was not the wish of the Honble Congress to debar the Captors of any advantage that might arise to them from the high price of goods – as two thirds of the Cargo already belong'd to them. I expected from what past he would have given a more generous price the second day – but it seems on the finishing that days sale the Captors with their Agent came open mouth'd and bitterly complained of the unfair method taken to sell the goods – Mr Turnbull on the other hand complain'd he is obliged to give more than he could wish and fears his Constituents will blame him – I stand in such a scituation that its difficult to shun blame from the one part or the other however I don't know that either party have yet found fault and hope to stear clear of reflections – it happens to be very unlucky that this should happen just at a time when the two frigates are getting their hands for the sailors propagate it that the Continental prizes were given away for half price – it seems at the close of the second days sale a Gentleman offerd Mr Turnbull a hundred Pr Cent on his purchase – this got among the Tarrs & created great bickerings & uneasiness among them – however – I have with the assistance of some friends calm'd them with a promise that the other part of the cargo should be an open fair sale were no one will be ahd for bidding – ² as the goods sent forward where not appris'd here, as soon as I know the amount of them from those who valued them at head quarters I will pay of[f] the sailors – we sent a man forward with them to get them valued, but such was the scituation of matters then that our man returned with only a receipt for the goods – I know not till an hour since of this opportunity by express – who is just agoing of[f] – therefore must conclude with the greatest Respect Gentlemen [&c.]

New-London, January 17.

Last Monday Capt. Tabaoda arrived here in a Sloop from Curracoa, which Place he left the 22d of November, and 13 Days after having sprung a Leak he put into Ocony; eight Days before he left Ocony a ship arrived there from Havre de Grace, the Master of which informed him that a Declaration of War had taken Place between Spain and Portugal, and that the same was daily expected between France and Great-Britain. The Cargo of the above sloop is very valuable, consisting of Blankets, Duck, some Powder, &c. The sloop run into Newport Harbour last Saturday, and narrowly escaped being taken by the Enemy before they perceived the Harbour was in their Possession.

Last Monday four Ships and a Tender came down the Sound, and passed this Harbour in the Evening.

The following is an Extract of a Letter, from a Gentleman of Honor and Distinction, a Prisoner in New-York, dated 26 Dec. 1776.

The distress of the prisoners cannot be communicated by words, twenty or thirty die every day, they lie in heaps unburied, what numbers of my countrymen have died by cold and hunger, perished for want of the common necessaries of life, I have seen it. This Sir is the boasted british clemency (I myself had well nigh perished under it.) The New-England people can have no idea of such barbarous policy, nothing can stop such treatment but retaliation. I ever despised private revenge, but that of the public must be in this case but just and necessary, it is due to the manes of our murdered countrymen, and that alone can protect the survivors, in the like situation, rather than experience again their barbarity and insults, may I fall by the sword of the Hessians. I am &c.

Deserted from the armed Ship Oliver Cromwell, belonging to the State of Connecticut, a Molatto Fellow named John Short, sometimes calls himself John Smith; is about 20 years old, and 5 feet 6 or 7 inches high, poorly cloathed, his only jacket blue. Whoever will apprehend and deliver him on board said ship, shall have all necessary charges paid, and a very handsome reward from

Wm Coit

(of the Cromwell[[]])

N. B. Whoever may apprehend him is desired to secure what money he may have about him, as he has stolen from Mr. Roger Gibson a considerable quantity of cash as he went off.

NEW YORK CONVENTION ¹

Sir – Baltimore, in Maryland, January 17, 1777.

We arrived in this port ten days ago, from a cruise with a schooner and a brig that we have taken; the schooner is from Halifax, bound for New-York. Enclosed you have a copy of the receipt the master gave for the cargo. She is a double-decked schooner of about sixty tons burden. I expect that she has many things in that are not in this account, as the owner is on board with his wife, and these are goods that was on freight. The brig is claimed in Baltimore, and I expect will be cleared, from what I can learn. Enclosed you have a true copy of all her papers; and if such vessels are cleared, what encouragement has men to cruise. I have libelled them both in the Court of Admiralty. I hope you will send Tom Pierson, or let me know who to appoint here for an agent. If the brig is not condemned, I expect that I shall not be able to get to sea again, for all hands will leave me, and there is no such thing as getting men here; that I shall want to know what must be done with the Montgomerie. I hope to hear from you as soon as possible; and Am [&c.]

"EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM ANTIGUA, JAN. 17." ¹

Last Wednesday arrived here the brig Peace and Plenty, John Nalder, commander, belonging to this Island. The 8th inst. in the evening, she was brought to at sea by an American privateer, who put a boat's crew and an officer on board him, notwithstanding it blew hard, and the sea ran high, with orders for Captain Nalder to make sail after her; a gale of wind a short time after came on, which obliged the brig to take in all her sails, and the next morning the privateer was out of sight. The American officer ordered one of his men to take the helm when the gale had a little abated, and was going to shape his course for Boston, which Capt. Nalder perceiving, spirited up his crew, and with handspikes fell on the rebels, secured them under the hatches, and have brought them safe into this place. They say, the privateer, which is a snow of 12 carriage guns, and 16 swivels, called the Achilles, is commanded by one Williams, formerly a midshipman in the English navy, and they were going to Boston to refit, having been out a long time without any success. The vessel, they add, was very leaky, and her provisions were near exhausted.

The owners of the Peace and Plenty have rewarded Capt. Nalder for his spirit in saving their vessel.

MASSACHUSETTS BOARD OF WAR TO CAPTAIN ALLEN HALLET ¹

War Office,

Sir,

Boston Jany 18th 1777

You being Master of the sloop Republic now loaded and ready to sail your orders are to proceed direct from Martinico or St Lucia, where you are to dispose of your Cargo for the most you can obtain, and invest the proceeds in the several Articles in the annex'd Schedule, giving the preference to those first mention'd; – If you cannot purchase warlike Stores in either of the abovemention'd places, you will proceed for Cape-Francois, where you can without doubt procure what you may want.

You are to purchase two pair of Cannon Six, Four, or Three Pounders, Brass if to be had, if not Iron four Pounders, together with Ammunition, the Cannon you will mount on the Carriages you have with you, which together with the Cannon Swivels &c. you carry from hence together with the Crews of the several Vessels, that may have been sold, will put your Sloop in such a state of Defence as to keep off every Arm'd Vessel except Sloops or Frigates, and possibly enable you to take some prizes.

However, as the Effects you may have on board will be of the greatest Importance to us, you are by no means to go out of your way, upon any pretence whatever; But you are to observe not to take on board the proceeds of more than two Vessels besides your own, but as many of their Crews as you may want or can accomodate.

If you should not take on board any Effects besides your own, you are to purchase as much Salt as will Ballast your Vessel and come home, & on your Return you are to make the first Harbour in this State or New Hampshire, from whence you will give the earliest Notice to the Board by Express –

Providence, January 18.

Tuesday night last [January 14] some men from the enemy's ship that lay at Prudence set fire to a house on that island, which was communicated to one or two other buildings, and gave rise to a report that the enemy had burnt the town of Newport. These were the only buildings that remained on the island after [James] Wallace's expedition up the bay last winter.

Capt. Ayres, who lately went with a flag of truce to Newport, returned on Wednesday, and brought with him about 50 Americans, in exchange for a number of prisoners he delivered there.

On Friday morning, last week, a party of our troops from Seconet, with one 18 and one 12 pounder, drove the Cerberus man of war from Fogland ferry: She returned the fire briskly for some time, and was at length obliged to put to sea, and is since arrived at Newport. By certain accounts received from thence, we learn that she was considerably damaged in her hull, and had six men killed and a number wounded.

We hear that General Clinton has sailed from Newport for England, in the Asia man of war, and that Earl Percy (whom General Gage so highly commended for his agility in the Lexington retreat) now commands the ministerial troops at Rhode-Island.

CAPTAIN GEORGE COOK TO THE MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY¹

Baltimore Jany 19th 1777

Since I had the Pleasure of seeing you last I saw one of those unfortunate men that was in the Prize Snow George taken by the Camelia a British Frigate, he made his Escape from a Prison Ship at New-York and travel'd to this Place, he informs me that the prisoners are us'd Extremely ill and no respect to Rank, that Officers and men are all tumbled into the hold together and oblig'd to dress what little provision they have allow'd themselves or it's not done at all. I have applied to Mr Chase and Mr Carrol for their Assistance to get them exchang'd, but they say its a Business particularly belonging to this State. I do not doubt was your Honorable board to write the Congress but what they would get them exchang'd as soon as Possible. there is Capt [Andrew] Glasby, and Mr Lyons his mate here were they Secur'd they might be of Service in Exchanging for the Master of the defence Mr [James] Cordrey and Mr [William] Carter a Midshipman – Capt [James] Campbell will wait on you, and will be able to acquaint you more fully of each Circumstance – Our men who are taken by the Enemy are very likely to be kept as Prisoners a long time unless we fall on some method to have them exchange'd, I'm in great hopes some Speedy method will be put in Execution for that purpose

I intend for Frederick on Wednesday Morning next and doubt not but the Officers belonging to Ship will do every thing in their power to make dispatch – I shall wait on you in the time of the Assembly's being at Annapolis. I am Hond Gent [&c.]

The Remonstrance and Petition of Andrew Glasby late Master of the Snow George, most humbly representeth, that some Time ago, your Remonstrant's Vessel, with all her Hands and Cargo was made Captive of by George Cooke Esqre, Commander of the Ship Defence of this Province. – That amongst others of the Captivated, a free Negro Man, called by the Name of Partyfall, happened among the Number, who was at that Time entered on Board your Remonstrant's Snow at the Rate of Seven Dollars per Month, in the Capacity of a common Sailor. – Your Remonstrant and Petr humbly representeth unto your Honours that he is given to understand, that when a free Negro doth not inlist or take up Arms in Defence of Great Britain against America in the present unhappy Contest, the Honble Congress have passed a Resolve, that he should have and enjoy the same Freedoms and Privileges with other Freemen of the State – Yr Remonstrant and Petitioner further sheweth unto your Honours, that such is the Custom of the Place from whence this Negro came, that the Person in whose Ship or Vessel he enters, is obliged to give Bond, with sufficient Security, under a heavy Penalty, for a safe Return of the said Negro: And to prevent Frauds it is added, that in Case such Negro should die on his Passage, the Person giving such Security shall be obliged to carry to the Place from whence he was carried or taken both his Ears. – Your Remonstrant further representeth unto your Honours that he has divers Times mentioned this Matter to the said George Cooke Esqre, and requested of him to deliver to your Remonstrant the said Negro, in Order that your Remonstrant might thereby rele[ase] his Secu-rities. – And as the said George Cooke Esqre hath altogether refused to give up to

St Christophers 19th. January 1777 –

Sir I was favoured yesterday with your Letter of the 16th Instant, and having the Day before received one from Mr [Thomas] Warner, His Majesty's Attorney General of His Leeward Charibbee Islands, accompanied by Copies of two Letters he received from you, and of two wrote by him to you on the Subject of the Sloop Reprisal, also a Copy of a Case touching the same Sloop with his Opinion thereon; I am at a loss to know what legal Measures I can take for putting an immediate Stop to the proceedings you complain of within my Government, since His Majesty's Attorney and Solicitor General, on whose Advice I must rely in Cases of Difficulty, both agree in opinion, that an Armed Non Commissioned Vessel has a right to take the Ships and Vessels which are found trading contrary to the 16th of His present Majesty intitled An Act to prohibit all Trade and Intercourse with the Colonies of New Hampshire &ca However although I cannot require Mr Warner to act contrary to his own Sentiments, I shall desire him to move the Court of Vice Admiralty in Antigua to Order that the proceeds of Vessels and Cargo's taken by Non Commissioned Cruisers do remain in the Hands of the Receiver of the Rights and Perquisites of the Admiralty until His Majesty's pleasure be known, or that the Captors do give Security to refund such part as may be adjudg'd to them by the same Court in case their Proceedings shou'd be disapproved of by His Majesty. –

I shall most readily pay all Regard and Attention to whatever comes recommended by you for His Majesty's Service, and am very sorry I have received no Directions from England to regulate my Conduct with Regard to Armed Vessels.

I have the Honor to be Sir [&c.]

As you must remember that no Officer in the Service hath taken more pleasure in the discharge of his duty than myself so you may now rely on my sh[o]wing a religious obedience to your Orders. The general Orders which I unexpectedly received from the Marine

Board were unsolicited; and there hath been a mistake somewhere since I find myself superseded by Capt Hinman's Commission as No 1 – I am not however uneasy but shall rest satisfied until the matter is coolly explained – Colo Tillinghast writes me that an action is entered against me for £10,000 – on account of the concerned in the Eagle Privateer – It hath been insinuated to me though not in plain terms that you have disavowed the express orders which you gave me repeatedly at Newport respecting my conduct in that matter – but as this seems highly improbable I will not believe it without the strongest proof – However if you are not fully determined to justify my Conduct I must request you to signify it to me as soon as possible – that I may not be unprepared for my defence as I understand that the cause comes on in Providence the first Monday in next Month – When there is any enterprise intended wherein I can render acceptable service to America, no man will step forth with more alacrity than myself – in the mean time it is proper that I inform you of my desire to go on a Visit to New Hampshire with Capt Bradford and a party after my Accounts are settled here.

I have the honor to be, Sir [&c.]

War Office, Boston Jany 20th 1777 –

The Board of War for the State of Massachusetts-Bay having enter'd into Contract with your Mr Pliarne, (Copy of which he now forwards you) to supply them with a Quantity of warlike Stores & such other Articles as they may require to the Amount of Eighty Thousand Pounds Sterling; & Mr Pliarne having agreed that you Gentlemen, should accomplish the Business at Nantes, we inclose you Memorandum of the Articles we want, and which we earnestly request may be ship'd with all possible Dispatch from your Port. And as the Fire Arms are most necessary we pray they may come first & the other Articles in as quick Succession as may be –

This will be handed you by Capt [Nicholas] Bartlett ² Master of our Brig Penet, & inclos'd are Invoice & Bill of Lading of her Cargo, which we doubt not your care in disposing of to the best Advantage This is the first Vessel we send in part of our Contract, and we beg you'll return her with all possible Dispatch, putting in her a proportion of the Articles for which we write making Insurance upon them, & every other Article you may ship us from France.

In a few Days our ship Versailles, Joseph Chapman Master will follow for Nantes loaded with Logwood & Mahogany which we hope will make you a tolerable remittance – we have other Vessels ready to sail for the southern States on this Continent, by which we shall send considerable Cargoes of Rice & Tobacco from thence to your Address – We shall also from time to time advance such Monies to Mr Pliarne (something of this kind we have already done) as he shall have Occasion for, & take every other possible Method of speedily fulfilling our part of the Contract. – It would be very pleasing to us to have a considerable part of the Goods in our Memorandum, shipt to us in French Bottoms, clear'd out for St Peters – In this Way we think the Risque will be much lessen'd & that it would be a very agreeable Introduction of your Vessels to our Ports: ³

Introduc'd to Gentlemen of your Character by our Good Friend Mr Pliarne, we flatter ourselves that our Connection with you will be happy – that our Business will be conducted to mutual satisfaction – & that you Gentn will have the pleasure of reflecting that in your Sphere you have contributed to the Establishment of Freedom, & Independance in America, from which you as Individuals as well as the whole Kingdom of France, will derive the most permanent Commercial Advantages – We are respectfully, Gentn [&c.]

By order & in behalf of the Board of War

Sam^l Phps Savage Prest

P. S. . . . As the Channels of Intelligence from Britain are much obstructed and the Plans of our Enemies seldom known till the Moment of Execution, the English News Letters, Parliamentary Debates, Magazines, & such, like Periodical Papers, as also the interesting European Intelligence by every Vessel bound to this State, will render us the most essential Service –

We have under our Direction a large number of Masts intend'd for the Royal Navy, but have no Vessels at present suitably large to send them to your Market; Would it not be possible for you to procure a Ship of sufficient Force from France to carry them? – perhaps the Ministry of France mig[ht] think this an Object so worthy their Attention, as to adopt some plan of getting them safely to your Ports –

To the Honourable Council of Safety for the State of Maryland –

The petitioner of James Campbell of Baltimore-Town humbly Sheweth –

That your petitioner made several Cruizes, in the privateer Enterprize, against the Enemies of the United States; That your petitioner sent into the United States, upwards of One hundred prisoners; many of whom have since entered into the Service of the States, – That your petitioner always treated his prisoners with humanity; and with consent of his Owners, Sufered the officers belonging to the several prizes, by him taken, to go at large with all the money, and property belonging to themselves Which he believes, was the General custom of American Cruisers; That Mr James Belt, Lieutenant to your petitioner, had the Misfortune of falling into the hands of the enemy, and after being most cruelly cut, and hack'd, in a Scuffle, when taken, And so miserably defaced, that scarce any of the human figure remain'd, was thrown on a chest among the common men on board the Nautilus Man of war, that he is now at New-york with three of his crew, confined on board of a small ship with three hundred other wretches, without cloaths, or Necessaries for their existence; and wishing for the last consolation of the Unfortunate, death itself; – That your petitioner sent into this State; one Pigot a midshipman, belonging to the Galatea Frigate, and One Horn, a mate, belonging to the Camilla Frigate, also a frenchman who says he is an Ensign, in the Royal Regt of Americans, now in Canada; That your petitioner humbly hopes, that your honourable Council will exchange the above prisoners, or some other person, or persons, for the Unfortunate Mr Belt, and his miserable Crew, That your petitioner laid a petition to this purpose before the Congress; and was told that it was reasonable, and that the prayer of it ought to be granted, but that it was more immediately the Bussiness of this State Recomending it to your Consideration, your Petitioner shall ever pray!

CAPTAIN JOHN PAUL JONES TO THE CONTINENTAL MARINE COMMITTEE¹

Gentlemen,

Boston 21st January 1777.

Inclosed you have Copies of my Letters from the time of my departure on the late Expedition from Rhode Island down to the 12th Current. I am now to inform you that by a letter from Commodore Hopkins dated on board the Warren January 14th 1777, which came to my hands a day or two ago, I am Superseded in the Command of the Alfred in favor of Captain Hinman, and Ordered back to the sloop in Providence River, whither this Order doth or doth not Supersede also your Orders to me of 10th Ult^o² you can best determine, however as I undertook the late Expedition at his request from a Principle of Humanity, I mean not now to make a difficulty about trifles especially when the good of the Service is to be consulted. As I am unconscious of any Neglect of duty or misconduct since my appointment at the first as Eldest Lieutenant of the Navy, I cannot Suppose that you can have intended to Set me aside in favor of any Man who did not at that time bear a Captains Commission, unless indeed that Man by exerting his Superior Abilities hath rendered, or can render more important Services to America, those who Step't forth at the first in Ships altogether unfit for War, were generally considered rather as frantic than as Wise men, for it must be remembered that almost every thing then made against them, and altho' the Success in the affair with the Glasgow, was not equal to what it might have been, yet the blame ought not to be general, the Principal, or Principals in command alone are Culpable and the other Officers while they stand unimpeached have their full Merit, there were it is true divers Persons from misrepresentation put into Commission at the beginning without fit Qualification, and perhaps the number may have been increased by latter appointments, but it follows not that the Gentleman or Man of Merit should be Neglected, or overlooked on their Account, none other than a Gentleman, as well as a Seaman both in Theory and in Practise is qualified to support the Character of a Commission Officer in the Navy, nor is any Man fit to command a Ship of War, who is not also capable of communicating his Ideas on Paper in Language that becomes his Rank, if this be admitted, the foregoing Assertion will be sufficiently Proved but if further Proof is required it can be easily produced.

When I entered into the Service, I was not actuated by Motives of self interest. I stept forth as a free Citizen of the World in defence of the Violated rights of Mankind, and not in Search of Riches whereof I thank God I inherit a Sufficiency, but I should prove my degeneracy were I not in the highest degree Tenacious of my Rank and Seniority, as a Gentleman I yeild this point up only to a Gentleman of Superiour Abilities of superiour Merit, and under Such a Man it is my highest Ambition to learn.

As this is the first time of my having Expressed the least Anxiety on my own Account, I must entreat your Patience untill I account to you for the Reason which hath drawn from me this Freedom of Sentiment, It seems that Captain Hinman's Commission is No 1, and that in consequence he who was first my Junior Officer by Eight, hath expressed himself as my Senior Officer, in a manner which doth himself no honor, and which doth me signal Injury, there are also in the Navy [those] who have not shewn me fair Play after the Services, which I have rendered them, I have ever been blamed for the Civilities which I have shewn to my Prisoners, at the request of one of whom I herein inclose an Appeal, which I must beg you to lay before the Congress, could you see the Appealants accomplished lady, and the three Innocents their Children Arguments in their behalf would be unnecessary, as the base minded only are capable of inconsistencies, you will not blame my free Soul which can never stoop where I cannot also Esteem.

Could I, which I never can, bear to be superseded I should indeed deserve your contempt, and total Neglect, I am therefore to entreat you to Employ me in the most enterprising and Active service, accountable to your honorable Board only for my Conduct, and connected as much as Possible with Gentlemen and Men of Sense.

When I was fitting out for my late expedition at Rhode Island, the concerned in Privateers Invigled away the Seamen so fast that Commodore Hopkins repeatedly gave me express Orders that whenever I met with a Privateer, I should cause her to be strictly searched, and if I found a single Man belonging to the Fleet I must take out all who had deserted and as many more as I thought proper so that I left a number barely sufficient to Navigate the Vessell into Port.

In consequence of this Order I sent my Boat to examine the Privateer Schooner Eagle in Tarpawling Cove, and finding two Men belonging to the Fleet, and two more belonging to the Rhode Island Brigade, concealed in Such remote parts of the Vessell that my Officer was Obligated to break open a bulkhead before he could come at them, I took them with Twenty others on board the Alfred and proceeded. To my great Surprise I have now received a letter from my Attorney Colo Tillinghast of Providence informing me, that an Action hath been entered against me there, by Samuel Aborn and the concerned in the Privateer for Ten Thousand pounds Lawful Money, altho' the Vessel was then inward bound, but what is truly Astonishing is, that the Commodore (as I am Informed) should prevaricate in the Matter because forsooth the Order was not given in Writing, I do not apprehend that he means to Justify me in it, however be the consequence what it will I glory in having been the first, who hath broke thro' the Shameful Abuses which hath been too long Practised upon the Navy by Mercenaries whose governing Principle hath been that of Self Intrest. Colo Tillinghast hath entered an Action against the Owners of the Privateer, in behalf of the Continent for the same sum, and the first Monday of next Month this important Cause is to be determined.

One of my Prizes with Coal from Cape Briton got into Rhode Island, and was retaken after standing the fire of three of the Enemies Ships, another of the Coal Ships was retaken, and carried to New York by the Frigate that chased the Alfred on the Edge of St Georges Bank, but it doth not appear that she retook the John. The Active and Mellish are safe at Dartmouth, the Kitty is in this Port, so that the John and One of the Coal Transports, are the only Prizes whereof we have not had an Account, the first Frigate that chased me in the Providence was the Solebay, that within the Isle of Sable was the Milford.

I am now employing myself to settle the Alfred's and Providences Books and pay off the Men whose term of Entry is expired, when I have the honor of hearing from the Board, I must request that the Letters may be forwarded thro' the hands of Messrs [Abraham] Livingston and [William] Turnbull of this City, meantime I have the Honor to be with great Respect and Esteem. Gentlemen [&c.] The Honorable The Marine Board.³

The other Continental armed Vessels, that are in your Port, you will order to proceed to Sea, and do their best Endeavour to intercept Supply Ships that may be coming to the Enemy at New York —

Sir

[Portsmouth] January 22d 1777 –

Your fav. of the 1st Inst Ive received by which I find you have obtained your Guns which gives me pleasure that some of our Ships are like to get out – I hope those Guns are not the Guns which were ordered by Congress for this Ship as Iv'e just received a Letter informing me that they expect Iv'e the Guns from Connecticut which had been ordered for me sometime those ordered for me are Twelve Pounders Nine's will not do for us; The Raleigh I take it will be able to carry 12 Pounders as any Ship in the Navy, therefore the Recommendation for 9 Pounders won't do – With all due Respect [&c.]

Portsmouth. Jany 22d 1777

This will be handed you by Capt [Samuel] Tucker or Capt [Daniel] Waters, both of whom, Set off immediately for Baltimore, these gentlemen have Comanded two of the Continental Schooners and tho' Iv'e but little Acquaintance, with them, yet their known good Charectar, and the Services they have done the States in takeg so many valuable prizes, no doubt will meet the approbation of the Honbl Marine Committee –

The letter from the Honbl Committee of the 10th Decm. (by which I see Capt Thomson [Thomas Thompson] is order'd to Sea) Convinces me that Several of my former letters have Miscarried, upon which I tho't it Necessary to Send off Some Person on purpose, that I might be Certain that the Honbl Committee k[n]ew the Situation of my business, but, as that would be expensive and those gentlemen going up, who have kindly offer'd to Bring any money &c that I might want or Transact any other Matters made me Conclude to Send by them

I now must beg the Patience of the Honbl Committee while I Remind them, of what I wrote in a number of letters (to them) and to Colon Whipple, (who no doubt Communicated the Matters) from April Last – The Ship Raleigh was Raised in March, Launched Compleated to the gunwale; graved fit for Sea, abt the 21st May last, before which time every Mast and yard were Compleat to go on and, all Her Riggg Compleatly fixed even her gun takes [tackles] were Rove; as to her Sails they were not made untill some time after, for the want of Canvas, but could the guns have been procured for her at that time, I could have had the Sales of almost all the vessells in the River, to fit her out, but, this Step was unnecessary while there was no prospect of guns, — the whole of her Carriages were ready the day she Launched, all to puting them together, which cannot be done without the guns — her full Complemt of hands at least three quarters Seamen Stood ready to go on board, in forty eight hours — Such was the Situation of this Ship and as I wrote the Honbl Committee at that time, she might, (could we have had the guns) have gone to Sea Compleatly built in the best manner. Vittualed and well maned by the first day of July followg, which would have been in less than four months from the day she raised — I do not mean to take the Whole Credit to myself by any means, but by the kind Assistance of every workman, and indeed of every person, who could give any Assistance, I was able to give the greatest dispatch tho' I hope I may say with out boastg that I'm tolerably well Acquainted with ship matters — these are facts which cannot be Contradicted not even by my worthy Friend at Providence the Honbl Committee have been fully inform of what has happend since Respectg the guns at Providence, therefore shall not Repeat. — When Capt [Nathaniel] Falconer, was here he inform me that the guns at Connecticut was ready for the ship Trumble [Trumbull], but as he tho't she would not get out, I [illegible] Recommended my haveg the guns for Capt Thompson; I immediately wrote to Coloni Whipple to inform the Honbl Committee, and desired to have them order'd for this ship — Capt Falconer also told me he would write the Honbl Committee, and when he got back would mention the Necessity of haveing them guns, here, — I soon after sent to govenor Trumbul, abt the guns Desireg he would furnish them if Possable. I Recd a Polite letter from that gentleman, informg me that the guns which were for their ship, was Deld the Agent, Mr Dean [Barnabas Deane], and from the Sutuation of the furnice he could not promise the guns, — abt this time I Recd a letter from Colonal Whipple in which he mentiond, that the guns at Connecticut were order'd or Recommended for the Raleigh, which made me think that I was sure of them, immediately Desire'd Capt Thompson to proceed to Boston or even to Connecticut, to See after them and have them hawled by land. when he got to Boston he found that Mr Dean the Agent at Connecticut had been there, and that one Mr [Richard] Derby who was imployed to get guns with Capt Manly, had Agree'd with Mr Dean for all the twelve pounders he had; for Manlys ship, at a Certain price and Commission — and that no guns were left for us axcept those which are improper Size; This appeared to Me to be Strange Sort of Conduct. that after the guns had been order'd for me, (and the property of the Contin[e]nt) should by the influence of either Agents or Captains be appropriated another way, at a Certain price, with a Commission, as I understand the Matter from Boston, — by all which the Honbl Committee will See that the Raleigh is without guns or any prospect of them, unless we can get them Cast at Massachusetts by takeing the pig Iron Ballast out of the Alfred, for that purpose, which Capt Thomson, who is now at Boston is endeavouring to effect. —

It is a Matter of great Concern to me to See this ship in this Situation, her bottom intirely foul and must be Cleand before going to Sea, the most part of her men left her, Seeg no prospect of guns, much Provision &c expended, the whole of her Ballast, Water, wood, Shot, and all Stores must come out in order to Clean the Ship before going out. when I think of the pains Iv'e taken to get this Ship Dispatched the great Prospect I had of it, and the Disappointment Ive met with in the guns, after being at much expence and leaveing no Stone unturned, to procure them, and all in my opinion oweing to the influence, and unfair dealings of Some people employed in Publick business, and to think that after all the first ship ready (by at least Six months if not Eight) should be the last Served, is I confess the most humiliateing Circumstance of my life – I Humbly Submit this matter [to] the Honbl Committee and shall go on to do my best to get her guns –

Capt Roches ship has been raised Some time, the whole of her timber Cut and hewed in the woods Six weeks but the hawlg has been Such that it has been impossable to get the Timber in – but I hope soon to give her Dispatch – by virtue of a letter from Colonal Whipple, I am Cuting and Procureing large Parcel of timber and plank, &c. for the Seventy four. the Dementions and order for which, I hope Soon to Receive Inclosed is Sketch of the Honbl Committee Acct Curret by which they'll See the Necess[i]ty of my haveg a Considerable Sum of money Sent for the use of the Several vessells which I hope will come immediately by the Bearer's or Some other way or the business will be Retarded, Iv'e got the Iron for Capt Roche's Ship, but shall want forty or fifty Tons for the Seventy four gun ship – the Honbl Committee will See by the Acct that Iv'e no money in my hands; and that for to Compleat the Raleighs bills (which never can be done, till the guns are on board, and the men enter'd) for Capt Roches Ship Timber plank Iron, Labour, Cordage Sail Cloth, guns, which we are procureing, with all Stores, for Procureg Timber, Plank, Masts, &c for the 74, all which might be done this winter, will amount to very large Sum of money (without which it will be impossable to go on with Dispatch) which the Honbl Committee will please forward on in part, as soon as may be, as Iv'e great Number of Carpenters and other Tradesmen at work who must be paid every fortnight or three weeks, besides the Cost of materials Iv'e Advanced what little Stock of money I had already for the Service – I beg leave to Congratulate the Honbl Committee on the glorious Success of our Arms, every person seems to have new Spirits, and ready for Action – with all due Respect I have the Honour to be [&c.]

JOHN BRADFORD TO ROBERT MORRIS ¹

[Extract]

Boston 22d Janry 1777

. . . I was determined to have bot the Esther on our Joynt Accot but the order I receiv'd from the Secret Committee prevented, and I purchased her for Accot of the Continent for one third her value – I informd that Honble

Committee in my last that I had bot the Brig Tryton with four hundred twenty Teirces Extreem fine Salmon on board, and tho this is a private letter I beseech you Sir I may have orders how to dispose of her & what to fill her up with, I suppose she will stow from 150 to 170 Casks flax seed —

I plainly perceive I shall soon be in want of money for being Centrally plac'd between New hampshire & Rhod Island States, I have great & frequent calls for what is not to be obtaind but with Cash, I have paid off the Cabot — am now paying off the Alfred, and have supply'd Mr [Thomas] Cushing with £1300 — All the alfreds [sic Mellish's] Cargo, with a very considerable part of the Livelys being sent forward, and the great purchase Messrs [Abraham] Livingston & [William] Turnbull have made, for which I shall take their drafts will scarcely leave me money sufficient to pay off the Captors, I take it nothing will affect the Credit of the Continent more than the want of money in public offices, it will rejoyce the hearts of our adversaries, when I first had the honour of coming into Office, after advancing all my own money I borrowed a considerable Sum of those who were warm in the great Cause, and the credit of the Continent was not Injured — I hope I shall not be obliged to do the like again — at present we have no prospect of any prizes — as I know not of a single Continental Cruiser out

Capt Hinman arriv'd a few days ago with a Commission for Alfred and orders from Comre Hopkins to alter her — he proposes to get it done rather different from what Capt Jones proposed, which will [be] less expensive, I am Sorry to find that Gentleman is not provided for as I think him to be a sensible discreet Capable Man — ~~I would heartly wish him to have the Hancock Capt Jones is a very different sort of a man to him that Commands her —~~²

I hope we shall soon get the new frigates to sea I am very happy it being in my power to supply them with Slops out of the Lively and Blankets from the Brig Elizabeth Capt [John] Palmer I hope to have the Raleigh Completley fitted with cannon in Six weeks, we are now Collecting iron Piggs from the Alfred and Cabbot and have obtain'd a vote of the assembly to lend us a furnace belonging to the State to Cast our Guns in, the Hancocks guns are now on the road and will be here in all next week

Pennsylvania Packet, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 22, 1777

Philadelphia, January 22.

On the 12th of November the armed brig Freedom, Capt. [John] Clouston, from the state of Massachusetts Bay, fell in with and took the ship Lasoye Planter, bound from New-York to Cork, and put a prize master and nine hands on board her, who allowing the former crew too much liberty, they one night rose upon him, and after wounding him and some of his men in a shocking manner, retook the ship, put them in irons, and carried her into St. Croix, a Danish West-India Island. — Captain [Norris] Cooper in an armed vessel from this port being at St. Croix, and hearing of the above affair, went on board the ship and demanded the prisoners, who after some altercation were delivered to him, and he is since arrived with them safe at Chingoteague Inlet in Virginia.

Maryland Journal, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 22, 1777

Baltimore, January 22.

A Number of abusive Pieces having been inserted in the Caraibbean Gazette, printed at St. Kitt's, reflecting on the Governor and People of St. Eustatius, on Account of their supposed Partiality for the American States, now engaged in the Cause of all Mankind, the Printer, a Genius little known in the typographical World, having Occasion to take a Trip to that Island, on his landing there was immediately scented, and hunted so very hard, as to be obliged to trip back again, in the utmost Speed and Consternation. Our Dutch Friends should not have declared War against the poor Printer, as he is only a Servant to the miserable English Caraibeans, who ought to be indulged in the Liberty, peculiar to Englishmen, of grumbling when their Bellies are empty. If the Printer is able to fill his, at such Times as these, he is as lucky as many of the Fraternity. The following is an Extract from one of his Gazettes, by Way of Specimen of the Tempter of our old Friends the Caraiibs.

“When the Renegado English Robinson, in the Andrew Doria, saluted the Dutch Fort at St. Eustatius under piratical Colours, the Officers of the Fort sent to receive his Honour's Orders, who, after mature Deliberation, commanded the Salute to be returned. This, no Doubt, at first Sight, appears to be such an Infringement of that Respect which the States General owe to Britain, and such a glaring Insult to the latter, that if proper Representation be made of it to the Hague, by the Court of Britain, we would be apt to venture a Wager that the Governor who commanded, or even permitted it, would be displaced before Twelve Months are at an End. But when we consider his Honour's acknowledged Coolness and Discretion, and that the Affair was done deliberately, and the same Compliment repeated at the sailing of the Pirate, we ought to suspend our Opinion till he has been properly called upon to give his Reasons, as, we are told, is intended to be done.

“When Robinson waited upon him to inform him of his Errand, and particularly told him of his wanting to purchase Powder, he plainly answered him, he could suffer none to be exported till after the 28th of November, on which Day the Prohibition expired. After that Day he was at Liberty to buy up as much as he pleased. Robinson brought a very considerable Sum of Money to lay out in St. Eustatius for Powder, and other warlike Stores; and his Honour, wishing to secure such a Chapman for his People, was public-spirited enough to go out of the Course of his ordinary Economy, to make hospitable Entertainments for the Pirate and his Agents, to make his Time pass agreeably away till the Day came, in which it was safe to open a free Trade with him. Here, therefore, was much Punctuality respecting Great Britain, and great Care and Attention to the Good of his own People.”

Cargo to send but Provision which I'm fearful would not pay the risque however if it comes I shall do my best or get your Brother Joseph to do it, who has done me the Honor of accepting a Deputation of Agent for Prizes which I had right to appoint by Virtue of my Instructions to have one half of the Commissions of any Prizes that come in hereafter dureing his appointment, I find you can't inform me relative to Commissions Iv'e Charged only 2½ PCent on Prizes & the same on homeward bound Cargoes but fitting out is 5 PCent as P order and most Certain for building of Ships as I do without Contracting is worth 5 PCent or it's worth nothing. COMMODORE SIR PETER PARKER TO VICE ADMIRAL RICHARD LORD HOWE ¹

Copy.

My Lord

Chatham off Newport Rhode Island
23d January 1777.

Since my last Letter of the 13th Instant, I have received from Providence Fifty two prisoners, among whom are six Masters of Merchant Ships and some Passengers, and also the Mate, Boatswain, and four Seamen belonging to the Betty Transport. As the Cartel Business is to pass through my Hands, I have opened a Book for the purpose, and Mr Ayres is not now to go to New-York. He came here the 19th in the Morning, and in a few Hours the Exchange was made, and the whole Account settled (except for the Prisoners that went to Cork in the Triton Brig) and the Balance is Thirty in our Favor. I have sent all our prisoners including the Forty Nine brought by the Greyhound. As a Convoy now offers for New York, I have ordered the Betty Transport to be valued and have given her up to the Master, who can easily get her refitted there. Your Lordship may then either take her into the Service, or send her home, as your Lordship may judge proper. The 14th Instant I received by the St Laurence Schooner your Lordships Letter of the 11th, and the 17th I received by the Greyhound your Lordships Letter of the 12th, and by the Amazon one from Captain Duncan dated the 7th Instant, acquainting me that the Amazon was ordered to Newport to be under my Command, and that the Carysfort was arrived at New-York with her ForeMast badly sprung. The Niger has not yet joined me, and I have therefore ordered the Amazon to supply the place of the Carysfort. The Greyhound, King's fisher and St Laurence Schooner are to proceed with the Troops, as soon as the Wind and Weather will permit. I have given Captain [Archibald] Dickson Orders agreeably to your Lordships Commands and have directed him (when he has taken the King's fisher as far as he thinks necessary) to order Captain Graeme to put in execution my Orders to him of the 10th Instant, to proceed to Shelter Island. The King's fisher and Tryal have made several Attempts, but have been obliged to put back by contrary Winds; therefore all the Dispatches go now in the Greyhound. The Rebels have several Thousand Men in this Neighbourhood, and are fitting two Fire-Ships. They threaten a Visit, and we hear are building Boats, and cutting down Vessels for the Reception of Great Guns. And as the Tryal may be of use in reconnoitring &c I shall employ her on that Service. The St Laurence Schooner and any Small Craft that can be spared, may be also of great Service, should your Lordship think proper to send them. Lord Percy will inform Sir William Howe of such Intelligence as he has received relative to the Force and Designs of the Rebels. The 17th and 18th Instant five Cartel Sloops arrived with about one Hundred and Sixty Soldiers &c from Sherbrook. The Diamond and Cerberus are ready to return to their Stations, and the Emerald will proceed as soon as possible to join Commodore Hotham. Captain [Francis] Banks has been for some time past in so bad a State of Health, that his Recovery is doubtful; I have therefore given him leave to go onshore to Sick Quarters, and have appointed Mr Robert Deans (the first Lieutenant of the Chatham) to act as Captain of the Renown during the Absence of Captain Banks, or 'till further Order.

Captain [Maximilian] Jacobs having applied to me for a Lieutenant to act in the room of the first Lieutenant of the Amazon, who is lent to the Lord Howe Armed Ship, I have ordered the second Lieutenant Mr Baynr Prideaux to act as First, and Sir James Barclay Bart (a Midshipman onboard the Chatham, who has passed his Examination) to act as second Lieutenant of her 'till further Order.

Your Lordship will receive herewith a List of the Transports under Convoy of the Greyhound, and an Account of a Sloop taken off of the Mouth of this Harbour.

I am happy to hear that your Lordship is so well recovered from your late sever Fit of Illness, and have the Honor to be My Lord [&c.]

ROBERT MORRIS TO WILLIAM HOOPER¹

[Extract]

Pha Jany 24th 1777 –

. . . In all the Transactions of America nothing has given me more Concern than that kind of irregular Conduct on bd the Am: Privateers that savours more of Moorish Piracy than Christian Forbearance. We have already many Instances that ought to be reprobated and the perpetrators brot to a Condign Punishment if the United States of Ama means to preserve a National good Character

One I have mentd to the Committee of Secret Correspondence because there was an open violation of the Laws of Nations and a palpable Insult on our real or pretended good Friends the French² Others have happened in Violation of the Authority of Congress and the Ships & Cargoes belonging to the States of Ama have been seized on Frivolous pretences and sent into their own Ports, those Insults have been overlooked because the States have probably not suffered any great Loss as the Property has reverted to them & the Captors have been supposed to act from good Motives &c but what shall we say for these Plunderers when Individuals, honest Industrious Men, Friends to the Freedom & Independence of Ama lose their Property Credit & reputation by these Depredations, & the Misrepresentations they make to Cover their own Villainies, indeed my good friend if we do not take some effectual measures to punish the guilty and put a Stop to this kind of Arbitrary Thieving we shall be Sharers in their Guilt and probably incur the Suspicion of being Sharers in the Plunder.

I am led into these remarks by a letter from our Friend Hewes who has had two Vessells taken on the high Seas by Am: Privateers on no better pretence than the Captains pretending the Owners were Tories, the last of them is particularly mentd and described by Mess Hewes & Smith in their letter to me of the 13 Decr a copy of which is enclosed,³ and when Congress have leisure I wish you would propose some Salutary Measures to put a Stop to these Growing Evils. I think the Captains & owners of Privateers shd give Security in very large Sums, and every State be answerable to those who grant Coms to, this woud make the latter cautious & villains woud find it difficult to deceive them, something I am sure must be done unless we wish to plunder one another & lay all the World under Contribution as a lawless Set of Freebooters, which God forbid shd ever be the Characteristicks of the Country I love . . .

THOMAS CASDORP TO THE PENNSYLVANIA COUNCIL OF SAFETY¹

Gentlemen:

Philada, 24 January, 1777

When I was at Ticonderoga last Summer building Gallies: I have the Honour to acquaint you that I invented a New model of Swivell Skids for Gun Carriages, which was handed to General Arnold for his Approbation, and was approv'd off, which General Gates and most of his officers can inform you off. And as I am Certain that the Invention will be of great use to the Publick, Shall be glad to hand it to my fellow Citizens, not to have a Patent, but to serve my Country. My request to your Honourable Board is, that I may have the Liberty of Altering one of the Gallies Skids, the expence is So Trifling that Should it not be Approv'd off, I will replace it at my own expence, as I am well Assured the Invention will meet with your Approbation. Should your Honourable Board want a farther explanation I will at any time wait on you. I am, Gentlemen, with the Greatest Respect [&c.]

JOHN HANCOCK TO ROBERT MORRIS¹

Sir

Baltimore January 24th 1777

The Marine Committee judging it of the utmost consequence that the frigate Virginia should be got to sea as soon as possible and finding it impracticable to procure the necessary Articles for the Ship without which she cannot proceed to Sea have determined to send to Philadelphia for them, and have sent the Bearer an Officer of Captain Nicholson's to expedite the business; And I am now in the name of the Marine Committee to request you will immediately order such of the articles as are mentioned in the inclosed memorandum and can readily be got in Philadelphia to be forwarded here without loss of time in such manner as you shall judge best, the bearer will afford every aid in his power. I should think that it would be no disservice in taking an Anchor and the Cables from one of the Frigates in Philadelphia as you can with much more ease replace them there than we can procure them here, and all your Frigates are not in the readiness the Virginia is, and indeed she waits only for these articles. I submit it to you to conduct as you think most for the Public service, but with respect to the Anchor and Cables and Rigging, it is of the utmost importance they should be sent. Two Carts put together would easily effect this, let the expense be ever so great, but care should be taken to prevent the Cables chaffing, by matting the turns or putting Canvas round the parts liable to rub against the waggon, but I need not give you any hints of this kind. I wish we may have as many of the articles as can be got, I know you will exert yourself to effect this business. I am in behalf of the Marine Committee Sir Your very hble servant

Williamsburg, January 24.

We hear the two men of war which came within our capes on Monday last are still hovering about the mouth of York river and New Point Comfort, have taken two salt vessels, and a ship laden with tobacco, from Maryland. Some of the hungry dogs have been on shore at the point, but with what design we cannot tell: No doubt we shall soon hear of bloody battles with the horned tribe, sieges against hog-pens, and violent assaults upon hen-roosts, by these modern heroes of Britain, who, on the dreadful appearance of a rifleman, like amphibious animals, fly to the watery element for security.

“EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM BARBADOES, TO THE MERCHANTS IN THIS TOWN
[LIVERPOOL], DATED 25TH JANUARY, 1777.” ¹

On Monday last the 20th inst. the Thomas, Capt. Collinson, and the Sarah, Capt. Frith, both from Liverpool, fell in with a ten gun sloop, which soon boarded, and sword in hand took the former, she and the prize then fired upon the latter ship, which by having the heels of them got off, but she had the misfortune of being attacked again in the morning of the 22d instant, near the land, by a schooner of considerable force, with which he had a long and smart action, the enemy attempted sundry times to board, but was prevented by booms rigged out on each side of the Sarah, whose mainmast had a six-pounder through it, the sails, blocks, and rigging all cut to pieces, and his chief mate wounded in the arm, he poor gentleman, received two musquet balls in his body, and tho' all imaginable care was taken of him immediately on his arrival in Carlisle Bay, last Wednesday evening, he died the night before last, and was buried yesterday morning. The engagement was seen from the shore, and 'tis allowed that poor Frith behaved gallantly: at the bottom of the invitations to his funeral were these words, “Dulce et Decorum Pro patria mori,” of the schooner and several of her crew, which appeared to them to be chiefly French mulattoes and negroes, the privateer was a good deal shatter'd in her sails and rigging, and received several shots in her hull. – Several of the independent gentry are cruising to the Eastward of this Island, and some of them well fortified and mann'd. – One Fisk a Salem man in the brigantine Tyrannicide of fourteen guns and 120 men, has been very successful. – The last he took that we know of was a brigantine call'd the Three Friends (one Helme commander) from London, with a valuable cargoe of dry goods and provisions, said capture was last Saturday. The long-boat was given to six of the hands, who arrived here that afternoon, and reported that their Capt. and Mate enter'd on board the privateer, carrying with them a sum of money and upwards of two thousand letters for this place. Such swarms of them are to windward that 'tis fear'd they will do much mischief.

JOHN BRADFORD TO JOHN HANCOCK ¹

Dear Sir Boston 27 Jany 1777

The Bearer Capt Daniel Waters this moment inform'd me he was to set out this afternoon for maryland to wait on the congress. I suppose in hopes of promotion, encouraged by the late favours granted Capt Roch [John Roche] who it seems was only a Lieutent in one of those Schooners. Waters is accompnied by Capt [Samuel] Tucker whose Vessell is deliv'd to the owners being unfit for service.² I proposed to Capt Waters to go on a Cruse in the Lee but he declined it, because he was going to Congress. I shall not mention at present any thing relitive to this persons caracter. I beg leave to refer you to my former Letters. I make no doubt he is brave but his former conduct with Poor Capt [William] Burke was very reprehensable.³

I must think myself criminal not to mention something relitive to Tucker who is by no means qualified to rise higher in Command being the most volatile empty body I ever meet with, little credit being to be given to any thing he says, And his principle of honesty being very suspicious I inclose a list of things reported to have been taken out of a prize by him on information of his Lieutent Mr Bartlett on taxing him with it he acknowledged it. I find he has been Selling part of the muskuets a[t] Marblehead, I assure you Sir it gives me pain to caracterise in so disagreeable a light. But I can with great truth say its from an ardent wish that such persons only may be employ'd that will do honour to our growing navy the distracted state I found that part in over which I have the honour to preside. I have in several Ltrs hinted to you great allowances are to be made while the Navy is as it were in Embraio. I flatter myself we are in a much better way then we were formerly

You may be Surprised Sir when I tell you the Schotch prizes are not yet settled but its intirely owing to a dispute between Deacon Gardner and myself he demanding a greater sum than I proposed to give him for getting the Brig Annabella from the Blk rocks where she lay a Month Sunk,⁴ we shall settle the dispute to morrow when we shall pay of[f] the Captures for them Prizes & the *Perkins*⁵ the Ship Peggy being clam'd a[t] philadelphia we cannot settle till we know her fate from congress⁶ the Lord Lifford is paid off and Settled The two frigates here will soon get away and I hope in five weeks from this to get the Rawleighs Guns fifteen tuns pig Iron is alrealy at the furnace

I have had no complaints from any of the Captures for when they ask me for money I have always given them that on a Settlement the[y] wont have any great sum to receive being pressed for time I must Conclude with the most profound respects Your [&c.]

Friday 7—night one of the Privateer Sloop Union's Prizes arrived at a safe Port, laden'd with 600 Hogsheads Salt, 50 Boxes Lisbon Lemons, and 12 Quarter casks of Wine.

Tuesday the privateer Brig. Washington, Capt. [Elias] Smith, belonging to Plymouth, arrived at Beverly from a cruize; off western islands he took a Brig from London bound to the West-Indies, and order'd her into port.

In the above prize was taken a person late belonging to the Yankey, Capt. Johnson, who informs, That he made his escape from a prisonship, where he left 22 of his fellow sufferers, and that by what he could learn they were to be carried to the East Indies; that Capt. Johnson had made his escape and got to France; that he sail'd from London the 28th of November; and that some extraordinary appearances of a French War had taken place, as there was 3000 Seamen press'd in one night.

A London print, of the 2d of December, it is said, was taken in the above prize wherein was inserted an account, that an English cutter had taken and carried to England, a vessel from France bound to America, with dispatches, by which they learn't, that the Court of France were determined to assist the Americans, with a powerful fleet in the spring. That on the British Court's receiving the account, they immediately gave orders for fitting several large ships, and that 1500 Seamen were pressed in one night, to man them.

The brisk trade we have for some time carried on to the French and Spanish islands in the West-Indies, is almost entirely stopped. The English admirals on the West-Indiea stations, exclusive of the men of war and frigates belonging to their squadron, have fitted out and commissioned a number of armed vessels, from eight to fourteen guns each, which are commanded by lieutenants, masters, and mates of the navy, and are station'd to cruize off the Havannah, Monte-Christi, Cape Francois, Cape Nichola Mole, and likewise off St. Eustatia and Curacao; so that our vessels can seldom or ever go in or out of the above ports without being taken. It is said these armed cruisers have within these few months taken upwards of fifty sail of American vessels, some of them privateers.

[January 1 to January 27, 1777]

I continued cruising with my little Squadron on this service ² untill the 10th Jany during which time we took 11 or 12 Prizes. some of which were laden with Powder & Arms. two were French ships that pretended to be bound to Miquelon the rest were americans Laden with supplys of different sorts for Philadelphia from the West Indies all of which we sent to New York – When having assurances that the upper part of the River was frozen up, which the severity of the Weather below left no room to doubt of, I moved to the Southward; and having given each of the Captains orders to cruize in certain Latitudes for a limited time, and sent the Perseus & Camilla off Charles Town Bar, I gave out a general Rendezvous for the Island of Antigua, Making the best of my way thither, in pursuance of the Admirals Orders to clean & refit my ship: where I arrived

Sir

Antigua 27th January 1777.

Please to acquaint my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, that not having yet received any Account of the Pomona, I cannot but Conclude her to be lost and the small Number of His Majesty's Ships now employed on this Station are very insufficient to protect the Trade of the different Islands within the Limits of my Command: I have therefore thought it necessary, and for the good of His Majesty's Service, in order to more effectually to annoy the Rebels Numerous Armed vessels (called Privateers) now Cruizing in these Seas: To Cause to be purchased, Armed, and Commissioned the Rebels Privateer Brigantine lately called the Putnam; (which I acquainted their Lordships by my Letter of the 2d November last, had been taken as Prize by His Majesty's Ship Portland;) ² she having been reported on a Careful Survey fit to be made an Armed Vessel for the use of His Majesty, and capable of carrying Ten Guns and Forty Five Men; and I have directed the Deputy Naval Officer at Antigua Yard to draw Bills on the Navy board for £500 Sterling, the appraised Value of said Brigantine; the reported Condition and Valuation of which are inclosed for their Lordships Inspection. The 27th January I caused her to be Commissioned and called the Antigua: and have appointed Lieutenant William Swiney, from the Portland, to Command her, and took that opportunity to give Lieutenant William Young a Commission as Second Lieutenant of the Portland: which their Lordships had been pleased to direct. I believe this was wrote at Paris altho dated Bourdeaux for a blind, but am not sure I am a good deal of his opinion respecting the Portugueeze the only doubt is whether that Kings declaration of shutting up his Ports against us, will justify us in the Eyes of the World or in other Words, whether he has given us sufficie[nt] cause to declare War on him & his Subjects, If he has we shou'd not hesitate, the bait is tempting & that insignific[ant] Nation can do us no harm.

[Baltimore] Tuesday, January 28, 1777

The Secret Committee informed Congress, that the brig Olive Branch, William Bayly, master, was, by the procurement of Francis Lewis, laden at New York with 718 barrels of flour, on account of the United States, as will appear by bill of lading, signed 26 day of February, 1776, directed to be delivered to Mr. Samuel Carson, at St. Eustatia; that Captain Bayly, contrary to his orders, proceeded to Occoys, on the island of Hispaniola, and there put the cargo into the hands of Mons. Croix, who, by several letters, informed Mr. Carson that he should remit said Carson the proceeds of the flour to St. Eustatia; and, in a letter from said Carson, dated St. Eustatia, 30th November, is the following paragraph:—“I have not received one farthing on account of brig Olive Branch’s cargo, and God knows when I will;” that Captain Bayly, after landing the flour at Occoys, made a voyage for Mons. St. Croix, to France, and back to Occoys, where the said Croix loaded the brig, and proceeded with her to this port, where they both are at this time, with the vessel, re-laden with provision, &c. and ready to depart for Occoys; that Captain Bayly pretends he has sold the brig to Mons. Croix, and has taken his single promissory note for payment; but, it is obvious, that they have been jointly trading on the public’s capital, and defrauding both the public and the owners of the brig; that, with the proceeds of the cargo sold here, they have reladen the brig with provisions, &c. and have a residue of [£]2500 cash in their hands:

Resolved, That this matter be referred to the Secret Committee who are empowered to do therein what they shall judge to be just and right, and conducive to the public interest.

Extract of a letter from Sir John Peyton of Gloucester County, to the Hon. John Page, Esq. President of the Council, dated Jan. 28, 1777.

... I have seen Mr. Edward Hughes, who was taken by the enemy last Wednesday. He informs me there are three ships in the bay, a 60, 50, and a 36 gun frigate, under the command of Commodore Hotham. He brought with him the inclosed, ¹ and if it is proper that an exchange should be made, shall be much obliged to you for your interest in bringing it about as soon as possible. Mr. Hughes gives great praise to the Commodore for his generous and humane behaviour, who, after being informed the circumstances of Hughes's family, &c. gave him his boat with almost every thing in her, detaining a Negro which he said he understood was a tolerable pilot, but assured him, at the same time, he should be returned as soon as he got a better; that he did not mean to distress individuals who industriously were going from river to river to support their families. – Hughes understood they were to cruise here, and expect 7 or 8 sail more every day.

. . . the ship at plymouth I there mentd with the Sassaparilla, Log Wood &c was sold at private Sale to the Board of War of this state who (I may venture to say to you) I am afraid are making very Wild Steerage much to the detriment of the State: they have been making many and large purchases: and are sending abroad for Articles that may be wanted, but they give such very exorbitant prizes for their Vessels & Cargoes: and such unheard of Wages & privileges to their masters and men that its evident the masters will realise full a third part of the whole Cargo, it so effects the private merchs others Asking the same those state gentry has that ruin must be the Consequence unless they alter their measure. —

I wish to receive Orders from the [Secret] Committee what to do with the Brig Tryton & the Cargo of 220 Fr Salmon purchas'd in her & to know what to fill up with, I have bot but two of the four Vessels order'd by the Honble Committee, But I purpose to buy the Mellish, she was a Bomb Ketch in the British Service, Capt [John Paul] Jones thinks she would make a fine 20 Gun ship with some alterations. . . .

Capt Hinman who now commands the Ship Alfred by order of Commodore Hopkins making alterations on her that it will be 6 Weeks before He can go to Sea, the Cabot has been ready for the Sea above a Month, but the Captain & Men were called to Providence to mann their Frigates. Captain Oldney [Joseph Olney] who now commands her is manning her & I hope will soon sail, paying off the Portridge Bill of those Ships calls for a great Sum of Money.

CAPTAIN HECTOR MCNEILL TO THE MASSACHUSETTS COUNCIL ¹

Gentlemen

Boston Jan'y 30th 1777 –

I did apply last Monday Morning for an Order of your Honourable Board to Search a Certain Privateer call'd the Rising States – on board of which I had reason to think some of my Men were embark'd with an intention to desert the Publick Service –

The Order was Granted and a proper Officer appointd for that Service but before these could be Accomplished the Vessell Sail'd –

Your Honours thought proper on farther information to order Mr Cudworth down to Plymouth, as it was reported the privateer would call in there to receive on board a Certain Capt'n [James] Thompson, & others, who were to proceed on a Cruise in the Vessell Aforesaid – Mr Cudworth did proceed to Plymouth or near it and return'd to this Town last evening, and reports as follows –

That being met on the road by the Honble B. Genl [James] Warren to whom he related the Business on which he was going – The General told him that no such Vessell was or had been Lately at Plymouth – on which Mr Cudworth return'd in Company with the General and were met on the Road by our Capt'n of Marines whom I had dispatched after Mr Cudworth to Assist him if Necessary – he also returns with Genl Warren & Mr Cudworth & having taken Lodgings on Tuesday evening at Mr Cushing's of Hingham, they were soon joined by the aforesaid Capt'n James Thompson of the Brig Rising States who brought with him in a Coach five Sailors –

Capt Thompson seem'd a little alarm'd at Seeing Mr Cudworth and our Officer of Marines at that place before him but as none of the five Men with him were personally known by our officer, Mr Cudworth let them all pass – Genl Warren advised our Capt'n of Marines to return to Plymouth which he Accordingly did yesterday Morning before the Coach or its passengers were Stiring, Mr Cudworth informs no farther of his proceedings.

I had sent two Officers on Tuesday to Marblehead having had information that Men were to be collected at that place & sent over to Plymouth, Those Officers are now return'd and report to me that they found a Certain Mr [Henry] Fritz now Capt'n of Marines and a Certain Mr [Josiah] Martin now Carpenter of the Rising States, with them they also found about Nine Men who were then waiting an opportunity to go off on board the above mention'd Brigtn which was then in Sight Lying off, and on; the Harbours Mouth –

My Officers apply'd to the Committee, who could give them no other Assistance than to call those Officers before them, and on examination they did confess that they were bound on a Cruise on board the said Brigtn Rising States but would give no farther Satisfaction –

I thought it necessary to give your Honours the above information as soon as possible and am Your Honours [&c.]

ROBERT MORRIS FOR THE MARINE COMMITTEE TO CAPTAIN NICHOLAS BIDDLE, CONTINENTAL FRIGATE Randolph ¹

Sir

[Philadelphia] January 30th 1777

I have undoubtedt intelligence that there are not any men of war at the Capes indeed as an evidence of it a large Ship is come up the Bay, I therefore think it highly proper that you proceed to sea immediately, and as you have now more men considerably than you had when I gave your last orders, I think proper to recall those and instead thereof you must Observe the following Instructions. —

You are first to make returns to the Board of Assistants of all the Stores in each department, that your Boatswain, Gunner and other officers may account for what is under their respective care and the same with provisions. Return also a compleat List of your Officers and men on board, but as I would wish you not to loose One Moments time in getting out to Sea these returns can be made out as you go down and may be Sent up from the Capes therefore you are to make the best of your way down the moment the Ice will permit, and I expect the Hornet and Fly will be in readiness to go down with you. If so you had best keep them Ahead to look out. Several Merchantmen will also go down with you, and you are to convoy them fairly off to Sea and keep with them for a few days if possible soon as you find yourself fairly out at sea, you will no doubt try the ships Sailing and I expect she will perform wonderfully in that way; you will of course exercise your Men at the great guns, and prepare them for action soon as possible.

The Marine Committee now at Baltimore have instructed Commodore Hopkins to fit out the two Continental Frigates Warren and Providence with all possible expedition, and to order them forthwith to proceed on A Cruize upon the enemies ships of war that are interrupting the commerce of the United States from the Harbour of Newport to the Capes of Virginia and they are to take burn, Sink, and destroy all such of the enemies Vessels as they shall fall in with. ² These are the Instructions for those Ships and therefore I think they must be proper for you and for your encouragement in this service I must Observe that there are no Cruizing Ships an over Match for you except the two Deckers, for altho you think you have not seamen enough yet this is just their case, except the Roebuck there is none of them half manned, therefore you have only to avoid two Deckers or engaging when there is more than one in Sight. Any of their other single ships you need not fear, especially if you can persuade your men to board, remember what a glorious exploit it will be, to add one of their frigates or 20 Gun Ships to our Navy in A few days after you get out and if the Randolph has but Heels I think you can and will do it you will then get seamen plenty. If your ships sails remarkably fast you may take libertys with them, If she does not be more cautious and try to find out her trim. I shall send a Copy of these Instructions to Congress and it is possible they may send fresh orders to you, which shall be lodged with Henry Fisher at Lewis Town, and the light House will be ordered to shew a large white sheet when they have any orders for you and find A frigate in sight.

Should any unfortunate accident befall you destroy these orders rather than let the enemy get them, and you will as opportunities occur transmit us Accounts of your proceedings. You'l observe that many merchant Vessels are expected in with valuable Stores to this port, therefore you'l Afford them All possible protection and had best keep in their tract as long as you can. —

I wish you would send me Signals by which you may be known, in case we should send out any of our Small Cruizers to look for you, also to deliver to the other frigates that may go from hence Rhode Island &c.³ You will be careful of the Randolph her Stores and Materials, kind to your Officers and Men, but observing Strict discipline, humane to your Prisoners, and send your prizes into safe ports With the best wishes for your Success I am Sir [&c.]

The Board having had under Consideration the Building of two Frigates directed to be Built in this State by the hon'ble the Continental Congress are of Opinion from the Information they have received from Mr James Maxwell and Mr David

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE STATE OF BOSTON'S DEFENSES ¹

[Extract]

In the House of Representatives Janry 31st 1777.

The Comtee of Fortification, appointed by a Resolve of the General Court of the 15th Inst, to make report, to this Court, of the present State of the Fortifications & other works of Defence in & near the Harbour of Boston, & what they judge further necessary to be immediately done in order to put Said Harbour into a better State of Defence – And also to Report what number of Men & Guns they apprehend necessary to defend the Same; & Report a General Plan of Defence in Case of an Attack; Report, . . .

. . . Supposing an Attac[k] from the Sea; Hull must be particularly attended to, with the works near it further up the Harbor, few men wou'd be Suddenly wanted; for as Hull lies most exposed, there, & near it, must always be a good Garrison to prevent a Surprise; but upon an alarm, all the other Forts further up the harbor, will be filled with Men before an enemy can force his Passage; and no Officer, of the Enemy, who knows his duty, will ever venture to force his passage into this Harbor, until he has made himself master of Nantaskett (Supposing it the harbor to be fortified as aforesaid) for there would not be any chance for his Safety.

Last Lord's-Day Morning ten Sail of Ships and two Brigs went down the Sound. They were supposed to be the Fleet lately mentioned in this Paper that have for some Weeks past been at Long-Island taking in Wood, and bound to Newport.

And on Tuesday last several more Ships and other Vessels went down the Sound.

Last Wednesday Twenty-one Sail of Shipping from the Eastward, chiefly Ships, went by this Harbour, up the Sound – This must be the Fleet of Transports which we have been informed were taking in Troops at Newport, bound to New-York.

Last Lord's-Day a Flag of Truce which lately went from Say-Brook, in Company with several others, with Prisoners, for New York, returned here: They were permitted to tarry but one Night, and were not allowed to go within some Leagues of the City.

Copy.

Eagle Off New York

Sir,

January the 31st 1777.

Trusting that you will have been joined by the Orpheus, Unicorn and Juno, subsequent to the Departure of the Greyhound with the Transports for this Port; and lastly by that Ship, the Captain of which is charged with this Dispatch, in Answer to your several Favors of the 11th, 13th and 23d of this Instant received yesterday; I reckon You will be now enabled to provide more sufficiently for the different Services recommended to your Attention. And as your Knowledge of the Port and Coasts obtained since your Arrival at Rhode Island, will direct your Choice of the most proper Stations, I am assured that the Ships you see requisite to keep with You for preventing the Escape of the Rebel Armed Vessels of different Classes, will be appointed with that View in the best manner that the Navigation and other Circumstances of the Port will admit.

The Demand for Small Armed Vessels, some of which employed here have been (for want of other yet more seasonable Means for that End) necessarily manned from the Ships of War, will soon increase so considerably at this Port, that I cannot judge when it will be in my power to furnish You with any adequate Assistance of that Nature from hence. Lieutenant Browne was meant to be moved into One of greater Force, that I purpose fitting up as soon as the other more urgent Services in the Repair of the Cruising Ships will admit: And in the meantime he may remain as you have at present appointed. But if by the Hire, or other Means of procuring proper Vessels for your Purpose, You are capable of supplying that Defect at Newport, the Expedients you judge to be necessary therein shall be properly authorised.

Tho' I am entirely of Opinion that all requisite Precautions should be taken to guard against every probable Enterprize, I cannot think the Rebels will attempt an Invasion of Rhode Island, as they are said to intend; under all the known Difficulties attending the Conveyance of Troops Ammunition and Stores, and the Hazard of having their Boats from which their Force is to be landed, destroyed by the Ships of War, and their Retreat in that case totally cut off.

The constructing of a Redoubt for preserving the Command of the Seakennet passage, seems highly necessary, whilst the Rebels have possession of the Eastern Shore. But I apprehend such a Situation should be chosen for the placing of it, as will equally serve for the purpose of defending the Coast from Invasion, on such part where the Assistance of the Ships could be less readily afforded. Judging of the Face of the Country from the Draft you refer to, I apprehend the Hill near the Bridge on the Eastern Side of the Island directly opposite to Wanton's Cove, would be an eligible Position. I have always understood that the Enemy had constructed a Work upon the Hill overlooking Bristol Ferry. That Post (if not commanded from the opposite Shore) guarding a Strait where the Ships would be much confined in their Operations if the Rebels made a proper Advantage of it, will I conclude be occupied by the King's Troops: In order that the Rebels might be obliged to direct their Landing (should they venture at any time on so bold a Measure) to other Parts of the Coast more accessible to the Ships. And if ever such a desperate Attempt should be made, it will doubtlessly be the Object of the Ships to press in Succession, at all Events, upon their Boats, when on their passage to the Island.

No better Method occurs to me at present for supplying the Want of Slops and Naval Stores in the Ships of your Squadron from the Magazines at this port, than to provide a Conveyance for the Quantity of each Species necessary according to the Contents of a General Abstract stating the whole Deficiency collected by your Direction and transmitted to me. But I must intreat that in the Preparation of that Abstract, Care may be taken to admit only such Articles as upon Inspection of the Warrant Officers Expences and Remains, are found to be indispensibly requisite for the Service of the Ship. This Caution is the more material, as it is not uncustomary for the several Warrant Officers to calculate their Demands to complete their Remains equal to the Amount of their first Charges at a fitting Port. And I have had the Dissatisfaction in some Instances to observe, that the Commanders have not taken the care to regulate those Demands, which a due Regard to the Benefit of the King's Service and the Circumstances of this Fleet require.

The Payment of Artificers employed by your Order, may be adjusted in a similar Manner. Proper Returns expressing the Number and Qualit[ies] of the Artificers, and the times they have been employed being made out in the different Ships as when fitting at this Port, the Store-keeper residing here shall be directed to remit the Amount upon Receipt of the Vouchers: Three Copies thereof being transmitted for the regular Settlement of his Accounts at the Navy Office. Stores procured for your Squadron may be paid for, either by Draft on the Storekeeper for the estimated Value of the Articles you have need of; Or the Sum be remitted upon Delivery of the Vouchers, as in the Instance last mentioned

You will perceive that the Complaint from Mr Cooke concerning the Masters, passengers and others permitted to leave the port in the Triton Brig and his Claim of an equal Number of American Prisoners in Return, have been noticed; and my Sentiments thereupon signified in my Answer to his Letter: A Copy of which and the original Letter for Mr Cook have been sometime since forwarded with a Dispatch from me of the 23d Instant, to be delivered to you by Mr Thomas Goldesbrough in the Mary Armed Vessel.

I conclude You will have been able to contradict the Report respecting the Men, who, Mr Cooke is informed, were taken out of the Brig: But if that Assertion is founded, the Satisfaction I have left in his Choice, will, I hope, induce a Continuance of the Disposition in those Eastern Colonies, to leave us in possession of the Benefits derived to the Fleet from this Intercourse.

The Asia returning to England, I presume that You acquainted the Secretary of the Admiralty with the Exchange you had allowed between the Boatswains of that Ship and the Chatham; In which I should have concurred. The Appointment of a Lieutenant in place of the first Lieutenant of the Amazon, I equally approve of; tho' I have many reasons to be dissatisfied with the Cause of that Vacancy.

Permit me to make the Acknowledgments due for the very obliging Interest You take in my Recovery from my late troublesome Illness, at the same time that I assure You of the sincere Respect with which, I have the Honor to be Sir [&c.]

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF CONGRESS TO GEORGE WASHINGTON ¹

[Philadelphia] January 31 1777

. . . Here are Captain Jones² and several other people in this City that want to go into New York . . . I think it best to Send Jones in on Parole because Captain Hamond Sent up Captain [William] Hallock of the Lexington on those terms, and if your Excellency thinks proper I will propose an exchange between those two, the other persons we dont hold as prisoners being taken in Merchantmen, but I would put them all under Parole and Send them by Crosswicks to South Amboy and let them cross from thence, I think it can do no harm and they do much mischief here, amongst the Number is also Mr Palmer Commissary of Provisions &c under Mr Charnier who will get in exchange a Capt Deane asked for by the Council of Safety or any other you please to name or return back. I have a Ship in our Bay arrived with 10000 Bushels of Salt, but unfortunately she is run aground. I am sending down assistance and hope to Save her By her I got King Georges Speech and you will find A Copy enclosed. I have no doubt of a rupture in Europe this next Summer and his Majesty seems to entertain some doubt about it—

FRANCIS LEWIS TO ABRAHAM TEN BROECK ¹

Baltimore 31st Jany. 1777.

My last informed the Convention of the arrival of the armed sloop Montgomery, Capt. [William] Rogers, with two prizes, vizt. a brigantine and schooner in this harbour. I have procured libels to be filed against both, and the 10th day of February was appointed for trial. I shall assist Capt. Rogers to obtain condemnation, but learn that the brigantine's cargo, consisting of about 3000 bushels of salt, will be claimed as the property of an inhabitant of this town. The schooner's cargo is valuable, and as some articles, vizt. cheese, &c. are perishable, I have obtained leave to land the cargo under the care of the Continental agent for this State. I am informed there is woollens sufficient to clothe a battalion, which I shall reserve until I receive the orders of Convention; there is also about £400 sterling worth of fine Irish linen, much too fine for soldiers' shirts; these I would advise to have sold here, together with such other articles not suitable for the troops, as they will in my opinion, yield a better price here than elsewhere, and the sailors will want money. I have advised Capt. Rogers to fit out his sloop for another cruise, as soon as possible. Should you order any of the articles to your State, they must be conveyed by land, as two English frigates with two tenders are lying at the capes.

At foot you have an abstract of the schooner's cargo, collected from the cockets, the invoice being destroyed. I have the honor to be, sir [&c.]

F. Lewis.

Schooner Hannah's Cargo, vizt:

12 barrels and 10 half barrels of barley.	7 bales woollens.
23 tierces, 26 barrels, 7 ankers, 25 firkins beef.	1 puncheon, 2 boxes and 3 bales woollens.
21 casks raisins, say 21 casks.	1 bale osnaburgs.
1 cask neats' tongue.	6 bales and 33 loose bolts canvas.
4 tierces and 19 barrels peas.	1 barrel pork, 1 cask lampblack.
36 kegs pickled tripe.	2 cases mustard, 1 box spices.
5 firkins butter.	1 case buttons and trimmings.
23 coils cordage.	1 case pickles, 3 chests Florence oil.
15 hhds. beer.	3 bundles twine.
30 bundles sheathing paper.	112 cheeses, 1 keg nails.
1 hhd. glassware.	50 hampers red port wine.
4 cross cut saws.	1 pack cinnamon.
1 puncheon and 1 barrel shoes.	2 boxes pipes, and a parcel of oakum.

N.B. Several of the woollens and linens being wet, it became necessary to open them.

Brigantine Minerva's Cargo.

3000 bushels of salt, and 1 puncheon rum.

P.S. Please to inform the superintendent for the frigates, that I learn anchors may be got of one Forbes at Cannain [New Cannan, Conn.] who makes them, and is not far from Hudson's river; none to be got here, and at Philadelphia they are fully employed for their own vessels.

OWNERS' INSTRUCTIONS TO CAPTAIN WILLIAM BELL, ARMED SLOOP Reprisal ¹

Captain William Bell Master of the Arm'd Sloop Reprisal

Sir Your Conduct being such as to merit our attention, We have accordingly appointed you to the Command of our Sloop Reprisal, in the Stead of Captain Downey, who hath desir'd to resign his Command: and as his good Fortune by falling in with Two American Vessels hath prevented him pursuing the intended Voyage to Barbadoes, we desire you wou'd folow our Instructions as herein after mentioned so far as Wind Weather and other Circumstances will Permit.

As soon as you can get on board the necessary Stores and Water, and your Compliment of Men, we desire you woud Stand to the Northward under easy Sail running as far to the Windward of St Bartholomew and St Martins as just to distinguish the Land, shortening Sail as you pass those Islands, then Steer North if the Wind is northerly, or NNE if the Wind is Southerly continueing under easy Sail as far as the Latitude 22 north then Tack and stand to the Southwd under easy Sail till you see Barbuda, then make all Sail and go to windward of Antigua and Grandterre, and as soon as you See the Latter Shorten Sail, and proceed to Windward of Dominica and Martinico towards St Lucia, and Cruize to Windward of these Islands till you think your Provisions are expended to a fortnights allowance, when it will become necessary to compleat your Voyage to Barbadoes and our further orders there. –

We have particularly recommended great care of your Water, and to loose

no opportunity of ketching any Rain, we also desire you wou'd very frequently inspect both Water and Provisions, and set down in your Log-Book when you broach a Cask, and Once a Week set down how many Remains so as not to be unexpectedly disappointed in falling Short, we likewise recommend to you to be particularly Carefull in the disposing of your Powder, Shot, and Small Arms that you may not be at a loss to find any thing if you should be obliged to engage with a Vessel, and so as to prevent any from Spoiling, and when you find the Sloop in good trim, take great pains not to loose her Trim, as your Success depends almost intirely on the Vessels Sailing. —

If you fall in with a Man of War, shew the officers your clearance (if he demands the papers) and particularly your List of Men, and if you shou'd have on board any Men not mentioned in the List, you must hide them for fear of their being impress'd by the Man of War: he cant take any Man mentioned in the List from the Custom House:

If you are so fortunate as to take a Prize, you must be govern'd by her Value, to Cruize with her a Month if you are at a distance from this Island and She is not worth more than £1000. a Week only if she is worth £2000. and to come away immediatly if she is worth £3000. if your Prize Sails well and has Conveneancies we recommend you to put on board 2 Small Guns and a few Swivels and to fix some Wooden Guns as she may help you in chase and perhaps by appearance prevent a large Privateer from attacking you both, pray leave two of the Prizes Men on board to prove her being taken by you and be very carefull not to loose Sight of your Prize if of any Great Value and as by chasing you may be Seperated take care to appoint a place of Rendezvouz with the Prize Master as soon as he goes on board, and renew it as often as requir'd, and fix Signals by day and by Night and give different Signals for each Prize, for fear of their falling into the Enemies hands and your being decoy'd thereby, and as it Sometimes happens by light Winds Under the High Land of some of the Islands you may be Seperated, on your way to this Island pray appoint a place to meet, where the Wind blows true either at the end of that Island, or of the next Island, but if you can get to Windward of the Islands, it is the Safest passage: and at any rate bring your Prize into this Island unless you fall in with a Man of War, and the Captain should insist on having possession in which case you must Continue your Men on board and follow the Prize to wherever the Captain may order her; and when She gets to Port you must apply to some respectable Merchant to employ a Lawyer, and as soon as the Officer of the Man of War libells her you must put in a Claim for the Owners: if an opportunity offers for this Island, write your Owners immediatly, but if not, as soon as you have put in your Claim and proved your Capture by the deposition of One of your Prize officers or Seamen, you must come with your Vessel to inform us, and we will take care to prosecute the Captain for the unjust detention.

We have given you Mr [Thomas] Warner the Attorney Generals opinion, that we have a right to take American Rebels Vessels, which we desire you wo[uld] shew to the Captain of any Man of War, who thinks we have no right to take Vessels, and we have given you several Copies of that Opinion one of which you may give to such Captain if he desires it; and you may also shew the Captain these our orders, as we mean to be open and Candid, and wish to Shew the officers of the Navy our respect for them and that this Adventure is not in opposition to them, but to the Rebellious Americans, and to make Recaptures for our very heavy losses by this Rebellion, for altho' we might be protected by a Court of Admiralty now, and by his Majesty on an appeal for defending our property by force; if a Captain of a Man of War should determine to take possession of your Vessel, or your Prize, yet we desire you wou'd not contest the matter with the Smallest Vessel, bearing the Kings Commission but Submit to their orders and go along with one or both as it happens, and if you are carried to another Island follow our orders as before Mentioned; — We have also given you 2 Copies of Instructions to prize Masters, and we desire you woud give to each Prize Master One of these Instructions and One of Mr Warner's opinions, for we are sure of having redress in time, the Law being in our favor; We most heartily wish you health and Success, and are Your Freinds.

Eagle Off New York

Sir

February the 1st 1777.

The Rebel Prisoners detained some time in the Cruizing Frigates, by a frequent View of the Signals appointed for making the Ships of this Fleet known to each other, have been able to retain the Memory of them; And to communicate them upon their Exchange, to the Commanders of the Rebel Armed Vessels. It has therefore been necessary to make such an Alteration in those Signals, as will guard against that Inconvenience in future. And I transmit herewith a Copy of the Signals I have directed to be used here for that Purpose.²

These I imagine it will not be requisite to alter, unless the Rebels become by an Accident possessed of a Copy of them. And in that Case, a sufficient Change may be made in them, by ordering the Months (for Instance) at the Head of the first Column to be transferred to the Head of the Second, Third, or Fourth, and so in Succession of the others; Without altering the Signals themselves; Tho' several of them are ill chosen, in as much as they require an Alteration of Sail, which may be highly improper on many Occasions; But the Private Ships not being now allowed the National Colours of the other Maritime Powers, nor any Extra Colours, no better Means have offered for composing the necessary Variety.

I am, with great Consideration Sir [&c.]

COMMITTEE OF SECRET CORRESPONDENCE TO WILLIAM BINGHAM¹

[Extract]

Baltimore in Maryland 1st Feby 1777 –

. . . Congress has referred the matter of remittance for discharge of the obligation which you and Mr [Richard] Harrison have entered into, to the State of Maryland, from whence you will no doubt receive remittance as soon as the British Ships of War now in Chesapeake Bay will permit. It is a singular misfortune to us, and very injurious to the Commerce of France, that we have not two or three line of Battle Ships, which, with our Frigates and armed Vessels would keep open our navigation in despite of Great Britain, – but at the present one heavy ship affords protection to two or three frigates, that would otherwise be easily removed, and they place themselves so as to shut up the entrance into our principal trading States.

SAMUEL ADAMS TO JAMES WARREN¹

Baltimore, Feb. 1, 1777

Give me leave to hint to you my Opinion that it would be a Saving to our State in the Way of Supplis, if the Board of War would consign the Cargoes which they order here to a Merchant of good Character rather than to the Master of the Vessel. Possibly there may be some Exceptions; But I have Reason to think that a Cargo which arrivd about a Fortnight ago, consisting as I am told, chiefly of Rum and Sugars which were scarce Articles, was sold at least 30 pCt under what it would have fetchd, if it had been under the Direction of a Person acquainted in the Place; and Flour is purchasing by the Person who bo't the Cargo, and I suppose expects an Allowance therefor, at an unlimited Price. I am perswaded, if you had by a previous Letter directed a Cargo to be procurd, you might have had it 20 pCt cheaper. If the Board should be of my Mind, I know of no Gentlemen whom I would more freely recommend than Messrs Samuel and Robert Purvyance. They are Merchants of Character, honest and discrete Men, and warmly attached to our all-important Cause.

But I get out of my Line when I touch upon Commerce. It is a Subject which I never understood. Adieu my dear Friend. Believe me to be yours,

VAN BIBBER & HARRISON TO THE MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY ¹

Gentlemen St Pierre M/que Feby 1. 1777.

Inclosed you have a Copy of what we had the Honour of writing you on the 26th ulto – We have now to acknowledge the rect of your favr by the Friendship Capt Martin, who, we with pleasure inform you, arrived here this day. – It is unlucky his Cargoe does not consist of Tobacco instead of Flour, as it would in that case yield at least 50 pCt more. – However as his last Voyage proved so unsuccessful no body is to blame and we must endeavour to make the most of what we have got.

We shall immediately discharge the Cargoe & dispatch the Vessell down to St Eustatia for a load of Salt, where we expect she may also be able to procure a handsome Freight of dry Goods. – Salt is not to be had here at present, nor do we see any prospect of an Advantageous Freight; we therefore think it well worth the risque, especially as you are so much distressed for that essential Article We are exceedingly sorry that our embarrass[ed] Circumstances will not admit of our shipping any of the other Goods you desire. We shall however use all our Influence to engage private adventurers to speculate in them to your State and on all occasions do every thing in our power to render our Services acceptable. – Although we have shipped but little Salt ourselves, most of the Cargoes that have gone from St Eustatia & this port have been shipped in Consequence of our Advice & Encouragement, and we have even (distressed as we are) taken Small Concern in three or four adventures on our own Accots to prevent their falling to the Ground, & for the Sake of throwing in Supplies.

We hope our Accot Currnt of the 28th December got safe to hand, as we Sent it by two different Opportunities. But for fear of Accid[e]nts we now inclose you triplicate of it. – As we have been frequently under the necessity of reshipping your produce to other Islands It was impossible for us to be so regular in transmitting our Accts Sales & Acct Currnt as we wished. – But in future we hope it will be attended with less difficulty. The Affair of the powder sold in Charles Town is not yet settled, so soon as it is you Shall be advised of it.

We are concerned to learn by Capt Martin that some are ill natured enough to suspect us of Under hand Work in the purchase of Stones Brigt – He will carry papers from Statia that we trust will clear us of every foul Imputation of the kind & place us above the reach of Malice. We are &c

JOHN R. LIVINGSTON TO ROBERT LIVINGSTON ¹

Boston Feby 2d 1777

I begin to grow tired of Privateering and wish I could take all my property from the Vessels I am concerned in. I here send you a list of them which if you will be so good as to offer to Walter Livingston who perhaps may take them

1 - 14th	Sloop Congress sailed from Phila about the middle of October since sent in one prize though it was retaken	£666.13..4
1 - 14th	Sloop Chance ² sailed at the same time	666.13..4
1 - 12	Briga Rising States mounting Eighteen Six pounders carries One hundred and eighty men saled Jany 26th - a finer Vessel allowed by those who are judges than any yet Sailed	1503..0..0
1 - 16	of Ship General Mifflin ³ mounts Twenty Nine pounders and Six fours now in the Port of Boston is supposed to Sail in Six weeks to carry 250 Men	1245.16..8
1 - 12	of Sloop Beaver almost ready for sea Lying at Providence at which place there is a Large Body of men	800..0..0

Amount of the whole comes to £4882..3..4

You find by this State of my accounts in the Shipping way that I am rather too deep so that if you can sell them all or separately to any person that will have them provided I am informed first of what Vesels they take as I shall endeavor to do the Same here and they might be sold to two people at the same time which would make great confussion should any one make a good offer that is not less than £ 4400 for the whole of them you will be so good as to inform me by express of it as I would take it though I should lose a little by it, for I find that so much money in privateers is gaming very high and to a great disadvantage. If Walter Livingston chuses to take only the Ship and Briga - he can have the first at 25 PCt on what I gave and the other at 30 PCt.

IN FRANCE¹

[Extract]

Baltimore 2 February 1777

. . . It concerns Us not less than We are sure it will You, that you should have heard so seldom from Us, but the vigilance of the British Cruizers has prevented our most earnest solicitude for this purpose. The manner in which they now conduct their business proves the necessity of the request made by Congress for the loan, or sale of a few Capital Ships. The entrance into the Delaware and Chesapeake being narrow, by placing one 40 or 50 Gun Ship for the protection of their frigates they Stop both Commerce and correspondence. Formerly their frigates protected their tenders, but now that we have frigates, their larger ships protect their frigates, and this winter has been so uncommonly favorable, that they have been able to keep the sea, undisturbed by those severe gales of wind so usual off this coast, in the winter season. If we had a few line-of-Battle Ships to aid our Frigates. The Commerce of North america, so beneficial to ourselves and so advantageous to France, would be carried on maugre the opposition of Great Britain. As we have not received any of those military stores and cloathing promised by Mr Deane, we have much reason to fear they have fallen into the enemy's hands, and will render a fresh supply quite necessary. Except Mr Deane's favor of September 17th which is but just now received, and that of 1st October we have been as destitute of European News as we fear you have been of true American intelligence . . .

The regular troops that are to compose the new army are making up in the different States as fast as possible; but arms, artillery, tent cloth, and cloathing will be greatly wanting. For these our reliance is on the favor of his most Christian Majesty. If you are so fortunate as to obtain them, the propriety of sending them in a strong ship of war must be very evident to you, Gentlemen, when you know our coasts are so covered with Cruizers from 20 to 50 guns, though but few of the latter. We believe, they have not more than two ships of 40 and two or three of fifty guns in their whole fleet on the North American Station; and these are employed, one of them to cover a frigate and two at the capes of each bay, whilst the rest remain at New York.

COUNT D'ARGOUT, GOVERNOR GENERAL OF MARTINIQUE, TO VICE ADMIRAL JAMES YOUNG¹

Sir:

Fort Royal, Martinique 2 February 1777

For a long time I have deplored the acts of violence committed against our commerce by British pirates or frigates in a manner contrary to the terms of treaties as well as to the respect due our ensign.

It is far from my thoughts that such acts committed against public faith may have the consent and approval of your Excellency and I am already persuaded that you will return to my complaint all the justice that it has the right to expect.

The French brig LeGuillaume sailing from and dispatched from Miquelon was stopped and led to La Dominiqua by the ship Abraham under the command of a Gilbert Grant who did not possess any British war commission.

Such duress was exercised against the ship Saint Guillaume, with David as the Captain, sailing from Santo Domingo for this island which carried only a few French passengers, and brought letters from the Governor of Santo Domingo; it was stopped, led to and detained in Santo Domingo. Armed men were placed on board, the search conducted revealed that it was only ballast, the trunks were examined, and the letters taken away of which some were not returned.

To justify such a capture made in violation of rights of men the insidious means of corruption were used. The mercenary souls of the sailors were tempted with gold to testify that these ships were used to run errands for the Anglo-French in conflict with the British.

I do not know under what appellation you classify this kind of machination, our laws call it intimidation of witnesses and punish this crime with dishonor and sometimes death. Since the principles of honor are the same among all civilized nations, I am certain that your scruples will be offended upon reading these odious ways.

I had the honor of writing about this to his Excellency, Mr. Shirley, Governor of Santo Domingo, who replied that in what concerned the Navy you were the only one responsible, him also excluded.

Therefore, I have the honor of bringing to you my formal and official protest against these abuses which are hostile acts and upon which I cannot close my eyes. I beg of your Excellency to inform me clearly and positively of your definite action. Your reply will be a just satisfaction of my complaint, or a justified reason for the reprisals which I shall order.

Herein you will find a copy of the complaints addressed to me by Mr. de Luin and Mr. Lars Dorient, inhabitants of this colony. Sir, I have the honor to be, with the Greatest respect [&c.]

[Martinique]

We the undersigned declare that having been obliged to call at St. Eustatia on 17 January while coming from Santo Domingo we embarked there on the 19th with several other passengers in the ship Saint Guillaume under the command of Captain David and belonging to Mr. Adrien Sicard of Basse Terre, Guadeloupe, with Martinique for destination, that on the following 23d while passing off Dominica abreast the Roseau roads we were stopped by the long boat of the British frigate from which it departed when it was near us, that without any word, nor making any signal to bring us to, a musket shot was fired, the bullet of which struck the anchor cathead near which were standing two passengers who ran a great risk, that the ship was anchored near the frigate, although the papers were found in order and that the ship was only in ballast, of which nine guns composed its artillery, two of which were on deck, that the Captain of this frigate came aboard of the said vessel bringing 20 armed with muskets, bayonets, swords and pistols, removed the crew composed of 8 men, four white Frenchmen and four negroes, also French, with the exception of a Corossolian, our servants consisting of three mulattos and two negroes, leaving only the captain, under mate and three passengers; that next we were confined to our room after the windows were locked and a watch posted and relieved every two hours; that as soon as the Captain had departed the 20 men seized a case of rum belonging to one of the passengers, became drunk, and that we spent a horrible night.

that the next day the Captain returned on board searched the vessel once more, and the trunks of the passengers taking all the letters which were entrusted to them. that Mr. de Luynes, one of the passengers having received the permission to go ashore with him had much difficulty in obtaining the release of the other passengers, their servants and their trunks; however their letters and those of other passengers were not returned; that all the servants were interrogated as to their destination which they were ignorant of, that several sailors having been taken ashore and having fled came to speak to us telling us they also were interrogated and that some were promised 25 moidores others thirty to make them confess that the ship came from New England and that it was going to be armed to give chase to the British Royalists which they all declared themselves ignorant of with the exception of one who said that he was engaged for privateering in the mentioned vessel. It was on the testimony of this wretch, without any clear indication, that this vessel was stopped. We left Dominica the evening of the 25th reaching St. Pierre on the 26th

St Pierre Martinique Feb 2d 1777

There have been a Number of Privateers lately fitted out of the English Islands, which greatly annoy & molest our Trade – They carry no Commissions, but make Prizes of our Vessels under the Authority & Sanction of the Kings Proclamation, which dooms us to be the Prey of every Invader; – The English Admiral on the Station has seized upon several of their Prizes in the Kings Name, & a Law Suit commenced in Antigua, to determine the Property, when it was adjudged to the Captors. –

The favorable Issue of their Suit has occasioned many of the Islands to follow the Example of Antigua, & I expect that these Seas will soon be covered with Privateers;—

As they began, So they continue their Depredations, in a lawless Manner, & are under no Restraint in the Exercise of their assumed Authority – They have lately stopped, searched & carried into Port several French Vessels, bound for this Place, one of which they have libel'd in the Court of Admiralty, for no other

William Bingham

Silas Deane

Reason, than that She had Cannon & Small Arms on board, which they suspected, as being intended for a Supply to the Rebels in Martinico; – This was their only Plea – The General remonstrated with the Governor of Dominica against the Violence of these Proceedings, & in a Spirited Letter which he wrote to him, demanded the Restitution of these several Prizes;

Whatever might have been the Governors Inclination, he certainly had it not in his Power to surrender them, as this Matter came altogether under the Jurisdiction of a Court of Admiralty. – The General, not receiving a satisfactory Answer, immediately ordered the Seizure of all British Property – In Consequence of which three English Vessels have been stopped, stripped of their Sails, & will be detained untill the Issue of this Affair is Known. . . .

MEMORIAL OF DARTMOUTH INHABITANTS TO THE MASSACHUSETTS COUNCIL ¹

We the Subscribers, Inhabitants of the Town of Dartmouth and others, having understood that your Honor's have given permission to the Captains of several Vessels brought into this port of Bedford to be exchanged and that they are to be sent to Newport in the State of Rhode-Island for that purpose. We beg leave to represent to your Honors that the Harbours of Bedford and Fairhaven lay very much exposed to the Enemy, and are in a very insufficient state to resist an attack of them – As We believe that the above Captains are fully acquainted with the defenceless state of this harbour, We humbly conceive that they are able to carry such intelligence as may induce the Enemy to make an attack upon this town and thereby endanger the lives and properties of the Inhabitants of it.

We beg leave further to represent to your Honors that there are a number of Ships, as well as other Vessels fitting out from this port both on acct of the Continent and Individuals (many of which ships have been even commanded by the above Prisoners) and therefore the Owners have the fullest reason to suppose that the aforesaid Prisoners will give such information as will render their Vessels exceedingly exposed to the Enemies Cruizers; The above Prisoners knowing the destination and the times of the sailing of the different Vessels bound out of this Port.

We therefore pray your Honors will recall the permission given to the aforesaid Prisoners as we are sure that by the continuance of it the consequences must be most unhappy to this Town and the properties of many individuals; – Inhabitants of this State. –

“EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM LEWES, (CAPE HENLOPEN) FEBRUARY 3, 1777.”¹

By an express from Salisbury in Somerset, it is certain there is a Tory-Insurrection there. They had been in arms last week, and the Snow-Hill militia had gone to suppress them, on which they disappeared, and the militia returned home. But this must have been a feint of the tories to gain time to collect more from Sussex and elsewhere. Yesterday (being Sunday) great numbers were met in different places in Sussex, moulding bullets, &c. Expresses were sent to all the tory companies in Sussex, and many hundreds have marched with their firelocks, the number uncertain, though many of them were too cowardly to go. Those who have been probably hired by the English to invent and propagate lies for some years, have exerted themselves almost to press the ignorant foresters. The tory camp was last night at Parker's Mill, about five miles from Salisbury: On which Colonel [Joseph] Dashield was fortifying with a few whigs in Salisbury, but expected to be a thousand strong today: He has ammunition enough, and two pieces of cannon. Flags have been passed between the two camps, and they expect to have a battle tomorrow. It is said, that one Simon Kollock of Nanticoke, and one Herne, are to lead the Sussex tories, and Dr. Cheney, &c. those of Somerset. These, and many others, are said to have been on board the English men of war, and to have brought them round into Chesapeak bay. Armed vessels are now at Nanticoke; the tories believe them to be English, but Colonel Dashield believes them to be American, and expects some cannon from them, &c. It is certain, the English ships have not been near Lewis since they burnt a Carolina schooner in Indian river, when the tory flag on Long-Neck invited them in, the 20th of last month; when they brought Simon Kollock on shore with a new suit of cloaths, a silver hilted sword and sterling money, which he got on board. The design of all this may be conjectured. These tories use very violent expressions, as “By God, there never will be any peace till the Whigs and Presbterians are all cut off.”

By accounts from Somerset, since the foregoing we learn, that the insurgents had dispersed, and several of their leaders were taken prisoners.

[Extract]

Dear Sir,

Baltimore February 3d 1777

The impossibility of getting intelligence at present thro' this Bay, has obliged us to send an Express to the Council of Massachusetts, requesting they will immediately dispatch a quick sailing Vessel with letters to the Commissioners. The only vessel we have sent from hence for this purpose, is now shut up in a small Creek below by the Men of War four or five of which are now in this Bay, as we are informed, & some of them as high as Smiths Point, mouth of Potowmack, they have taken Buchanans ship as she went down. We have reason to suppose that these are the ships that lately block'd up the Delaware, and that they are brought here by the fugitive Guthridges' [Goodrich's] and the Tories on the Eastern shore of Maryland. The latter are numerous, and we apprehend have informed of a quantity of Provisions preparing there for the Troops which they mean to assist in getting to the Enemy.

We are doing all we can in this slow place to get armed Vessels down to obstruct this wicked design. In the mean time would it not be highly proper to send out immediately the Sachem or Race Horse, or both to the Capes of Virginia to notify coming in Vessels of their danger, and also to suppress any Tenders that they may have out to intercept Vessels coming in, whilst they think themselves secure from interruption from hence by the large ships covering the passage of the Bay opposite Potowmack. Captain Isaiah Robinson is as perfectly well acquainted with our Bay that he could in a swift sailing Vessel not only give notice to Vessels bound in, but come in himself, suppress their Tenders, and, regardless of the bigger Ships run into a thousand places of protection and security where they cannot molest him, taking care of the Counties of Somerset, Wor[ce]ster, and an adjoining Maryland Eastern shore – If you approve this Plan can it not be immediately executed? ² I am inclined to think your Bay is open now, and it is a good opportunity to push [Nicholas] Biddle and the other Vessels out on the business you mention. We shall keep the letters you sent us for France until we can get an opportunity here, when we propose sending out the Lexington

1. Henry Laurens Papers, Group 45b, 1776–83, SCHS.

2. Lee was mistaken. Isaiah Robinson commanded the Andrew Doria, not the Sachem. Morris ordered the Continental sloop Fly, Captain Elisha Warner, to cruise off the Virginia Capes. See his letter to Warner, February 17.

Sir Your Favour of the 23d Decr P The Schooner Ellen Captn Morton, with Invoice & Bill of Lading for Six Hhds Sugar, & Four hhds Rum, was deliverd us this day. We beg leave to congratulate you on the safe arrival of this Vessel which narrowly escaped some Frigates of the Enemy at our Capes, who are since come into the Bay. – The Sugars & Rum will both sell at extravagant high Prices. The latter now worth 15/ P Gn the former, 140/ & upwards as in Quality.

The Intentions of the Enemies Cruizers in coming into the Bay at present is not certain: But supposed to collect Provisions & Stock from Two of the lower Counties on the Eastern Shore, where Toryism too generally prevails. whither they intend a permanent Stay is doubtful. At any Rate we are glad of embracing so early an Opportunity of advising you the danger, hoping it may be in time to prevent the Sailing of Some of the Vessels destined hither from your Board. Such as may have Sailed, will undoubtedly be in great danger of being taken. Congress are in the mean time fitting out some Vesls here to sail in a few days, which hope may at least prevent the depredations of the Enemies Tenders in the Bay & probably allarm some of the Inward bound Vessels. –

My Lord

Antigua 3d February 1777.

I am to acquaint You that several Adventurers belonging to the Island of Antigua (encouraged thereto by an opinion they have obtained from the Attorney General and some other Law Gentlemen of this Island) have fitted out several Armed Vessels (Consisting of small Pilot Boats, Schooners and Sloops) and without Commission or any Lawful Authority from the Crown: have caused them to proceed to sea, there to Cruize and make Capture of any American Vessels they can meet with. They have already taken upon the High Seas several American Vessels and sent them into the Island of Antigua to be prosecuted in the Court of Vice Admiralty as Prize of War and it seems expect to be rewarded both by the Court of Admiralty and the King for making such Captures. I think it highly probable some of the Inhabitants within Your Lordships Government Stimulated thereto by what they may deem the success of the Antigua Adventurers may also determine (if not prevented) to act in the same manner.

In the course of my Service I never before heard of any Self appointed Cruizers, and am firmly of opinion the same is not only strictly illegal; but highly Derogatory to the King's Authority, and will also be attended with many dangerous and alarming Consequences to the Nation. I have already received a Complaint from the Governor General of Martinique &ca that an Armed Sloop belonging to Rosseau Dominica has boarded and Examined several French Vessels and that he has ordered one of the French King's Frigates to take her as a Pirate I must further add that I am certain Administration in England have possitively refused repeated applications made to them for Permission to Arm private Vessels to cruize and act offensively against the American Rebels: neither do I think the opinion of Lawyers a sufficient Sanction, to risk the Involving two Nations in a War: for the sake of Gratifying a few Individuals: I must therefore intreat you will be pleased to take such measures for preventing the foregoing Mode of Arming Vessels to Cruize on the High Seas, from the Ports within Your Government as your Lordship may think proper and Effectual: I also beg to receive your answer to this Requisition as speedily as possible: as I think it my duty to transmit without Delay, a full and particular account of these Transactions to the Ministry, in Order to their laying the same before His Majesty I have the Honor to be my Lord &ca

NEW HAMPSHIRE COMMITTEE OF SAFETY TO MARINE CAPTAIN GEORGE JERRY OSBORN ¹

State of New Hampshire.

Sir –

In Committee of Safety, [Exeter] Feby 4th 1777.

The Committee are informed, by Col [Pierse] Long, that you have enlisted as marines to go on board the Raleigh ship of War, Sundry soldiers belonging to his Regiment, now under marching orders for Ticonderoga. The Committee have seen no Resolve or Vote of Congress that will justify such proceeding, and think it very prejudicial to the public service, and that you ought to release them immediately.

A Resolve of Congress transmitted to us allows officers appointed to recruit the Quotas of men in the several States allotted for them to raise to serve during the war, to Enlist men out of other Regiments in their Service, who are engaged for a short time; but is expressly limited to them, and cannot be construed to allow any other officers to enlist them, though for the war, unless they belong to the 88 Battalions mentioned in the Resolve ²

. . . The Board of Assistants to the Marine Committee ² are now getting the Tradesmen & others to Work on the Frigates & other Vessells of War here & will want Money for that department hitherto it has been supplied by drawing all the Continental share of Prize Money out of the Agents hands & that Fund is exhausted for the present . . .

We are of opinion the Congress may now return with safety & that they cannot be disturbed by any New attacks on this side September by which time we Shall certainly have our Army able to meet & Cope with the Enemy wherever they please, We ground our present opinion of Safety to this City on many [illegible]-ring Circumstances, but principally on the Enemies want of Horses to move the necessary stores, provisions, Forage Artillery &c &c for Such an undertaking, they have not Numbers sufficient & what they have are unable to do the duty neither can they subsist what they have. They will not undertake such an Expedition by Water for they have not Men enough to hold New York & attack this place at the same time, If they depend on assistance from Quebec they cannot get those Troops here by Sea sooner than August & as to reinforcements from Europe they must be more difficult to be had & later in coming this year than last & so in each succeeding year whilst they are mad enough to carry on the War – If this reasoning be right, the Congress may return with Safety and we imagine it does not require Arguments to prove that the general interest of America requires that they shou'd return if possible . . .

The Randolph Frigate is on her way down the River with several Merchantmen under Convoy, the Hornet & fly attending them and we hope they will get safe out that being once accomplished we shall be impatient to give you good accounts from Capt Biddl[e] . . .

The visit paid us by the British Ships, and, as we hear, the number of small craft they have seized in our narrow waters, prove incontestibly the disadvantage we shall forever be exposed to while we are in want of Marine force. Had our Gallies been in good order and fit for business, the Barges and small Craft of the enemy would never have dared attempt the Capture of Vessels in our shallow narrow waters — And I will venture to affirm that if we had 8 or 10 such Gallies as Congress have built in the Delaware to carry 4 thirty two pounders each, with 10. 6 pounders & 100 men, Not less than a Squadron of Line of Battle Ships would venture up our Bay.

[Extract] Head Quarters, Morris Town, February 5, 1777.

I perfectly agree in Sentiment with you, that it would be better for every Suspicious and dangerous person to be in New York, for which reason you have liberty to send in Capt. If there are any others taken in Merchantmen that are not held as Prisoners of War, use your own discretion, only endeavour if you can, to procure the liberty of Masters of Ships or others under the same Circumstances.

ROBERT MORRIS TO CAPTAIN JOHN PAUL JONES ¹

Sir Philada Feby 5th 1777

I have frequently received your letters advising me the particulars of your several Cruizes, and with pleasure assure you that the Contents in every instance have been very acceptable, always entertaining & in many parts usefull, these letters I have from time to time communicated to the Members of the Marine Committee all of whom express their satisfaction with your Conduct. You wou'd no doubt expect an Answer from them to your proposal for a Cruize this Winter on the Coast of Africa ² and such they intended to give you long since but the confusion occasioned by their removal from this City to Baltimore & the Multiplicity of business that has unavoidably crowded on every Member of Congress, put it out of their power to give that attention to your department that they wou'd always wish to carry into every American Concern, thus Circumstanced they never doubted that your Active genius wou'd find usefull employment for the Ships you Command, as you were so near the Commodore & cou'd go cloathed with his Authority & they have not been disapointed for you have in this way made a most usefull & Successful Voyage to Cape Breton & thence to Boston. Major [John Gizzard] Frazer ³ passing through this City (which I have never left) sent me an account of that Cruize which appeared to be in your own hand writing, pleased with your Success, I transmitted it to Congress and wrote that, if they pleased, I wou'd point out an enterprize or two for you to undertake & leave the Choice to yourself, this was agreed to, and my present design is to fulfill that promise, when I made it, I had in view either to gratify your desire by undertaking an expedition as you proposed to the Coast of Africa, or to gratify my own by undertaking what I think will prove a more usefull one & nearer home. I have pretty good information that there is Stationed at Pensacola only two or three Sloops of War from 10 to 16 Guns, and that at that place there is not less than 100 ps of Brass Artillery which our Armies are much in want off, These insignificant Sloops of War lie there in perfect Security or now & then take a Cruize along the Coast of Georgia & Carolina, shou'd they be met with they will inevitably become your prizes, Shou'd they be out of the way Pensacola may become the more easy prey, it is true that Governor [Peter] Chester has been trying to put that place in a posture of defence, but he has no Troops and the inhabitants will never defend it, therefore my plan is that you shou'd take the Alfred, Columbus, Cabot, Ham[p]den & Sloop Providence proceed first to the Island of St Christophers where a sudden & unexpected attack will carry that place being very defenceless, there is a Number of Canon & Stores there, as well as Merchandize of various Sorts that we are in want of and I fancy you will make a considerable booty, this however is not what I have so much in View as to alarm not only the Inhabitants but the whole British Nation, it will oblige the Ministers to provide for the Security & protection of every Island they have & by that means they must divide their Force & leave our Coasts less carefully gaurded from St Kitts (where your Stay must be short) you can proceed down to Pensacola, I apprehend the best passage might be down the South side of Hispaniola & then you might give an alarm to the North side of Jamaica by putting into some of the outports there, cutting out their Ships &c in all which you must be expeditious as their Fleet will be after you, Shou'd you decline meddling with Jamaica the best passage will be down the No Side of Hispaniola through the passage of Cape St Nicholas & Cape Maize & then down the So Side of Cuba, When you arrive at Pensacola it may be well done to send a Brigt & a Sloop to Cruize off the Mouth of the Mississipi so long as you remain in that quarter but they Shou'd wear English Colours & never go so near into the Balize as to be known for any thing but English Cruizers, there is at this time not less than £ 100,000 Sterlg Value in goods up that River the remittances for which, will come away in the Months of March, April & May, in Indico, Rice, Tobo, Skins & Furs, so that this alone is an object worthy of your attention, but as I have said before, disturbing their Settlements & spreading alarms, Shewing & keeping up a Spirit of Enterprize, that will oblige them to defend their extensive possessions at all points is of infinitely more Consequence to the United States of America than all the Plunder that can be taken, if the[y] divide their Force we shall have elbow room & that gained we can turn about & play our part to the best advantage which we cannot do now, being constantly cramped in one part or another, It has long been clear to me that our infant Fleet cannot protect our own Coasts & that the only effectual relief it can afford us is to attack the Enemies defenceless places & thereby oblige them to Station more of their Ships in their own Countries or to keep them employed in following ours and either way we are relieved so far as they do it, I do not pretend to give you any Account of the Coasts or Harbours, Strength of Fortifications or mode of Attack, for I cannot doubt you being well acquainted with these things, knowing as I do that you have been a Commander in the West India Trade, & at any rate your appearance will be unexpected, the Enemy unprepared, they have no Troops and the very sound of a Great Gun will frighten them into submission. Govr Chester will no doubt, know where the Brass Artillery are deposited and be glad to surrender them as a ransom for himself & his Capital. when your business is done at Pensacola you may give them an alarm at St Augustine, but here they have some Troops and you must be careful of your Men. I think you shou'd carry with you as many Marines as possible for they will be usefull & necessary in all your Land Excursions. The Southern Colonies wish to see part of their Navy and if you find it Convenient & safe you might recruit & refit at Georgia, South or North Carolina, there make Sale of such part of your Prize Goods &c as wou'd be usefull to them, learn where was the safest Port to the Northward & then push along to such place of safety as might be necessary for refitting & remanning the Fleet. Shou'd you prefer going to the Coast of Africa you have the Consent of the Marine Committee but in that case I apprehend you only want the two Ships & Sloop Providence, remember it is a long Voyage that you cannot destroy any English Settlements there and that if you meet any of their Men of War in those Seas they will be much Superiour to you in Strength, &c you may it is true do them much mischief, but the same may be done by Cruizing to winward of Barbados as all their Guinea Men fall in there, however you are left to your choice and I am sure will choose for the best. Shou'd there be a difficulty in getting all the Vessells fully manned with so many Seamen as you may think necessary take the more Marines & you will get Seamen from Prizes in the Course of your Voyage. It is a standing instruction from the Marine Committee to the Commanders in the American Navy, to be careful of their Ships, the Materials & Stores, to use well their officers & Men, preserving however Strict discipline, to treat Prisoners with Humanity & generosity, and to keep them advised of their proceedings as frequently as Circumstances will permit. Wishing you the utmost Success, I am Sir [&c.]

A letter, of the 2, from the committee of Congress at Philadelphia, was read;

Resolved, That the prayer of the petition be granted.

Resolved, That Elijah Bowen be appointed first lieutenant of the said brig Lexington.

Resolved, That the commissioners at the court of France, be directed to use their utmost endeavours, to send, without delay, 80,000 blankets, 40,000 compleat suits of cloaths, for soldiers, of green, blue, and brown colours, with suitable facings, and cloth of the same colours, with trimmings, sufficient for 40,000 suits more, 100,000 pair of yarn stockings, fit for soldiers, 1 million flints, and 200 tons of lead, in armed vessels, to such ports of the united States, as the Secret Committee shall direct; that they pledge the faith of the united States for complying with their contracts; and should the application of Congress to the Court of Versailles, for the loan of money be successful, that they appropriate part thereof to the payment of the said articles; that the several States be requested to order their armed vessels into the service of the united States, under the direction of the Secret Committee; that they be allowed a reasonable compensation for the use thereof, with the appraised value of such as may be lost; and that one of the new continental frigates, with the armed vessels which may be furnished by the respective States, be employed by the Secret Committee, to export produce, and import military stores for the next campaign.

The Island that each Vessel is to go to, and the Port she is to aim at returning to, is left to your discretion. 6 Feb.CAPTAIN THOMAS THOMPSON TO THE NEW HAMPSHIRE COMMITTEE

Gentn Portsmouth, February 6th, 1777.

Capt Osborne has just recd a letter without any signature dated in the Committee of Safety at Exeter the 4th Inst which I must suppose comes from that Body. On that presumption only I answer as I suppose will Captain Osborne. 'Tis very strange after Colo [Pierse] Long has taken the Pains to send to Genl Ward & received his answer respecting those men, he should trouble the Committee of Safety of this State about the matter. Colo Long told me that Genl Ward said if the men had listed with Capt Osborne in his Company of Marines during the War, they might remain with him; but to tell Capt Osborne not to enlist any more out of that Regiment: If the Genl had thought proper the men should be deliver'd up he would have ordered Capt Osborne to that effect. Remember the men have entered as Marines not Mariners, & Marines by a Vote of Congress are on the same footing as soldiers in the land service; Notwithstanding we can keep them & are not accountable to the Committee of Safety of any State for such conduct; yet rather than any reflection should fall on us or that we should be the means of retarding the too long neglected march of Colo Long, shall agree to give them up, if he again desire it; for I shall not expect he will send to Baltimore for advice & make this an excuse for further delay.

I must likewise remind the Committee of Safety that every discouraging method is taken in this State to prevent the manning of the Raleigh. A pretended Embargo is seemingly complied with. Here are vessels sailing every day whether with or without leave I cannot say, for I have never been made acquainted with the Embargo. It has been the custom of other Nations to include the commanders of ships of War as well as Forts in any directions for special Embargoes. An Embargo is laid & strictly adhered to in the other States, of all private property. All Privateers are stopp'd for the purpose of manning the Continental Ships of War & filling up the army. The State of Massachusetts Bay strictly keep to their first intention, insomuch that the same owners concern'd in the Privateer now in Portsmouth were obliged to bring two of their ships up from the Castle, which had been victualled & manned some time & ready for the Sea: they have petitioned & remonstrated to the Council several times since urging the Damage and great expence they had been at, but to no effect: they only received for answer, the public good must be prefer'd to private interest: This I can affirm from the Council Chamber not a fortnight ago; where I had an opportunity of hearing it.

How different here! A Privateer launch'd, Rigg'd & Mann'd since the Embargo was laid (if it may be so called) The other States stop all Privat – strictly relying on their sister States to preserve the same Virtuous conduct. I beg you to consider how this matter will appear in publick. My Friend John Langdon, Esqr is concerned, to whom I acknowledge every tie of Friendship, & could I prefer Friendship to Duty & the good of the service I am engaged in should be silent in this matter. But I act from a consciousness of my own duty, which is to make you acquainted tho' late, That if the Privateer above mention'd is suffered to depart, it will bring a Reflection on this State, operate in public against Mr Langdon and manifestly tend to the disadvantage of the public service, particularly to manning the Ship under my Command; of which I bear testimony & do remonstrate against her going to your Honours, & leave it to your further consideration, as the General Court is not now sitting.² I am, Your Honos [&c.]

MARINE CAPTAIN GEORGE JERRY OSBORNE TO THE NEW HAMPSHIRE COMMITTEE OF SAFETY ¹

Gent –

Portsmo Feby 6th, 1777.

You are pleased to acquaint me that Colo Long has informed you that I have enlisted some of his soldiers, belonging to Capt Dearing's Compy, wch I tho't I had a right to, – as my orders from the Grand Congress are – To enlist for three years: Upon wch I cannot but believe I have a right so to do; tho' you have in your letter excluded, as not having any Rank or concern wth the Army to be raised. I think, Gentlemen, if my Company is to be ruled & commanded by the Regulations of the army, I must in consequence reckon my Department as a part of the same – having orders from the Major of Marines to fill my company equal to the Land service.

As for those soldiers being enlisted to serve their country by sea, I had their own officers who said, If I did not Enlist them, they knew they would not go with them.

I must confess, Gent I am surprised – when after Colo Long should tell both Capt Thompson and myself that Gen Ward should write him to give up the men already enlisted with me, but not to suffer any more to go (wch we assur'd the Colo we would not) that after this, he should trouble you on this account!

I mean not to vindicate an Error: but as an officer I think it my duty to stand for my conduct, till by any further proof I am convinced to the contrary, wch as soon as I am, shall look upon it as my Duty to obey.

If Colo Long should further desire these men, I will deliver them up rather than it should be a means of retarding his march to Ticonderoga. I am, Gent, with respect [&c.]

Number 21.

Sir,

Eagle Off New York February the 6th 1777.

Under Cover with this Letter you will receive the Original Determinations of several Courts Martial held by my Appointment at this port, and since my Arrival in this Country, as stated in the Schedule enclosed.

I have to observe of those held by my Appointment, that James Woolspring, a Seaman belonging to the Phoenix, adjudged to suffer Death, was necessarily kept in close Confinement to prevent his Escape near two Months: the Circumstances of the Fleet being such, that under the Restrictions of the Act of the 22d of his late Majesty, no Court Martial could be sooner assembled for his Trial, consistent with a due Attention to the more important Duties on which the Captains were engaged. Therefore, in consideration of his extraordinary Sufferings by that long Confinement; And that, by the Dispersion of the Ships of War ordered to different Stations, the Example could not have had an equal Effect for discountenancing the like Crimes in others; I have been induced to respite the Sentence, in the Hope, through their Lordships Interposition, to obtain from His Majesty's Indulgence, a pardon for the Criminal in this Instance.

The Restrictions in the Act to which I now allude, regard more particularly the XVth Clause: Whereby it is enacted, "That no Member of any Court Martial after the Trial is begun, shall go on shore until Sentence be given &ca &ca upon pain of being cashiered from His Majesty's Service."

By this Clause it is conceived, that a Captain quitting the Ship as therein mentioned on any the most urgent Occasion, (Sickness excepted) until Sentence be given, becomes immediately, or is liable on Information to be, divested of his Command.

Several of the Ships attending the Operations of the Army have been necessarily appointed to fixed Stations within the Limits of this port, for express purposes of Military Service: Such as the Strengthening of Ports from whence it has been then thought expedient to draft a part of the Force for other Objects; Covering the Flanks of advanced Corps of the Army; Being themselves advanced from the Fleet, on that side from whence some probable Enterprize by the Enemy was to be expected; Attached to the Guard of Transports under the same Circumstances; Or kept in constant Readiness to proceed on any occasional Service: Relative to which last Instance, the Notice has been in some Cases so short, that I have been obliged to go on the Moment and order One of those detached Frigates immediately underway, for the purpose then pointed out.

These Situations, confined to the Case of a Fleet or Squadron employed on Military Service in port, are such as will not allow the Captains to quit their Ships, subject to an Absence of Uncertain Duration. Whence it must happen on similar Occasions, that Duties most essential for the purpose of the Armament must be disregarded, Or that—The Fleet must remain precluded from the Benefits attending the only Means by Law provided for maintaining Order and Good Discipline; which, if they may be deemed more requisite at any one time than another, are so when the Fleet is engaged in actual Military Service as aforesaid.

The Circumstances of a Fleet at Sea are not very different. Fleets at Sea are always subject to a sudden Discovery of the Enemy's Fleets, if not purposely stationed in quest of them. The Ships are liable to be dispersed by Fogs, bad Weather, and other unforeseen Accidents. The Commander must therefore either risk the Consequences of those Events, or decline the Use of Courts Martial in the Government of his Fleet, under the Restrictions that now subsist.

It may be said of the Inconveniences I have before stated in Objection to the Assembling of Courts Martial in port, that (excepting the Confinement of the Members until Sentence is given) they may be still composed of those Captains of the Fleet who are not then so circumstanced, but that their Absence from their respective Ships may be with propriety admitted.

According to the Sense in which I have always read the Clause XII, a Court Martial so constituted might legally proceed to Trial. But I find a different Opinion is entertained concerning the Interpretation of that Clause, in this Fleet: Founded very much upon what is said to be the Usage in the Western ports of England; where it is held, that the Words of the Clause — "Then and there present," applied to the Officers next in Seniority to the President, are [to] be understood of all the Captains of the Ships that are then in View within the Limits of the Port; and not confined to the Captains present, in compliance with the Signal on board the Ship in which the Court Martial is to be held. This Construction prevailed so strongly upon an Occasion in which I was concerned towards the Close of the late War that because a Captain, Senior to some who attended the Signal but posted with his Ship several Miles from the Anchorage where the Body of the Squadron lay, did not quit a Charge of much importance to take his place at a Court Martial ordered, the other Captains assembled for the purpose, concurred in Opinion that they could not therefore legally proceed to Trial. And Tho' the Charge (as I recollect) was on a case of Mutiny, the Trial was necessarily postponed on that account.

These Inconveniences and Restraints on the Due Administration of Justice, having recently occurred in the Government of the Fleet I have now the Honor to command, it becomes a particular Duty in me to make Report thereof: To have the Benefit of their Lordships Instructions on such points as are dependent for Remedy on their immediate Authority; Or that they may be submitted for Consideration, where the Interposition of Parliament is requisite, as their Lordships in their Wisdom shall see fit.

With the Judgments of the Courts Martial held by my Appointment, you will receive Three others enclosed. One, the Original Sentence of the Court, and the two others only Copies of such Sentences. The first passed in a Court assembled at Halifax by Order of Captain Brisbane, for the Trial of Lieutenant Knight, late Commander, and Mr Tho Spry, Second Master, of the Diligent Armed Schooner, taken by the Rebels in July 1775. The two last, in Courts assembled in the same port by Order of Captain Jacobs; And in consequence of which, the Punishments adjudged have been inflicted by his further Direction.

These Courts Martial have been called, and the Trials proceeded upon, under the sole Authority of the Officer presiding at each, without any Communication with me. Captain Brisbane, and all the Captains composing the first (Captain Gidoin excepted) were at that time acting in every other Matter by my particular Appointment. Captain Jacobs was then under Orders from their Lordships and on his passage to join me at this port; The other Members of those Courts being under the Circumstances as in the former Instance. I am therefore to request I may be instructed how far the Proceedings in these several Cases are to be deemed regular and valid. That if those under the Order of Captain Brisbane should be (as I conceive) unwarrantable, I may be informed in respect to the Inquiry that will then remain to be made into the Conduct of Lieutenant Knight; and for determining the period from which the pay of the Officers and Crew of the Armed Vessel is to cease. And also in regard to the Precedent, that the true Construction of the IXth Clause of the Act of the 22nd of His late Majesty, on which those proceedings have been founded; may be made known; As well for the Government of the Captains of the Fleet in future, as for my Guidance also. For I humbly apprehend, that Clause is to be only understood with relation to any five (or more) Ships meeting together in foreign Parts, not then actually forming, or being under appointment to form a part of any Squadron in the Commander of which the power to assemble Courts Martial is supposed to be vested: Since, if such Special Provision had not been made for Ships of that Description, they could not receive the Benefit from the Act in this particular intended.

If the Act, imperfect and inadequate to the purpose of its Institution, as I presume to think, should be revised, an Explanatory Amendment of this Clause will, I apprehend, be requisite. By this Clause, as it is now worded, the Senior of any five (or more) Commanders not under the Degree of a post-Captain (and consequently a Commander of superior Rank) who “happen to meet together in foreign Parts,” is vested with a power, at any time, to hold Courts Martial. — A power of such Consideration, and so guarded in a preceding Clause (VI) of the Act, that the Authority of the Admiralty is made requisite for qualifying the Commander in Chief of a Fleet or Squadron to exercise it “in foreign parts,” under other Circumstances. That is to say, of Ships meeting there together not accidentally, but by Destination. And such Commander in Chief is expressly enjoined (Clause VIII) to delegate that power to Commanders under him, whom he may see occasion to detach with a Part of his Fleet on a separate Service: As if the Sense of Parliament had been in these two last Instances, that Courts Martial could not be otherwise legally assembled by Those Officers.

Having been taken ill very soon after the arrival of the Amazon, and Captain Jacobs sailed for Rhode Island before I was able to attend to Business; I did not discover till many Days after he went from this port, that the Determination left of the Courts Martial held by his Order, were only Copies of those proceedings. The Minutes of the several Courts Martial referred to in this Letter, that have yet been made up and delivered to me, are sent herewith under other Covers.

I must further beg leave to submit to their Lordships’ Consideration, another Matter, which remaining in the present unregulated State, will in the Circumstances of this Fleet be attended with very great prejudice to the public Service; I mean with respect to the Insufficiency of my Powers to restrain by proper Punishments, the criminal excesses of every kind committed by some of the Seamen belonging to the Transports in the Service of Government: In cases of Theft, Drunkenness and Disobedience, Striking their Masters, and other Irregularities respecting their Duty in the Ships: Breaking open the Houses; plundering and wasting the property of the inhabitants without Distinction, as the Troops have advanced along the Coasts; wherein they have proceeded to such lengths, that I have been obliged to order severe Corporal punishments to be inflicted on the Offenders, to prevent those Violences being carried to greater Extremities, through a persuasion that no legal Restraint could be laid upon them. And I am to request their Lordships’ Countenance in these necessary Measures, when it may be requisite; And for obtaining such legal Opinions for my Guidance in future Instances of a similar Nature, as the Circumstances will authorise. I am Sir [&c.]

Howe

P.S. Since the Conclusion of this Letter as above written, I have received two Judgments of Courts Martial assembled by Order of Sir George Collier at Halifax upon the same principle as that on which Captain Brisbane was induced to proceed on the Trial of Lieutenant Knight. I have added these, and the Minutes transmitted with them, to the others as before mentioned.

The Memorial of Jean Duperon late Canonier of the Royal Corps of Artillery on the Island of Martinique – humbly sheweth

That your Memorialist having engaged with one Mr Bingham an Agent for the Continent at Martinique aforesaid to go to Philadelphia and offer his Service in the Army of the United States was by the said Bingham directed to take his Passage on Board the Privateer Sloop Independence Captain Robinson [Robertson] Commander ² at which time your Memorialist plainly understood that he was to have his said Passage free as a Volunteer that would on any Occasion fight in the Battles of the Sloop tho not do the common duties of Marines or Sailors –

That your Memorialist put on board of the said Sloop 4 dozen Bottles of Cordials and 4 dozen of Lemon Juice in eight Cases on purpose that by the Sale thereof at Philadelphia he might be enabled the better to support and equip himself for the Service he intended to enter into – But that at his Arrival the said Captain flatly refuseth to render him an Account of his eight Cases of Liquors to the great Loss of your Memorialist who had ventured his Freedom & Life in the Fate of a Privateer for to serve the Cause of the Americans –

Your Memorialist being a Foreigner without Friends and Connections in this place who could advise or support him in his difference with the Captain puts his sole Confidence upon that Faith and Honor of Nations and their Magistrates by which the Right of the Stranger within their Gates are to be held sacred and protected is necessitated to claim the Protection of your Honorable Board against the said Captain or any of his Officers or Men who may have been guilty of imbezling his Property And humbly prayeth to compell him or them to restore the same to your Memorialist or the Value thereof at the current price in the City of Philadelphia –

SAMUEL CHASE TO THE MARYLAND COUNCIL OF SAFETY ¹

[Extract]

Gentlemen/

Baltimore Town. Feby. 6. 1777

Congress are very anxious, that some immediate Steps should be taken by our State, not only as to the person of Captain [William] Patterson, but as to the Payment of the Engagement entered into by the Continental and your Agent. – Capt patterson is viewed as a pirate, and after Examination, if the facts should appear to You to be well founded, it may be well to consider, if it would not be proper to send him to Martinico for Trial there, by the Law of Nations.² If our State shall pay the Value of the Vessel & Goods seised by Patterson, would it not be proper to inform the Governor of Martinique that the whole would have been returned, but for the Risque? – If no Remittance can be made but by produce, it will be an equal Risque to send back the Vessel. – could not Mr [Robert] Morris pay the Money for our State? – an Opportunity of Writing will present itself in a few Days. would it not be proper for our State to write a Letter, disavowing the Conduct of Capt Patterson, and engaging Payment as soon as possible, & mentioning the Men of War in our Bay, which may delay the Remittance.

Mr Zachariah Campbell, in a Letter from Vienna, of 1st Inst – writes to his Brother Capt Campbell “That the Tories in Sussex, Som[er]set & Wor[cester]

Co[un]tys, have been assembling for some Days, they have 250 Men collected at parker's Mill, about 9 Miles from Salisbury, and 'tis reported they have three Field pieces which they received from the Roebuck, with some Men, with Intention to seise the Magazine, & destroy the property of the Whiggs. Colo [Joseph] Dashiell is now at Salisbury wth what Whiggs he could collect, about 130, & is to be reinforced on Monday, by eight Companies from this County," –

Captain [James] Nicholson's Tender brings Account, that there are three Men of War in the bay, one at the Tangiers, one at Smiths point, and one in the middle, & that it is reported some Men, with two Field pieces are landed from the Roebuck –

Congress has ordered Colo Wm Buchanans Battalion, which was ordd to Camp, to march with Colo [Mordecai] Gist – & some armed Vessells to prevent any Communication from the Ships, and to prevent their plundering –

If Advice Boats are not sent outside of the Capes, several of our Store Vessells may fall into the Hands of our Enemies.

New-London, February 7.

A ship of War, supposed to be the Niger, of 36 Guns, has lain just within the West-End of Fisher's-Island, most of the Time since our last. On Monday she came to Sail, and the same Day drove a-shore on Narraganset-Beach a large Schooner, Prize to the American-Revenue Privateer, Capt. [Samuel] Champlin of this Port. The Schooner was from Ireland, bound to the West Indies, laden with Flour, Bread, Butter and other Provisions, and had two Bails of Linen on Board, which the Privateer took out.

After the prize was on shore several attempts were made by boats from the ship, to set her on fire, which they once effected; but it was soon extinguished by the vigilance of the inhabitants who collected on the occasion, and who drew to the shore several field pieces, with the help of which they preserved the Vessel, notwithstanding an incessant fire was kept up from the ship; which however did our people no damage. Several of the enemy, it is tho't, were killed. We hear the prize had 800 firkins of choice butter on board, about 200 firkins had been got on shore; and it was expected great part of the cargo would be saved.

The ship about the same time took a schooner, supposed to be bound in from the West-Indies, but we don't learn who she is.

Sir

Philadelphia Feby. 7th 1777

Your Letter of the 21 december & 17th January to the Marine Committee are with me and I have great pleasure in acknowledging on behalf of that Committee your Zeal and attention to the Public business. The tiding contained in those Letters was very Acceptable and I was particularly pleased with Captain [John Paul] Jone's's Success. By this Express I send him orders for an other Cruize, but by an expression in one of your Letters I imagine he or you have wrote to the Committee and proposed altering the Ship Alfred, that Letter must have passed through here without coming to my hands and the Committee have said nothing to me about it. Should they give any Orders that contradict mine let them be obeyed but if nothing contradictory, Captain Jones will abide by what I have wrote him. I have observed that you frequently did propose discharging those Vessels that were fitted out as Cruizers by General Washington and the Committee were always of your opinion but some how or other in the multiplicity of business and in their late confusion they omitted to give you orders. Now Sir, as I know it was their desire to have those Vessels paid off and dismissed the service I will venture to authorize your doing it and shall send the Committee A Copy of this Letter which you may deem a proper authority: But as I have mentioned in another Letter your employing one of those Vessels to carry the dispatches to France, you must either keep that one in pay or buy her, which I should much prefer, and if any of the rest of them are good Vessels, suitable for Cruizers I should think it best to buy them and continue them in the service, especially as I suppose some of the Commanders and officers have merit to deserve a continuance in the service: but I am utterly against continuing them on hire and so I think are all the Committee. You may inform Mr [William] Turnbull that Altho the Congress wish by all means to procure the Public stores on the most reasonable terms possible, yet they cannot desire to injure One part of the Public service for the sake of another, and that the Honest Tars ought to have fair play in the sales of their Prizes. We don't wish to take any advantages of them but would chuse he would Gaurd against monopolizers, Forestallers and combinations of that Kind. If you can persuade Commodore Hopkins to give up his Guns you may, but I dont think the Committee will order it as there has already been some altercation on that subject.² On Behalf of the Marine Committee I am Sir [&c.]

Copy)

Sir

Antigua 7th February 1777.

I have just received Your Excellency's Letter of the 2nd Instant,² Complaining that a French Brigantine called Le Guillaume, coming from Miquelon has been taken by an Armed Boat called the Abraham: one Gilbert Grant Commander, who had no Commission to Act in an Hostile manner, and has been carried into the Island of Dominica; I am very sorry to receive from any of his Brittanic Majesty's Friends and Allies: Complaint of such a Nature, as I totally disapprove and Disavow that any Vessels can legally Cruize on the High Seas, (to make Captures) even in the time of War, without being authorized by Commission from the Prince or State to which they belong: This Gilbert Grant I know not but am Concern'd to find that several other Armed Vessels, without any Commission to do so, are Cruizing in the like manner; having obtained an opinion from some of the Lawyers in this and the other Islands "that all His Brittannic Majesty's Subjects have a legal Right during the present open Rebellion to distress and annoy His Majesty's Enemies in any manner they can.["]

Though I very much disapproved this Opinion and Measure, I did not interfere therein, so long as they only annoyed the Common Enemy; and I flattered myself they would not presume to meddle with any Vessels that did not belong to the American Rebels, or do any thing to occasion dispute between his most Christian Majesty's Governors and myself, with whom I have at all times endeavoured to keep up the most Friendly Correspondence; however since it appears from your Excellency's representation they now begin to act offensively against the Friends and Allies of Great Britain: Be assured I will use every means in my power to prevent any more of them Cruizing on the High Seas, by ordering the King's Ships under my Command to make Capture of all such Armed Vessels as they can meet with at sea which are Cruizing for the purpose of taking Prizes and are not Commissioned to do so, and will also endeavour as far as I am able to prevent any of them hereafter to sail from this Island, I shall likewise request the Governors of the other English Islands to do the same in their respective Governments. As to the Vessel in Question: if the Circumstances of the case appear to be such as has been represented to Your Excellency, there can be no manner of doubt, but she will be cleared and restored by the Court of Admiralty at Dominica, and the Person to whom she belonged may recover ample Damages in the Courts of Law there.

In regard to the St Guillaume Captain David from St Domingo Your Excellency will perceive by the inclosed account given me by the Officer Commanding his Britannic Majesty's Armed Brigantine Pelican who Seized her that very few of the Circumstances appear as related in the Memorial Transmitted by your Excellency, and that the officer had great Reason to believe the Vessel called the St Guillaume was intended to be fitted out as an American Privateer; having many Guns and other Warlike Stores secreted on board, although the Master had declared her to be only in Ballast. as to the Matter of Bribing the Sailors on board to give false Evidence, I presume no Court of Justice in any Nation suffer such Practices: this Vessel will be Libelled and tryed in the Court of Vice Admiralty at Dominica, — where the Parties claiming property therein may be heard in defence thereof and will undoubtedly have strict Justice done them.

As such kind of Disputes may prove very disagreeable in their Consequence I shall send express to the Court of London a true and faithful Account of these matters and request such further Instructions and Authority as may fully enable me in future to prevent any Complaints of this Nature; and I hope in the mean time to preserve Inviolable that Friendship and good Faith with his Most Christian Majesty's Governors, which ought ever to exist between the Officers of Princes in Alliance.

After these Explanations your Excellency must permit me leave also, to make Complaint of the great Number of Privateers and Armed Vessels belonging to the American Rebels that are harboured in the French Islands, where they meet with every kind of Indulgence and protection, and are thereby enabled more Effectually to annoy the Trade of His Britannic Majesty's Loyal and Faithful Subjects; and also obtain information of such Ships and Vessels as must unavoidably pass within sight of the French Islands: surely this cannot but be deemed breach of Neutrality, and there must be a great difference between protecting the harmless Trader, and the Armed Pirate: for I presume Your Excellency will agree with me that Subjects acting in open Rebellion against their Lawful Prince can only be considered in that light by reason they can have no Lawful Commission to authorize their proceedings: I flatter myself therefore Your Excellency will not any longer permit the Rebel Privateers and Armed Vessels to be Harboured: Refitted and supplied with such Stores as they may want at any of the Islands under Your Government.

As Your Excellency is pleased to mention You shall order Reprisals to be made, should my Answer not prove definitive and Satisfactory: I must take leave to acquaint You. In that Case I shall Certainly use my utmost Endeavours to prevent any Injury being done to the Loyal Subjects of the King my Master –

Whereas, I have received a formal Complaint from His Excellency the Compte D'argout, His most Christian Majesty's Governor General &ca at Martinique; Setting forth that several Armed Vessels, belonging to the English Islands; without Commission, or any lawful Authority to Cruize and make Captures on the High Seas: have lately made it their Practice to Cruize about the French Islands, and thereby greatly annoyed the Lawful Trade of the same: by Firing at, Boarding, and otherwise Insulting the Trading Vessels belonging to His most Christian Majesty's Subjects: and that a French Brigantine called Le Guillaume, has been Piratically Seized by one of the above Described Armed Vessels, and Carried into the Island of Dominica.

LIEUTENANT JAMES JOSIAH'S ACCOUNT OF HIS TREATMENT AS A PRISONER OF WAR ¹

A just account of the treatment which Mr. Josiah, first Lieut. of the Continental brig And. Doria, received while a prisoner.

He was taken on the sixth day of June last, by the Cerberus man of war, Capt. Simmons [John Symons], and confined six months, during her cruise. — Upon his first coming on board he was insulted with the name of rebel, and threatened that the yard-arm should be his portion, if he did not directly enter and take a mate's birth. This he refused, and was damned for a rascal, and was ordered immediately to the main deck, where the boatswain and his three mates were charged to see him perform the meanest duty in the waist of the ship. The Captain was determined to see this done himself — As he would not engage to fight against his country and friends, the Captain ordered that he should be placed in the boats during an engagement. He requested only to have the privilege of walking the forecastle during an action, as he would choose a walking posture rather than be still to be shot at — this was granted. It has frequently happened that masters of vessels were rifled by the British officers of what was in their chests, and insulted and kicked from the quarter-deck for asking the liberty of bringing their necessaries, which were left behind in their vessels. The only satisfaction they could obtain was to be ordered directly to a gun. Lieut. Ball of the Roebuck, who was exchanged for Mr. Josiah, had returned ten days or a fortnight to the prison-ship at New-York, before he (Mr. Josiah) was suffered to depart, and then was put on shore at Connecticut without a pass, although he had petitioned for liberty to land in Jersey, on his way to Philadelphia.

James Josiah.

Philadelphia ss. On the eighth day of February 1777, before me James Young, Esq; one of the Justices of the Peace, &c. personally came and appeared James Josiah, and being sworn on the Holy Evangelists of Almighty God, did declare, depose, and say, that the foregoing account, by him subscribed, is just and true in every respect, and farther this deponent saith not.

James Josiah.

Sworn before me the day and year aforesaid. Witness my hand and seal, James Young.

COMMITTEE REPORT TO THE MARYLAND HOUSE OF DELEGATES ¹

[Annapolis, February 8, 1777]

The Committee to whose Consideration the manner of disposing of the Sloop and Cargo drifted on Shore from Lord Dunmores Fleet, taken by a party of the Militia of Saint Marys County under the Command of Major Price, was submitted having had the same under their Consideration.

Do Report, That they have not been able to find any Resolve of Congress which directs how such Captures should be disposed off or what Share thereof should be allotted to the Captore.

That they are of opinion, a Libell should be Exhibited against the said Vessel and her Cargo in the Court of Admiralty of this State: and that if there should be a Condemnation, the said Vessel and her Cargo should be exposed to public Sale by Commissioners to be appointed by the Convention, or in Recess thereof – by the Council of Safety, and the Money arising from such Sale to be lodged in the Treasury of this State, for the use of the public; and that all other Vessells which shall be taken by the Land forces in the pay of this State, ought to be disposed off in the like manner. All which your Committee beg leave to submit to the House –

Signed by order of the Committee

CAPTAIN JOHN PAUL JONES TO ROBERT MORRIS ¹

Honored Sir

Boston Feby 10th 1777

Inclosed I send a Copy of my last letter to the marine board – Also Copies of my letters to you since my Arrival here in the Alfred. – As the good government of the Navy is of the greatest importance, it is a duty incumbent on every Man who is honored with a Commission in the Service to contribute all within his power to so Valuable an End. – You will not therefore I am persuaded charge me with disrespect Altho' my free Sentiments may not Perhaps, always correspond with your own. – it would give me much more pleasure could I Join with the other Commanders in Pointing out hints for Useful Rules & regulations – We have had Sundry Meetings here for this purpose without being able to Effect any thing. – And as this is a natural Consequence where the understanding is contracted I have determined that if I Subscribe to Nonsense it shall be Nonsense of my own not that of others!

There are no Officers more immediately wanted in the marine department than Commissioners of Dock Yards to Superintend the Building and Outfit of all Ships of war – With power to Appoint Deputies to provide & have in constant Readiness Sufficient Quantities of Provision Stores Slops &c. So that the Small number of Ships we have May be constantly employed and not Continue Idle as they do at present – Besides all the Advantages that would arise from such Appointments the Saving which would Accrue to the Continent is worth attending to; had such men been appointed at the first the new Ships might have been at Sea long Ago. – The difficulty now lays in finding Men who are deserving and who are fitly qualified for an Office of such Importance. –

Captain Thomson [Thomas Thompson] of the Raleigh Frigate in my Opinion Understands the Business in all its branches he Seems a Merchant, a Man of the world a Gentleman – And the construction and Equipment of the Raleigh by his particular Advice does honor to his Mechanical turn an[d] is an Evident Proof of his Judgment so that every thing might be expected from his Sagacity and forethought – And from what I have heard him express, I believe he would Undertake to Superintend the Building & Equipment of the Ships lately Ordered. –

The Navy is in a wretched Condition. – It wa[nts] a man of Abilities at its head who could bring on a Purgation and Distinguish between the Abilities of a Gentleman and those of a Mere Sailor or Boatswains Mate for till such distinction is made the Navy will never become Respectable. – A Man who hath the Meanness of Soul to Deny his wor[d] is a Despicable being Indeed! he sinks beneath the Condition of the poorest Reptile that Crawls on the Earth – And it is not Uncharitable to Suspect him as being Capable of any Baseness Whatever. – As the Action brought against me for taking Men out of the Eagle Privateer where I found deserters from the Navy is a Matter which nearly Concerns America as well as myself. – I will add a Paragraph from a Letter which I lately received from Colonel [Daniel] Tillinghast of Providence as follows – “The Commodore has just left me of whom I requested to know his determination either to disavow his orders to you or to comend your conduct that I might acquaint you thereof Agreeable to your desire, to which he reply’s ‘You have his Orders in Writing which, if that will Justify your Conduct its well.’ ” now Sir, I have proof that he both Sent and gave me from his own mouth express Orders [to] take all the Seamen out of Privateers where I found a Deserter from the Navy. – But this is not the first Slip he hath made for I have frequently heard him Affirm that he served America without Pay. – if so why is he so earnest about claiming a Twentieth part of all prizes. – this leads to an Enquiry whither that Claim be well or ill founded for it would be Absurd to Suppose that the Congress mean to give him Such a Reward for Smoking his pipe at home – it being altogether Unprecedented in a Navy Establishment even in Countries where other Sinecures and Abuses are Common. – When the Commander of a Fleet or Squadron goes to Sea in Person or is on a Foreign Station the Case is very Different.

You cannot at such distance imagine the discontent which prevails among the Seamen in these Eastern States on Account of Prize Money – They Stand Aloof and will not Re-Enter untill that Matter is Settled – and there is no prospect of its ever being Settled while Individuals lay Claim to Shares who were not present at the Captures – Lawsuits, Duellings, and endless Animosities will be the Consequence and the publick Service will be Neglected and at a Stand while this dispute Subsists – As it is a direct Violation of a Resolve of Congress that any person whatever other than the Captors should Share in Prizes. An Explanatory Resolve is the Most Speedy and Effectual Method to put an End to the Controversy and restore harmony to the Service. – No man or private Society of men hath a Right to add to the Established laws of the land Yet by the Inclosed Invitation we see that Individuals in the Navy have Assumed that Authority.

I must repeat what I asserted formerly that unless some happy expedient can be fallen upon to induce the Seamen to Enter into the Service for a longer term than Twelve Months it will never be possible to bring them under proper Subordination, and Subordination is as necessary, Nay far more so in the Fleet than in the Army Present Advantages tho Small will Operate far mo[re] on the minds of Seamen than Future Prospects tho great. – they ought at least to enter during the war – if not during pleasure – And all Deserters ought to be Capittally punished instead of this there hath not been a Single Instance of Inflicting punishment on a Deserter but on the Contrary they have even been paid for the time of their Absence – And they are Suffer'd to parade thro' the Country with impunity without being Question'd. – were these matters rectified we should hear of no such thing as Desertion the American Navy would soon become respectable to all the Wor[ld] Gentlemen of parts & liberal minds would Join [it] from all Quarters and Felicity would lend us h[er] Standard. – I shall only Add at present – that the Navy would be far better without a Head than with a Bad one. – I have the honor to be with the greatest deference and Esteem Sir [&c.]

JAMES DUNLOP TO BETTY DUNLOP¹

Ambuscade New Port, in Rhode Island

Dear Betty

10th February 1777 –

I wrote to You about the 30th of Octr last from New York, since which have not heard from You or any of my freinds, The report of all Letters from America being open'd in England at the P: Office, confines me in saying much about myself. I am still on board here, and the Captain if possible continues more & more kind and civil to me, This Frigate a most desireable sea Boat in all respects has been since her coming to America, only employed as a Convoy to Transports & Wooders, We are now going on a two months Cruise to the Joy of all hands – The 7th of Decr last We got possession of this place without any resistance, the Rebels and Hopkins with his five Frigates runing up the River to the Town of Providence, where they are hem'd in by our Frigates and cant get away. Our Troops have been most surprisingly successfull, We have taken so many Islands, Towns and Forts that We have not men to spare from the Garrissoning of them to undertake any impörtant blow, before that more Succours come Out. Twenty thous'd Russians are expected and five thousd Troops from Cork. It is reported there is a hot Press at London, a Rupture with France expected, and that Twenty new Regmts of Marines are a raising, I coud wish I had freinds of sufficient Interest to procure for me a Leiutenancey in One of them, a Sea life agrees well with me, but found the land service woud not. The Leiuts Anderson & Greg on board here are both old first Leiuts and no doubt new Regmts be a raising they will be promoted, I shoud think myself quite happy to be appointed in the Room of One of them, to continue with Capt [John] Macartney who is a great and good Man. I [illegible] Jamey is well and expects preferment, as there is a new [illegible] Battalion of Rangers to be added to the One Colonel Rodgers commands.

It is a miracle to me how well I keep my health, and all that are on board, We have not One sick person, tho there has been most part of this winter and at present the most severe frost I ever see, yet I make use of no hoods or Great coat, only wears three Wastecoats and covers my self at night with five Blanketts and a Quilt, The Lark came in here yesterday, but it has since blown so fresh no boat coud come from Her, She lost Her Main Mast at Sea in a hard gale and We left her a New York getting a new One. I lately heard Mr Jesse Adair & son are both well, The Captain and I live very plain and temperate, which I am certain is very conducive to health

My love to all my freinds, When You write name all the Children and what they are doing. We are unmoored ready for sailing I am Dr Betty Yrs Afftly

J. D.

P S It is the Juno and not the Lark, that arrived here lately, the Lark is at Hallifax and Stationed there Ten Miles below the Town of Providence the River begins to grow narrow and the water shoal, When Hopkins came there He put on shore his Great Guns, and made Batterys of them on each side of the River, by which means He got out of reach of Our Frigates, In the Spring when our Men march up each side of the River, and Our Sloops follow them up, these Frigates must be taken, The Congress is so well convinced of this, that by information of a Deserter, Hopkins has got Orders at all events to endeavour coming down, and has prepared all things for it, but as there is a fifty Gun Ship and four Frigates lying within five Miles of him, and a fifty and Six or seven Frigates and 20 Gun Ships here, lying ready to slip their Cables, all which He must pass, He cannot possibly get away. I cannot inform You of Our Cruise as Our Orders are not to be opened untill We are out of the Harbour, God Bless You All J. D.

In conversing with Our Pilot this morning find Arthur Seed lives here, He has a Wife and One Child, and commands a Sloop of His Br in Laws, at present He is from home, if We return here as I expect We shall, I shall wait upon Her

New-York Gazette, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1777

New-York, February 10.

The Milford Frigate lately took a large Merchant Vessel, mounting twenty Guns, bound to Virginia, and a Brig, bound to France, at one Time within Sight of the Town of Boston.

The Hancock built for 36 Guns, has neither Men nor Guns. The Alfred of 32 Guns is not half manned; and another Vessel, which they have converted to a Ship of War, is in the same Situation.

It is said, that though the Alfred, a Rebel Frigate, took nine Prizes in the Course of her Cruise, only one of them was got in; the other eight having been re-taken by the King's Ships.

Several Prizes, taken by His Majesty's Ships have been sent into Port within the Course of the Week. The Slips about the Town are filled with Vessels of this Sort; and it is said they amount to near or quite two Hundred Sail, many of them very valuable.

By a Gentleman, who left Bourdeaux on the 5th of November, we are informed, that there were then, in that Port, the following Vessels bound to Philadelphia, viz. The Ship Hope, Captain Collins; the Brig Dolphin, Captain Moore; and another Brig, commanded by Captain Higginson.¹ Several other Vessels were at Nantz, bound to different Ports of America.

Saturday last the Lark Frigate, Captain [Richard Smith] arrived here from Halifax, with several Transports.

THOMAS SAVADGE TO THE PENNSYLVANIA COUNCIL OF SAFETY ¹

Pensylvania Saltworks, Feb. 10, 1777.

Gentm, On Monday, the 27th of last month, a small Sloop or tender came into this inlett,² Maned Chiefly by Tories, who Went on board a sloop belonging to Mr James Randolph & Others, with intent to take her Out; but not being able to accomplish that, plundered her of What they Could and went off on seeing a small party of Militia coming down from the head of the river, who happened to get intelligence of their being in; their business, I am informed, was to carry Out the Sloop, and a prize schooner that has lain here some time, and I apprehend belongs to Congress in part, (but am not certain in that point) then to destroy these Works, Which it seems they are determined to Do if possible.

On Monday, the 3rd inst. they came again; went to Mr Randolph's house, took the schooner's Sails and rigging, Carried it on board, and attempted on Tuesday morning to carry her Off; but running her aground Opposite these Works, left her and went on board Mr Randolph's Sloop & Stripped her of her sails & riging and what more they could take in their boats and stood out to sea; there being a small party of Militia at these works at the same time, and another party on good luck point, which is near Were Mr Randolph's Sloop lay, and who, in my opinion might have taken the Tories and Sloop had there been either good Officers or Men; but the Militia of this part of the Country are by no means Calculated for the defence thereof; for more than half of them are Tories, and the rest but little better.

I am of Opinion that if this part of the Country is to be defended it must be by Continental troops, who know their duty, or Militia of another State: also one or two Gallys to protect this and the Neighbouring inlets. I am in expectation of another Vissett from them, being informed that Colonel Morris is preparing a strong party to Come by land, & at the Same time two Tenders or a Galley are to come into the inlet. If this be true, the Works are gone and every thing else they please; for the people here Will Chiefly take part With them as soon as there Appears a Sufficient number to repel the few Militia that there is any dependence on. . . .³

Baltimore Feby. 10. 1777

Yesterday, I took a long Walk with our Secretary Mr. Thompson [Charles Thomson] to a Place called Fells Point, a remarkable Piece of Ground about a mile from the Town of Baltimore. It is a Kind of Peninsula which runs out into the Harbour, and forms a Bason before the Town. This Bason, within thirty Years, was deep enough for large Tobacco ships to ride in, but since that Time has filled up ten Feet, so that none but small light Vessells can now come in. Between the Town and the Point We pass a Bridge over a small run of Water which empties itself into the Bason, and is the only Stream which runs into it and is quite insufficient to float away the Earth which every year runs into the Bason from the dirty streets of the Town and the neighbouring Hills and fields.

There are four Men of War just entered Chesapeak Bay, which makes it difficult for Vessells to go out, and indeed has occasioned an Embargo to be laid here for the present. Your Uncle ² has two Vessells here, both detained – one is now employed as a Transport for a little While.³ These Men of War will disappoint you of your Barrell of flour. Your Uncle's Vessells would sell very well here. Hardens ⁴ would fetch 800 Pounds of this Money.

DEPOSITION OF SEAMAN JOHN BROWN, H.M. SLOOP Racehorse ¹

John Brown, Seaman sent in prize Master of a Prize taken by His Majesty's Armed Sloop Race Horse, Lieutenant William Jones Commander, depose that he the said Prize Master with Christopher Darby and Edward Bryan were put in charge of the Sloop Modesty taken by His Majestys Armed Sloop above said by the said Jones, to proceed with her to Port Royal Jamaica, November 22d 1776, and on that Day they left the Race Horse, and proceeded for Port Royal accordingly with Thomas Agnew late Master of the Sloop Modesty (i.e. when she was taken by the Race Horse) and James Wilson Supercargo, who were evidences necessarily to be Examined in the Court of Vice Admiralty in order for her trial in the said Court. They had also on board the Modesty another Man taken in a former Prize to Assist in Navigating the said Modesty to Port Royal which with a Boy of ten or Eleven Years old whose name is John Rogers, who belonged to Thomas Agnew above Mentioned comprized every body then on board the Sloop Modesty, when they parted from the Race Horse

This Deponent farther sayeth, that the day following, Viz. November 23d 1776, being then near Cape Dona Maria, on the Island Hispaniola about 7 O'Clock in the Morning, the Man, who was put on board the Prize to Assist as abovementioned, and whose Name the Deponent doth not recollect, was boiling some Water for the purpose of making Coffee, and asked the Deponent to go below and bring him the Coffee up, which he accordingly complied with having left Christopher Darby, abovementioned at the Helm, that he the Deponent was about two or three Minutes below fetching the said Coffee, and as he was returning on Deck he observed the said Darby had Quitted the Helm and was running forward in great hast being sent by Agnew to haul the Jib Sheet aft for the purpose no doubt of getting him out of the way to facilitate the Execution of his Mutenous intention, that the Deponent on getting on Deck observed Agnew had got hold of the Helm in one hand and in the other hand held a Hatchet and when the Deponent interrogated him to know what he was about as he appeared in a hostile manner and disposition, the said Agnew replied that he was going to carry the Vessel in there, pointing to the land about Cape Dona Maria, the Deponent Answered he should not, and ordered the people that were with him and of course under his direction and Command as prize Master, to leave off trimming the sails, and join with him in endeavoring to recover the Vessel from the said Agnew, upon which the Deponent took up a Steering sail yard to knock the said Agnew down if he could, but the said Agnew w[ar]ded of[f] the blow and sprang forward with the Hatchet toward the said Deponent with which he beat him, Cut him and Knocked him Down, but the head of the Hatchet falling of[f] he took up the steering sail yard and beat h[im] with that, on which the above mentioned James Wilson Supercargo interfered and begged of the said Agnew to save the Deponents life, to which the said Agnew A[greed] but immediately ordered Wilson to put the Deponent in the Cabin and there lock him up and Confine him during this fray he the Deponent received not the least assistance from Darby, Bryan or the other Man That Agnew Kept them to trim the sails after the Deponent was Confined, and after the sails were trimmed he Confined Bryan with the Deponent, and ordered Darby to stay on the Forecastle, that he afterwards ordered Bryan on Deck again but K[ept] the Deponent below all Day till he got in shore & anchored the Vessel in a Small Bay near Cape Tiberoon which he understood to be named Ilet, that then the Deponent having occasion to ease himself, begged he might be allowed to go on Deck which was granted him being helped up by Darby, that soon after, the said Agnew got into a Canoe having taken the Vessels papers from the Deponent; as he put off[f] the said Supercargo observing the Condition of the Deponent bleeding with the Wounds he had received in the fray, desired Agnew to send a Surgeon on board to Dress and otherwise Assist the Deponent with his Art, that when the Canoe returned on board the Deponent was put in her and sent on Shore, and being put into a house was bled and dressed by a Surgeon, the Deponent also sayeth that Darby & Bryan were sent on shore to the Same House, where he was on the same Evening, that they remained in the House a day and a Night during which the Surgeon again bled and Dressed the Deponent's Wounds, that Agnew paid the Surgeon for his trouble and also paid for the Lodging's of the Deponent and Darby and Bryan, and that then they were turned out into the street, that a French Surgeon Commiserating the wretched state of the Deponent, ordered him to his own house where he remained 13 or 14 Days, all which time Darby remained in the same place, subsisting himself on a Keg of Biscuit, given him by Agnew and other Means, but Bryan shipped himself on board a French Schooner, and the Deponent has not seen him since, but Darby after the expiration of the 13 or 14 Days abovemention'd travelled with the Deponent to the Port of the O Cayes, Where the Deponent procured himself a Passage to this port in a French Sloop but Darby remaind at O Cayes.

COMMODORE ESEK HOPKINS TO CAPTAIN JOHN PAUL JONES ¹

Sir

Providence Feby 11th 1777

I receiv'd yours of the 7th instant together with a list of the Mens Names who came out of the Eagle and also the Accounts, but as they were not sign'd by you nor your Clerk Mr Tillinghast has paid but one Mr [Nathan] Tucker whose Account happen'd to be Signed – Should advise you to make New Accounts and receipts as P the Inclosed and Send them all up and write to Mr Tillinghast to pay them, as I shall go onboard the Warren to day, and not be up again Soon –

The Action brought against you by the Owners is Nonsuited, but expect they will bring another – One of the Owners told me, if you had not gone out of Town as you did they should have brought on Seven Actions in behalf of the People – I think the people ought to be Settled with Soon and am much

Surprized you did not Settle with them that came down to you on purpose – I think it stands you in hand to see it done Soon – If you can Mann the Sloop² she will be ready for you in about ten days, and can Send her where you may go Onboard her Safely as I think the Owners of the Eagle will give you what trouble is in their power –

I have had a Number of Complaints from the people who you have settled with and given Certificates for Prize Money, some on Mr [David] Sproat in Philadelphia and some on Mr Tillinghast – now I think you should give them Certificates that they are Intitled to Prize Money for such a time, in such a Vessel, and not direct them to any Man who has no prize Money in his hands – and I am fully of the Mind that it will be best for you or any other Officer in the Navy not to take or trouble themselves with any Prize Money more than their own – and that you deliver an Account of what Men are Intitled to Prize Money in the Alfred and Providence to all the Agents you have had any Prizes sent in to, and let them pay the Money to the People – I am Sir [&c.]

OFFICERS OF THE CONTINENTAL FRIGATE Warren TO ROBERT TREAT PAINE, TAUNTON¹

On board the Ship Warren

Much Respected Sr

[Providence] Feby 11th 1777.

We the Subscribers, who belong to the Ship warren, voluntarily engaged in the marine Service; we are friends to constitutional liberty; we love America; we are willing to give up every thing that is dear, and, if necessary, Sacrifice life itself in our ravish'd, bleeding, injur'd country's cause; but Sr we are very unwilling that our own lives, and that the continental Ships, which might be of Service to the independent States of America, Should be either ignorantly, or designedly betray'd into the cruel hands of our unrighteous invaders. We think there is Sufficient reason of complaint against our commanders: we are not influenced by prejudice, our own consciences and the regard which we have for our country oblige us to complain; and we have concluded, not having a more convenient opportunity, to take this method of presenting to your Superior Judgement Several accusations against them which can be easily and Sufficiently attested, Sincerely and humbly asking your advice in our present perplexed unhappy Situation.

Accusations against commodore Hop[kin]s

First, he is a man that ridicules religion, and Seemes very apparently to despise every virtue: he does not hesitate to blaspheme and take the name of God in vain: in this respect he Sets his officers and men a most irreligious and impious example, and when on board, is oftener guilty of profane Swearing than any Jack Tar that belongs to the Ship.

Secondly, he allows himself to Speak publicly in the most profane and disrespectful manner concerning the continental congress, the guardians of our rights and privileges, calling them a pack of damn'd fools, ignorant fellows, lawyers clarks &c, a company of men wholly unacquainted with mankind, and perfectly unacquainted with their business, and that if their measures were complied with the country would be undone this he asserted not only among our own folks, but also in the presence of two captains, who were prisoners, on their passage to newport in order to be exchanged.

Thirdly, he is a man, if possessed of any principles at all, possessed of the most dangerous principles conceivable, especially when we consider his Station, for he positively declares that all mankind are exactly alike: that no Man yet ever existed who could not be bought with money; who could not be hired with money to do any action whatsoever: this he also asserted in the presence of the above mentioned prisoners, for what reason we can't determine, unless he meant to inform Sr peter Par[ke]r that he wanted an opportunity in order to Sell himself.

Fourthly, he has treated prisoners in the most inhuman and barbarous manner.

Fifthly when a british frigate, a few days ago, was on ground, either for the want of wisdom, or designedly he conducted in a very blamable manner indeed –

Sixthly, he i[s an] effectual obstacle to the fleets being properly maned, and perhaps, on that very account, in his present Station, does his country more damage than he possibly could do in any other capacity.

Many more very criminal things might be alledged and easily proved but the present opportunity will not Suffer us to be very particular.

Accusations against captain John B. Hopkins

First, he is a person that entertains the Same opinion of virtue that his father does, and is almost as often guilty of profane Swearing.

Secondly, he treats the officers on board the Ship in the most unpolite disdainful manner conceivable.

Thirdly, his character is Such, and So universally known that there is no prospect of the Ships being ever maned So long as he is the commander, the officers have taken unwearied pains in order to man the Ship, but people have Such a Spleen against the capn that they will not come on board.

in this State, where our commanders character and conduct are best known, notwithstanding the Ship was built here, and has never been from this place, after all our pains and trouble, we have not been able to procure a Single Man.

fourthly when numbers have been very Sick, even unto death, while living they were not allowed to be carried on Shoar, and although they had nothing in the coldest of the weather to lodge upon but a hammock and one Single blanket, which, in their damp births without the advantages of a fire, were Scarcely enough to keep well men from freezing, our captain had no compassion on them; when perishing with the cold, their dying groans, the repeated and earnest desire of Docters and offercers could not prevail with the unrelenting wretch to afford them another blanket, when there were more than Sixty on board the Ship at the Same time which were in no kind of use.

We consider our commanders as imperious, injudicious men: destitute of humanity and tenderness, of very Small capacities and quite unfit, on every account, [for] the departments they occupy. Their little contracted Sordid Souls are not only entirely destitute of every thing that is noble and virtuous, but are completely filled with every thing that is ignoble and vicious.

Thus far, honor'd Sr, we have presumed to accuse our commanders: we have acted conscienciously: we know not what more to do, nor which way to turn, we are incapabl of helping ourselves. we rely upon your benevolence, and presume Sincerely and humbly to petition Some advice; if you are pleased to grant our request, you will do a very great favor to your Sincere friends and humble Servants the Subscribers

Dominica 11th Feby 1777.

I had the honor to receive Your Dispatch by Captain Colpoyse and can assure you Sir that I entertain the same sentiments with regard to the illegality of the Mode lately adopted of fitting out Armed Vessels without Commissions or any lawfull authority from the Crown, for the Purpose of Cruizing and making Captures of American Vessels and that it is highly derogatory to the Kings Authority; my Sentiments upon that head are I hope by this Time partly known to You, as I suppose my Dispatches containing a Correspondence between the Generals of Martinico Guadeloupe and myself have before this reached your hands.

I now take the liberty to inclose the General of Martinico's Answer to my last Letter to him upon that Subject: the Inclosed Papers Marked No 2 will inform You Sir what my Sentiments are in a fuller manner, and You may depend upon it, Sir, I will use the utmost my Endeavours and Authority that no Body from this Island shall Act Contrary to them. at the same Time Sir, I cannot but lament the Hardships the People of this Island labour under, their Property taken from them, themselves carried into Captivity, threat'ned from the French Islands within sight of Us that the Rebels are arming and fitting out Privateers in those Ports for the Purpose of Depredating even upon our Coasts and plundering us on Shore; Our local Situation so near the French (who surely notwithstanding all their excuses and pretences, behave in a most Scandalous Manner) make us feel the effects of these Troublesome Times very Severely: and certainly must raise a Wish in the Breast of every one to have it in their Power to resent and revenge themselves for such Injustice and Violence; But Sir I am sure that I can answer for the Loyalty of the Inhabitants of this Island, and that now the matter is Explained to them, they will patiently abide a proper Authority for doing themselves Justice, And I am sure I need not urge to You Sir that they ought to be Defended and protected from these intolerable Violences by every Lawful Assistance which We can possibly Afford them. I have the Honour to be with great Esteem and Respect. Sir [&c.]

Please to acquaint my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty that Captain [William] Fooks in the Favorite arrived at English Harbour the 29th January last, and Captain [James] Jones in the Beaver the 3d Instant, Captain [Edward] Garner in the Fly is not yet come to Antigua, from the Islands to Leeward, where He was sent by Captain Paisley [Thomas Pasley] to protect and take care of such part of the Convoy as were bound to those Islands, it gives me great pleasure to acquaint their Lordships that the Trade from England which came under their Convoy are arrived safe: not more than two or three Vessels missing. By these Ships and the December Packet I have received from their Lordships the several Letters and Orders named on the other side which I beg you to acquaint them shall be exactly Complied with.

I am likewise to desire You will be pleased to acquaint my Lords Commissioners, that a set of Adventurers belonging to these Islands encouraged by an opinion they have obtained from the Attorney General; and some other Lawyers, vizt "That all His Majesty's Subjects have a legal right during the present Rebellion; to make Capture of any Vessels belonging to the Rebels, where ever they can meet with them; and otherwise to distress and annoy them, in any manner they can," and have therefore fitted out a Number of Armed Vessels (Consisting of small Pilot Boats; Schooners and Sloops) and without Commission or any Lawful Authority from the Crown have caused them to proceed to Sea, in order to Cruize and make Captures: They have already taken several Vessels upon the High Seas and sent them into the different Islands to be Condemned as Prize, and it seems expect to receive One Half the Proceeds by Sentence of the Court of Admiralty: and to obtain the other Half from the King's Bounty; this certainly appeared to me the most Extraordinary Step I had ever before heard of; and I cannot but imagine that a Vessel without Commission Cruizing on the High Seas and making Captures there, is Actually Guilty of Piracy: I therefore wrote to Mr Thomas Warner the Kings Attorney General, and desired He might prosecute the perpetrators and Abettors as Pirates; this He has peremptorily refused doing, and strongly asserts the propriety and Lawfulness of their proceedings; I also wrote to the Commander in Chief of these Islands (for the time being) to put a Stop to this mode of sending Armed Vessels without Commission to Cruize and make Captures on the High Seas, 'till the King's pleasure could be known; but had no better Success than in the former application. I have since received a formal Complaint from the Governor of Martinique, that one of these Vessels without Commission; had taken a Vessel bound to, and belonging to Martinique; and carried her into Dominique; on receiving this Complaint, I immediately wrote to the Respective Governors of the English Islands to acquaint them thereof and requested they would use their utmost Endeavours to put an immediate Stop to the foregoing Practices; and have also given Orders to the Kings Ships under my Command to make Capture of any of the above described Armed Vessels, not having Commission which they can meet with Cruizing on the High Seas, for the purpose of taking Prizes; and have likewise directed Captain [John] Chapman in the Shark to Lie in St Johns Road, and prevent any more of them Sailing from thence: I must likewise observe to their Lordships that these Vessels obtain Collusive papers from the Custom House's at the different Islands; and are cleared out in Ballast for places they never intend to go near; and that officers belonging to the Customs are concern'd in some of them as Owners; but these and some other matters of Consequence, I shall more fully explain to their Lordships in a few Days by a more safe opportunity.

I am likewise to acquaint their Lordships that the several Hired Transports named in the inclosed List; ² having provisions and Stores on board for the use of the King's Army and Navy employed in America, instead of making the best of their way to New York &c as they were ordered; have deviated therefrom, and put into this Island; and the greater part of them without any apparent Necessity: As the King's Service might be very much retarded and hurt by such delays I have thought it necessary to appoint an Officer to take Charge and Command of as many of the Transports as are fit to proceed on their Voyage, and conduct them to New York: and have accordingly put Lieutenant Hugh Cloberry Christian (from the Shark) on Board the Albion Transport, and directed him to Execute that Service. I have likewise ordered the Albion and Hungerford Transports to take on board the remaining Troops belonging to the 8th and 47th Regiments: and carry them to New York, to be disposed of as the General or Commanding Officer of the King's Forces at that place may direct, The other Transports I intend sending under Convoy of the King's Ships belonging to Lord Howe's Squadron (two of which the Roebuck and Pearl are now here preparing for Caren) when they return back. I am Sir [&c.]

Jam^s Young.

P. S. I have appointed Mr James Gambier, Lieutenant of the Shark in the Room of Lieutt Christian appointed by me to Conduct the Transport Vessels to New York. —

COUNT D'ARGOUT TO VICE ADMIRAL JAMES YOUNG ¹

Sir: Fort Royal Martinique 12 February 1777

I received the letter of the 9th of this month which your Excellency wrote and honored me with. The disapproval which you avow of the acts by pirates without official sanction is a testimony of my opinion that you are just and I was already persuaded that such abuses, true acts of brigands in the eyes of civilized nations would be stopped with the issuance of orders as soon as they would have been made known. I would like to express my satisfaction in receiving the assurance regarding this essential point which the letter tenders.

Your Excellency deceived by rumors or insidious remarks believes that I am granting to the Anglo-Americans a protection prejudicial to the British; however I may assure you that being neutral in the national quarrel which divides you, France receives both in ports which, because of incontestible rights, are open to all the nations which deem them useful to their trade. Therefore the Anglo-Americans have traded with these islands with simple commercial intentions and not for protection; also I have not tolerated that any vessel be commissioned to wage war upon his Majesty and far from that; if Mr. Shirley, Governor of Dominica needed thirty thousand [barrels] of powder, he would be openly supplied by our traders. On the other hand when Anglo-American ships seek asylum in our ports I have always been careful to prevent any insults to the British. I have proof of this written by one of your officers whose ship was stopped by an Anglo-American vessel and who was released upon receiving my orders to do so since I do not tolerate any hostile acts in our waters.

Mr. Bougon, a distinguished citizen of this island and of whom I think very highly will be honored to communicate my gratitude in presenting you this letter. I trust that upon reading this letter which proves my motives of action toward the British, the request or better the claim which he brings and which I recommended that he bring to your attention will not encounter any difficulties.

The Trois Avanturés under the command of Mr. Lare and owned by Messieurs Desmajes, Salleron and Bougon has been intercepted, a quarter of a league at the most, offshore this island by the English schooner Tryall under command of one named Jardin who without a war commission seized it and led it to Antigua, assuming that it belonged to some American. According to your principles the lack of authority renders this seizure unqualified and the distance from our coasts where it was done is according to my actions in a similar circumstance a proof of a hostile act requiring on your part restitution. I hope that your Excellency will take this opportunity to act as I have done in the past and as I always will.

At this moment Mr. Seinaud de Vic tells me that off Canouan the schooner L'aimable Louise which was under his command on a diplomatic mission was molested by the British brig Pelican under Captain Aldersoif [John Plummer Ardesoif] which fired a round at him, and that upon dropping sail and hoisting his diplomatic flag, he received several shots followed by volleys from muskets; then he was searched and found clear but that the men from the Pelican having badly lashed his boat caused its loss, and that the masts, sails, and rigging were severely damaged by the criminal shooting.

An envoy is sent under public faith, thus Aldersoif's action is an odious infringement on the rights of men, moreover the criminal acts are uncalled for since being unarmed this vessel could not offer the least resistance. Such high-handed behaviour certainly does not have your Excellency's sanction, and I am bringing you the complaint of this Frenchman injured under all the laws of nations.

At all times will I give your Excellency proof of my provisions to maintain between our two nations the peace established by treaties.

I have the honor of being with the greatest respect [&c.]

GOVERNOR VALENTINE MORRIS TO VICE ADMIRAL JAMES YOUNG ¹

(Copy)

Sir

St Vincents Feby the 12th 1777.

This serves to acknowledge the receipt of both of your favours of the 3d Instant and in the name of this Colony and for myself, beg leave to return you thanks for sending the Favourite, and the Pelican to cruise in these Seas, for the protection of the Trade of these Islands which really stood extreemly in need of it, the American Privateers having been daily all around us, entring even within our Bays, and once if not twice have Landed some of their Crews among the Charibs to gain intelligence of where they might most Commodiously Land, however we have hitherto kept so good a look out that none have ventured to make a descent.

I was Sir on the point when the Favorite arrived of sending off to You an express to request a Convoy for the Nottingham Storeship which came with the late Merchant Fleet, and under the same Convoy to this Island. Her Loading is of the most Valuable kind of every sort of ammunition for the Islands of St Vincent's, Tobago, Grenada, and Antigua and the Orders of the Captain, which he has produced to me, were very strict, by no means to proceed to any of the Islands without a Convoy; under these Circumstances I have requested of Captain Fooks to take her under his protection from hence to Tobago, Grenada, and Antigua unless any different orders of yours shall meet him at Grenada: but in this case Sir I must request you will give the proper directions to have her convey'd down to You at Antigua, since Government has thought her of such Consequence as to be very positive in their Orders that she shall not move without Convoy.

The exigencies of this Island, together with a mistake of all the Arms of the 60th Regiment which come last from England being set to Antigua the head Quarters of the Regt whereas the far greater part were intended for this Island, together with a great mistake in the Quantity of these, and other matters indispensably wanted for this Island has lain me under the necessity of detaining for the use of this Island the articles hereunder mentioned which were in the Antigua Invoice, and I shall give the Captain before he sails a proper memm of the same.

I take Sir this opportunity of acquainting You that the Constant track of the American Schooners is from the Windward of Antigua, all to the Windward of the French, and these Islands, up to the Windward of Barbadoes and there are now several in that path. the day before Yesterday one of our little Vessels was taken there, the Capt: has been permitted to be put on shore here, and he says the Captain that took him behaved to him with infinite humanity: said he had lost his all in America, and had no other method or chance of indemnifying himself but by some lucky hit in the channel he then was; acknowledged he feared he should be taken sooner or later, but hoped if he was he should meet a treatment proportioned to what he had shewn to all those that had fallen into his hands, and begged his prisoner would candidly report when he came on shore, what that treatment was

In regard Sir to the contents of your other Letter of the same date of the 3d of February, I am to first Sir thank you for your information, and to assure You that equally disapproving with you Sir the late prevailing mode of any or every body going on a Cruize without proper specifick Authority I have endeavoured and with success hitherto, to suppress that practice in the Island under my Command, and shall most undoubtedly continue to do the same, at the same time I take the Liberty of acquainting you that I see the Grounds on which the people you mention have proceeded, and on which the Attorney General of Antigua, and that of other eminent Lawyers have been founded.

The Americans being declared Rebels, and to be treated as such: all the Laws of the Kingdom, as well as his Majesty's several Proclamations not only authorize, but command all faithful Subjects to fall on them and annoy in every manner within their power and abilities: and this Sir I presume must prevent every English Subject whatsoever, and whatever be his Command not to treat them as Pirates but as Foreigners, the French more particularly, never enter into, as not Knowing these nice Distinctions of our Laws they will ever treat as Pirates all such as shall be found Cruizing without a proper Commission from his Majesty or those duly authorised by him to grant such, nor do I well see what possibility of Redress persons taken under the predicament of being without a Commission can hope for or expect the French acknowledging, and treating (at least at present) the Americans as independant States will not regulate or alter their conduct and orders to suit our Ideas of Rebels and Rebellion therefore will undoubtedly hang up all as Pirates they may catch in Arms without proper commissions, nor would our Court I presume enter into a War in support of a few Individuals whose own obstinacy, and desire of treading unaccustomed Paths had put them into the Situation they undoubtedly will be in: this Sir however I am afraid is the only risk these adventurers have to run until some new regulations on this hitherto unforeseen Circumstance shall be made at home I however again Sir repeat my assurances of my doing every thing in my power to stop a Practice so pregnant with evil and so likely to draw the two Nations into a War for objects of such little import. What I have said is meant only as to a War against Rebels, against Foreign Enemys I hold a Commission in all instances nec'ssary ashamed to send You Sir this interlined Letter, I can only beg your excuse for so doing as the arrival of the Fleet and Packet together and both bringing me very voluminous Packets requiring answers, Joined to much publick Business of the Island puts it out of my power, or even that of my Secretary to write a fairer Copy without detaining the Packet longer by which this goes I have the Honor to be Sir [&c.]

Valentine Morris

P S I beg leave to acquaint You that there now is at St Pierres and probably at St Lucia several English valuable Seamen, taken by the Americans in their prizes and who nobly refusing to enter into the Service of any of the Cruizers are nearly in a starving condition. I shall immediately send directions to some of my Correspondents at St Pierres to have them furnished with necessaries and some little Money to keep them steady in their present Loyalty, and submit it to You Sir, whether your sending a Flag of truce there might not be a proper Step both to rescue these Worthy Subjects from want and temptation and to furnish You with some usefull and to be relied on Seamen.

5 Chest of Arms from the Nottingham Store Ship, being part of his Antigua Invoice.

Independent Chronicle, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1777

Boston, February 13, 1777.

We have certain Advice from France, — That Dr. Franklin arrived at Bourdeaux ¹ the seventh of December last, in good Health — That the Ship which carried him took two valuable Prizes in her Passage, and carried them safe into that Port — That the greatest Preparations for a War were making both in France and Spain that ever were known, which, it was expected, would soon be declared against Englan[d] — And that it was said at Bourdeaux, that the British Court had engaged 20,000 Russians to come to America; but that the French Court is determined to prevent them.

Last Week arrived at Ipswich, from Halifax, a Schooner, laden chiefly with English Goods, who left the 23d of January: The Captain of which informs — That there have been 4 American Privateers carried into that Port lately, taken by the Milford and Liverpool pirate Frigates: — That the noted Captain Burr, of the Milford, died at Halifax lately, and the Command of his Ship was given to the well known, brutal Henry Mowatt, who cruelly plundered and burnt Casco-Bay: — That Lieutenant [John] Knight, a Prisoner of the British Navy, who was taken some Time since, in the Diligence [Diligent] Schooner, by Captain Jeremiah O'Brien, had, with his Officers, together with a Number of English Captains, who lately went in a Cartel from Marblehead, fitted out a Privateer Brig at that Place, mounting 14 Guns, and carrying 85 Men; she is now cruising on this Coast, and commanded by said Knight; and it was generally believed in Halifax, that she is gone on a secret Expedition against some Part of this State, suppos[e]d in the East[ern]: — Th[at] Dawson has his Brig cleaned and al[t]ered every Cruise; she is now painted black, with an Intention of deceiving our Cruisers; he carries 70 Men, and is cruising in the Bay of Fundy, together with the Albany Philadelphia-built Ship of 18 Guns, commanded by a Lieutenant: — That the Milford and Liverpool Frigates are careening in Dock there, as are several other Frigates and Tenders, supposed to get in Readiness to watch the Motions of our Navy — That our Countrymen, to the Number of about 200, are confined on board the Bellona Guard-Ship of 50 Guns, where they are treated in the usual barbarous Manner, by the inhuman Commodore Arbuthnot . . . That [George] Dawson had a considerable Number of his Men killed in the Engagement with Captain [Simeon] Sampson, and greatly shattered, as lately mentioned in this Paper. — That 2 Frigates, lay near Fort-Cumberland: — That they expect an Attack that Way very shortly: — That a Cartel, with a Number of Prisoners, was preparing to come to this Port, — no Doubt, with an Intention to gain what Intelligence they can, in Regard to the Situation of our Force in this State: — That Capt. Sampson, and his Men, are treated severely, and were, when first taken, put in Irons; they are now in close Confinement, on board the Guard-Ships, in Halifax Harbour.

One of Captain Sampson's Lieutenants, and a Number of his Men, made their Escape in the above Vessel.

A Gentleman from Halifax, informs, "That when the Howes Proclamation was proffer'd to the American Prisoners there to sign (notwithstanding they were confined on board a Guard-Ship, and told that General Howe was in Possession of Philadelphia) they, like true Americans, to a Man, nobly disdained to accept it; they declared, they solicited no Person or Persons Pardon, but their Maker's, nor ever would they while they had Existence." A noble Example! worthy the Imitation of every American! O! foolish Blunderland.

Captain Edward Rolland, arrived at Salem, a few Days ago, after a short Cruize, during which he has taken 4 Fish Vessels, with 11,000 Quintals merchantable Fish, and a Brig laden with Wine; three of the former are safe in Port.

To be sold at Auction, at the Store of Joshua Loring, in Congress street, Boston, on Friday the 21st Instant, at 12 o'Clock, – The Sloop Oliver Cromwell, about 90 Tons burthen, 2 Years old, New-York built, with Sails standing, and running Rigging, as she now lays at Mr. Wheatley's Wharf. Inventory of Stores may be seen at said Store.

N.B. At the same Time and Place will be sold, a Pair of double-fortified Four Pounders, seven Swivels, a Number of Small Arms, Pistols, Cutlasses, Sails and running Rigging, a Quantity of Powder, a Chest of Medicines, a compleat set of Doctor's Instruments, 5 Barrels Pork, 4 Barrels Bread, and a Number of other Articles.

MAJOR GENERAL PHILIP SCHUYLER TO COLONEL JEDUTHAM BALDWIN ¹

[Extract]

To Colonel Baldwin Chief Engineer

Sir

Albany Feby 13th 1777.

The honorable Continental Congress by a Resolution of the 28th December last have ordered "That a Fort be constructed on Mount Independence; that the Navigation of the Lake near that place be obstructed by Cassoons to be sunk in the Water at small Distances from one another and joined together by String-pieces, so as at the same time to serve for a Bridge between the Fortifications on the East & West Sides, that to prevent the Enemy from drawing their small Craft over Land beyond three Mile point into Lake George, the passage of that Lake be also obstructed in like Manner by Cassoons from Island to Island in the Narrows if practicable or by floating Batteries, that Fort Stanwix be strengthened and other Fortifications be made at proper places near the Mohawks River and that General Schuyler the commanding officer of the Northern Department execute these Works this Winter and that the commanding officer of Artillery Chief Engineer, Quarter Master General & Comg General provide and perform whatever Things in their respective Departments are necessary or may contribute to the Accomplishment thereof. that there be a general Hospital erected at Mount Independence."

In order therefore to fulfill the Intentions of Congress you are immediately to proceed to Lake George to examine if it is practica[ble] to sink Cassoons in the Narrows in the Manner directed and if you find it so to report the same to me, and immediately to order one or more of your Sub-Engineers to execute the Work – If it is not practicable you will report to me by Letter the Reasons why, together with the Depth of the Water and the Distance from Shore to Shore and from Island to Island – The Report to be accompanied, with a Sketch of the Islands.

You are then to proceed to Tyonderoga and as I concieve the Obstruction of the Lake will be much easier and cheaper executed while the Lake continues frozen than at any other Time you will first execute that work – The Cassoons should be so far above Water as that the Bridge may not be under Water when the Lake is at the highest and to prevent Batteaus from passing underneath when the Lake is at the lowest a Boom ought to be laid on the Water on each Side of the Bridge.

JOURNAL OF THE NEW YORK COMMITTEE OF SAFETY ¹

[Fishkill] February 13th, 1777.

The committee to whom was referred the letter from Captain [William] Rogers, of the sloop of war Montgomerie, and the papers relative to vessels captured by him, reported:

That as they are not informed of any suitable person to appoint as agent for that business in Baltimore, it is their opinion that a letter be wrote to our Delegates in Continental Congress now there, to appoint some suitable person for that purpose, to act for this State, and in assisting Captain Rogers in fitting out the vessel for another cruise.

Which report was read and approved.

The same committee also reported a draft of a letter to the Delegates of the Colony in Continental Congress, and another to Captain Rodgers, which were approved of, as follows, to wit:

Gentlemen – We have received from Captain William Rodgers, of the sloop of war Montgomery, belonging to this State, a letter informing us of his arrival in Baltimore, in company with a brig and schooner, prizes taken by him, which are now libelled in the Court of Admiralty of that State,² which letters accompanys copies of her register and sundry certificates and papers found on board said brig, all of which appears to us to carry the strongest evidence of said brig and her cargo being the property of the subjects of the King of Great Britain; notwithstanding which, from Captain Rogers' letters it appears he en[ter]tains doubts of the vessel and cargo being condemned. We would therefore beg leave to request you, gentlemen, to give Captain Rogers every assistance in your power in endeavoring to have said brig condemned, and likewise to appoint some suitable person as agent for this State, to assist Captain Rogers in the sale of said prizes, and in fitting said sloop for another cruise as soon as possible.

You will be pleased to order two-thirds of the quantity of each of the articles mentioned in the enclosed list, to be purchased at all events for the use of this State; and in case the remaining $\frac{1}{3}$ part should sell at a moderate price, we would be glad to have them likewise purchased for our accounts; all of which articles are extremely scarce here, and from information may be transported to De Peau's farm, on the Delaware, within forty miles of New-Windsor, on the North river, the greatest part of the way by water.

We are, &c.

To the Hon. Francis Lewis and Lewis Morris, Esqrs.
Delegates for the State of New-York, Baltimore.

The list of articles referred to in the preceding letter is as follows, to wit:

The barley, raisins, cordage and hawser, crosscut saws, shoes, woollens, linens, Osnaburgs, canvass, lampblack, mustard, spices, twine, nails, salt.

The draft of a letter to Captain Rodgers was as follows, to wit:

Sir – We received your favour of 27th ultimo, enclosing a copy of Captain Wilkenson's receipt for sundry goods shipped on board the schooner Hannah, and accompanying sundry papers found on board the brigantine Minerva, John Winning master; both of said vessels you informs us you have libelled in the Court of Admiralty, and for which you have our approbation. We cannot, from those papers enclosed to us, conceive any substantial reason can be offered why the brigantine and cargo should not be condemned; notwithstanding we have wrote to Messrs. Francis Lewis and Lewis Morris, our Representatives, (and such other gentlemen as are there in the representation of us,) now in Continental Congress, to whom we refer you for advice, who will give you all the aid in their power. We have requested those gentlemen to appoint an agent to transact the business for this State, and assist you in forwarding the fitting out of the sloop for another cruise, which we would recommend you would proceed upon as soon as possible. We are, &c.

To Captain Wm. Rodgers, of the sloop Montgomerie.

Ordered, That the Treasurer of this State advance to Captain Samuel Tudor, the sum of £1000, to defray the expenses of procuring and cutting timber for a 74 gun ship, pursuant to an order of this Committee, and that the Treasurer pay the said money to Mr. Alexander Leach Miller, to be by him conveyed and delivered to the said Captain Samuel Tudor, and take Mr. Miller's receipt on behalf of Mr. Tudor, to be accountable for the same.³

VICE ADMIRAL RICHARD LORD HOWE TO PHILIP STEPHENS¹

Number 22.

Eagle, Off New York

Sir,

February the 13th 1777.

General Howe having desired that Convoy might be provided for the Security of three Transports appropriated for the Reception of the Officers and Recruiting Parties of the 6th and 14th Regiments destined for England, I have appointed the Carysfort for that Service. Captain Fanshawe, charged with this Dispatch, is directed to forward the same by Express from Plymouth; And getting the Ship made ready for the Dock without Delay, will wait to receive their Lordships' Orders for his further Proceedings, at that Port.

The Changes in the Situation of the Ships of the Fleet since the Date of the last Return sent in the Harriot Packet, have been few. The Flora, Orpheus, Daphne, Lively and Solebay, detained some Days by the Floating Ice, have lately put to Sea for the several purposes in that Return expressed; And the Juno, with the Unicorn (the Term of Captain Ford's Continuance off of the Nantucket Shoals, where he had been ordered by Sir George Collier from Halifax, being expired) have since sailed for Rhode Island, to be employed under the Direction of Sir Peter Parker.

On the 1st Instant the Greyhound, charged to conduct a Detachment of the British Troops embarked in thirteen Transports, pursuant to the General's Requisition, arrived with them from Rhode Island off the Western Entrance of the Sound. But the Wind and Weather did not permit the Transports to enter the East River until the 8th, at which time the Frigate returned back to her former Station.

By the Copies of two Letters from Sir Peter Parker of the 11th and 23d of last Month enclosed herewith, their Lordships will be made acquainted with the most material Circumstances respecting the Commodore's proceedings to those Periods: And also with his Sentiments regarding the Employment which the requisite Attentions on that Station will (at this time) furnish, for the larger Ships retained at Rhode Island, and a stated Number of the Frigates appointed to join him for the purpose of his Instructions of the 22d of last December; Whereof a second Copy is enclosed with the Duplicates of my Letters by the Harriot Packet sent herewith.

As the Commodore's Letters contain some Particulars having reference to his future Conduct; I have submitted my Answer thereto, at large, for their Lordships further Information.

The Demand for Marines to supply the Deficiencies in the Ships on this Station, engages all the Drafts I have thought it prudent to make from the Frigates lately sent to clean in England: The Force of some of the Rebel Armed Vessels considered; and the Regard being had, not to leave the Frigates without any trained Men in their Parties on their Return to this Coast. I am therefore yet unable to act conformably to their Lordships' Intentions, in the Mode they had adopted for recruiting the Marine Battalions at Halifax. It is at the same time to be hoped that the Attention of the Rebels may be so much engaged in the Eastern Provinces next Campaign, that they will have little Opportunity to make any material Attempts on that Side.

The Cherokee Tender proceeds with the Carysfort to England: That Vessel not being of a Construction capable of rendering Service as an Armed Vessel on this Coast; and become long since useless for the purpose of her first Appointment, by the early Resolution of the Surveyor to fix his Residence at Charles Town, where, I understand, he still remains.

The Lark, appointed to convoy the Britannia Store-ship sent from Halifax and containing Masts and several other Articles much wanted at this Port, arrived with the Storeship the 8th Instant.

By these Supplies added to the Lading of the Success-Increase, which came with the Amazon, the Stores here will be well provided for some time with many Necessaries, Cordage excepted; the Expence of which is considerable, tho' very particular Care is taken with regard thereto. The Lark will proceed to-morrow for Rhode Island, to be employed under the Orders of Sir Peter Parker.

I am with great Consideration, Sir [&c.]

Howe

P.S. To the Papers sent under this Cover is added a List of the Transports ordered to proceed to Europe under Convoy of the Carysfort.

Number 23.

Eagle Off New York

Sir

February the 13th 1777.

Enclosed herewith I transmit an Account of Officers promoted by me in consequence of their Lordships permission for that purpose,² to Vacancies occasioned by the Resignation of Captain [Alexander] Scott; Changes for Duty, allowed for the most Part, in compliance with the Requests of the Vice Admiral Lord Shulldham and Commadore Sir Peter Parker, when they moved from the different Ships wherein They were before respectively embarked; Appointments I have made to Vacancies caused by Death, or Dismission by Sentence of a Court Martial; and several temporary Nominations in place of Officers in different Stations, who by the strictest Inquiry respecting the Justness of their Representations of Inability, were deemed incapable by their ill State of Health to perform their Duty in this Country. The said Representations and Reports thereon, under the Hands of the Physician of the Fleet or Surgeons of most Consideration being also herewith enclosed.

It is further incumbent on me to submit my Motives for some extraordinary Appointments, which the peculiar Circumstances of the Case have induced. Amongst these, I am particularly to note two Supernumerary Officers, acting as additional Lieutenants in each of the Ships with the Commander of Divisions ordered on separate Service: The Duties in Boat-Service; For Night-Guards, and on Detachment; Besides the ordinary Duties of the Ships in similar Situations, being so various and incessant, that a suitable Provision could not have been otherwise made for those purposes. These Extra Officers having no Assignment of Pay correspondent to their Stations and Trust specified in their Appointments, Their Lordships Directions will probably extend to that Consideration if they shall be pleased in any Shape to approve of their Continuance in those Capacities.

The other extraordinary Appointments regard a temporary Master Shipwright, Assistant and Boatswain to direct the Works in the Yard it was necessary to establish here for the Repair and Refitting of the Cruising Ships, and for rendering such Assistance in the constructing of Boats as was wanted for the Service of the Army. A further extraordinary Expence in the purchase and fitting of some small Armed Vessels of Force, will soon become requisite for the same occasion.

The Pay their Lordships may be pleased to grant to the Master Shipwright, Assistant and Boatswain of the Yard, is submitted as in t[he] former Instance. They trust for Recommendation therein, to their meritorious Services testified in the Works perfected under their Inspection and Assistance.

Of the small Armed Vessels of Force above-mentioned, only One, a Gally carrying a Thirty two Pounder in the Bow taken in the North River by the Phoenix, has yet been received into the Service, by the Name of the Dependence. The Command thereof is given to Mr [James] Clark, a Mate of the Phoenix, who besides other Instances of Merit, distinguished himself in a very particular Manner last Summer, whilst the small Squadron under Captain Parker (ordered there for the first time) was up the North River. This Officer undertook to bring down Intelligence to me of the State of the Ships, by all the Enemy's Works of which they were then in possession on both Sides of the River, with the Advantage of several Guard-

Boats to obstruct all such Attempts; and executed it with Success, tho' not without being discovered, pursued and attacked. On that Foundation I have Hope of their Lordships Indulgence, that his Appointment may be approved; with the Rank of Lieutenant in the Navy.

An Inspector of the Victualling Craft, and Commissary of Prisoners, were necessary to be appointed for the time being; as well as a Deputy Agent Victualler for the due Care and Distribution of the Provisions sent to Rhode Island for the Use of the Ships under the Orders of the Commodore Sir Peter Parker; and a Captain of the Port: The last, for providing Pilots on sudden Occasions, and the Arrangement of the Transports at the Wharfs and in different Coves along the Coast of the New York and Long Island Shores during the Winter Season in which they would otherwise be liable to considerable Injury from the Floating Ice. An Allowance of four Shillings P Day has been made to the former, and of five to each of the three last.

I am with great Consideration, Sir [&c.]

Any Advances you may be kind enough to make for us we will replace to you by Bills on Congress, or will pay your Drafts on us here, the latter would be most agreeable –

COMMODORE ESEK HOPKINS TO THE CONTINENTAL MARINE COMMITTEE ¹

Onboard the Warren near Providence

Gentlemen

Feby 14th 1777 –

I sent you a Copy of an Agreement Inclosed in a letter of the 19th June last, Sign'd by the Officers and People belonging to the Fleet fitted out at Philada – and as the time for which the Agreement was made is out, and the Men discharg'd, there is likely to be great Uneasiness among the Crews, whether they Shall divide the Prize Money according to the Agreement, or to the Ships Companys that took the Prizes – and as there has been a great many men Shipp'd Since, who did not Sign the Agreement there may be Some difficulty in keeping it Strictly – On the whole it makes So much Uneasiness that it is in a great measure the means of the Fleets not being mann'd, or at least a Considerable hindrance – I cannot but think if the Congress or the Marine Board, would give it as their Judgement that the Agreement Should be kept up to, or that there Should be no notice taken of it, but the Money divided to the Vessels Crews that took the Prizes – Your Judgement either way would have great Weight and perhaps prevent much dispute

Inclosed you have a Copy of Lieutt [Ezekiel] Burroughs's Orders, who has Mann'd the Hamden and will get on a Cruize the first Opportunity – I could get no Officer of higher Rank to take Charge of her, as she is look'd upon as a Slight Vessel. You likewise have a Copy of Captn Olney's Orders who I expect will Sail from Boston in the Cabot in three or four days – and likewise Captn Hinman's Orders to take Charge and get the Alfred out as soon as possible – but I hear he is making Some alterations in the Ship, without any directions from Me – but I hop[e] they may be for the better – Captn Jones I expect up here to take the Sloop Providence, which his Commission is for – and Captn Hacker is trying to get hands for the Columbus, but at present She has none nor the Sloop but few – In the Ship Providence there is about 110 Men, and about 90 in the Warren – there is in the River below us two 50 and one 40 Gun Ships and eight Smaller Ships, besides Tenders – what may be the Event I at present can't tell, although if we could keep the Frigates mann'd, I think they could not hurt us much – but I find it difficult to get or keep men, when there is no prospect of any thing but fighting –

I received your favour of the 10th December last (but it did not come to hand untill after we were block'd up) which directed me to get the Ships out a Cruizing as soon as possible – but Since applying to Captn Whipple, he Signified he had Orders from you, and Should take no directions from me – Should be glad to know from you, whether you expect me to direct their Operations or not; for I desire no Command further than you Approve off – and whenever you think my Command is of no Service to the Publick, I will not only agree, but in Justice to the Publick think you Should give the Command to some man that can do more for the Publick Benefit – although it would give me great Concern to be turn'd out for a Crime, it would give me none at all to be displaced for a better man in my Room – and Since there has been Some dispute with the Owners of the Privateers, caused by their too frequently getting the Men belonging to the Continent in their Privateers – I have not the Influence that I used to have, So that it is not in my power to do the same good that I could have done before that happen'd –

This day about half past 3 OClock in the afternoon I receiv'd a message from Coll [John] Waterman, that a large Armed Schooner one of his Britannick Majesty's Fleet was ashore on the Northern part of Prudence – I immediately put men out of the Warren onboard the Sloop Providence, and dispatch'd her under the Command of Captn John B. Hopkins – they got near her about Sun Sett, when the Schooners people put fire to and quitted her – and we Suppose by the time She blew up, that they had fixed a Train to go off about the time they expected our people to board her – however She is effectually destroyed which perhaps may make them more Cautious of coming where they are not well acquainted – I hear the Said Schooner was one built in England for the business – I am with great Respect Gentlemn [&c.]

In our last, it was said that the Niger, of 36 guns had drove ashore on Naraganset beach, a prize schooner, and at the same time took a schooner from the West-Indies. Since which the ship has sent a flag into Stonington for an exchange of prisoners taken in the above schooner, who proves to be Capt. Andrew Palmer of Stonington, from St. Thomas's, and by the flag we learn that the ship's name is the Amazon, [Maximilian] Jacobs, commander, and that she is stationed off this Harbour. The schooner they have made a tender of.¹

Capt. Salter, who came out of Ireland Master of the above Prize, belongs to Portsmouth in New Hampshire: He informs that the American Privateer which put into Newry, (as mentioned under the Dublin Head)² shipped a Number of Hands there: — That Ireland are universally in favour of the Americans, except a few Placemen. — He further says, that Flaxseed is very plenty in that Kingdom.

We learn that the Super-Cargo of said Vessel had Instructions, that in Case he met with any North American Privateer, to make them a Present of a Bale of Linens &c. which they thought might probably save the Vessel.

Tuesday last Capt. Daniel Deshon arrived here in a Schooner in 32 Days from Martinico; he came within a few Rods of the above Ship in a thick Snow Storm; — has brought about 700 Bushels of Salt, and some other Articles. By him we learn that Flour is low at Martinico, being from 3 to 4 Dollars per Hundred Wt. He informs, that an English arm'd Brig having taken sundry northern Vessels within three Leagues of the Cape, a French Man of War was sent out after her, who brought her into the Cape, where she was condemned and sold, and that an Account thereof was immediately sent to France. — That the French continue to fortify Martinico, two Forts being now erecting; and that two Regiments of Troops arrived from France while he lay at that Place.

She mounted 18 carriage guns, had 125 men on board, and is a new vessel well built. She remained but a few hours, then weighed anchor and sailed to the Northward. Those who observed her under way think her a remarkable fast sailer."

REPORT ON THE CONTINENTAL FRIGATES AT ESOPUS, NEW YORK ¹

[Kingston, New York] Feby 14, 1777.

Your Committee appointed to confer with Capt. Samuel Tudor and Mr Burling, Do report,

That in the course of the Conference Capt Tudor says that about Five Tons of Iron is still wanting for the Continental Frigates now at Esopus, without which they cannot be compleated by the Spring, and that he is at a Loss how to procure the same without the Assistance of this House.

He also says that he is in want of the following Articles for the purpose afore-said, to wit: 25 Copper Ladles for 12 Pounders, 1 Box of false fires, 2 Copper Drifts for false fires, 2 ditto for Fuses for Hand Granades, 12 lb. of steel Dust, 100 lb of Sulpher, 8 Cegs of white Lead, 6 doz Lanthorns, Muskets, Pistols & Cutlasses, he also informs your Committee That he cannot supply the Ship Wrights with Rations at the Rate of 10½d pr Ration occasioned by the advanced price of Provisions. But is willing to purchase provision on the lowest Tërms, and furnish the Ship Wrights therewith, he receiving the amount of what the Rations shall Cost him. At the same Time both Capt. Tudor & Mr. Burling recommended to the Committee as the Easiest and most Satisfactory method to advance the wages of each Shipwright 3 shillings pr Day in Lieu of Rations. Your Committee do further report that Mr. Burling informed them that he is in advance for Provisions furnished the work men on Board the Ship Congress, and that he stands engaged to them for their Nights work in bringg up the said Ship from Poughkeepsie to Esopus which Captain Austin [Augustin] Lawrence absolutely refuses to pay.

Your Committee are of opinion that a Letter from this House Directed to Colo Robert Livingston at the Manor Requesting him with all convenient speed to furnish the aforesaid quantity of Iron will be the most effectual means to procure it. Your Committee are further of opinion that the likest means for obtaining the Copper Ladles, and sundry other Articles before mentioned will be by application to the Continental Marine Committee.

Resolved, That 10s 6d ought to be allowed to the Carpenters on board the Continental Ships built at Poukeepsie for pay and Rations, and 13s 9d to the foremen for pay and Rations, and that it be recommended by the Superintendants of the sd Ship[s] to pay them from the Date hereof at that rate.

Your Committee are further of opinion that the said Lancaster Burling and others who have supplied the men on Board the Ship Congress with Provisions, return to this House a true account of the Number of men victuled and the amount thereof which account ought to be proved upon Oath or affirmation, to be just before the Chairman of the Committee and the Town of Kingston, or the Chairman of the Committee of the Precinct of Poughkeepsie who should be required to Certify the same, and that the said account thus proved be transmitted to the Convention of this State to be delivered to the Auditor to be audited for payment.

Presuming a Sketch of our proceedings since you left Boston will be agreeable we take this opportunity to inform you we dispatch'd the Penet about 3 Weeks since, – The Versailles about the same time for Nantz – The Duc de Chartres, Capt [Alexander] Wilson sail'd 14 days since for So Carolina. We have now ready to sail from Portsmouth a Ship & Cargo of Logwood & Mahogany for Nantes, a Ship with Masts & Timber we are fixing away, a Sloop at Plymouth with a quantity of Sarsaparilla, & a Ship with Logwood &c. negotiating for all which we determine to the Address of yr friends in France. –

A Brig at Plymouth, a Barque here, and the fine Ship Caledonia will be got ready on our Joint Account, as fast as possible, which we determined with such others as fall within your description, to your order in Virginia tho' this day having heard by Express that a Fleet of British Ships were cruising between Cape Henry & Cape Charles, which renders the Navigation of Virginia & Maryland impracticable, our Plan for the present is suspended, however we shall compleat the six Ships & Brigts as desir'd, and think you will turn your Attention to South-Carolina, where the Adventures are not so desperate, & in the mean time wait your directions, whether to prosecute the original Plan, or to adopt such Variations as the Exigency of Affairs may render necessary – Which direction we pray you to forward us by Express, as the Season so rapidly advancing occasions Anxiety under any Delays, however unavoidable – By order of the Board

Sir I have Agreable to the order of the Board Bought the Brig Nancy, & am now fixing her with all Expedition for the Sea. she is now on the ways graving. tho I have met with great difficulty in geting either pitch or Tar for that purpose as you have sent me none. I was however lucky enough to borrow for that purpose on promise to replace it by the first Oppy The Sloop is almost ready to take in. the weather has prevented her being quite so. I have got Masters, Mates, & a great part of the Crews for these Vessels. I have also Chartered two Schooners for Virginia, Baltimore South or No Carolina & got Crews for them nearly & one Schooner for Virginia, No or South Carolina & beleive shall have no difficulty in maning her the Owner would not Consent she should go to Baltimore & as she is a fine Schooner I would not break of[f] the Bargain for that Circumstance supposing one of the other places would suit you.

You are now to Consider what Cargo you will have put on Board the Brig & Schooners. you have here only the five hhds of rum bought of me, & I see no probability that I shall be Able to purchase either rum or Sugar for that purpose. there are a few hhds sugar here but the owners are Absent so cant say whether I can purchase them or not, but doubt it. one Mr Green, I beleive his Name is Nathaniel, has a quantity of rum here. if you determine to have some of it, you will please to treat with him & send me your order, or send here a warrant under your Broad Seal to take it. the Article of sugar you will either send up or take such Other order as you think proper. if you think Train Oil will Answer for part of these Cargoes I can supply some at 4/. p gallon, & perhaps some of it wont be Amiss. . . . two of the Schooners have only three sails, the Owners have Agreed to furnish flying Jibbs if you will supply the Cloath it is not to be had here. you will determine whether it is worth while to take the Trouble. you will please to furnish the Articles below for sails &c for the Brig without fail p first Oppy . . . Am I to Engage the Masters & Men shall Continue on pay if taken till their return – what part of the prizes if the sloop should make any, are the Men to have. I have ventured to tell them one third . . .

ROBERT MORRIS TO CAPTAIN NICHOLAS BIDDLE, CONTINENTAL FRIGATE

Sir

Philadelphia 15th february. 1777

I hope this will soon be delivered to you after d[i]spatched from hence as I have received directions from the Marine Committee at Baltimore to send you on A different service to that which the Orders I gave you before you left fort Island directed.²

With this you will receive Letters for William Bingham Esqr the Continental Resident at Martinico and you are immediately to proceed for that Island and deliver said Letters, the purport of them are that he should Ship on board your Ship, a quantity of Arms Ammunition Cloathing and other Stores that we suppose will be lodged there previous to your Arrival. If you find that Mr Bingham has it in his power to comply with this requisition, you are forthwith to receive on board All such stores as he may desire and return with the utmost expedition to the Coast of America in order to get them landed in some safe place, from whence they can be transported by land to our Armies or Magazines. These supplies are exceedingly necessary for the service of the ensuing Campaigne and you cannot render your Country a more essential service than by bringing them soon and safe in. Should it so happen that these expected Supplies are not arrived at Martinico or that Mr Bingham has but A Small portion of them, you may take on board what he has and then proceed to St Eustatia, first consulting with Mr Bingham on the propriety of this measure. At st Eustatia you will call on Mr Samuel Curson, Mr Corneilus Stevenson and Mr Henricus Godet with the letters herein and if they have any of the expected stores receive them on board & should these make quantity or value sufficient return to America from thence, but should you be disapointed here also, you will then proceed to the Island of Curacoa and deliver the enclosed Letter to Mr Isaac Gouverneur; and should you find at this Island Mr John Philip Merkle of Amsterdam³ who will be at Mr Gouverneurs; you may consult with him and Mr Gouverneur whether it is better to take him and his goods on board the Randolph or to ship his goods on board other fast sailing Vessels to come on the Coast under your Convoy; and do therein what shall seem best to them and yourself, but be sure to bring them Safe. Should it so happen that Mr Merkle is not at Curacoa, nor any of his goods you will then proceed to Cape Francois and deliver the Letter herewith to Mr Stephen Ceronio if he has goods or Stores receive them on board, but failing of sufficient there you will go to the Mole St Nicholas deliver the Letter herewith to Mr John Dupuy take in what he has to ship, and then make the best of your way back to the Continent.

As you command the first American frigate that has got out to Sea, it is expected that you contend warmly on All necessary occasions for the honor of the American flag.

At every foreign port you enter salute their forts and waite on the Governor, General or Commander in Chief, asking the liberty of their ports for the Ships of the United States of America. Take care that your people do not molest their Trade nor Inhabitants nor in any shape disturb that good understanding we have with them

Should you take any prizes in the West Indies that are bona fide British property within the descriptions of Prizes as laid by Congress, you may send them into Martinico to the care of William Bingham Esqr – to st Eustatia to the care of Saml Curson junr Esqr – At Curacoa to Mr Gouverneur – at the Cape Francois to Mr Ceronio, at st Nicholas Mole to Mr John Dupuy, observing that if any part of the Cargoes suit the consumption of the West Indies, and not consisting in such Articles as are wanted here, the Agents of the Prizes may make sale of all such goods and apply the Neat proceeds to the purchase of such supplies as we are in want of, and we will pay here that part of the amount that appertains to you, your Officers and Crew, but the Ships must be sent to some port in these States for condemnation with A Compleat Inventory of what has been taken out, any Prize you take that you think may be disputed or appealed for, must be sent for the States without breaking bulk. The Agents at each place will make the necessary supplies for the charges and expences of your Ship, but you are not to pay any Custom House fees or duties any where. you must encourage as many Seamen as possible to enter on board your Ship at every port you enter and from every prize you take. As the British men of war on the West India stations are not often well manned, it would give great eclat to our Naval Service if you can make prize of one or more of them, and if so you will do well to tempt some of their best Warrant officers such as Boatswains, Gunners, Quarter Masters and their several mates to enter our service, for we would wish you to bring both these and plenty of Common Sailors home to Assist in Manning our other ships of war.

When your errand to the West Indies is completed, you'll observe it is mentioned already that you are to return to some Safe port in these United States of America. The uncertainty of the fate of war makes us cautious of saying positively which shall be the best port. There is little doubt but this will be the most convenient to receive the Stores at, being most Centrical and probably not very distant from the Scenes of Action, and as you are well enabled to defend yourself against most single Ships, and capable we hope of outsailing any of the enemies it appears that you might venture to call at Cape Henlopen or Cape May for intelligence without incurring the charge of rashness, and we will endeavour to keep out some small Cruizers About the time you are expected to give you information. To these you'll shew the signals mentioned in your letter of the 6th instant to me but least you should forget to keep A Copy I shall repeat that "you are to be known to small Cruizers by a White Jack at the fore top mast head and a pendant over it." Shew this same signal to the Light House and we will send down Orders there to answer it by A White sheet if All is well, but to hoist english Colors if you are in danger, and as it is probable some more of the Continental frigates may be out and Cruizing on the Coast, I shall enclose you herein some Signals by which Continental frigates may be known to each other by day or by night, as Copies shall be furnished to each of the Captains and you will duely Observe your part of them. I need not repeat what has been said in your former Instructions respecting the care of the Ran- dolph, treatment of your men and prisoners &c &c but wishing you honor and success I am Sir [&c.]

My Dear Sir,

Baltimore 15th Feby 1777

My last accompanied the money from the Marine Committee viz 42,000 dollars, but as this goes by Express to Boston it may come first to hand – the last letter Rec'd from you was 27th Decr

There are still a number of the enemy's ships in Chesapeak Bay though some vessels do get past them both inward & outward bound and some have fallen into their hands – it will be prudent to order the vessels you send this way to call in at some of the inlets between Cape Henlopen and Cape Charles where they may get information of the enemy's ships. Delaware Bay is at present open, but there is no knowing how long it will be so. The Randolph is sailed and the Delaware will sail soon and the Virginia from this place in about two weeks. a ship is arrived at Philadelphia from France, but brings no public letters; but a private letter of the 9th Novr says France and Spain are making the greatest preparation for war ever known; England is also exerting every nerve to get a formidable fleet at sea – Holland has likewise ordered 12 ships of the line to be got ready as soon as possible – these things justify an opinion that a general war is not far off. The Tyrant of Britain's speech tells us he is endeavoring to conciliate matters between Spain and Portugal so we find that dispute is not yet settled. I hope a few days will bring us important and agreeable intelligence from Europe, that I may soon have it in my power to transmit you such as will expel every anxious thought is the wish of your sincere friend [&c.]

We thank you for your obliging Intimations of the peculiar Danger of the Southern Seas; We are sensible of the hazard of Navigation in these stormy times, when the Political Gates as well as those of the Season threaten our Undertakings with Ship Wreck; – however at all Hazards we will have some Flour, Bar, & Pig Iron, having a fine air-Furnace, which wants only this last Article to make the Manufactory of Cannon effectual & Adequate. . . .

JOHN BRADFORD TO ROBERT MORRIS¹

Dear Sir

Boston 17th Feby 1777

I had time only in my last to make a partial and very imperfect reply to your sundry favours Recd by Express. I intirely agree with you in Sentiment that the villian who sent in the Joseph to providence (which is the Indential Eagle that took the fanny & Elizabeth) Ought to be hang'd as a pirate, a Brazillia Smith Commanded her the last Cr[u]ise, its evident that some of my Lts have mis-carried for I gave you a detail of my proceedings with Respect to dispatching the Fanny I hope she is at port Ere this as she has sail'd about six weeks I hope to recover ample damages for the injury the public sustained by her being sent in the fannys Cargo recd no other loss than Abot half a hhd tobacco embez'd My Lawyer comes to town to day and you may rely on it Sir that every thing that can be done shall be, to get the worthy Gentleman Restitution for the Gross abuse, its luckey that smith pirate is one of this state, as our people are not so inclinable to favour such proceedings as in a Neighbou[ri]ng²

I omit making any reply to the part of your Lts Respecting Capt [John Paul] Jones or the Ship Alfred, as the Ltrs you are possess'd of explains the whole of that matter to you

I wrote you in a former Ltr, that our plan of Speculating was frustrated by the orders sent by the Secret Committee and the fine Ship Easter [Esther] I hope is now ready for the Sea as by the late Acco from Mr Jarvis I've reason to expect it. I have kept back the Sale of the Mellish a long [time] expecting to receive Answers from the Commte with about £1200 laid out on her she would make an Excellent twenty gun ship the Brig Lively I shall purch[ase] for your Acct being a fine strong fast sailing Vessell, White haven built, only four years old, well found burthen one hundred & sixty tons. I am impatiently waiting to receive Orders how to dispose of the Brig Tryton, for want of articles to make up a small cargo, just to put the paquet in a set of Ballast I shall send part of the Trytons Cargo of Sal[m]on in her, I shall send her away in three days from this if not prevented by the weather, wch has been rough for some time past, the Scho[oner] Lynch goes on this Errand, the Late commander Capt Ayres Refus'd to go with less than twenty men, and four guns to support the dignity of his commissn we are luckily rid of him I have got a man who will answer the purpose exactly, He be bound for his abilities & Vigilance, Why should Ayres like a rotten limb be supported, by the usefull members After I had seen the counsel and concluded to send the Lynch a Committee was sent from the board to acquaint me they did not like my Capt but before the Conference I had chang'd him gratefully to there Satisfaction. I leave you to judge Sir if that man is deserving a Commissn who the council did not choose to trust, a paquet by, he is beyond dispute the most Bashfull man on earth

The Lynch & Lee are the only small Vessells imployd, the other two have been discharg'd some time since, Capn [John] Skimmer is nere Redy to sale on a Cruise in the Lee the late master having left her to go to Congress I have given a full Acct to the worthy president some time since of his Indolence in the Service ³ The board of War here have pick'd up every thing they Could buy for remittances to france I have borrowed of them a Trifle of potash & have bought [torn] Oil. I am Inform'd a remonstrance is to the Congress against Capt Roach [John Roche] who was late[ly] appointed to a ship a portsmo if that shod Operate to his dismission I hope Capt [John Paul] Jones will not be f[illegible] by the Honbl Maritime Commd Your kind Approbation of my conduct gives me the high[est] pleasure I shall always make it my study to merit it, the small Cargo I send in the paquet shall be address'd agreeable to order & the letter to Messrs Pliarne Penet & Co forwarded, I am fearfull I shall meet with difficulty in Circulating the Loan Certificate – As the treasurer gives his Notes the whole State his Security at 6 pCent however I'll do the best I can with them, – Messrs [Alexander] Rose & [Nicholas] Eveleigh are not yet return'd from the eastward, I hear they have made several purchases their, the Brig I sold them Saild this day for South Carolina, –

The information I gave on the former part of my letter of the Joseph being carried into providence proceeded from false information; on further enquirey I have seen the prize Master of the Joseph who was taken by a british Cruizer, and carried in to york, which I think will be better for the owners than if she had arriv'd at providence,⁴ I make not the least doubt I shall be able to recover the full amount, but am I duly qualified with powers, I believe not, they should be sent forward without loss of time. –

I am distress'd at the detention of our two frigates – I have no prospect of their Sailing – [Hector] McNeill this day told me Six thousand dollars would put him to sea in a fortnight, & this Evening I'll see Mr [Thomas] Cushing & will venture to furnish him with that sum, if he can raise it with the certificates, I know you lead at the Marine Board Sir for Gods sake & for the sake of the great cause let experienced men, men of intrepid resolution take the lead in the grand undertaking of Building the 74 Gun ship – I have sent a Schooner of 90 Tons to Baltimore, and a Brig of the like Burthen will follow her for Iron &c – I am with all due respects [&c.]

PETITION OF EDWARD GRAY TO THE MASSACHUSETTS COUNCIL ¹

To the Honble Council of the State of Massachusetts Bay
The Petition of Edwd Gray in behalf of William Rotch & others as p Schedule annex'd Merchts & Inhabitants of Nantucket – Humbly sheweth – That, by an Act laying an Embargo upon all shipping, they are prevent'd procuring their summer Supply of salt, which is absolutely necessary for them to carry on their Fishery, the Whale fishery which was formerly their whole dependance being now entirely stop't, they are oblig'd to recur to the Cod Fishery for a support which cannot be carry'd on without salt, & unless they have liberty granted them to procure it they cannot subsist, – That, the Island from the Nature of it's soil is incapable of producing Corn or any other Grain sufficient for One Quarter of the Inhabitants, that, formerly they wholly depended upon Philadelphia, New York & Long Island for their supplies, which Resources are now cut off, & unless they can procure Corn &c they must be reduc'd to the greatest distress – That, previous to passing the Act Mr Rotch had prepar'd a Vessell ready to take on board a Cargo he had already purchas'd consisting of 40 m Lumber 60 barrels pickled fish 180 shook hogsheads & hoops for the Voyage, all which are now upon hand, & if the fish is not allow'd to be exported it must inevitably spoil – That, Mr Rotch has a large sum of Money in the hands of a French Merchant in Hispaniola which if not speedily secur'd will be wholly Lost –

All these Reasons your Petitioner humbly begs your Honors would take into Consideration, & grant liberty to the several Vessells to proceed their Voyages, & your petitioner as in Duty bound, will ever Pray

SECRET COMMITTEE OF THE CONTINENTAL CONGRESS TO THE AMERICAN COMMISSIONERS IN FRANCE ¹

In secret Committee of Congress

Honorable Gentleman

We have the honor to inclose you a Resolve of Congress that is of great Importance to the public Service, which has suffered considerably the last Fall, and during this Winter, by the insufficient manner in which our Soldiers were clothed. Having found much Delay heretofore in getting Cloth made up, the Congress desire that 40,000 compleat Suits of Soldiers Cloaths may be sent.² In giving directions for the making these Cloaths, it may be necessary, Gentlemen, to inform that both the Coats and Waistcoats must be short skirted, according to the dress of our Soldiery, and that they should be generally for Men of stouter make than those of France. Variety of Sizes will of course be ordered.

The Eastern Ports are generally entered with so much more Safety than the Southern, that we recommend the former for these Goods to be sent to, giving Orders to the Captain to inform Congress immediately of his Arrival, either by Express or by personal Attendance. We expect this Letter will be delivered you by Capt Johnston [Henry Johnson], Commander of the Lexington armed Vessel, and as the Congress are very anxious to hear from you, it is probable Capt Johnston will not remain long enough in France to get either Cloth or Cloaths in any quantity, but since it is necessary for the health of the Soldiers to cover them from the Dews of Summer it will be of great Advantage to send a considerable quantity of Blankets and Tent Cloth by the Return of the Lexington, with Stockings, Flints, & Muskets with Bayonets. The Soldiers Cloaths and the Cloth should be so contrived as to reach North America by the month of September at furthest.

We are with esteem, honorable Gentleman [&c.]

WILLIAM WHIPPLE TO JOHN LANGDON ¹

My Dear Sir

Baltimore 18th Feb 1777

Your favor of 23d ulto by Capt [Samuel] Tucker is just come to hand: 42,000 dollars are on the way to you and I hope will be in your possession long before this reaches you – the letters you refer to I have not seen – viz those to the Secret and Marine Committees – I shall pay due attention to them when I know their contents – the letter you refer me to concerning the guns from Connecticut is not come to hand – I am therefore in the dark about that matter – this I know that Governor Trumbull was desired to spare the guns he had provided for the ship built in Connecticut to the Raleigh, provided others could be procured in season for the Trumbull and as I have heard that Capt Manly has been in Connecticut after guns and have since heard he has guns for his ship, I suspect there has been some underhand dealing in this business, and think the villainy should be brought to light, therefore hope you'll spare no pains to get to the bottom of it, – in order thereto it will be necessary to know of Govr Trumbull at whose request they were spared to Manly.

Congress are about returning to Philadelphia – I believe they will adjourn thither next week till then I do not expect to have it in my power to send you the dimensions of the 74 gun ship – nor do I suppose it indispensably necessary at present, as the timber may be getting and other materials preparing while the workmen are employed on the other ship.

I am exceeding fearful of the vessels you are sending to this place and Virginia, as there are several ships now in Chesapeake Bay who have taken many vessels, but I have no order to direct them to be stopped but shall take the earliest opportunity to consult the Committees and write you fully on the subject – in the mean time hope no time will be lost in getting them ready for sea. In great haste I am your friend

On board the Ship Warren

Much respected Gentlemen

Feb'y 19, 1777.

We, who present this petition, engaged on board the Ship Warren, with an earnest desire and fixed expectation of doing our country Some Service; we are Still anxious for the weal of America, and wish nothing more earnestly than to See her in peace and prosperity. We are ready to hazard every thing that is dear, and, if necessary, Sacrifice our lives for the welfare of our country. We are desirous of being active in the defence of our constitutional liberties and priveledges against the unjust cruel claims of tyranny and oppression, but as things are now circumstanced on board this frigate there Seems to be no prospect of our being Servic'able in our present Stations. We have been in this Situation for a considerable Space of time. We are personally well acquainted with the real character and conduct of our commander, commodore Hopkins, and we take this Method, not having a more convenient opportunity, of Sincerely and humbly petitioning the honorable Marine Committee that they would enquire into his character and conduct, for we Suppose that his character is Such, and that he has been guilty of Such crimes as render him quite unfit for the publick department he now occupies, which crimes we the Subscribers can Sufficiently attest.

I have wrote General Washington to Send her Marines, and as it will be difficult manning her, I think she had best Sail soon as ever she has enough of men to work her proceed to Windward of Barbadoes and Cruise untill she Manns herself from Prizes and then go to Martinico for supplies to return her with. COMMITTEE OF SECRET CORRESPONDENCE TO THE AMERICAN COMMISSIONERS

[Extract]

Baltimore in Maryland Feby 19 1777

. . . We see by the speech of the King of Great Britain to his Parliament, that much money will be called for, no doubt, to prosecute the war with unrelenting vigor. That we shall oppose with all our power is certain, but the event must be doubtful until France shall take a decided part in the war. When that happens, our Liberties will be secured, and the glory and greatness of France be placed on the most solid ground. What may be the consequence of her delay, must be a painful consideration to every friend of liberty and mankind. Thus viewing our situation, we are sure it will occasion your strongest exertions to procure an event of such momentous consequence to your Country.

It is in vain for us to have on hand a great abundance of Tobacco, Rice, Indigo, Flour and other valuable articles of merchandize, if prevented from exporting them by having the whole Naval power of Great Britain to contend against. It is not only for the interest of these States, but clearly so for the benefit of Europe in general, that we should not be hindered from freely transporting our products that abound here, and are much wanted there — Why should the avarice & ambition of Great Britain be gratified, to the great injury of other nations?

Mr Deane recommends sending Frigates to France, and to convoy our Merchandize.—But it should be considered that we have an extensive coast to defend, that we are young in the business of fitting Ships of war—That Foundries for Cannon were to be erected, and the difficulty of getting Seamen quickly when Privateers abound as they do in the States where Sailors, as yet, are chiefly to be met with. And lastly, that our Frigates are much restrained by the heavy Ships of the enemy which are placed at the entrance of our Bays. In short, the attention of Great Britain must be drawn in part from hence, before France can benefit largely by our commerce.

Baltimore Feby 19, 1777

Dear Sir I am extremely obliged to you for your last favor, and much pleased with the spirit of your letter. I am as sure as of my existence that if our large Gallies were manned, gunned, and fitted, that the navigation of our Bay would receive no interruption. I wish our Government would consult their Sister Maryland about this business, and with joint council and united strength, immediately equip such a number of strong Gallies as to free our Bay from these piratical incursions. Experience has proved the efficacy of these Vessels in small waters, and in the way of surprise against the largest Ships. They are cheaper than Ships, and rigged Ship fashion will be well understood by our Navigators. They are the best batteries, because they are movable ones, and the circumstance of drawing little water, peculiarly fits them for the shallow waters on our coasts. I pray you Sir to exert your influence to obtain the speedy use of the valuable Vessels, the surest defence, and the cheapest we can employ . . .

Richard Henry Lee

P. S. A number of Seamen lately put on shore from Com. [William] Hotham say that the Men of War are greatly afraid of our Gallies. Let us cultivate this passion by ordering our best appointed Gallies to lurk about them, & in Calms or thick weather to annoy them with all imaginable spirit & address.

February the 20th 1777.

Sir,

I have received their Lordships Commands of the 31st of August, to inquire into the Truth of the Facts stated in a Letter from Lord George Germain, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, of the 16th of the same Month; Into the Conduct of Officers commanding such of His Majesty's Ships as were stationed in Nantasket Road, or appointed to cruize in the Bay of Boston, since the Evacuation of that Town by the Army; Into the Causes which so long operated to prevent the stationing of a small Squadron in the Delaware, pursuant to their Lordships Orders of the 6th of July 1775; And into the Motives which induced the Removal of the Roebuck and Liverpool from that River, when at length it had been thought fit to station them there: Upon which Inquiries I am directed to report the several Facts to their Lordships for His Majesty's Information. – I have therefore the Honor to represent, that upon the Receipt of those Commands, I communicated the several Particulars to the Vice Admiral Lord Shuldham; Desiring that I might be furnished with such further Lights on the Subject of the appointed Inquiries as he could supply in Addition to the Copies of his Instructions and Correspondence delivered on my Arrival to take the Command of the Fleet at this Port.

From the Accounts of his Lordships Proceedings and Contents of the Letters from the Captains present the Copies of which several papers are herewith enclosed, I collect, in relation to the Steps taken for preventing the Capture of Transports sent from Europe after the Evacuation of Boston – That Directions had been previously given by his Lordship for the Swan and the Bolton Armed Vessel to be withdrawn from Rhode-Island, for increasing the Number of Cruizers to be employed in conducting such Transports in Safety to Halifax. That on preparing V. Admls Letter to depart with the Fleet after the Troops were embarked for Halifax under Convoy of the Ships of War Boston 8th Marh 1776. named in the Margin, He left Orders with Captain [Francis] Banks to remain in the Renown, with such others of the smaller Cruizers as his Lordship could spare from the Service of attending the Removal of the Army to Halifax, and employ them to cruise before the Port of Boston, and in the Track of such Transports as might be bound there with Supplies to conduct them to Halifax in Safety. In the Orders to Captain Banks is explained, that those small Cruizers were to consist of the Ships and Vessels stated also in the Margin. But by the Vice Admiral's Return of the Disposition of the Fleet at this time, it appears that the Lively, Fowey and Dispatch were first to proceed with his Lordship to Halifax; And that the Swan and Bolton were then still at Rhode Island.

By a later Return, the Milford (in place of one of the other Frigates) and the Hope, were the only Ships remaining on the Station besides the Renown; With the Addition of the Rose then cruising off the Entrance of Boston Bay. But this last having been withdrawn to attend the Fleet to New York, as specified in the subsequent Return, the three former Ships constituted the future Guard upon the Port of Boston: The Halifax placed in the same Station in the Return, having never joined the Renown.

The particular Appointments of the other Ships first appropriated for the same Service being shewn in this last Return, I take no further Notice of them. It may however be necessary to observe for the clearer understanding of the Facts; That, tho' the last Return is dated the 6th of July, the Day preceding the Date of the General's Letter giving Advice of the Capture of the two Transports on which the Inquiry appears to be directed in this Instance, it is not therefore to be inferred as the Vice Admiral's Meaning that the Renown, Milford, Hope and Halifax were then actually upon the Station: These Returns purporting only to state of the Ships not present, the Circumstances according to the latest Information had concerning them.

Captain Banks's Motives for quitting Nantasket Road the 14th of June, are expressed in the Extract of his Journal annexed; And further explained in his Letter of the 27th of last November. A Difference that will be observed therein regarding the Number of Transports represented to have been taken to Halifax, is an Inaccuracy that seems to be an Effect of the short Notice he had to prepare an Answer to a Requisition of this interesting Nature; being then advanced to Sandy Hook, and in Expectation of putting every Hour to Sea under the Orders of Sir Peter Parker for Rhode Island.

The Capture of the two Transports before-mentioned happened a very few days after Captain Banks had left Nantasket Road. But as the further Information necessary upon this Point regards the Proceedings of the Milford, and the Commander, Captain Burr, lately dying at Halifax before I had an Opportunity of seeing him, I would not longer postpone the Answer upon the other Parts of the appointed Inquirey, on that Account.

In relation to the Facts state, respecting the Use that has been made of the Harbour of Boston as an Asylum for the Rebel Cruizers and their Prizes, their Lordships knowing the Nature and Circumstances of the Port, will be apprised of the Impossibility to prevent an Enemy from profitting greatly by the Advantages of such a Situation.

The Navigation of the Delaware, according to the best Intelligence I have yet obtained, is attended with many similar Difficulties. The Anchorage being much confined at the Entrance, and scarce practicable (the Coasts being in possession of an Enemy) in those Months during which the Ice forms in the River.

The first Operation I can trace from the Papers enclosed, respecting the Order by the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty for a small Squadron to be stationed in the Delaware for the purpose expressed in Lord Dartmouth's Letter of the 6th of July 1775, is contained in Lord Shuldham's Instructions to Lord Shuldham Order 17th Janry 1776.

Captain Hamond, who was then at Halifax under Orders from Vice Admiral Graves "to proceed in the Roebuck to Virginia: Being to employ the Ships he should find there, as he should judge best for the King's Service on that Station; and to guard the Entrance of the Delaware, until the Navigation of the River was open He was then to repair to the Delaware in the Roebuck, with a Twenty-Gun-Ship or Sloop; to prevent any Supplies being received by the Rebels, and to annoy them by every Means in his Power. Leaving a sufficient Force in Chesepeak Bay." The particular Charge respecting the Armed Craft and other Obstructions prepared by the disaffected Inhabitants of Philadelphia for preventing the Passage of the Ships of War up the River, appears to have been first communicated to Vice Admiral Graves by Lord Shuldham; As signified in his Lordship's Letter giving Advice of his Arrival at Boston, and stating the Disproportion of his Force to the various Services for which he would be to provide.

It appears that Captain Hamond sailed the 14th of January for Virginia, where he remained with the Liverpool, Otter and King'sfisher, employed upon various Services, until the Beginning of March: The reduced State of the Squadron obliging him then to send the last to make the several Deficiencies known to Lord Shuldham. pool on the 20th of the same Month; In Expectation of meeting the Reinforcement he had previously requested of Lord Shuldham. But being pressed by the earnest Remonstrances of the Earl of Dunmore, he was induced to leave those two Frigates for the Purpose expressed in his Lordship's Representations. He arrived off the Delaware the 25th of March; – and continuing upon that Station in the mean time, was joined the 30th of April by the Fowey; And two Days after by the Liverpool, which he had sent for from Virginia, – His Motives for returning to Virginia, and further Proceedings stated in the Narrative of his Conduct enclosed, regard the Removal of the Roebuck only, from the Delaware. For the Liverpool was continued upon the Station after the Departure of the Roebuck, and does not appear to have been withdrawn, until that Removal was rendered necessary to procure a further Supply of Water and Provisions. I found the Liverpool, which had been since ordered off Rhode-Island, and the King's fisher that was appointed to replace the Glasgow and supposed so late as the 6th of July to be still in the Delaware, were both with the Fleet at Staten Island upon my first Arrival in this Port. The Orpheus appeared to have been rather appointed for the necessary and more general purpose of cruising between the Port of New-York and Entrance of the Delaware, than confined to the particular Guard of the last.

The Extracts of Lord Shuldham's Letters and Disposition of the Ships enclosed, will together explain his Lordship's Sentiments of his Inability to have afforded a more ample Provision for the Service of the Delaware, under Circumstances therein described.

I am, with great Consideration, Sir [&c.]

Charlestown, February 20.

Last Night, Capt. [Robert] Cochran, in the armed Brigantine Notre Dame, arrived here from France, with a valuable Cargo, after a Passage of 7 Weeks.

Accounts were received in France before Capt. Cochran's Departure, of the Arsenal and Dock Yard in Portsmouth having been burnt in the beginning of December; the Loss is computed at two Millions sterling, but at the present critical Situation of Great-Britain, being to all Appearance on the Eve of a French and Spanish War, and the Supplies of Naval Stores from America being discontinued, it will be hard to determine what the loss may be estimated at.

Capt. Cochran, on his Passage, fell in with, and after exchanging a few shot, took an armed Victualing Ship, the ——— Capt. Coombes bound from Corke to New-York.¹

Capt. [Edward] Allen's Prize Ship, mentioned in our last, is since arrived at a safe Port.

VICE ADMIRAL JAMES YOUNG TO COUNT D'ARBAUD ¹

Sir

Antigua 20th February 1777.

I had the Honour to receive Your Excellency's Letter of the 14th Current, which was delivered me By Monsieur Le Chevalier de la Beaume and I take leave to assure You, it gives me great Concern that any thing should happen to occasion the least difference in opinion between Your Excellency and myself.

In respect to the Brigantine La Felicite's, taken and brought in here by His Britannic Majesty's Ship Roebuck I am to acquaint Your Excellency that the Roebuck in her Passage from the River Delaware in America to this Island at no great distance from the Coast of America fell in with the aforesaid Brigantine La felicite then apparently Steering for the Place she had just before left; where several other French Vessels Laden with the like Commodities; and having Similar Papers and Clearances had very lately arrived: and there could be no manner of doubt but the La Felicite's Clearance for Miquelon was Collusive and intended to Cover an illicit Contraband Trade, well known to be openly carried on between the French West India Islands and His Britannic Majesty's Rebellious Subjects in America, nor was it possible for any Vessel to get to the Isle Miquelon at the time of Year she was taken; besides she was intirely out of the Route for that place; and her Cargo wholly composed of Goods Suited for the present most pressing wants of the North American Rebels amongst which are said to be a Quantity of Naval Stores (by all Nations deemed Contraband) and now so much wanted in America that without Speedy and great Supply's of them the Rebels in a Short time will be unable to Act in an Offensive manner at Seat against their Lawful Sovereign: these and many other Corroborating Circumstances must plainly point out that the Isle Miquelon was not the Port the La Felicite was bound to.

I therefore presume Your Excellency will agree with me in this point that Merchants who for the sake of great advantage will Venture on an unlawful and illicit Trade should certainly take the risque wholly on them selves; and ought not, when disappointed endeavour to involve the States to which they belong in disagreeable controversies

For these reasons I flatter myself Your Excellency will perceive the Impossibility of my giving back the Brigantine La Felicité and will not therefore construe my present Refusal as an unwillingness to comply with Your Requisition, but as a Matter totally out of my power to effect the Vessel was immediately on her arrival, Libelled in the Court of Vice Admiralty where the proceedings are carried on with the utmost Regularity and propriety: The Persons Claiming property therein will be admitted to plead and make such defence as they are able: and I do not apprehend Your Excellency can entertain a Doubt but Justice will be duly and impartially administered to the Parties Concerned. VICE ADMIRAL RICHARD LORD HOWE TO PHILIP STEPHENS¹

Number 25.

Eagle Off New York

Sir,

February the 22d 1777.

Enclosed herewith you will receive the Copy of a Letter from Captain Elphinstone, in Answer to a Representation from the Master of the Dinah Victualling Transport, charging Captain Elphinstone with Inattention to the Ships under his Convoy, on his passage to this Port. A Copy of the Representation was transmitted with my Letter of the 23d of last October.

I have examined the Journal and Log-Book of the Perseus, and find that they correspond with the Relation given by Captain Elphinstone of the Difficulties he had to keep the Convoy together: Owing to the repeated Disregard of his Instructions manifested by the Masters of the Transports, rather than to any unfavorable Circumstances of the Weather; Until their Approach to the Banks of Newfoundland.

I am credibly informed the Rebels have engaged to pay the Wages due to the Masters, Mates, and (in many cases) Crews of the Prizes they take, out of the Produce of the Capture. The Misbehavior of the Masters, and their habitual Disregard of the Regulations for their Government under Convoy, can scarce be accounted for on any other Principles. But from whatever Cause it proceeds, the Satisfaction to the Crown for the Loss of the Cargoes through the misconduct of the Masters, is, I presume, in no Degree adequate. The Charge of the Freight, Value of the Ship, and first Cost of the Stores, being in many Cases of less Consideration, than a Disappointment in the timely Delivery of the intended Supply.

I have a Proceeding to communicate for their Lordships Information respecting the Dinah, upon an Occasion which, as it is quite new to my Experience, may have been irregularly conducted with regard to the Concern I had in it.

That Transport having been taken, as stated in the Master's Representation before-mentioned was retaken on the passage to Boston by the Juno, and carried to Halifax: Where soon after her Arrival she was libelled, as I am advised, in the Admiralty Court; Salvage to the Captors awarded, and Part of the Cargoe sold to pay the Expences of the Proceeding.

The Cash remitted for my Proportion of the Salvage, has been delivered to the Agent Victualler, and placed to his Debit Account. The Ship being reladen with the Remainder of the Cargoe, was sent and safely conducted to this Port.

The Charter party purporting that the Value of Victualling Transports taken by the Enemy shall be paid to the Owners, in Case the Master and Crew have made the best Defence they were able to prevent the Capture thereof; And deeming it probable, as the Master was sometime since returned to England, that this Condition on the part of the Crown in the Instance of the Dinah may have been already complied with; I thought it more advisable to order a Sale of the Ship at this Port for the Benefit of the Crown, than to suffer a further Expence to be incurred in refitting, manning and otherwise preparing her for a Voyage to Europe. The several Particulars respecting this Transaction, have been communicated to the Commissioners in the Department to which it relates.

The Proof that is to ascertain the suitable Conduct of the Master and Crew of the Transport whereby the Owners are to become intitled to receive the Value of the Ship in Payment as aforesaid, is (by the Charter-party) conditioned to be made before a Court Martial. Upon knowledge of that Obligation on the part of the Master, I should naturally be induced to [direct such in]quiry in the like Cases, as with [illegible] ship of war under the same Circumstances. But I am not apprised by what Authority the Master, or any Mariner belonging to a Transport refusing to acknowledge the Jurisdiction, could be compelled to appear before the Court; Or, so appearing, to give Evidence on Oath for the Information of the Court I must therefore request to be suitably instructed, if any Proceeding is required to be had here on that Foundation.

The Dutch Transport Addellgunte Loewise having sprung a dangerous Leak on her passage from Europe, it was thought necessary that her Bottom should be examined. She was hove down in consequence. But not being ready to sail with the other foreign Transports under the Care of the Active and Fowey, she remained here waiting for a second Opportunity. The Captain of the Lark, then under Orders for Halifax, was directed to see this Transport in Safety clear of the Nantucket Shoals; Off of which the Mermaid was then stationed. And they sailed the 12th of December.

I have just learnt from some of the Crew of the Transport lately released, that the Lark parted from her the 14th of the same Month; And that on the next Day, she was engaged and taken by two Armed Vessels fitted by [illegible] English Officer who [illegible] to rec[illegible] this Transport [illegible] I shall be able to collect more Particulars respecting this Capture.

By the Terms of the Charter-party for these foreign Transports, the Master engaged "to deliver his Ship light, staunch, and well found." An equitable Adjustment of the Damage is agreed, "In case of Disputes, Disobedience, or Neglect of Time." The Master also binds himself, "By Order of the Commanding Officer to sail, proceed &ca, as he shall be directed and convoyed." But I do not see that any adequate Provision is made for the Contingency, in Case the Ship proves not to be in Condition to sail, proceed &ca when so required; thro' any Failure in the part of the Contract which respects the State and Sufficiency of the Ship, in the Course of the proposed Service. Their Lordships, I trust, will pardon the Liberty I take to submit my Doubts on these points, in Consideration of the Motives that induce me to trouble them therewith.

The Station near to which the Dutch Transport appears to have been taken, reminds me to mention my Disappointment concerning the Mermaid. The Term of that Ship's Cruize expired about the Middle of last Month. She sailed for her Station the 8th of December; And I had a Letter from Captain [James] Hawker dated at Sea the 13th of the same Month. But not having had Intelligence of him since that time, I conclude that by some Accident to his Masts in bad Weather, he has been forced off the Coast, and has proceeded for Repair of the Damage to the West Indies.

22d of February 1777

It is necessary on the Subject of the several Sentences and Minutes of Courts Martial enclosed with your said Letter of the 9th Instant, that I should take notice of a considerable Inaccuracy in the Proceedings of the Court assembled for the Trial of the First Lieutenant, Gunner, and Gunners Crew of the Diamond on the 23d of last Month; With respect to a Salute which it is much to be lamented was given from the Ship in such a Situation, and the unfortunate Accident that was the consequence of it.

I observe it is expressed in the Sentence of the Court, that the Parties described as aforesaid, (neither of whom are named in the Sentence to ascertain the Identity of their Persons) are brought to Trial "on a charge exhibited against them in a Letter from Captain Charles Feilding &c," When it appears at the same time that Captain Feilding sits as a Member of the Court. I conclude that this part of the Proceedings admits of such Explanation, as will shew the manner of stating the Fact to be the only essential Error. Had the Minutes of the Court been taken and reported with due precision, the doubt in this Case would probably have been removed. But no Copy of the Charge being there inserted a more particular Explanation would be requisite, if the greater informality, the total omission of the Names of the Parties accused, had not vitiated the whole Proceeding. Wherefore, being of Opinion that they are still chargeable with the guilt of having caused or been accessary to, the Death of many of His Majesty's faithful Subjects; I am to desire you will order a Court Martial to be assembled when convenient, to try by name the several Persons described as aforesaid, for being guilty of that capital offence; Added to the charge of neglect of Duty, which appears to be the only accusation in Captain Feildings Letter.

STATEMENT OF JAMES SELLERS, SECOND LIEUTENANT OF THE CONTINENTAL FRIGATE Warren ¹On Board the Ship Warren Feby 23 1777.

The regard which I have for my country has induced me to write the following accusations against commodore [Esek] Hopkins.²

first: I know him to be a man of no principles, and quite unfit for the important trust reposed in him. I have often heard him curse the honorable marine committee in the very words following. ["God damn them. They are a pack of damned fools. If I Should follow their directions, the whol country would be ruined. I am not going to follow their directions, by God."] Such profane Swearing is his common conversation, in which respect he Sets a very wicked and detestable [exam]ple both to his Officers and Men. Tis my humble opinion that if he continues to have the command, all the Officers, who have any regard to their own characters, will be obliged very Soon, to quit the Service of their country, When the frigates were at newport, before the british fleet took possession of that place, more than an hundred men, who were discharged from the Army, the most of them Seamen, were willing to come on board the Ships and assist in carrying them to boston, or any other harbour to the Eastward, in order that they might be maned, but commodore hopkins utterly refused, being determined to keep them in this State, from which we have not been able, after all our pains, to procure a Single man for this Ship. He has treated prisoners in a very unbecoming barbarous manner. His Character and conduct are Such, in this part of the country, that I can See no prospect of the fleets ever being maned.

"EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM MR. JAMES BARTON, SECOND MATE ON BOARD THE Thomas, BELONGING TO LIVERPOOL, DATED NEWPORT, RHODE ISLAND FEB. 23, TO HIS OWNER AT LIVERPOOL." ¹

The 21st of January last, in lat. 14 N. and long. 56 W. from London, we were met with, engaged, and taken, by an American privateer called the Revenge, Jos. Sheffield commander, after having two of our people killed, and the Captain, Mr. Harper, and the Boatswain, wounded.

Most of the crew, with myself, were put on board the privateer; but on the 23d of January we fell in with a French ship bound to Martinico, whom the privateer obliged to take immediately on board her our Captain, Chief Mate, and all the crew, excepting the Boatswain, who was very ill wounded, a boy, and myself, whom they detained, and would not suffer to quit the ship. We parted from the French ship the same day, and stood for America with the privateer in company. We had very bad weather after leaving the privateer; and on the 14th of February made land, which proved to be Rhode Island, and not having heard that it was taken, we stood in for the harbour, which we were very near, when the privateer, our consort, a-head saw a sail, and crowded all [sail] she could, and stood from her; we followed his example, but it blowing very fresh at N. W. in about two hours the sail came along-side of us, which proved to be his Majesty's ship Unicorn, of 20 guns, commanded by John Ford, Esq; who took all the prisoners on board his own ship, and sent two officers and 12 of his men on board of us to take charge of the vessel. We then stood for Newport with the Unicorn in company with us till morning, when she left us and went in chace of a sloop, and on the 16th of February we got safely to anchor in the harbour. The privateer took all our letters and papers from on board us.

Capt. Wise and his boy, who were taken by the same privateer in her last cruize, are on board, and I believe they will come home with us. When our ship was taken we had very little water, and the privateer was in the same case; they therefore thought proper to unstow our hold, and take our wine, upwards of 180 firkins of butter, two hogsheads of bread, two barrels of flour, four barrels of pork, a few bags of barley, pease, &c. five or six barrels of gunpowder, some small arms, and sundry other articles on board of them, for fear of our vessel being retaken.

VICE ADMIRAL JAMES YOUNG TO COUNT D'ARGOUT¹

Copy)
Sir

Antigua 23d February 1777.

I had the Honour to receive Your Excellency's Letter of the 12th Current, by Monsieur Bougon: and have very great pleasure to perceive my Letter addressed to Your Excellency the 7th Instant has given the Satisfaction I wished.

From Your Excellencys known Justice and Integrity I doubt not, that when You are Rightly informed of the Collusion and Deceit practised between the American Rebels and some of the Trading People in Your Islands (respecting the Clandestine disposal of the Cargoes of such English Vessels as have been Carried in by the American Armed Vessels) You will at once put a Stop thereto.

For although Your Excellency avows driving them from Your Principal Ports, Yet I am informed (from the best Authority) they go to the Small Bays and there act in such manner as they find most Convenient: and readily dispose of the Cargoes of such English Vessels as they have taken, without their having been Condemned as Prize in any Court.

Whilst the American Rebels can thus find a Vent for their Piracies it will be endless for Your Excellency and myself to Correspond about them, but would You be pleased to prohibit their bringing English Prizes into any of the French Islands, or be so good to detain them when brought in to Your Ports: and acquaint me therewith that I might send for them away; (and this cannot be deemed a breach of Neutrality even to the North American Rebels who ought not by the Law of Nations to carry their unlawful Captures into any Neutral Port) it would speedily put an effectual Stop to their Piracies, and drive them from these Seas.

As to the Vessel Your Excellency mentions to have been taken by one of the Antigua Pilot Boats Called the Tryall; who had no Commission to take Prizes, You are already acquainted with my Sentiments on that Subject; tho I am sorry to add, it is not in my Power to take her out of their Hands and give her Back: after being brought into Port and proceedings carried on against her in the Court of Admiralty: but the Judge is doubtless answerable for his Conduct, in Condemning such kind of Captures and be assured I shall make True Relation of all these proceedings to the Court of London in my first Dispatches.

Your Excellencys Letter brings me the first account of Lieutenant [John P.] Ardesoif (Commander of his Britannic Majesty's Armed Brigantine Pelican) meeting your express Boat at Sea, and behaving improperly to her: he is now at sea on a Cruize, but when he next Returns here, I will have that matter thoroughly examined into, and if he cannot Clear himself of the Charge will take Care He shall not have another Opportunity to Commit the like excess.

I flatter myself Your Excellency is satisfied that nothing can be more pleasing to me than keeping up all possible Harmony and Friendship, between our respective Colonies: and that my best endeavours shall never be wanting to effect the same. I have the Honor to be Sir [&c.]

GOVERNOR EDWARD HAY TO VICE ADMIRAL JAMES YOUNG ¹

Copy)

Sir

Barbadoes 23d Feby 1777.

Captain [Robert Palliser] Cooper delivered me your obliging Letter of the 3d Instant, to acquaint me that several Adventurers belonging to Antigua encouraged by the opinion of the Attorney General and other Lawyers, have fitted out several Armed Vessels, and without Commission, and which are sent out to Cruize against the Americans.

I entirely agree with You that self appointed Cruizers are entirely new. I know of no distinction between an Armed Vessel without a Commission from the State and a Pirate; except in a Loaded Vessel, where Arms are for the defence of property. It appears to me that such Armed Vessels are liable to be Seized by any Nation whatever; and the consequences of bringing on a General War by embroiling our Court with that of France ought to be considered by the Inhabitants of these Islands, with great seriousness.

My General Commission gives me full powers in very express Words against all Enemies Pirates and Rebels both by Sea and Land: but by a particular Instruction, in regard to Commissions in the Plantations to "private Ships of War, I am directed to Govern myself whenever there shall be occasion, according to the Commissions and Instructions granted in (this Kingdom) Great Britain." With this Commission and these Instructions I left England in 1773, since which time and particularly since the American open Rebellion began I have received no Instructions upon the Subject of Letters of Mark – therefore this being a very singular contest and of which the like is not to be met with in History, and as Government has thought proper, no doubt for very wise reasons, not to grant Commissions to Private Vessels; I should by no means think myself authorised in the present case, by the words of my Commission, even altho I had no particular Instruction to restrain me: for I do not see how a Servant of the Crown can exercise powers, which the Crown itself does not choose to put in practice.

Some of the Traders of this Islãnd, after consulting the Attorney General, applied to me. I could give them no Authority or Commission, nor any further encouragement than that their Vessel would be liable to be Seized by any nation whatever. I am likewise at a loss to know how any Prize such uncommission'd Vessel may take, can be cognizeable by a Court of Vice Admiralty; unless the Judge would condemn both, One as a Rebel and the other as a Pirate.

At the same time I told them, that as several Vessels appear frequently to the Northward of this Island supposed to be American Cruizers: If the Merchants thought proper to present an Address to me desiring I would apply to You as Commander in Chief in these Seas, to send one of His Majesty's Ships under Your Command to protect our Trade and our Coast, I would most readily transmit such an Address and recommend it strongly to Your Notice.

I have heard nothing from them since Friday and as Captain Cooper will sail to Day I will Close this Letter with the assurance of the most perfect esteem and Regard, being Sir [&c.]

STATEMENT OF LIEUTENANT RICHARD MARVEN AND OTHERS OF THE CONTINENTAL FRIGATE Warren ¹

Ship Warren Feby 24 1777

The following lines contain the reasons why we Signed the petition against Commodore Hopkins. we consider him, on the account of his real Character, quite unfit for the important publick Station where in he now pretends to act. We know him to be, from his conversation and conduct to be a man destitute of the principles, both of religion and Morality; We likewise know that he Sets the most impious example both to his officers and Men by frequently profaning the name of almighty God, and by ridiculing virtue. We know him to be one principle obstacle, or reason why this Ship is not maned; & people are afraid to engage in the fleet through fear of their being turned over to this Ship. We have considered it as an indispensable duty we owe our country Sincerely to petition the Hon[orable] Marine Committee that his conduct and character may be enquired into, for as things are now circumstanced we greatly fear these frigates will not be in a Situation capabl of doing [illegible] America any Service

STATEMENTS OF THE GUNNER, CARPENTER AND A MIDSHIPMAN OF THE

Ship Warren Feby 24 1777

I the Subscriber have heard Commodore Hopkins Say that the continental Congress were a pack of ignorant Lawyers Clarks and that they know nothing at all. I also have heard him Say, when earnestly persuaded to remove the fleet to Boston, being in constant expectation that this river would be blocked up, the Ships Shall not go to Boston, by God.

P. James Brewer

Ship Warren Feby 24 1777.

I the Subscriber can attest that our Commander, Commodore Hopkins, has Spoken very abusively concerning the Honorable Congress; calling that respectable assembly, who ought to be considered as the guardians of American liberty, a pack of ignorant lawyers Clarks, who knew nothing at all.

John Truman

Ship Warren Feby 24. 1777.

I the Subscriber have heard Commodore Hopkins assert that the continental congress were a pack of damned rascals; the best of them were lawyers Clarks, and knew nothing of their business; that he, his self, intended to leave the Navy and go to Philidela in order that the Congress might have Some body there who kn[ew] Something, for Shame and destruction must be the portion of the american fleet unless he undertook to negotiate that affair.

STATEMENT OF JOHN REED, CHAPLAIN OF THE CONTINENTAL FRIGATE *Warren*¹

On board the Warren Feb 24 1777.

I the subscriber do know that our Commander, Commodore Hopkins, allows himself to speak in the most disrespectful manner concerning the honorable Continental Congress, although I have lived in the cabin with him, I do not remember that he has ever once spoken well of those guardians of America, but seems to embrace every opportunity in order to disparage & slander them. He does not hesitate to call them a pack of ignorant fellows – lawyers clerks – persons that don't know how to govern – men who are unacquainted with their business – who are unacquainted with the nature of mankind – that if their precepts & measures are complied with the country will be ruined. I have also heard him say that he would not obey the Congress. He not only talks about them most disrespectfully among our own folks but I have heard him exert himself earnestly in order to disparage them before strangers, before two prisoners who were masters of vessels in their passage to Newport in order to be exchanged. He also positively asserts that all mankind are exactly alike – that no man ever yet existed who could not be bought – That any person living could be lured with money to do any action whatsoever. This he also asserted in the hearing of the beforementioned prisoners, for what reason I can't determine unless he was desirous of making a bargain with Sir Peter Parker.

He allows himself in anger & in common conversation to take the name of God in vain; he is remarkably addicted to profane swearing. In this respect as well as in many other respects he sets his officers & men a most irreligious & impious example. He has treated prisoners in the most inhuman & barbarous manner – I very well know by hearsay, how he has conducted in regard to his men's being paid off & being discharged when the term of time for which they engaged was expired. In this part of America people are afraid of him. They are jealous of him & he is an effectual obstacle to the fleet's being properly manned. He is very much blamed by people here for not destroying a British frigate when aground a few days ago in this river. I am not prejudiced against the man. My own conscience, the regard I have for my country and the advice & earnest desire of many respectable gentlemen have induced me to write what I have written grate mind to spake with us. we then found hir to be a man of woor & we not more then halfe of our men onboard that then belongd to us & all new to the bisness thought prudance not to grattify sd ship & so beat in to the harbour as fast as possible & this is the first of my being uneasey & had I not understood how to workt a ship I should not bin in the Least uneasey for I saw sumthing wanting but had not a Right to Evin give my openian for as the first Leiuntnt² had oftin said before that he n[ew] his bisness & he Did not want aney body to tell him aney thing nor to interfeare with his bisness nither wood he interfeare with aney bodyes Else bisness

And as to ship officers I think quite a nuff Capt Coit melally [John] Chapman & four midshipmen, the boatswin & two mats master [Levi] youngs & his two mates – a Carpenter & his three mates and a plenty of hands – as to my part as them gentlemen officers belongd at N. CAPTAIN WILLIAM COIT, CONNECTICUT SHIP Oliver Cromwell, TO GOVERNOR JONATHAN TRUMBULL ¹

Honrd Sir

Agreeable to your order, I send you by Lieut. [Bela] Elderkin an exact and accurate list, of Officers, Seamen, & Marines belonging on board the Ship Oliver Cromwell, as I can possibly Ascertain.

The Ship is Graved & Ballast, and I think in a very fair way to gett to Sea in 15 or 16 days if nothing material may happen – The Alteration of the Ship and reducing the Guns will reduce the men on board to 180, and if we should have no more than 150 will proceed if Your Honour thinks proper – The weather has been so extreem Cold, since I saw your Honour, that it has been almost impossible to do any sort of Busness on board the Ship, tho we have, exerted ourselves to the Utmost, and Graved her, Yet the rigging being So very stiff We parted three Haw[s]ers, and was obliged to ly by untill a white careening fall was spun and made a New before we Could heave her out, as there was no piece of rigging to be had that would be Sufficient – Your Honour may depend that all spead shall be made in g[e]tting the Ship ready for Sea, and altho so great and expence has Arisen by Hawling her in to the warf, yet there has been no time lost, as we Could not have gone to sea while the Frigates have been lying (and still are off this Harbour Where they now remain but shall when the Ship is ready I doubt not) have some oppertunity that we may get out – those men who are infirm and unfitt for Service can do me no good but am perswaded many off them carry to Your Honour Complain[ts] and excuses which on Critical examination may be found not to be quite so true, the Engaging of men if they were not taken from me by every species of designing men, Who with large promises entice them away, would be very easy to engage Mr Elderkin will informe you of Mr [Samuel] Smedleys behaviour! (as it would be too lengthy to Write you the particulars! it's not only him but Sundry recruteing officers that do and would get my people if they Could) my officers from the Eastward tell me that if I gett into the Vineyard Sound I can be found Supplyd with any Compliment of men immediately, – and perhaps that may be my most safe way of going to Sea, be that as it may I expect a number to Come from thare in a Whale Boat to be here in a few Day's – At present have no doubt but I shall be able to have a fu[ll] Crew without haveing any from that way, but should [at] present be willing to discharge any that are hearty and well – to go out by Montauk may be the most expedient – if any [matter] of moment should arrise shall Communicate it to Your Hon[our] immediately – I am with the greatest respect [&c.]

New-York Gazette, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1777

New-York, February 24.

We hear, that several Ships laden with Tobacco and bound for France, under Convoy of the Randolph Frigate, built by the Rebels, have stolen out from Philadelphia and got to Sea. It is supposed, that some of the late Gales of Wind had driven the King's Ships from their Station near the Capes; but 'tis not improbable, that a good Account may be given of some of them before they can cross the Atlantic.

COMMITTEE OF SECRET CORRESPONDENCE TO CAPTAIN HENRY JOHNSON ¹

Capt Johnson

Sir

Baltimore Feby 24th 1777

You will receive herewith a packet directed to the Commissioners from the United States of America at Paris, and you are to proceed therewith so soon as you have receiv'd your Letter of Credit from the secret Committee of Congress, either to Nantes or Bordeaux in France, as the Circumstances of wind and weather will permit – when you arrive you will immediately apply to the Continental Agent to whom you shall be directed by the secret Committee, and from him you will receive information where the Commissioners are to be met with in Paris, to which place you are to proceed with the greatest dispatch by Post, and deliver the Packet to the Commissioners or one of them with your own hands, and from them you are to receive your directions in every respect touching your return, and the Cargo if any that you are to bring with you. You may take the advice of the Agent whether it will be proper for your Vessel to remain in Port where you arrive at, or to meet you at any other Port on your return from Paris. The Agent will furnish you with money to defray your expences to Paris, and to supply the Lexington with what necessities she may want.

You are desired to be silent in this Country about the place you are going to, and immediately to place your Packet in a Bag with weight that you may be sure of sinking it if you should be in danger of being certainly taken – The British Emissaries in France are very inquisitive about all Vessels and Persons coming from America, and therefore you will be very cautious of talking with any Person concerning the place from whence you came, where you are going, or what is your Business – You will receive from the Secret Committee directions touching the change of your pig Iron ballast for any other that they may direct you to receive. If any good opportunity occurs you will let this Committee know how you proceed, and where you are; your letters may be directed to the Honorable Benj Harrison Esqr Chairman of the Committee of Secret Correspondence at Philadelphia – we wish you a good Voyage and safe return and are [&c.]

Saturday last, the British ship Nigar, Capt Talbot anchor'd near our harbour; and sent a Flag on shore, with a message from a person on Long-Island to his daughter, a young woman, for some time a resident in this town requesting her to take passage in the ship, for said Island, but for prudential reasons, she declined the voyage. The next day the Nigar sail'd to the westward.

On Saturday also, a small flag vessel, arrived from New York, with shirts and stockings, for the prisoners in this State, taken at Princeton, the 3d ult.

A few nights ago, a number of the enemy landed at Norwalk, from a tender, and stole away four persons, who were stationed as a guard, near the shore, in some part of that town.

William Russell, Surgeon's Mate of the Montgomery, committed to Goal, by order of the Council of Safety, for leaving the service without a discharge and engaging in the Continental.²

Ordered, That the following Letter be sent to Commodore Seymore [Thomas Seymour]:

Sir: – It is the opinion of this Board that there is a great deal of negligence and inattention prevails in the Fleet.

It is, therefore, the desire of this Board that you will issue immediately, positive and express Orders in writing, to the Several Commanders of the Galleys, that they order the Men belonging to each of them to be mustered on board Morning and Evening, and to be exercised every day without other business calls them away. That the utmost deligence should be used in recruiting by the Drum, &ca., of each Galley, going about the city daily for that purpose, until their number is compleat. And-also, that the Commanders of the Galleys in the Carpenter's hands, should have express orders from you to send an Officer on board each of them with as many men as can be usefully employ'd in assisting the Carpenter. This Board farther expects that the Commanders of each Gondalo will keep up such good Order and command on board their vessels, that at all times their men shall be ready and willing to do every kind of reasonable duty that shall be required of them with cheerfulness and alacrity.

It's also the desire of this Board that all the Gondalo's Ordered down to the Fort, except those in the Carpenter's hands, shall carry all their sick with them that are in condition to be removed. Every Commander, nevertheless, leaving a proper Officer in the City with a Drum, &ca. for the purpose of recruiting, which must be positively attended with the greatest deligence.

[Extract]

Baltimore Feby 26th 1777

. . . It grieves me to hear that the Continental Seamen have not been paid their Wages and Prize Money. Repeated Orders have been given to the Agent to have it done. The Congress are fully sensible of the Importance of having a respectable Navy, and have endeavoured to form and equip One; but through Ignorance and Neglect they have not been able to accomplish their Purpose yet. I hope however to see one afloat before long. A proper Board of Admiralty is very much wanted. The Members of Congress are unacquainted with this Department. As One of the Marine Commee I sensibly feel my Ignorance in this Respect. Under a mortifying Sense of this I wrote to you for Information in this Matter. Books cannot be had here; and I should have been glad to have been pointed to proper Authors on this Subject when I should be in a Place where Books may be had. Let me know whether it would suit you to be a Member of a Marine Board. I suppose Congress will institute One with a suitable competent Salary, there Residence to be I presume at Philadelphia. . . .

DIARY OF DR. JAMES HUTCHINSON ¹

[On board the Ship Sally] ²

26th [February, 1777] Latitude 33°. 30', the winds blowing constantly in storms from the West northerly, we have been obliged to go to the southward to escape drifting to the eastward, and to find more temperate weather for our people, who begin to be unfit for duty, as well as to attempt some Port at least in the thirteen United Colonies; what renders our condition still more disagreeable is the frequent thunder storms we have had for the three weeks past, some of them accompanied with severe gusts of winds, and very sharp strokes of lightening, these are the most startling as we have a large quantity of powder on board the vessel, and should it receive a stroke from the lightening, we have no reasonable prospect to avoid perishing; our Captain and officers all tell us they have never heretofore observed so much thunder [in] one passage, and what made it appear to us more extraordinary was the amazing coldness of the weather. At those times had it not been for our distressed situation, I should have been much diverted at the various stupid superstitions and unphilosophical means our Captain and people made use of to prevent the effects of the lightening, such as stopping up the mouths of the pumps with wet swabs, and doing a variety of other things equally ridiculous; Dr. [Hugh] Williamson ³ and myself endeavored to show them the absurdity of such contrivances, and to convince them that they could answer no purpose whatever, telling them that stopping the mouths of the pumps could be of no service, while the pump rod which was iron remain in, and that the lightening supposing the vessel to receive a stroke would not pass down the pump, tho' it should remain open, but thru' the metal, to this reasoning they were entirely deaf, and went on, as usual on the appearance of a thunderstorm, to stop every hole and crevice to prevent the lightening from entering.

VICE ADMIRAL JAMES YOUNG TO PETER ALSOP ¹

By James Young Esqr Vice Admiral of the Red: and Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Ships & Vessels employed and to be employed at Barbado's, and the Leeward Islands, and in the Seas adjacent.

Whereas a Quantity of Gun Powder (Vizt Eleven thousand two hundred pounds) has been found on board the Roebucks Prize Adventure, now lying in this Harbour; and should the same be put up to Sale at this Island, it might probably be purchased; and secretly conveyed away for the use of the American Rebels, to prevent which inconvenience to His Majesty's Service, I think it proper the same should be purchased, and received into His Majesty's Stores.

Your are therefore hereby required and directed to purchase (from the Agent for the Prize Brig Adventure) said Eleven Thousand two hundred Pounds of Gun Powder, for His Majesty's use; paying them for the same at the rate of 20d sterling p Pound; taking care to procure proper Vouchers for the same: For which this shall be your Order.

Given under my Hand at English Harbour

Independent Chronicle, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1777

Boston, February 27, 1777.

Last Lord's Day, arrived in safe Port, a valuable Prize Brig,¹ taken by Captain Fisk, in the Tyrannicide Vessel of War, belonging to this State – Her Cargo we are told, consists chiefly of European Goods –

It is said, a Cartel Vessel is arrived at Marblehead from Halifax, with only 14 Prisoners, belonging to the States, while there are more than 200 confined there, and the Enemy is indebted to us more than 50, according to the last Settlement at Rhode-Island. These Circumstances justly create Suspicions that there is some secret Design in sending this Flag. It is hoped these Visitors will not be allowed to come on Shore, and walk at large. We rely on the Vigilance of the Guardians of the State, in this and some other Affairs of a similar Nature.

To be Sold at Vendue, at Mr. Sheriff Greenleaf's Auction-Room, on Tuesday, 4th March, at 11 o'Clock, The good Brig Lively, about 150 Tons, as she now lays at the Continental Wharf, with her Appurtenances; also, a Quantity of White and Red Port Wines, Sherry, Lisbon and Red Portugal Wines, all in Bottles, a Quantity Hard Soap, and Candles, a few Kegs Butter, Scotch Barley in Kegs, Porter in Casks, a few Swivel Guns, and a few Casks of Indigo.

To Be Sold, The Privateer Brigantine called the Hancock, a remarkable fast sailing Vessel, built with Cedar and live Oak, at Philadelphia, about 3 Years old, together with all her Guns, Powder, Warlike Stores and Provisions, fitted for Sea before the Embargo took Place. An Inventory of which may be seen by applying to Mr. Philip Moore, or Captain M'Neil [Daniel McNeill], late Commander.²

The Sale will be at the House of Mr. Marston at One o'Clock, on Thursday the 6th March.

Boston, 24th Feb. 1777.

To be sold, on Wednesday, the 5th of March next, At Eleven o'Clock, At the House of Capt. Daniel Ropes jun., at the Sign of Commodore Manley, in Salem, The Brigantine Unity, burthen about 120 Tons, between 2 and 3 Years old, together with her Appurtenances. The Vessel to be viewed, and the Inventory of her Stores to be seen, any Time before the Sale, by applying to Walter P. Bartlett, Auctioneer.

To be Sold at Public Auction, at Gloucester, On Tuesday, March 10th, The Brig Neptune, and her Cargo, consisting of 500 Hogsheads of Lisbon Salt; also the Privateer Sloop Upon, with all her Appurtenances, as she came from Sea. The Owners of the Schooner Warren, are desired to meet at the same Time, to settle her Accounts, as there may be a Distribution of Prize Money.

1. Brigantine Three Friends, Arthur Holme, master, Mass. Arch., vol. 159, 70.

2. Hancock was first commissioned at Philadelphia, June 15, 1776, under the command of Wingate Newman. See Volume 5. Daniel McNeill replaced Newman as commander in November. The Massachusetts embargo prevented his sailing, and a petition to put to sea was refused by the Massachusetts Council, Mass. Arch., vol. 6, 78 and vol. 20, 112.

ROBERT MORRIS TO SILAS DEANE ¹

Philada Feby 27th 1777

I have not received any Goods from you or him ² Neither have I heard of any being sent by you either for this place or the West Indias, if you have from any cause that I am unacquainted with Neglected doing it, You may have leisure to repent hereafter that you missed so fine an opportunity of making a Fortune, the prices of all Imported Articles have been enormously high, I could have sold any quantity of European Manufacturies for 500 to 700 pCt and bought Tobo for 25/to 30/ pCt it is not yet too late, but Goods are becoming rather more plenty & Tobacco is rising, but there is plenty of room to make as much Money as you please, and if Insurance cou'd be obtained in Europe it might be reduced to a certainty even if you gave a premm of 50 pCt which however is vastly too high I think some good hand might be found to go over to London & manage such Insurances there, they love high premiums & will insure any thing for Money but this wou'd really be to their advantage as I dont think we have lost above a fourth or at most a third of the inward bound Vessells.

I am sorry to tell you there are now two or three British Men of War in Chesapeak Bay, they have taken the Ship Farmer, Cap Dashiell which had onboard 500 hhds of Tobo on the Public Account & 50 hhds on my Accot was bound for Nantes Consigned to Messrs Pliarne Penet & Co they have for the present blocked up several others there but we shall get them away by & by, some ships have lately got away from hen[ce] and we shall keep waiting all opportunities to push remittances to you. I do not like to enumerate the different Concerns going forward because it opens our designs to the Enemy should the letters unfortunately fall into their hands

[Extract]

Baltimore Feby 27th 1777

. . . About a fortnight ago, I received a letter from London, written by a well informed friend, which contains this paragraph and is dated Octr 9th last – "The war is likely to go on another year, in which case Cheasapeak Bay will be the seat; a plan for that purpose has been laid before Ld Geo. Germaine & it is said is approved. The Eastern Shore is the first object, or place of landing" – This letter reached me just as three or 4 large Ships came lately into our Bay, and the Tory rising on the Maryld Eastern Shore seemed to denote the beginning of this plan – But since, we learn that the Ships are gone & the Tories dispersed. My Informant is however so good, that I cannot help thinking that something like a diversion, at least, will be attempted there next Campaign. I cannot think they mean to relinquish their grand plan of joining their Canadian with Howes army. This consideration, has ever made me wish that Ticonderoga, and the avenues leading to Canada, were well attended to, that the vigilance and Military talents of Gen. Carleton may be disappointed.

SAMUEL & ROBERT PURVIANCE TO SAMUEL PHILLIPS SAVAGE ¹

Sir

Baltimore 27th Feb: 1777

We advisd you the 11th Instant of the Arrival of Capt [Elnathan] Holmes & Captn [Ichabod] Morton, and of Captn Hammonds Vessel being put into Pungoteegee on the Eastern Shore of Virginia. – We likewise wrote the 24th by Captn Samuel Arnold of the Schooner Edward who has on board Eight Tons of Pig Iron for your Board.²

We have now the Satisfaction of informing you that We have received certain Advice from Virginia of the Enemys Ships of War having sailed out of the Bay a few days agoe. In consequence of which we expect Captn Hammonds Schooner up with first fair Wind. – We had no doubt that the Enemy were come with the Intention of making a permanent Stay in Our Bay, therefore we had determind not to load Captn Holmes & Captn Morton untill we saw an Alteration. We are now loading the former & will have him ready to Sail tomorrow. Captn Mortons Vessel was taken into the Transport Service to carry some Troops which were sent from hence about ten days ago to quell an Insurrection of the Tories on the Eastern Shore of this State. She is not yet return'd: But as the Ringleaders of that Faction are seized, we expect the Schooner back shortly, when She shall be loaded & dispatched. Captn Holmes thinks his Vessel cant carry more than 3 or 4 Tons of the Pig Iron without any Bar Iron – The Masters of those small Vessels are averse to loading deep at this blowing Season of the Year, therefore fear you will be disappointed in getting the Pigg Iron carried so speedily as you expected We are Sir [&c.]

Sam^l & Rob^l Purviance

P. S. Whatever Advances are necessary for Loading any of the Vessels that come from your Board shall be made, not doubting you will speedily reimburse Us. – As we have had a great many Vesls in Port for some time past & they are now nearly all loaded, We hope Flour may soon be more reasonable: But at any Rate shall take Care to have a Quantity laid in, so as to dispatch any of your Vessels that appear. – If your Board intend to have any Vessels loaded with Tobo for Europe, previous Notice woud be requisite to purchase such Cargoes, wh must be a Work of time. And they shoud come with Liberty to be orderd into any River in this State or Virga where the Cargoe may be purchasd – This for yr Goverment. – What of the Sugars & Rum is come to hand, we have sold, the former from 160/ to 200/ P Ct the latter at 22/6 to 25/ p Gall

CAPTAIN JOHN PAUL JONES TO COMMODORE ESEK HOPKINS ¹

Hond Sir

Boston Feby 28th 1777 –

I have waited patiently for your Answer to my letters of 19th & 20th Current which I understand you duly received – Your Silence on such an Occasion is Altogether a Mystery to me – If the Marine Board have not thought fit to communicate to You the plans which they have been pleased to give me in Charge, You cannot Surely take Offence at my Secrecy – nor Blame me for not betraying my trust. – My Honor, my Duty binds me to Secrecy as to the Business or Destination. – It is only necessary for me to inform you, as I have already done, That I am Appointed by a letter from the Honorable the Vice President of the Marine Board, dated the 5th Current to take command of the Alfred, Columbus, Cabot, Ham[p]den & Sloop Providence and to call on you for every possible Assistance within your power to enable me to proceed forthwith on A Private Enterprize of the Greatest Importance to America – [illegible] the letter [illegible] hath the Sanction and full Authority of Congress – it is Written in their Name. – therefore Sir, I repeat my Application, and demand Your Ready and immediate concurrence with me in the Outfit. – it is in Vain for you to Affect to disbelieve my Appointment. – I should have App[ea]red Personally at Providence had you Justified my conduct in Obeying your express Orders instead of leaving me, as you have done, in the Lurch – I co[uld] then have convinced you of its being your indispensable duty to give me every possible Assistance. – When I placed a confidence in you I did not think you capable of Prevarication – I then, when you needed Friends, gave you the most convincing proof of My Sincerity – this you must remember. –

I have Asked Captain Saltonstall how he could in the beginning Suspect me, as you have told me, of being unfriendly to America. – he Seemed Astonished at the Question And told me that it was Yourself who first promoted it.

However waving every thing of a private nature the best way is to co-operate chearfully together that the public Service may be forwarded and that Scorn may Yet forbear to point her Finger at a Fleet under Your Command. – I am earnest in desiring to do every thing with Good nature – therefore to remove your doubts, if you have any, I send this by express to inform you that I will meet you at Pawtucket or at any other place on as early a day as You please to Appoint and will then produce Credentials to your Satisfaction – in the meantime it is your Duty to prevent the departure of the Cabot or any other Vessel of the Squadron – I am Astonished to heare that you have Ordered the Hamden out, without desiring an explanation After you received my last letters. – My Appointment was Unsolicited And Unexpected – And it must be Owing to the Hurry of Bussiness that You have received no Similar Orders. – I wait impatiently for Your Answer and Am Hond Sir [&c.]

J.P.J.

N.B. I have sent by the Bearer the Coat which you desired likewise one for Mr Brown – If I can render you any Service here in procuring other articles acquaint me with the particulars and my best endeavours shall not be wanting.

PETITION OF ALEXANDER ROSE TO THE MASSACHUSETTS COUNCIL ¹

To the Honourable the Council of the State of Massachuset's Bay
The humble Petition of Alexander Rose of South Carolina sheweth,

That your petitioner, being induced by the great scarcity of shipping in South Carolina; whereby the trade of that Country has of late suffered very considerably, has undertaken a long & expensive Journey, to purchase Vessels for the purpose of forwarding in some measure the exportation of the Staple Commodities of that state, and the importation of such articles as are essential to its comfort and wellbeing.

That he has accordingly made purchase of ten small vessels in this state and is in treaty for some others, but finds that, by one of its late acts, he is prevented from sending them off, without permission first had & obtain'd from your Honourable Board.

Your petitioner therefore prays that Your Honours will grant him this permission to send his vessels either directly to South Carolina or by way of the French Islands or of the Island of Bermuda for Salt; & also to carry such cargos as will answer at those respective Markets by that means easing your petitioner of the expence & hazard incurred by their detention here, and contributing at the same time to the speedy relief of the necessities of a Sister State –

And your petitioner, as in duty bound, shall ever pray &c &c

Boston Feby 28. 1777.

COMMODORE ESEK HOPKINS TO THE CONTINENTAL MARINE COMMITTEE ¹

Onboard the Warren between Newport and Gentlemen – Providence February 28th 1777 –

I receiv'd yours of the 21st Jany the 20th instant and Shall endeavour to follow your Instructions as near as possible – My Last to you was by Captn [Matthew] Parke of the 14th instt with a Copy of my orders to Mr [Ezekiel] Burroughs of the Hamden and Captn [Joseph] Olney of the Cabot – I have had a request from General [Joseph] Spencer to assist him in an Attack on the Enemy at Rhode Island, and I expect soon to take onboard the Warren and Ship and Sloop Providence Marines from the Army for that Service, as I think it the best use I can put those Vessels to in their present Circumstances – The Columbus has not more than about twenty men, including officers onboard – as to the old Men they have been all paid off, I believe to Satisfaction from the Columbus, Cabot and Sloop Providence, and Captn Jones had the same Orders to pay the Alfreds men off and Orders on Agent Bradford for Money to do it, but I am sorry to say that I have had Several Complaints both from the Officers and Men, that he Refused to pay Some of them without they would first make him their Agent, and Sign Articles to go with him another Year – Inclosed you have a Copy of my Letter to him on that Subject of the 11th instt which I hope has had the desired Effect – the Columbus's people are paid their Prize Money, all except the New Providence affair which is not yet Settled, nor Can't be untill the Agents receive a List of Captn [William] Hallock of the Wasp's Crew, who are Intitled to part of it –

Captn Hinman and the Crew of the Cabot have appointed a Separate Agent and neglects giving in to the Continental Agents a List of his men however I believe that matter could be got over, but Captains Whipple and Saltonstall have Attach'd the Prize Money in all the Agents hands under a pretence of the Agreement I mention'd to you in my last, and I believe Agent Bradford has not yet Received the Money from the Clothing,² and when he does I make no doubt but he will pay it – if he gets a return of the Men who are Intitled to it – a Copy of my Letter of the 11th instant to him you have Inclosed, also Copy of a Letter from the honble Robert Morris, which I receiv'd this day and likewise my Answer – and on the whole I think it not possible to put the Expedition on foot at present, therefore must beg for your further Instructions in that matter. Captain Jones has displeased the Officers and Men so much in Respect to paying their Wages and Prize Money, that it will be a great deal more difficult to mann Vessels under his Command, than under any other Officer in the Navy that I am acquainted with – and it will not be likely that the Columbus and Sloop Providence can be mann'd here, while the Harbour is block'd up – and when that is got over See no prospect of getting them out while the Enemys Ships keep at the mouth of this river – and as I wrote you in my Last the Alfred was Repairing, and by advice from Captn Hinman She will not be ready in less than Six weeks or two months, I flatter myself that I may Receive your further Orders before the Vessels can be ready – What concerns me most is whether I should Stop the Cabot who met with some damage in a Gale of wind and had not Sail'd yesterday – but think should She be order'd to Stop while the other Vessels is ready, would loose most if not all her Hands – and on the whole think it will be best to write Captn Olney to be back to Boston in six weeks. Inclosed you have a Copy of my Letter to Cap Olney for that purpose – I am with great Respect Gentl [&c.]

PURDIE'S Virginia Gazette, SUPPLEMENT, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1777

Williamsburg, Feb. 28.

By a gentleman from the Northward, we learn that a number of vessels had arrived in the Delaware with a large quantity of salt, clothing for the army, and dry goods of all kinds; and we are also told, that at Charlestown there were upwards of 30 sail of vessels lying, from different ports, which had stocked the market there so plentifully with European goods, that all kinds sold full as cheap as before the war broke out.

DIXON AND HUNTER'S Virginia Gazette, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1777

This is to certify to all whom it may concern, that I was taken in the Ship Jane of London, from the Island of Tortola to London, by the armed Brig Liberty, Thomas Lilly, belonging to the Commonwealth of Virginia, and that myself, Officers, and Seamen, were treated well, and served with Provision and Rum the same as the said Brigs Crew; and that, soon after our Arrival in Virginia, at the Brig's Port, we all had our Chests, Beds, Books, Instruments and Cash, delivered to us, mine only excepted, which was detained, I believe, to search for Letters or Papers that might be prejudicial to the Commonwealth aforesaid; that after my Chest, Trunks, &c. were looked over, every Thing was delivered to me except some Packets of Letters, which the said Lilly thought he was in Honour bound to the Cause he had entered into to show to the Governor and Council; after their Perusal, they were delivered likewise. I also Certify, that we all were paid our full Wages from the Time of Entry to the Time the Ship was discharged, as per my Ship's Articles.

DIARY OF DR. JAMES HUTCHINSON ¹

[On board the Ship Sally]

28th [February, 1777]: Bread becomes scarcer and we are obliged to lessen our allowance; it was on the 29th of January the first allowance was weighed out, to the sailors to 10 p week, to the cabin passengers and officers, to 7; on the next week the sailors were reduced to seven pounds, the passengers and officers to 4; the third week the sailors and passengers fared alike, and the quantity was reduced to three pounds p week; at present we are under the necessity of decreasing the allowance to four ounces of bread p day, old and wormeaten; our good beef is all expended, we have a little remaining but this is much tainted, very offensive, and full of worms; two days out of seven we have pork, a little being still left, the other five days beef, but the quantity of this is so small, that the sailors always eat it raw, lest it should be diminished by boiling. This day we spoke a Boston schooner out seven weeks from Hispaniola, she could afford us no supplies.

LIEUTENANT WILLIAM YOUNG R.N. TO VICE ADMIRAL JAMES YOUNG ¹

Sir

Some time in January 1776, being in His Majesty's Ship Pomona, then under my command, between the Islands of Guadaloupe and Mariegalante, I saw a ship standing in from sea toward the harbour of Point a pitre in Guadaloupe and, having your order to examine all ships and vessels I should meet with, I made sail intending to have got between her and the harbour, that I might speak with her as she passed; but finding from her distance that there was a great probability of her passing a head of us, and of our not being able to stop her, I ordered a shot to be fired, to bring her too, which instead of almost touching the yards of the Hercules in its passage, as the Master of her has represented, fell at least three ships lengths a head of her: When I came within hail of the Hercules I was surprized at being addressed by the Master of her in very uncivil language mixed with threats of what he would have done, if his ship had been of sufficient force; but as I then saw a number of Officers in French Regimentals on board, and was convinced of her being a french vessel, I expressed myself sorry for having detained them & left them to proceed on their voyage. On my going into the Road of Basseterre a few days after, the Governor of Guadaloupe told me that having received information, from the passengers on board the Hercules, one of which was Major General of Martinique, of the very disrespectfull behaviour of the Master of her to me, he had ordered him into confinement, where he then was, and that if I wished it he would send him to prison and punish him very severely; I then entreated the Governor to remit whatever punishment he meant to inflict on him, & to release him yet so very much was the Governor incensed at the impropriety of his conduct as represented by the officers who were present, that it was not 'till after I had waited on him three times to interceed for the Master of the Hercules, that the Governor consented to his being released on making proper appologies to me for his behaviour.

WILLIAM BINGHAM TO SILAS DEANE ¹

[Extract]

St Pierre Martinique February 28th 1777

I have lately received two thousand Barrels or One Hundred Tons of Powder, from Monsr Diant, which was shipped from Nantz to his Address; – but he had no particular Orders to deliver it to me – The Freight upon this Article is very extravagant, being more than double the Proportion of what I lately paid, for a considerable Quantity that came from Bordeaux; – It amounted to no less than Livres 37500 – The Addressing it to the Care of a Merchant in this Place, Saddled it with a Commission of 2½ P%, merely for the Receiving & delivering the Bills of Lading; – I have shipped the greatest part of it already for the different States, as I was convinced it would run but a Small Risk at present, in Comparison to what it would, at a more advanced Season of the Year –

As every thing that regards the Situation & Interest of America naturally claims your particular Attention, & especially what concerns a commercial Connexion with France, I must beg leave to address to you a few thoughts on that interesting Subject – It would certainly be to the mutual Interest of both Countries to encourage a Reciprocal Intercourse & Exchange of Commodities in the Mercantile Line; – To enjoy the good Effects of this desirable Scheme, we should have the Ports of France open to our Vessels, & a free Admission & Sale of all our Produce; – this has not been the Case here; – Flour, a principal Branch of our Exports, has been exempted for Some Months past from a free & open Sale, & we have not been permitted to land it; – & the only Reason is, that it will injure & interfere with the French Merchants in the sale of this Article – I could not imagine that so narrow a Consideration could enter into the Minds of Men in Government, when Matters of so liberal, so extensive, & So important a Nature Should have claimed their Attention – This Prohibition has greatly damped the Spirit of American Speculation – I find that the Government have no Orders in regard to their extending any Indulgence to the American Commerce; – whereas, I am confident from the Disposition of the French Court, that this could easily be obtained; – The local Situation of this Island points it out to the Americans as an Asylum from Danger, & as a Market for their Produce; – If we could have liberty to bring in our Prizes here, & dispose of perishable Commodities, or those that would not suit the American Market, it would be a Matter of very Serious & beneficial Consequence to the Americans –

If France will but profit by the present situation of Affairs, She may become the most powerfull Kingdom on the Globe, & the encouraging, protecting, & favoring the American Commerce, is the first Step towards it – We shall then no longer See that haughty domineering Power, Britain, circumscribed within the narrow Limits of a small Island, with hardly Six Millions of Inhabitants, attempt to assume that first Place amongst the Powers of Europe, & impose Slavery & Dominion upon three Millions of People in America; – Her Pretensions to this Degree of Grandeur & Dignity arose from her Trade & Manufactures; – When the Cause ceases, the Effect must of course – Cut off those valuable Resources, & She sinks into Insignificance; whilst France to whom they are transfer'd, will arise proportionably in Importance.

The English Vessels that I mentioned to you in my Last, were Seized by Order of Government, have been Since released, upon the Admiral's issuing a Proclamation, forbidding the Arming of Privateers without Commissions. . . .

ACCOUNT BOOK OF JOHN MANLEY, DEPUTY CONTINENTAL AGENT AT NEWPORT ¹

[Extract]

[Until the British occupation in December 1776, Newport harbor was extensively used by vessels of the Continental Navy. There John Manley (not to be confused with the Naval captain of the same name) had the responsibility for refitting them. His 1776 account book, which includes the Alfred, Cabot, Columbus, Hampden, sloop Providence and the new Rhode Island-built frigates Warren and Providence, is a highly informative document. Manley's accounts with Alfred and Warren have been extracted to form this appendix. They are illustrative of the wide range of services rendered to the ships by the Deputy Continental Agent.]

APPENDIX B

PAYROLL OF THE GONDOLA Philadelphia 16 OCTOBER 1776 ¹

[The Philadelphia, a gondola in General Benedict Arnold's small squadron on Lake Champlain, was sunk in the Battle of Valcour Island, 11 October 1776.

Captain Benjamin Rue, 1st Regiment of Pennsylvania Line, commanded the gondola. He had been with Generals Montgomery and Arnold in Canada, and later took part in the Battles of Trenton and Princeton.

In 1935 the Philadelphia was raised from the bottom of Valcour Bay, and is now displayed in the National Museum of History and Technology, Smithsonian Institution.

This interesting document which forms Appendix B was among papers donated to the Fort Concho Museum, San Angelo, Texas, by Mrs. R. C. Ferguson a direct descendent of Captain Rue.

Mr. Kenneth E. Harris, a National Archives staff member, alert to the historical relationship between the gondola at the Smithsonian and the original payroll in Texas, set a chain of events in motion which brought both together. On 25 July 1973 Senator John Tower, acting on behalf of the Board of Trustees of the Fort Concho Museum, presented the document to the Smithsonian.

Chronologically the Philadelphia payroll should have been included in Volume 6, Naval Documents of the American Revolution, which covers the Battle of Valcour Island. However, when the existence of the manuscript became known, Volume 6 was on the press.]
